FORT CONSTITUTION. — An appropriation of $50,000 has been made for this important Fort, at the mouth of the Piscataqua, at Newcastle. A survey has recently been completed and plans have been drawn by the Engineer, for enlarging the Fort a little by making it square, and elevating it to three stories, which would make it higher than the light house now is. The Fort at Newport, R. I. is of three stories. The alterations, if made, would be an extensive job. The Fort for many years has been under the sole charge of Sargeant James Davidson, who has kept every thing in excellent order. Should the enlargement take place, it would doubtless require at least two other good men to garrison the three stories of the Fort efficiently.—We don't like standing armies,—but when a good soldier, who is a host in himself, can stand alone and discharge his duties faithfully, we say—let such an army stand!—Journal.

THE TURKISH ADMIRAL.—We learn that His Excellency, Mehemmed Pasha, the Turkish Admiral, has accepted an invitation to visit our Navy Yard, and will arrive in this city during the coming week. The President has proffered him a passage to Constantinople in the U. S. steamship Wabash, but he has declined to avail himself of this especial mark of kindness, as it is his intention to return by the way of England. He will probably take passage in the next steamer for Liverpool.

So distinguished a visitor will not fail to be an object of interest to our citizens.—Gazette.

MUNICIPAL.—In the Board of Aldermen, on Thursday evening, the bill entitled "An Ordinance in amendment to an Ordinance establishing stands for trucks," was taken from the table, passed and sent down for concurrence. The bill provides that he stands for trucks, &c., when unemployed, shall in Bow street and Water street. The Market reet stand is abolished. Daniel F. Sanborn applied for a license for a bowling alley,—referred to the committee on the Police.

The committee to whom was referred the subject of the North Bell, reported the following resolution, which was adopted.

Resolved,—If the Common Council concur, that the sum of $350 be appropriated toward the purchase of a bell to be erected in the North Church, on Market square, and be owned by the said Society, provided, the weight of the bell shall not be less than 1800 lbs, and that the city shall have use of the bell for all time to come.

Voted that the vote adopting the recommendation of the committee on the petition of School Dist. No. 3 be reconsidered, and the same was laid on the table.

In Common Council the Ordinance in relation to stand for trucks, &c., was passed in concurrence.—Gazette.

CITY ORDINANCE, No. 60.

An Ordinance in amendment of Ordinance No. 11—Establishing STANDS FOR TRUCKS, CARTS, &c.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Portsmouth:

SEC. 1. That the following places shall be and are hereby established as Stands for Trucks, Carts, Job Wagons, &c. when unemployed, viz. On each side of Bow street from a line crossing said street at a right angle from the Westerly side of Store No. 30, recently occupied by the Atlantic Steam Mill, to a line crossing said street at a right angle from the Easterly side of Store No. 34, occupied by Joseph Henderson, excepting at the passage way to the wharves.

And on the Easterly side of Water street, from Liberty Bridge to State street, excepting at the passage ways to the wharves. Also, on the Westerly side of Water street, from Jefferson street to State street, excepting at the intersection of Court street.

SEC. 2. Sect. first of Ordinance No. Eleven, and all other ordinances and parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith, are hereby repealed.

Passed May 13, 1858.

JOHN BENNETT, City Clerk.

THE RESULT OF FOLLY.—Wm. S. Tuckerman has been sentenced to twenty-one year's imprisonment for robbing the mails. His career is a lesson to youth, for though a most affectionate son, his love of show led him step by step to ruin, and his foolish habits have separated him from the world and from a most devoted wife. He was naturally a good hearted, generous young man, and the papers which represent him as a villain are in error. —Boston Evening Gazette.

Be careful, all ye sufferers by the Eastern Railroad, who have been living without a dividend for these five years, how you say an ill word against him who has defrauded you—he is such a "generous young man!" Be careful, ye who have lost your valuable letters in the mail, how you say aught against this "good hearted young man!" And ye females who have been the dupes of his art, be cautious how you say a word against the reputation of this "devoted" husband!

The definition of a villain is a thief, a robber, a seducer, a cheat, a swindler. If the prisoner is not richly entitled to the designation of a villain, we know none in our state prison who should receive it. The thousands who have been made sufferers by his rascality, have but little sympathy created by his natural goodness.—Journal.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, MAY 15, 1858.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

LETTER FROM KENSINGTON.

KENSINGTON, May 12.

Messrs. Editors:—I thought as it was the fashion to write for a papers I would open a correspondence with you from this place, and as there is nothing of interest transpiring here just now, except that some have signed the Temperance pledge and joined the Bible class, whose influence will be felt throughout the town if they persevere, I thought I would write about the Chronicle.

I suppose it is quite a pet of yours; it ought to be throughout the State, particularly with the ladies. One can tell something of an editor by his paper, and I should judge from the Chronicle, that the editor had a very cheerful disposition and a very good opinion of himself, which is right; for if a man does not value himself, who will value him? But if your remark about money is correct, there must be a great many small people in the world, just now. One does not mind it for themselves, however, but it is not quite so agreeable for their children.

Many are glad at the sentence of Tuckerman, but for one I pity him. He was brought up to do nothing, probably, and thought his position in society would save him when brought to trial for fraudulent conduct in the first place; and when he found he was in danger of being convicted he made a desperate effort to get money to go away with.

You say Mrs. Tuckerman is supposed to be innocent. It is true that she is innocent, and more, that she persuaded him to go to the directors of the road, one or more of them, to confess, and went with him, and when he came away without confessing, urged him to go back, and do so. He would not have been brought to trial if it had not been for a poor blacksmith who owned some shares in the road.

The Directors, of course, knew when everybody else did, and if they had done their duty might have known it before, and, perhaps, saved him from public disgrace. If the Stockholders were to hire a man to watch the officials on the roads where they have invested their money, I think they would save more than his salary. Tuckerman received 1500 dollars per annum, and had no other property. It cost him every cent of his income, if not more, to live in the style he kept up. He had money to let, to lend, and to build with. The directors could not help knowing it, and if they had looked after him then, he might not have been in State Prison now. I should think it was time for other corporations to wake up when men retire with fifty thousand dollars whose salaries would but just support them, and those who have five hundred a year spend ten or twelve. Perhaps it is difficult to find any one to "cast the first stone."

Your paragraph headed "Mirth a Medicine," ought to be stereotyped for every paper and periodical in the country. That a one is worth a yearly subscription to the Chronicle, and might save more than that in Doctor's bills. If the sentiment were carried out, our children would not hear the graceful and innocent amusement of dancing, which all untrained persons like so well, denounced from the pulpit as a sin that will shut them out of heaven, while the over-reaching, double-dealing and business falsehoods are almost wholly passed over. It would not hurt some clergymen to attend a good dancing school. They would learn how to sit and stand, at least, and that would be some gain.

We think, up here, that your Exeter correspondent must have a large bump of credality, or else like to tell great stories. Just as though Exeter, with so many churches, professors, judges, and lawyers, would tolerate for a day such a nuisance as a gambling saloon! Why, people send their children to school there, believing it to be a moral Eden. If such things are true, they must have all turned Catholics and will not inform of such other. My man came home Sunday night and said that more than twenty of his countrymen bought rum of a woman there, after the service was over, and one woman was so drunk that she fell down. Do you suppose I believed it? If we were to believe all we have heard, particularly the last week, we should think we ought to send them a Missionary. As it regards the Factory's starting we hope it will prove true; but the rumor has prevailed here, ever since January, and it has proved only rumor.

The book-store we have not had occasion to visit yet, though the young folks think they want something in the stationery line pretty often. Somehow or other, I dislike the term gentlemanly. Manly sounds a great deal more honorable to my ears. Perhaps it is association, though. We so often hear "gentleman," "splendid gentleman," &c., and then when I was a boy, I was cheated out of a stock I purchased, by a person who was called a gentleman. After he had advised me to purchase it, offering to be bonds for me, (thus preventing my applying to any one else,) he went, in the night, and represented to the man who acted as agent, that I could not get the stand, and, of course, should not want the stock, and urged him to sell it to a young man in his employ, pretending to be perfectly disinterested, when he was really the purchaser. I had made a bona fide purchase of the stock at half past nine in the evening, and was to have the papers made out in the morning, when the gentleman had it all snug and went into business. Do you wonder I disliked the word gentleman ever after? If I had been of age I think it would have cost him some notoriety,—if I could not have touched his purse. But the most insulting part was, he told me "it was a fair business transaction," and said something about employing me.

One hardly knows how much your little sheet contains until they begin to review it. There is much more I wish to say, especially about the decision of Chief Justice Shaw in the trial at Salem, and the Philadelphia election, and the revival in Newburyport. The united Minister's meeting in Boston too, is it not cheering? I hope good Dr. Peabody is not left out in your union meetings, as it is said Mr. Cole is in Exeter. The last virtue mentioned in the catalogue of Christian graces, is Charity, for it is one people are slow to exercise. I was struck with the fact which the biographical sketch of the gifted author of Sunny Side reveals. The author says "she never was heard to say she was a Christian, but sometimes wrote what implied it." Those who think they are the people and wisdom must die with them, would do well to take a lesson of humility that might lead to the exercise of charity. The Savior sat at the communion-table with Judas, and what are any of his people that they should shut consistent, praying, devout men from sympathy and brotherly love? VERITAS.

CONGRESS.—On Thursday the Senate was engaged on the General Appropriation bill. After adopting sundry amendments it was passed, but a motion to reconsider prevailed, and a warm discussion occurred upon the question of voting gratuities to the official reporters. In the course of the debate Senators Toombs and Hammond defended the famous Galphin operations.

In the House the credentials of two members from Minnesota, Messrs. Kavanagh and Phelps, were presented, and it appeared that they were signed in December last, by Samuel Medary, then Governor, but now Postmaster of Columbus, Ohio. It was also stated that the Constitution of Minnesota provides for three representatives, and but two present themselves. These matters were fully discussed, and were finally referred to the Committee on Elections. A report was made, recommending the immediate removal of Mr. Hackney, doorkeeper of the House, for malfeasance. The case was postponed till Monday, the accused being allowed to prepare a defence. The Committee on Elections submitted a report stating that in reference to the Ohio case, four members of the Committee were in favor of Mr. Campbell, four in favor of Mr. Vallandingham, and one in favor of declaring the seat vacant. The Territorial Committee reported adversely upon the petition of Utah to be made a State.

☞ N. P Willis, had sufficiently recovered from his late illness to resume his daily exercise in the saddle; but on Friday his favorite horse took fright and threw him, dragging him some distance with his right foot entangled in the stirrup. He was very severely bruised by the feet of the running horse, but fortunately no bones were broken, and the confinement to his bed will be but temporary.

THE NUISANCE LAW.—The Herald states that the Boston Association opposed to the Nuisance and Maine Liquor Laws, which numbers some four or five thousand members, will immediately take measures to test the constitutionality of the late decisions in the lower Courts.

That Boston Association is the garrison which defends the Sebastopol of drunkenness in New England.

☞ The nuisance keepers of Neponset, Mass., have suffered their cases to go without defence, paid up the costs, and given good bonds to keep no more nuisances.—Court has thereupon suspended its sentence, and put it on file, to be taken down and put through if the offenders relapse.

Use Philbrick's

Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of anything that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a box containing 144 squares, 1 square being sufficient to kindle a fire, burning from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 5 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or climate. They are safe, being composed of a substance not liable to spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with use of shavings and paper, thus removing a great risk of fire from building, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.

DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed in the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or charcoal fire.

LOCAL.

☞ It will be seen that the Free Masons are to lay the Corner Stone of the Custom House, on Wednesday, the 26th inst.—The display will doubtless be an imposing one, should the weather be favorable; and many of our citizens will improve the occasion for a holiday. Judging from present appearances, we are to 'have no Fourth of July' this year; and as the Band will on this occasion make their first appearance in their new uniform, with the Masons, it will be a good opportunity to have that rural picnic so long talked of, and so much hoped for,—on the afternoon of the same day. The snow banks have all melted, and the "east wind" perhaps has got blowed out—and Summer seems to be really coming. Who says for a gathering in the woods, say at Sagamore,—with the Band and all the other attractions, on Wednesday afternoon, May 26th?

Horse Taming.—Mr. E. M. Dean, who announces himself to train and subdue wild and vicious horses, gave an exhibition of his powers, at the stable-yard of Messrs. Dennett & Odion, in this city, on Thursday. A dark brown chesnut stallion, three years old, belonging to Mr. John H. Ferguson—of great nerve and power, and almost entirely untrained—was the subject operated upon. And a tough customer he proved—as Mr. Dean says all horses do, that have a blueish cast to their eyes For six hours, Mr. Dean worked upon the animal, without using harsh or exciting measures; and finally rendered him sufficiently tractable to be harnessed (for the first time) and driven "round the Plains." He went quietly enough, and did not offer to kick, even when struck with considerable severity; although previously, he had endeavored to kick off the harness when put on him by his owner.

The treatment is similar to that of Mr. Rarey and other great horse-tamers, as explained in the newspapers; and consists in so arranging a strap from one fetlock over the back of the horse, as to give the trainer power to make the horse lie down at will—the opposite foot having been fastened up. There are other means and appliances—and the whole is a very interesting exhibition of the power of mind over brute force.

State Arsenal at Portsmouth.—During the past year Commissary General Dennett, by direction of the Governor, has collected at the Arsenal all the old flint-lock Muskets belonging to the State, and those in serviceable order have been fitted with percussion locks. The Arsenal was never before in such complete order.—Racks to hold 2000 Muskets have been built, the iron Cannon in the yard, which have been "laying about loose" since the war of 1812, have been mounted and painted, the outside walls of the Arsenal rebuilt and repaired, and the whole painted inside and out. The number of Muskets in the Arsenal is 2500, all of the most approved kind besides a large number of Colt's Revolvers, Rifles, Equipments, &c. The heavy Ordnance consists of six 32 pounders, nine 18 pounders, six 12 pounders, and thirteen 6 pounders—brass field pieces—with round and bar shot, and all the equipments belonging to the same.—The whole is now in thorough order—creditable to the State and Military Department.

Military.—We understand that Major General Mason, of the 1st Division, has appointed the following persons upon his staff:—Division Inspector, Charles W. Sawyer, of Dover; Division Quartermaster, William O. Sides of Portsmouth—each with the rank of Colonel; Joseph C. Wiggin of Sandwich, and James M. Bedee, of Meredith, Aid-de-camps, each with the rank of Major.

☞ See Auction column, for advertisements of Furniture, &c. to be sold at the Auction Store in State street, this forenoon at 10 o'clock; Barn, Chaise, and other articles, in Hanover street, at 11 o'clock; and an interest in a piece of Land in the catekirts of the city, at 3 o'clock.

☞ The Stone Church, which was built in 1825, is to be repaired and remodeled immediately. The usual Sabbath day services will be held in it to-morrow, for the last time previous to the changes,—and they will be appropriate to such an occasion as the temporary farewell to a house of worship, with the hope of a re-occupancy under improved conditions.—The occasion suggests to our minds some thoughts of approaching death with the prospect of the resurrection,—something of the idea that if this earthly house of our tabernacle were dissolved, we have a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

☞ The improvements in the Stone Church are to be such as to comport with the most approved models of convenience, comfort and elegance.

☞ The Rockingham Quarterly Meeting will be holden in the Freewill Baptist Church in this city, on Wednesday and Thursday of next week: The Minister's Conference commencing at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon; and the public services at 10 o'clock A. M. on Wednesday.

Fire in Exeter.—A few minutes before midnight, on Thursday, the 13th inst., fire was discovered in a large barn on the easterly bank of the Swampscot river, a short distance from High Street, in Exeter. This building was soon completely destroyed by the flames—which extended to another barn, of nearly equal size, and from thence to a third, smaller one. Notwithstanding the engines were promptly on hand, the three buildings were soon level with the ground. They were the property of Capt. Nathaniel Gilman, and were partially, if not wholly, insured. The most serious loss was the death of seventeen fine working oxen, which were burnt to death before assistance could be rendered them. A lot of fat cattle and some calves were fortunately rescued from one of the barns. The cause of the fire is not known. It is reported that an Irishman was about the building with a villainous pipe in his mouth, during the evening.

Wolfe's Celebrated Scheidam Aromatic

SCHNAPPS.

This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts., and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. A. W. Carnochan, of New Orleans.

"YOUR PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which combine them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

"Not only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose, as aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I discovery rejoice that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Sharp J. Rose, of St. Louis.

"The Pills you were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. No peculiarity are they adapted to the diseases of the human system, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally tried them in the effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"YOUR PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Sir. T. Stuart, who practices as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when difficulty or partial suppression of the menses, followed to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Phaulds, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in providing it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costiveness to originate in the liver, but your PILLS effect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTAR — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Enoch Hall, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice, and agree with your statements of their efficacy. They vitalize the circulation, and free the system of the impurities that stagnate in the blood, engendering disease. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such medicines as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—PILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS—FITS—&c.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have cured with your PILLS better than to say all that we ever heard with a purgative medicine. I have a great deal more use of them than ever in any daily contest with disease, and believing as I do that your PILLS afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy when used with hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every quantity of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It has long been known throughout the world have been known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, ASTHMA, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, INFLUENZA CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients.

As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has gradually become the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the disappearance of the lumps paled to 16; if we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know, in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could enable us to maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, and every season of the year, these friends never forget, and produced cures so numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without hurrying the hand. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct tones. Or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and be sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1600 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The compass is five and a half octaves, the Church Instrument being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1600 persons.

ORGAN MELODEON

Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF Prof. O. J. WOOD will restore the hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent, to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. Recently, preparations called hair restoratives are being last dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by false promises and worthless trash. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We have all lately who were bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. They have tried many other hair wash to no purpose, but this, out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is almost doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the propriety of doing it; but every one admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and which they would wish to have, if they could, be obtain such a consideration.—Women's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your Agents, Mr. Wm. M. Hutchison, and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west; should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I have concluded there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the business of selling patent rights, have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as your preparation. Your Restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Having witnessed the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours truly, JOHN PARSONS.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the States of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is conducted in a fair and honest manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the Planters and Mechanics Bank of Savannah is one of the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next after the one at which the order comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can be deceived, as there is but one combination of numbers to make up the lottery. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published in Savannah; and we admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and which they would wish to have, if they could, be obtain such a consideration.—Women's Advocate, Philadelphia.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—Many are deceived with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 are drawn in their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is as much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally authorized by the State, and all other Lotteries which pur port to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchasers in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates. If he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it. R. FRANCE & CO.,

IMMORTELLES.

WHY THIS LONGING.

Why this longing, this forever sighing,
For the far off, the unattained, and dim;
While the beautiful, all round thee lying,
Offers up its low, perpetual hymn?
Wouldst thou listen to its gentle teachings,
All thy restless yearnings it would still;
Leaf and flower and laden bee are preaching,
Thine own sphere, though humble, first to fill.
Poor indeed thou must be, if around thee
Thou no ray of lightsome joy canst throw;
If no silken cord of love hath bound thee
To some little world through weal and woe;
If no dear eyes thy fond love can brighten,—
No fond voices answer to thine own;
If no brother's sorrow thou canst lighten,
By daily sympathy and gentle tone.—[Anon.

NATURE.

Nature does
Never wrong: 'tis society which sins.
Look on the bee upon the wing 'mong flowers;
How brave, how bright his life! Then mark him hived,
Cramped, cringing in his self-built, social cell.
Thus is it in the world-hive: not where men
Lie deep in cities as in drifts—death drifts,
Nosing each other like a flock of sheep:
Not knowing and not caring whence nor whither
They come or go, so that they tool together.
—[Bailey.

SONNET.

What art thou, Mighty One! and where thy seat?
Thou broodest on the calm that cheers the lands,
And thou dost bear within thine awful hands
The rolling thunders and the lightnings fleet;
Stern on thy dark-wrought car of cloud and wind,
Thou guid'st the northern storm at night's dead noon,
Or on the red wing of the fierce Monsoon,
Disturb'st the sleeping giant of the Ind,
In the dear silence of the polar span
Dost thou repose? or in the solitude
Of sultry tracts, where the lone caravan
Hears nightly howl the tiger's hungry brood?
Vain thought! the confines of his throne place,
Who glows through all the fields of boundless space. —[Kirk White.

THE RESULT OF FOLLY.—Wm. S. Tuckerman has been sentenced to twenty-one years' imprisonment for robbing the mails. His career is a lesson to youth, for though a most affectionate son, his love of show led him step by step to ruin, and his foolish habits have separated him from the world and from a most devoted wife. He was naturally a good hearted, generous man, and the papers which represent him as a villain are in error.—Bost. Eve. Gaz.

Who are villains? mother,—asked little Willie, (after reading the puff for Tuckerman in the Boston Evening Gazette,) if Tuckerman the mail robber is not. The mother looked a little suprised at the question, and r pli d, I suppose villains are such men as our poor neighbor Vernon, w o last winter when he was out of wood, stole some from our pile in the evening, to keep his children from freezing; and his poor son, that stole a pair of shoes from the shop last week; people such as those are the villains. Tuckerman must have been a gentleman, or he would never have been in such a responsible office; and what is further evidence of his gentility, the mail contractors would not have trusted him where he could appropriate so much of the public property to his own private use, had he not been a gentleman. Willie looked thoughtful, and replied, I don't want to be poor when I grow up, and I am sure, mother, I never mean to be a gentleman if I can help it. You are not old enough to read the papers yet, Willie; you had better go out and play,—replied the considerate mother. Q.

NEBUCHADNEZZAR'S HUNTING DIARY.—It is to be hoped that the following remarkable corroboration of scripture may not meet with the fate of Prof. Maury's defence of it, based on the words "round world," which unhappily were not used by Job, or any inspired writer:

A correspondent of the Northern Ensign says a book is shortly to be published by Colonel Rawlinson, upon further discoveries he has made. He found Nebuchadnezzar's hunting diary, with notes, and here and there a portrait of his dogs, sketched by himself, with his name under it. He mentions in it having been ill, and whilst he was delirious he thought he had been out to graze like the beasts of the field. Is not this a wonderful corroboration of scripture? Rawlinson also found a pot of preserves, in an excellent state, and gave some to the Queen to taste. How little Nebuchadnezzar's cook dreamed, when making them, that, twenty-five centuries after, the Queen of England would eat some of the identical preserves which figured at her master's table.

This pot of preserves makes the whole story give out a very "ancient and fish-like smell."

THE STRIKE IN RHODE ISLAND.—The Olneyville, Dyerville and Georgiaville operatives, numbering about six hundred, held a meeting at the latter place, Thursday afternoon, and after speeches by persons from the different mills, and passing resolutions to persist until the last in the strike, they returned peaceably to their respective homes. The Providence Post learns that the hands of the Allendale mill have turned out for an increase of wages. Delegations from the "striking" operatives were to start this morning on a tour through all the factory villages of the State. The operatives of the Olneyville mills held a meeting in Atlantic Hall, Thursday evening, where the tedium of business was relieved by the presence of a Glee Club. There is philosophy, if bank notes cannot be had, to fall back on musical ones, though much less substantial when bread and butter is wanted for families. This Rhode Island strike, like most others, will recoil on those who make it. The manufacturers are paying all they can afford. To demand more is to get less; or rather, nothing at all, for plenty of hands can be had at the regular prices.—Bee.

STUBBORN WILL.—The Boston Bee, says:—An Irishman named William Reynolds was killed Thursday evening about 6 o'clock, on the branch track from Needham to Boston, built for the purpose of filling up the Back Bay. He was employed as a repair hand, and was at work at the time of the accident. The usual alarms were given, but they failed to cause him to remove. The train was going at a very slow speed, and other workmen withdrew from the track. Reynolds is said to have been offended at the time, and chose to remain where he was and take the consequences, which he did. The locomotive and some twenty-five gravel cars ran over his body, which lay across the track. The accident occurred in Brookline near Longwood.

THE DIFFERENCE.—Before the perpetration of the Lecompton fraud the Democratic party were everywhere concord:—now it seems they are everywhere conquered. A. B.

AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY.

The American Tract Society, in its annual meeting at New York, on Wednesday, rather succumbed to slavery. By the votes which were taken, the anti-slavery wing of the Society was defeated, the action of the executive committee was endorsed, and the resolution relative to the distribution of tracts among slaveholders was rescinded.

The special reporter of the Boston Journal gives a very clear account of the debate in the American Tract Society at New York, when the election of the Publishing Committee came up. Dr. Bacon suggested that President Mark Hopkins be substituted for Dr. N. Adams. The vote elected the old ticket. Dr. Adams, of Boston, (author of the South Side View of Slavery) received fifty-two votes less than the rest of the ticket. Dr. Hopkins had fifty-six votes. This intelligent reporter remarks:

The New England men feel that they have been out-voted, and have nothing to say as regards that. They however do feel that they have not been fairly treated in the debate. The majority would not listen to speakers on the side of the minority, but in almost every instance tried to put them down. The feeling is that the action of to-day will strengthen the Boston Society, and make it the representative of the North and West, acting independently of the New York Society, and not as an auxiliary to it. Its funds will probably be withheld from the latter Society, while the Northern members will retain their membership, and will keep the agitation up.

We think this course is highly probable; nevertheless, we do not think favorably of the latter part of it. They had far better let the old fogy concern go by the board, with its money, plates, building, and all, into the hands of the slave-driving and slave-driven parties. The society and its works need other siftings, besides that of slavery. Let the Boston American Tract Society issue none but live books, fit for living men to read, and leave the South to issue and read; if they can, a parcel of dull, dry and doubtful tomes, which may have had their mission in the past, but which speak in an unknown tongue, to the men of to-day.

We think the discussion will do good to the cause of true religion in all its branches, freedom, purity, temperance, godliness and charity.

☞ Burleigh, the New York correspondent of the Boston Journal, says:

The war is ended with the Tract Society. Right or wrong, wise or unwise, the policy of the society is settled. No tracts on Peace, as such; no tracts on Intemperance, as such; no tracts on Slavery, as such.

Why not go on, and say no tracts on stealing as such, none on murder as such?

The American Tract Society have the plates, or had them, of a large number of the best temperance tracts extant.

HENRY DWIGHT IN COURT.—The examination of Henry Dwight was commenced before Judge Russell, New York, on Thursday afternoon and adjourned over to Wednesday next. On motion of the counsel for the prosecution, it was decided that the several charges upon which warrants had issued should be taken up and considered separately. Witnesses were then called on the complaint for perjury, committed with intent to defraud the Chicago, Alton and St. Louis Railroad Company; and John Baker, attorney and counsellor at law, testified to the preparation of Dwight's answer filed in the case of Brown and others versus Dwight and wife. He did not know to what extent it had been altered. No progress was made towards laying open any falsehood in the answer up to the time of the adjournment.

EXCITEMENT IN BURLINGTON, VT.—There has been considerable excitement in Burlington, Vt., for a few days past, on the subject of the removal of the remains of Gen. Ethan Allen. The ceremonies of laying the corner-stone of the monument ordered by the State, have been deferred, and the authorities of the town and committee of the monument have made thorough research, to the depth of six to eight feet, in all parts of the family lot not known to be occupied by the remains of other members of the family, where his monument stood, without finding the slightest indication of human remains.

☞ At New York the twenty-first anniversary of the Union Theological Seminary was held in Mercer street Presbyterian Church on Monday evening. The order of exercises comprised prayer by the Rev. Mr. Whiting of Portsmouth, music, and addresses by members of the graduating class.

CONGRESS.—Both Houses, on Friday, were engaged on private bills a part of the day.

The House proceeded to dispose of the Territorial business reported from the Committee of the Whole, and passed the bill making an appropriation for the completion of a military road from Astoria to Salem in Oregon.

Private bills were then considered. No quorum being present, several ineffectual efforts were made to adjourn. A call of the House was then taken, and excuses were offered for absentees. Mr. Taylor of La., moved that Mr. Montgomery be excused on the presumption that he was unwell, and as most of the Pennsylvania delegates seemed to be in bad health. (Laughter.) Mr. Clemens said to his certain knowledge Mr. Montgomery had gone home electioneering.

After proceedings, on motion of Mr. Clemens, the Sergeant-at-Arms was directed to arrest and bring to the bar of the House such members as had not been excused.

A number were arrested and from time brought in, but their excuses were not deemed satisfactory, and they were only discharged from custody on the payment of the fees.

Mr. Morgan understood that members were dining at the President's house.—The officers of this body had gone thither for them, but were refused admittance.—He (Morgan) thought it outrageous that gentlemen should be sitting here at this hour (8 o'clock) while those he referred to were enjoying themselves.

Members then indulged in some humorous remarks

Seven Pennsylvanians, who had been dining with the President, then rendered excuses for their absence, and at half past eleven o'clock the House adjourned.

A SAD CASE OF CRIME IN ENGLAND.—The English papers give the particulars of the arrest of an aged and hitherto highly respectable clergyman of the established church of that country, named Radcliffe, for forgeries to the extent of some five thousand dollars. It seems that Mr. Radcliffe was co-trustee for some property belonging to a lady, and that, in order to obtain possession of this property, he forged a certificate of the death of his brother trustee, and also of his funeral, identity, &c. In this way he obtained sole possession of the money, and appropriated it to his own use. He had, when arrested, disposed of it all but about $1000. The judge before whom he was taken, refused to take bail, but committed the clergyman to jail.

METHODIST ANTI-SLAVERY.—On Wednesday, the Methodist Episcopal Conference, in session at New York, passed resolutions almost unanimously, declaring that the system of slavery is at war with the gospel of Christ, the rights of man and the best interests of society; for the extirpation of which all wise and prudent measures are to be employed.

☞ Godey for June has for a frontispiece "The First Step." The plate was designed for the book by Mrs. Lilly Martin Spencer, the greatest lady painter in this country. It is a subject that will commend itself to the heart of every parent. A five figure fashion plate graces this number, living fashions, not fancy figures. Let the ladies look at it. Read "Ambition" in this number; it is a great story. And the conclusion of "Charles Maitland" is beautiful.

TUCKERMAN TRANSFERRED TO THE STATE PRISON.—Wm. S. Tuckerman was transferred to the State Prison, at Weathersfield, Conn., on Thursday, there to spend his twenty-one years sentence, unless he should be fortunate enough to obtain hereafter a pardon for a portion of the time.—He is now in his thirty-eighth year, and will therefore be on the verge of sixty, when his terms shall have expired. The Hartford Times says that since he has been in New Haven jail, he has gained twenty-two pounds in flesh. When he reached the prison, he requested the Warden to supply his sleeping room with a carpet, but as no carpets were used there, the request was not complied with. He is said to have requested the jailor to lay his clothes away carefully in camphor, so that he might have them when he came out!

CHEAP.—An auctioneer of this town, the other evening, finding he had an audience of foreigners, who were not willing to pay over twenty-five cents for any article, thought he would test their propensity to cheapen by offering them a gold sovereign. He allowed them to examine the article that they might see what it was, but not a bid could he get for it over twenty-five cents! Under such circumstances he concluded it was best to stop the sales and go home.—Gloucester Telegraph.

SAVED FROM FIRE.

The Boston Transcript of Thursday evening, contains an interesting account of the escape of a woman from death at the recent fire in Federal street. The humble condition of the woman, her illness incident to the injuries she received, and the sad fate of those who lost their lives at this fire, have combined to keep the remarkable story from the public eye. The appeal in behalf of this woman should meet with a liberal response. Any contribution sent to the Transcript office will be duly acknowledged and properly applied.

A back room in the fourth story of the house on the corner of Milton place was occupied by a worthy widow woman, Mrs. Ann Hickey, and her child, a little girl of seven years of age. Mrs. H. had been a seamstress, but having injured her eyes by working on black late at night, she was now following the occupation of a laundress. She had been on that Saturday evening delivering her clothes to customers at considerable distances from her residence, and had gone to bed so much fatigued, that it was with difficulty that she was awakened by one of the inmates of the house, after the fire had made considerable progress. She seized her child, and, wrapping some garments loosely about her, hurried out of she house, and, meeting at the door a young man whom she knew, directed him to take the child to a friend's house in the neighborhood. She then ran back to her room, to attempt to save some of her little effects. She succeeded in bringing down her bed, and then returned to save something more. While she was engaged in tying up her things in parcels, the wall of the burning store, which adjoined and overtopped the house, fell over upon the roof, crushing it in, and bearing with it a mass of blazing materials.

Her first impulse was to rush to the window. Looking down she saw a group of persons below, who made signs to her, which she interpreted into a direction to try to make her escape through the entries of the house. She ran down one flight to third story, but on making her way to the main staircase, found it in flames. She then retreated to her own room, naturally enough, as the remotest point from the flames, and again showed herself at the window. She was now, fortunately, able to make out the meaning of the cries and signs of those below. They told her that if she could get one story lower they might be able to save her. She ran again to the stairs she had just ascended, when to her horror, she found that the fire had already reached them. She managed, however, by lowering herself down by a post, which supported the stairway, to get down upon the landing of the third story. She effected this without any other injury than the scorching of her forehead and the abrasion of the skin of one of her arms. She went then into the room immediately under her own, and on her presenting herself at the window the persons below called on her to take courage and observe their directions, and they would save her.

They then, to the number of six or eight, or as many as could join, formed a circle, each man extending his arms horizontally, and grasping with his right hand the right hand, and with his left hand the left hand of the man opposite, their arms crossing. They then told her to kneel upon the window sill and to incline her body in such a way as to free her head from the wall, and to fall sideways. All being ready, she throw herself from that third-story window! Not a man drew back from the imminent peril to which each one was exposed. All stood firm, and this poor woman was received in safety on that platform of human hands and arms—arms nerved by noble human hearts.

Such a deed as this may well make us proud of our common nature. These men were entire strangers to her whom they saved. When she first looked from the window she supposed of course that they were friends and acquaintance who were concerting for her safety. She called out the names of three or four of such, but no answer came. Her deliverers knew her only as a human being, in peril of her life, and that was enough for them. For the satisfaction of the public, however, I trust that their names will be ascertained and made known, though no distinction which this would give them, would equal the consciousness they will have the happiness of bearing through life, of having thus acted up to the highest instincts of humanity.

The reader of this narrative will be gratified to know that Mrs. Hickey, though at first much prostrated, has already been able to resume her humble occupation, at No. 9 Purchase place, where doubtless many will be glad to send some expression of their sympathy.

THE DEATH OF AARON BURR'S DAUGHTER. The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Enquirer, referring to the news item about the sailor dying in Texas, who confessed that he had been one of the pirates who had thrown overboard Mrs. Theodosia Allston, says:—

"On reading this account I regarded it as a fiction, but on conversing to-day with an officer of the Navy, he assures me of its probable truth, and states that on one of his passages home some years ago, his vessel brought two pirates in irons, who were subsequently executed at Norfolk, for recent offences, and who, before their execution, confessed that they had been members of the same crew, and participated in the murder of Mrs. Allston and her companions."

BRONCHITIS AND COUGH which so often terminate fatally in our nothern latitudes, are easily arrested in a majority of cases, if recourse is had to the Wild Cherry preparation of Dr. Wistar. Abundant evidence of this fact has been given.

☞ Some would-be critics seem greatly exercised over the discovery that Governor Morrill of Maine borrowed a portion of his fast day proclamation, from one of Chapin's Sermons.—He showed excellent taste in such a selection, and could hardly have copied from a better modern writer than Chapin.

His Excellency, Isaac Hill, of this State, (now deceased,) when Governor, borrowed one of his proclamations from the Episcopal Church Prayer Book; a very good borrowing, with which we believe no one found fault.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13. — George L. Goodwin shot Lizzie Marshall this morning, in Franklin Square, and subsequently shot himself, and died a few minutes afterwards. The woman is supposed to be fatally injured. She belonged to Lynn, Mass., had been living with Goodwin, but left him lately. Goodwin belongs in Boston, and has a wife and two children. His mother is said to be living there.

Inquiry meeting at the Methodist Vestry, this evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

NOT SECTARIAN.—Henry Ward Beecher recently baptised several persons by immersion, and some one asked him if he had become a Baptist. He replied in his pulpit a fortnight ago last Sunday:

"I remain where I have always been.—I believe that immersion, pouring and sprinkling, are all alike baptism. If Christ ever was baptised by immersion, it does not follow that his disciples must be. It is the spirit of his life, and not its outward form, which we are to copy; otherwise, we must needs all be circumcised and become Jews. If one has been trained to think that immersion is the only true baptism, or if arguments have been brought to bear upon him which convince him of its superiority, or if his taste lead him to feel that it is the most beautiful and appropriate method, then he ought to be immersed; and if for like reasons he prefers the effusion of water, or sprinkling, let him be gratified. I am indifferent as to the mode of baptism, and willing to conform to your views in the matter so as to help you forward in the divine life. I have no objection to immerse you every month if you wish it. There is no reason why this ordinance should not be celebrated as often as the Lord's Supper, if one desires it. Thus you see I am a Baptist, but I never can feel about immersion as our Baptist brethren do; and the doctrine of close communion, to which many of them conscientiously adhere, I reject as utterly opposed to the interior spirit of Christianity. But I love them, they know I love them, and therefore I can say these things. If I did not belong to the Congregationalists, I would join the Baptists, were I neither Presbyterian, Episcopalian, Methodist nor Quaker."

THE LECOMPTON PLAN.—It is manifest that the administration mean to make the most of chances allowed under the conference bill, to procure the choice of the Lecompton Constitution. It has been observed that Mr. Weer, Attorney General of Kansas,—one of the officers designated to have charge of the election,—has been superseded by a Mr. Elison Davis. The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post gives the following account of the operations:

Mr. Weer, who is removed by this appointment, left for Kansas last Friday.—Before doing so he was asked by a subordinate officer in the Interior Department:—"How do you stand on Lecompton—are you for or against the bill as submitted to the people?"

Mr. Weer replied that he voted to make Kansas a free Sta e, under Lecompton, last January, and should not reverse his vote, and had no desire to do so. He subsequently told Mr. Thompson, Secretary of the same department, that he had labored sincerely with the Democratic party to make Kansas a slave State; that such had been the policy of the party, but that it had been ruined in the territory, and nearly ruined in the country, pursuing such a course, and that he was done with such a suicidal policy; he believed it to be the policy of the Democracy to make Kansas a free State, and was opposed to Lecompton, and should vote against it as submitted to the people.

Mr. Thompson then informed Mr. Weer that there would be removals in the territory forthwith. The first carries with it the official head of Mr. Weer!

THE SPANISH DON AND THE BANKER'S DAUGHTER.—The conclusion of the affair between the Spanish Secretary of Legation and the daughter of a Washington Banker is spoken of as follows by the correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer:

"The finale of the whole affair is, that the father and daughter two or three days ago suddenly sailed for Europe, where they will remain until the excitement subsides. So far as I can learn there is nothing to lead to the opinion that the lady has been guilty of any impropriety, but that she has been simply a persecuted woman."

A STRANGE DISEASE.—A singular disease has made its appearance at Jefferson City, Mo. The Inquirer of that city gives the following account of its symptoms:

"The unfortunate patient, as soon as the word abolitionist is mentioned in his hearing, begins to swear, jump, kick, hop, tear, charge, tear, cavort, snort, rip, tumble, sneeze, cough, spit, whoop, stutter, squeal, howl, moan, groan, bellow, bewail, lament, despond, turn pale, look savage, froth at the mouth, roll his eyes, stamp his feet upon the ground, wheel round and round, fall down, get up again; and then does all that over again. O, horrible."

ANOTHER FRIGHTFUL RAILROAD ACCIDENT. New York, May 15.—A terrible accident occurred last night on the Lafayette and Indianapolis Railroad. The whole express night train from Cincinnati fell through a bridge near Lafayette. Many killed and wounded.

An Irishman, trying to put out a gas-light with his fingers, cried out: "Och, murther! the divil a wick is in it!"

BODIES FOUND.—The Concord Statesman of the 15th says, on Saturday last the body of a man, apparently Irish, was found in the river near Sewall's Falls. It had evidently been in the water a long time; was clothed with pants, overalls and a woollen shirt; was much disfigured by exposure to the water, but had no evidences of other hard usage.

As the lumber-men at work on Otis Allen & Co's drive, were starting off some logs, lodged on the rocks at Turkey Falls, they found the body of another man and towed it ashore.

It proved to be that of a man from Suncook, Cornelius Solon, who had been missing since the 7th of April. He came to Concord that day and engaged to go to work at Roby's Ledge the following week, and started to return home between five and six o'clock in the evening, in company with one Thomas Hardy, of Manchester, who was also engaged at the Ledge. Nothing was known of their whereabouts until nine o'clock on that evening, when a man who lives near the Portsmouth R. R. bridge was awaked by some one shouting near his door that a man had fallen through the bridge. On going to the door he saw Hardy running away.

There was a wound near the eyes of the corpse, of such depth and nature as to be sufficient to cause almost instant death, and it is the opinion of physicians who examined the lungs that the deceased died not come to his death by drowning.

Hardy, who was in his company when he started to go home, has never returned to execute his contract at the Ledge, but has left Manchester with his family for parts unknown. His statements in regard to the falling through the bridge, have been somewhat contradictory in regard to the time, place and manner of the accident, and a diligent search has failed to detect anything about the bridge which could have produced the deep fracture in the skull.

Solon appears to have been an Irishman, and was carried to Manchester and buried in the Catholic ground. The Mirror says: It was stated, at the time, that the man was supposed to have been intoxicated on the night he was missed; but the circumstances have now come to light which would make it appear as though foul play was resorted to at that time. Solon has left a wife and two or three daughters who are grown up. One of them stated that her father was not a drinking man.

BE HAPPY.—If the ideas of some people had been acted upon in the creation of the world, the heavens would have been brass, the earth ashes, all the trees of the forest weeping willows or the mournful cypress, and a funeral pall would have draped the sun. Every rain-drop would have been a tear, every breeze a sigh, every song of melody a knell, and the morning stars would have sung together an anthem of woe. But how different is the great book of nature as laid open by the hand of the living God! Joy and gladness everywhere abound. Joy is the rule—sorrow the exception. Earth and sky, land and water, sunshine and shade; all are sources of pleasure and delight.—Bath Organ.

Suicides are remarkably and fearfully common just now. At Rutland, Vt., a maiden lady sixty years old, of excellent character, has unaccountably hung herself. At Worcester on Saturday, one George Liddell, a Scotchman, 78 years old and quite childish, severed his jugular, and one Burnett bought a jug of liquor and went home to Leicester and committed suicide by drinking it. On Thursday, at Augusta, Georgi, David Davidson, a Jew, blew out his brains, and S. C. Lane, a Philadelphia man tried to cut his throat but was prevented—"rum did it" in these two cases. These are a few of the cases reported of those who seek to solve "life's mystery."—Lowell News.

"WHEN THIS OLD HAT WAS NEW."—Judge Shaw, who gave the late decision that grog-shops are outlawed and may be disemboweled by anybody who likes the fun, is the same Justice who in the outset of the temperance reform, held Dr. Chooer guilty of libel for writing his satirical dream about Deacon Giles' Distillery, and allowed him to go to prison for six months the following Thanksgiving. Truly, times change!—Lowell News.

Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of anything that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a Box containing 144 squares, 1 square being sufficient to kindle a fire, burning from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 6 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or climate. They are safe, being composed of a substance not liable to spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with use of shavings and paper, thus removing a great risk of fire from buildings, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.

DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or charcoal fire.

It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these organs, and consequently these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice:

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their excellent Cathartic purpose any authority can possess. They are mild, but very certain and efficient in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us as the daily practitioners of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Dell, of New York City.

"Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as a cathartic, but I believe they have beneficial effects upon the liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more efficacious for the cure of bilious complaints, I may add, than any other medicine. I shall, on occasion, recommend them to my friends in the navy whenever they have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Kiser, of St. Louis.

"The Pills you were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the diseases of the digestive organs, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies commonly used. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be efficacious in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem for their efficacy. Cases of relax I have found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their purgative action is mild and very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mrs. E. Sturet, who practises as a Physician and Midwife in Philadelphia.

"I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent promoters of the natural excretions which difficulty or suppression of menses. They are effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend another to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Tomlin, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from this complaint, which, although not enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe sufferers to originate in the liver, has your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Reuben Ross, of Fredericksburg, Va.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your Pills purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice, and can say with your statement of their efficacy. They eradicate the humors from the blood, the impurities that stagnate in the blood, engendering disease. They eliminate the causes of digestion, and bring vitality and vigor into the system."

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—PILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS—FITS—&c.

From Dr. Edward Hoyt, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer your kind complaints. I have cured with your Pills better than to say of that we ever tried a purgative medicine. I have great faith in them on an effectual substitute in my daily practice with disease, and believing as I do that your Pills afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of our Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable medicine in the hands of the learned in a pallid pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury, or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every portion of it can be relied on with the utmost delicacy and care. It is valued and patronized by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the cured remedy the world has ever known for the cure of Consumption and complaints; for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of consumption in the advanced stages of the disease. As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has gradually become the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American pioneer to the palaces of the nobles. It is used throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet, it contains. Cherry Pectoral is known as the best of all remedies for disease of the throat and lungs. Numerous German chemists it is understood, send to their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for them! If we can trust our own senses when we see the gradual effacement of the hectic flush! If we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, whose business it is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then is it profitable reader that this medicine does cure the affections of disease it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unquestionable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could enhance and sustain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted that can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks are played by the hands at the same time by use of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ full and sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of keys, which when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of Melodeons for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our establishment, being made in the most complete and thorough manner, having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced workmen. Instruments, in short, we will promise our customers an instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine our best instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we have to refer, by permission, to the following

THE RESTORATIVE OF Prof. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair (gray or otherwise) to youthful hue, has never yet had a rival. Volumes after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but time is valuable now and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood there is now a preparation for restoring hair, that great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics and Restoratives, that they cannot be induced to make the trial. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous instances where hair was partly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair adds very much to the appearance of a man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain so desirable a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents, E. M. Hackinson, I feel anxious to inform the public of the effects of it myself. I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, which I understand is still open to enterprising men. I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the drug business for several years, and have seen many preparations introduced, but never have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced of your preparation's virtues in what I represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STICKNEY.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effect of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to prevent my hair from falling and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely, in the operation. I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FARNUM.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that he possesses the legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the laws of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the number of tickets in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. They have upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $20,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Mercury, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Money inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at one Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering, in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, it you order from any Broker or vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' certificates have the number printed and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co

A PROCLAMATION TO THE LADIES.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor and integrity are fast fading away, and WHEREAS, the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the unfound and learned. BE IT KNOWN THEREFORE, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that Dr. CHEESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS are almost the certain panacee for the the troubles incident to female disorganization; they ALONE correcting all painful menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, disturbed sleep, pain in the side, and causing health and happiness to whole sex; more especially to the MARRIED PORTION, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral's, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and wholly unlike other medicines thrust upon the public, purporting to effect the objects already detailed. THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NORFOLK BLUE PILLS or Dr. CHEESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, when DISAPPOINTMENT has been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to be read aloud to them, to their immense everlasting benefit—always promising that said Proclamation in one case must be considered KILL AND CURE; that is to say the PILLS will cure, now be when any female is in an INTERESTING SITUATION, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

Explicit directions, to be carefully read, accompany each box Price $1. Sent by mail on enclosing $1 to Dr. CORNELIUS L. CHEESEMAN, Box No. 4 Fulton Office, New York City. Sold by Druggists in every town in the United States.

Given under my hand and seal,

C. L. CHEESEMAN, M. D.

IMMORTELLES.

ON THE SEA.

It keeps eternal whisperings around
Desolate shores, and with its mighty swell
Gluts twice ten thousand caverns, till the spell
Of Hecate leaves them their old shadowy sound.
Often 'tis in such gentle temper found,
That scarcely will the very smallest shell
Be moved for days from where it sometimes fell,
When just the winds of heaven were unbound.
O ye! who have your eye balls vexed and tired,
Feast them upon the wideness of the Sea,
O ye! whose ears are dinn'd with uproar rude,
Or fed too much with cloying melody,—
Sit ye near some old cavern's mouth, and breed
Until ye start, as if the sea nymphs quired!

—[Keats.

SORROW.

Sorrow, there seemeth more of thee in life
Than we can bear and live, and yet we bear;
And thy endurance is the desperate knife
Whereewith the cable of our dreams we shave,
To steer out boldly through the monstrous seas
Of surging action, and learn how to have,
And drive right onward through the grasping grave
To Will and Power, which give the soul true ease.

—[Youlland.

SLANDER.

No, 'tis slander;
Whose edge is sharper than the sword; whose tongue
Outvenoms all the worms of Nile; whose breath
Rides on the posting winds, and doth belie
All corners of the world: kings, queens, and states,
Maids, matrons, nay, the secrets of the grave
This viperous slander enters. —[Shakspeare.

BIRDS IN THE WOOD.

Birds there were, a countless throng
Making in the wood their dwelling,
Breaking into fitful song:
Tales of love and gladness telling;
There the joyous wood lark sprung
From his nest, at morning's breaking;
Drops of dew, like pearls unstrung,
From his trembling pinions shaking,
And amid the birch-tree tops
Swinging, warbled, all a quiver,
Notes like surging shower-drops
On the bosom of a river:—
And the bright winged goldfinch came
Darting from the reedy meadows,
Glancing like a jet of flame,
In and out among the shadows.

SEEKING AWAY FROM HOME.—A dispatch from Hartford, Conn., was received on Monday evening by the Deputy Superintendent of Police of New York, stating that Margaret Elce, a girl fifteen years old, had left her home that day and taken passage for New York upon the steamer Granite State. An officer accordingly repaired to the boat upon her arrival the next morning, and there found the little fugitive, who was taken to the police office on a message dispatched to Hartford.—The manner was modest and retiring, and displayed great artlessness, combined with intelligence. A newspaper was offered her, but she would read only in a little pocket Bible which she had brought with her. All the money in her possession was twenty cents. She was very particular to pay her dinner, saying that neglect would distress her father. She desired the officer to take her home, that he might remonstrate with her mother. Her reason for leaving home was the bad treatment which she received. She was a Sunday school pupil, and regarded it wicked to work or do other work upon the Sabbath; and her mother compelled her to violate these scruples, and was in the practice of keeping her severely. Her father, who is a German, arrived in the afternoon. He corroborated his daughter's statement, affirming vehemently that her mother was very good and "just like a lion." The next morning the two returned to Hartford.

DEATH OF A CENTENARIAN SOLDIER.—Rev. Ezekiah Osborn of Fairfield, Cumberland county, New Jersey, died there on the 1st inst., in his hundredth year, having been born in Litchfield, Fairfield county, Connecticut, on the 21st of August, 1758.—At the age of seventeen Mr. Osborn volunteered as a private soldier in the Revolutionary army, served in the campaign of 1776, and was in the retreat through New Jersey. The greater part of his regiment were taken prisoners at Fort Washington, but he escaped through the happy accident of, as he called, it a "merciful Providence"—of being absent on sick-leave for few days at the time the fort surrendered. His fellow soldiers who were taken prisoners suffered terribly in the "Old Sugar House" or the prison ship.

On the expiration of his term of service, he returned to his father's home in Connecticut, and afterwards went through the regular course of studies at Dartmouth College. He was one of the four graduates of that institution, all lately living, whose combined ages exceeded four hundred years. At the age of twenty-seven he was ordained in the Presbyterian Church, his first and only charge was the Old Church, at Fairfield, New Jersey, where he resided altogether seventy years. He was installed in the year 1789, and resigned his charge, as active pastor, in 1814, having a period of fifty-four years of unremitted labors over one flock. During his ministry in this small country church he baptized about one thousand persons, married the same number of marriages, and buried about fifteen hundred persons in the same churchyard where he has himself at length been laid at rest.—Philadelphia Bulletin, May 13.

THE YORKSHIRE STAPLER AND THE SCOTCH LASSIE.—A short time ago, two gentlemen from Yorkshire, engaged in the wool trade, visited the house of a respectable farmer on the Berwickshire side of the Tweed; and, having rapped at the door, it was speedily answered by a blooming lass of some 18-and-twenty, who turned out to be the farmer's daughter. In reply to the inquiry, "Is Mr.—— within?" the disconsolated gentlemen that her father and mother had gone to Dunse. "Then," said the Yorkshireman, "can you tell me if your father has disposed of his wool yet?" "I'm sure, sir, I dinna ken what's dune wi'd," said the lass.—"Do you think he has not sold, hinny?" "O'o, I dinna think he wad sell'd, for he only had it made wi' Mr. M., the wife of Coldstream, twa years sine."—"What do say, my lass?" retorted the Yorkshireman. "I ken he's made his mark; and I think its lockit in the chest." "Oh, my lass, it's not his mark, but the stuff that grows on the sheep."—"Ye, aye! that's the oo, sir."—Berwick Warder.

SALISBURY, MASS.—A day or two since, Deputy Sheriff Hunt visited some twenty places where liquor was supposed to be sold in Milford, Mass., but found only three gallons, which was emptied into the streets. The rest of the article had been removed from the stores. One of the dealers recently received from Albany some thirty barrels of strong beer, which he was persuaded to return unopened, rather give up the business. The Sheriff acted upon the advice of the authorities, under the recent decision of Judge Wells.—Bee.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, MAY 18, 1858.

NO TURKISH SHIP—NO TURK.—The Boston Atlas & Bee says, The object for which the Turkish Admiral has come to our country with so much pomp, is, after all, not to be consummated; at least not for the present. Accordingly the Pasha takes departure for home in the first steamship—and from Boston on Wednesday next. It appears that the Sultan expected a negotiation could be effected for the building of the vessel directly with our government; that is, Uncle Sam to set his own men at work, provide materials, finish up, and then have the bills sent to the Turkish government. But the Secretary of the Navy has decided that our government cannot be the party to any such contract.—This takes the Admiral aback in a most un-admirable manner. Accordingly he is to do the next best thing—go home and see about it. Having received positive instructions, he has no discretionary authority. The whole affair is thus indefinitely postponed; and those New York shipbuilders who spent so much good money in bad hospitality, will have to retire with any but consolatory reflections.

UNION OF THE OPPOSITION.—Speaking of the various speculations as to the feasibility of uniting the ranks of the opposition, the Philadelphia North American says:

In Philadelphia every body is beginning to regard the new combination as having superseded the American and Republican organizations, and the case is pretty much the same in the interior of Pennsylvania. The factionists of New York and New England may fight it out to suit themselves.—In New Jersey, Pennsylvania, the West and the South, the opposition will no doubt consolidate.

The Boston Journal says:

Whatever may be the case in New York, we feel pretty confident that the Republican party, however it may be with the "factionists" of New England, will never trouble the progress of the proposed union. Go on and secure the anticipated result in "New Jersey, Pennsylvania, the West and the South," and be sure that New England will be found all right in the day of trial.

THE SWILL MILK WAR.—The demonstrations on the swill milk pedlers of New York continue with energy. Every peller without a number on his cart is fined. The revelations made within the past few weeks have not been without their effect. "Coffee—no milk," has come to be an order very frequently heard in the restaurants, and thousands of persons with whom milk was formerly an indispensable requisite for the table, have entirely discontinued its use, on account of their uncertainty as to the quality of that which is supplied to them.

To show the disgus ing materials out of which milk is made in New York, we copy the folllowing from the Courier and Enquirer:

"One of the Health Wardens, by direction of the City Inspector, undertook, on Tuesday last, the dissection of one of the cows who recently fell a victim to the system of dirt and ventilation pursued at the swill-milk establishment at the foot of Sixteenth street, North river. The Health Warden, being a butcher, the task was an easy one to perform. The poor animal's body was almost entirely covered with tumors or carbuncles seated deep in the flesh, and bearing the appearance of large warts on the surface. Its constitution had become so completely ruined, that the shoulders and other joints came apart almost without the necessity of using the knife. Part of the tail was found to be rotted off. The large quantities of putrid matter which issued from the sores contributed to make the spectacle presented by the carcass as disgusting as it could possibly be."

This is the usual effect of the distillery slops on the cows that exist on it for a while, poisoning their own bodies, and giving poisonous milk.

☞ The Traveller tells a story of a middle-aged man from Plymouth County, who visited Boston on Wednesday, with a well filled pocket-book; drank and treated till he became oblivious as to what occurred in the latter part of the day. It is evident, however, that he was overcome with liquor, and while in this situation, he was robbed of all his money, amounting to four hundred dollars. In vain he sought redress, however, for his recollections of what had occurred were too vague for an officer to work upon, in the detection of the rogue and the recovery of the stolen money.

OPPOSITION TO LECOMPTON IN KANSAS.—The Philadelphia Press says that "the news from Kansas shows a steady determination on the part of the people to reject the land ordinance. Brutus and Cassius, Lane and Robinson, have made up their fight, and sworn hostility to Lecompton. So, here is bloody Banquo again."

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION.—We find the following striking paragraph on this subject, in Godey's Lady's Book:

It is not merely by speaking to children about spiritual things, that you win them over; if that be all you do, it will accomplish nothing, less than nothing. It is the sentiments which they hear at home, it is the maxims which rule your daily conduct, the likings and dislikings which you express; the whole regulation of the household in dress, and food, and furniture; the recreations you indulge, the company you keep, the style of your reading, the whole complexion of daily life—this creates the element in which your children, are either growing in grace, and preparing for an eternity of glory, or they are learning to live without God, and to die without hope.

THE FRENCH ELECTIONS.—The elections to fill the three vacancies in the Legislative body, from Paris, seem to evince a greater strength in the government than at the last elections; but it may, after all, be only apparent rather than real. Only one opposition was elected, and he was chosen by the union of Republicans, Socialists, Legitimists and Orleanists, having 11,303 votes against 10,166 for the government candidate. The opposition candidate elected was Jules Favre, who acted as counsel for Orsini on his trial. He is represented as a lawyer of popular repute, a fluent declaimer and an incurable demagogue.

The total number of legal voters entitled to vote at these elections was 95,995, and the number who went to the polls was 57,-780. The total of opposition votes was only 27,668. The elections in France are always held on Sunday, and the shopkeepers and manufacturing operatives, mainly are in the habit of spending the day in the country, which goes to lessen the vote.—Boston Traveller.

☞ The Ohio Railroad accident, on the 14th of May, happened at one o'clock in the morning. The night was very dark, and the high water had undermined an abutment of the bridge. The train was running at the rate of 25 miles an hour. The engine had reached the end of the bridge, which was 100 feet long, when the whole gave way. James Irwin, conductor; Jacob Bertenger, engineer; and Maloney, fireman, were killed. No passengers were injured.

PORTLAND POLICE.—Constantine Towly, a boy of 14 or 15 years, for being a common drunkard, went to the House of Correction for 30 days.—Andrew McGlachy, well known in the drink trade, was held to bail in $500 for adultery. Elia Griffin, for a breach of the Nuisance Act in keeping a house of ill fame, was ordered to find $300 bail to appear at the July Court,—but not finding it, went to jail.

FATAL TORNADOS.—St. Louis, May 15. A violent tornado blew the passenger train of the Alton and St. Louis Railroad off the track at Lexington, Mo., on Thursday night, and several persons were seriously injured. The towns of Lexington and Peoria at the junction of Towanda, also suffered severely, half the houses in them being prostrated. At Towanda, three men were killed. Yesterday another storm of like character passed over the region between Bloomingeon and Springfield, doing much damage. A large number of houses in Elkhart and Williamsville were demolished, one of them falling in and killing five persons.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The Washington correspondent of the Herald, says the President will, on Tuesday, communicate his reply to the Senate resolution of inquiry, touching the British outrages on our vessels. Lord Napier's attention has also been directed to the subject. It is believed also that orders have been despatched to our home squadron, directing them to look into the matter.

REPORTED OUTRAGES IN KANSAS.—Kansas City, May 13, via Boonville 15*th.*—Intelligence arrived here last night from Lecompton to the effect that a band of marauders committed numerous depredations in that neighborhood on the 11th, robbing several settlers, and the store of Wm. S. Wells, some 15 miles from Lecompton.

The gang is said to number 60 men completely armed, and is asserted to be the same that recently perpetrated the robberies and murders at Fort Scott. No pursuit was attempted.

TERRIBLE HAIL STORM AT THE SOUTH.—Richmond, Va., May 16.—A terrible hail storm occurred in Chesterfield Co., last night. Some of the stones were of the size of hen's eggs. Vegetation was destroyed, and the ground was strewn with leaves and branches of trees, and a great many windows broken. The hail was from two to three feet deep in some places in the roads. The train from Petersburg last evening, came in contact with a fallen tree, and the engine and cars were much damaged. The storm is unprecedented.

In the investigation of the burning of the Ocean Spray at St. Louis, one of the steamboat's captains swore that they always carried turpentine on Mississippi river boats, to be used in the case of a race, and the common way to use it was to sprinkle it on the wood, though he had sometimes dipped the sticks into it and then threw them into the furnace.

CONGRESS.

SATURDAY, May 15.

The Senate debated whether the general appropriation bill or the business of the District of Columbia, should be taken up. The former was finally taken up by a vote of 33 to 22, whereupon Mr. Brown of Mississippi, saying all his labor was thrown away, tendered his resignation as chairman of the District Committee. After a few minutes spent in the attempt to adjust matters, Mr. Hunter withdrew the appropriation bill. Harmony was restored and the business of the district went on.

Several bills relating to the District of Columbia were then passed. Adjourned.

The House considered private bills.

The bill for the relief of Barclay and Livingston and others, by refunding the duties on merchandise destroyed by the great fire in New York in 1848, was killed after a lengthy debate, by 15 majority.—Adjourned.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Exploration of the Colorado.—Lieut. Ives in his official letter, says that the exploration of the Colorado has so far progressed well, and that the Mormons do not appear to have been successful in conciliating the Mohaves.—The latter are jealous of their approach.—A party had been sent to examine the route from the Mormon road to the Colorado, south of the Big Cannon, which work, with the exploration of the Valley of the Virgin, would be finished in the course of two weeks. When this information has been obtained, the practiability of the route as a channel of communication from Utah to the Pacific, will have been determined. This is one of the most important objects of the expedition.

Confirmations.—The Senate in executive session to-day confirmed Joseph Williams as Associate Justice of Kansas, and sundry postmasters in Massachusetts, including Nahum Capen as Postmaster of Boston.

Proposals for Treasury Notes.—The Secretary of the Treasury invites proposals till the 14th of June, for any portion or the whole of the $4,000,000 in Treasury Notes, in exchange for gold.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—There is little doubt that the report that the leading Mormons have abandoned Salt Lake City, and that Gov. Cummings has gone there by invitation, is untrue. We cannot learn that any such information has been received by government.

☞ To the intense disgust of the administration, Gen. Shields, one of the new Senators from Minnesota, elected by the democrats before the Lecompton fight came on, on Wednesday took his seat on the Republican side of the Senate, and acts with the anti-administrationists.

☞ The extent of the territory and variety of the climate of the United States, may be realized in the fact that in certain parts of Texas the wheat crop is now ready for the scythe, while at the North it is just beginning to grow.

☞ The Augusta (Ga.) Constitutionalist of the 11th gives an account of the death of a colored girl, caused by the explosion of a nearly emptied kerosene (coal) oil barrel, to the gas of which a lamp in her hand set fire.

☞ A strong armed woman at Smyrna, Delaware, flogged a fellow severely on the piazza of the hotel, for seducing her husband to the tavern, where the pair would indulge too freely in drink. She then offered her arm to her husband and conducted him home.

☞ Arthur's Lady's Home Magazine for June is embellished with a frontispiece of the Hapy Family, and filled with matter designed to make many families happy.

☞ Peterson's Ladies' National Magazine, for June, 1858, has a curious frontispiece of a flute-player, entranced with his own playing. The story of "the Judge" will interest the reader.

☞ Harper's Magazine, for June, is received by A. Williams & Co. Boston, and Jos. H. Foster, of this city.

THE RAILWAYS OF GREAT BRITAIN.—The railways have cost $1,565,000,000, nearly one-half of the national debt. This enormous sum has been expended in the construction of railways, which have required not less than 70 miles of tunnel, 25,000 bridges, and the removal of a quantity of earth which, according to the estimate of Mr. Robert Stephenson, would make a mountain half a mile in diameter at its base, and a mile and a half in height. Over the roads thus formed, railway trains run a distance of not less than 80,000,000 miles per annum, or more than 3000 times the circumference of the globe; and every second of time there are 2 1-2 miles of railway covered with trains in motion.—The carriages required to work this amount of railway, if placed in one monster train, would extend 500 miles.

GRAVEL IN HIS BOOTS.—"I wonder what can have become of the snuffers," said Mrs. Johnson. "I have been looking for them all the evening and can't find them high or low."

Nobody could give her any information. After a while the hired Dutchman getting sleepy commenced going to bed.

"All dis day, I tinks I got som l leetle grabbie stones in mine poot. I tink I git him out now."

He turned up his boot and poured out the snuffers!

THE MORMONS.—A letter in the New York Tribune, from Camp Scott, gives the statement of a man who recently escaped from Utah, where he had been held a prisoner. He says he left Salt Lake in the middle of February, at which time the Mormons had resolved on war; that they had divided their men into two classes, one of warriors and one of farmers; that they were confident of harvesting this year's crop before they should be seriously disturbed; and that in case of ultimate defeat, they were determined to burn everything and retreat to the White Mountains.

☞ The New Haven Journal says that there is a lady now living in Guilford, who has seen her great grand father, and her great great grand child, with all the successive generations between, being eight generations. The great great grand child lives in Madison.

NO WAR.—The Paris Moniteur denies that great maritime armaments are being made in France, and says there has been no change in the budget for the year.

THE REPEAL OF THE FISHING BOUNTIES. The New York Courier says that the indications are that Mr. Clay's bill for the repeal of these bounties will pass the Senate.

DR. C. A. GREENE'S
PATENT, NON-EXPLOSIVE,
Self-Generating Gas Lamp.
THIS Lamp possesses important advantages over any other Lamp now in use. It is perfectly safe, simple and convenient. It gives a steady light with no flickering, and can be carried in the wind and not extinguished; and under no circumstances can you get an accident. A conductor put into it to-day, and all you have to do for six months is to fill it when empty. It will light a large room for one cent per hour, and the quality of the flame is unequalled.
All kinds of Lamps can be altered into GAS LAMPS.

Prayer Meeting in the vestry of the Methodist Church, this evening, beginning at 7 1-2 o'clock.

☞ Mehemmed Pasha, the Turkish Admiral, was expected to visit our Navy Yard on Monday; but he didn't come. If he comes at all, he will find a well arranged and beautiful Yard, and most gentlemanly and efficient officers—by whom he will be most graciously received. He will also see the steam frigate Franklin—which is pronounced one of the finest specimens of naval architecture in the world; and may have a craft modelled after her if so disposed.

☞ The attention of all our readers who patronize milkmen, is invited to the article on distillery-swill, in another column. We have before stated that some of the milkmen in this vicinity are feeding their cows on brewery slops. If those who do not use the abominable stuff will give us their names, we will gladly publish them for the benefit of the public—so that those who prefer healthy milk to a diseased watery secretion, may have their choice.

☞ The Discourse of Rev. Dr. Peabody, on Sunday afternoon, was a sort of general reminiscence of the rise and progress of the South Church; and a farewell to the old Church in the present form. The services were very interesting and impressive. The Society will worship in their Chapel on Court street, during the refitting of the Church.

Rev. Mr. Burnham, closed his engagement here, at the Temple, on Sunday evening. The house was filled to overflowing, —and large numbers went away. His preaching is entirely extempore, but very fluent—and is very ingenious, earnest and forcible; and has attracted large audiences, and the deepest attention. He repeated an error which has been made many times—that Elias Smith printed the first religious paper in the world. Daniel P. Drown, Esq., was the pioneer in this line, we think, some time previous to Mr. Smith's connexion with the Gospel Herald.

4 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

RIVER DU LOUPE, May 17.—Steamship North America has arrived off this point, with Liverpool advices of May 5.

In the Liverpool Cotton Market prices were slightly higher. Sales for the three days 34,000 bales.

The Liverpool Breadstuffs Market was generally steady.

NEW ORLEANS, May, 15.—Billy Bowlegs and his whole party, consisting of 160 persons, arrived at the U. S. Barracks to-day, on their way to the Indian Territory.

The Crevasses.—The effort to stop the crevasse, 25 miles above this city, have been abandoned. The damage by the various crevasses in this vicinity is counted by millions of dollars.

The river has not yet fallen here.

☞ The damage to the sugar crop of Louisiana, by the Bell crevasse alone, is estimated at not less than $3,000,000. Probably the Lebranch crevasse will cause more.

FIFTY YEARS IN PRISON.—A rare event has occurred in Saxony—the release of a convict after not fewer than fifty years' detention. This man was condemned to imprisonment for life, for having formed part of a notorious band of brigands, and was sent to the prison of Waldheim. He remained there until a few days ago, when he obtained a pardon. Notwithstanding his long confinement, he is in good health, and he has returned to his native village of Loutersdorf with a sum of 200 thalers, the product of his labor in jail.

A BULLET FORTY YEARS IN A MAN'S LUNGS. An Irishman named Wm. Kelly received a bullet wound at the seige of Badajos, in the Peninsula War, retired on a pension and died recently in the hospital at Kingston, Canada. Upon dissection, the bullet was found enclosed in a cyst or a bag, within the lungs, closely adhering to its walls. The ball had lost 100 grains of its original weight (370 grains) by corrosion. A portion of the lead thus lost was recovered from the lungs and diaphragm.

☞ Kansas papers of May 6, 7, and 8, having got hold of the English Lecompton swindle, say that the people there will vote against it. We shall see.

SORROWS OF CHILDHOOD.—"I declare, mother," said a petted little girl in a pettish little way, "'tis too bad, mother! you always send me to bed when I am not sleepy, and you always make me get up when I am sleepy."

A CARD TO THE LADIES.
DR. DUPONCO'S
French Periodical Golden Pills,
FOR FEMALES;
Infallible in Removing Stoppages or Irregularity of the Menses.
THESE Pills are nothing new, but have been used by the Doctor for many years, both in France and America, with unparalled success in every case; and he is urged by many thousand ladies who have used them, to make the Pills public, for the alleviation of those suffering from any irregularities whatever, as well as to prevent pregnancy in those ladies whose health will not permit an increase of family. Pregnant females, or those supposing themselves so, are cautioned against taking these Pills while pregnant, as the proprietor assumes no responsibility after the above admonition, although their mildness would prevent any mischief to health; otherwise these Pills are recommended. Full and explicit directions accompany each box.
Price $1. Sold in Portsmouth by JOSEPH H. THACHER, in Dover by Chas. Cotts, in Exeter by C. A. Merrill, and in Newmarket by J. A. Prendergast. They will supply dealers at the Proprietor's prices, and also send the Pills to the Ladies (confidentially) by mail to any part of the city or country, on receipt of $1 through the Post Office.
N. B.—Ladies will be particular in asking for Dr. Duponco's Golden Pills. Observe the signature J. Duponco is upon each box. You will then obtain a Pill you can rely upon.

Use Philbrick's Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.
THESE Kindlings are the best of anything that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a Box containing 144 squares, 1 square being sufficient to kindle a fire, burning from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 6 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or climate. They are safe, being composed of a substance not liable to spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with use of shavings and paper, thus removing a great risk of fire from buildings, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.
DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or charcoal fire.

It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large proportion of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these PILLS are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"Your Pills are the perfection of a purgative. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and efficacious in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Dell, of New York City.

"Not only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that your skill has brought a preparation which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Evans, of St. Louis.

"The PILLS you were kind enough to send me have been all used by my family and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the diseases of the human system, that they seem to work upon them like magic. I have used many of the nostrums and antidotes with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be almost all the common complaints for which I can recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"Your PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. They ultimate effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Rev. E. Sturt, who practices as a Physician and Midwife in Ohio.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very efficacious in expelling the worms which infest women. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. A. P. Pimpin, Montreal, Canada.

"The reputation you have made of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness, if others of our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from this complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costiveness to originate in the liver, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

INFIRMITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Enoch Ford, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Sir, when you said your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice, and agree with your statements of their efficacy. They eliminate the corrupters, and carry off the impurities that remain in the blood, to be expelled out of disease. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such results, you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—PILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS—FITS—&c.

From Dr. Edward Bond, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR.: I cannot resist the impulse to add what complaints I have cured with your PILLS better than to say all that are ever cured with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an effective cathartic, and I find your PILLS answer this purpose, and believing, as I do, that your PILLS afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the doubtful manner in which it is generally followed by the majority of people. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every course of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by its long tried curatives, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As the time when these dreadfully fatal maladies were known, this medicine has gradually become the best reliance of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and almost every hamlet, it contains CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most skillful physicians. If there be any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the testimony of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too public to be forgotten.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these instruments.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer, to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of keys, the lower set runs one octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by one of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that contains from 1500 to 2000 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of Harmoniums for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our establishment being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skillful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine our Instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS here our Manufactory will be pleased to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons, Hallett & Cumston,
T. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet failed in a trial. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative of Hair in all cases, and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these evil consequences, with all disease of the hair, and great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds, to such a degree that they are ready to make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article in short time, and her head is covered completely with the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair has simply falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHECTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents; R. M. Hoch, Union, and seeing and hearing of the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement. I am satisfied it is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have tried various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must be I.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to prevent the growth and change to color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c.,

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Maryland and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They take this method to call the attention for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Managers would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after their receipt. Also, according to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless money is with the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

If a list of the prizes drawn is that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m18ly

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets—in country is flooded with Spurious and Worthless Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar, $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is as good thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which pretend to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, it you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates. If he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it. R. FRANCE & CO.,

THE SPIRIT OF POETRY.

And this is the sweet spirit that doth fill
The world; and, in these wayward days of youth,
My busy fancy oft embodies it
As a bright image of the light and beauty
That dwell in nature—of the heavenly forms
We worship in our dreams, and the soft hues
That stain the wild-bird's wing, and flush the clouds
When the sun sets. Within her eye
The heaven of April, with its changing light,
And when it wears the blue of May, is hung,
And on her lips the rich, red rose. Her hair
Is like the summer tresses of the trees,
When twilight makes them brown; and on her cheek
Blushes the richness of the autumn sky,
With ever-shifting beauty. Then her breath,
It is so like the gentle air of spring,
As, from the morning's dewy flowers, it comes
Full of their fragrance, that it is a joy
To have it round us; and her silver voice
Is the rich music of a summer bird,
Heard in the still twilight, with its passionate cadence.—[Longfellow.

SONGS.

Songs are like painted window panes,
In darkness wrapt the church remains,
If from the market place we view it;
Thus are the lessons we work through it.
No wonder that he deems it lame,
And all his life 'twill be the same.

But let us now inside repair,
And greet the holy chapel there;
At once the whole seems close and bright,
Each ornament is bathed in light,
And fraught with meaning to the sight,
God's children! thus your fortune prize,
Be edified, and feast your eyes.—[Goethe.

THE VANITY OF MAN.

O, momentary grace of mortal man,
Which we more hunt for than the grace of God!
Who builds his hope in air of your fair looks,
Lives like a drunken sailor on a mast;
Ready, with every nod, to tumble down
Into the fatal bowels of the deep.—[Shakspeare.

CONGRESS.

MONDAY, May 17.

SENATE.—The General Appropriation bill was taken up and passed, as reported from the Finance Committee.

The only feature of the debate was on the amendment to pay the Globe Senate reporters $800 each, the usual extra compensation, which was finally agreed to.

On the discussion of the amendment reported by Mr. Bayard, from the Judiciary Committee, to allow the Attorney General to employ two new officers and Assistants, in his office, at $3000 salary,—Mr. Hunter spoke against it. This amendment was lost, and the bill passed.

HOUSE.—The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution of the Committee on Accounts, proposing the dismissal of Mr. Hackney, its door-keeper, for alleged misconduct; and a statement from Mr. Hackney was read, saying that some of the charges of the Committee were incorrect in point of fact, and others were greatly magnified, besides being ex parte. He asks a thorough investigation.

Mr. Stephens of Georgia moved that his request be granted.

Mr. Kunkel of Md. remarked that Mr. Hackney should be dismissed if there were no other reason for his gross and deliberate abuse in exceeding his authority in the appointment of his subordinates, and increasing the expenses of the folding room from $600 or $800 to $2000 or $2500 per month.

Mr. Spinner of N. Y. alluded to the fact that false entries had been made on the books of the folding-room. The statement for April was torn out, and a new one made, after Hackney discovered the Committee had entered into an investigation. The original statement had since been found, and was admitted by Mr. Hackney, which showed there had been a large amount overcharged in money and documents.

Mr. Kunkel of Maryland, resumed, saying that the statement read from Mr. Hackney was entirely untrue, and caused to be read a letter from a late messenger, addressed to the speaker, in which no reason why he was discharged is given, unless it was his refusal to surender a portion of his salary to Hackney.

Mr. Seward (of Ga.) said it was important to ascertain how far Mr. Hackney had been surrounded by designing men, who have made a trap for his destruction.

Mr. Stephens said the Committee on Accounts merely give their opinion, instead of reporting the facts and testimony to the House.

Mr. Kunkel replied, when the resolution to forthwith dismiss the doorkeeper was adopted, 141 against 34.

Mr. Quitman, (of Miss.) asked leave to offer a joint resolution, laying down the line of policy regarding the admission of new States, requiring as a condition precedent an enabling act for the framing of a Constitution and sufficient population for the election of one Representative in Congress. The House refused to suspend the rules, for the purpose of allowing the introduction of the proposition, by 88 against 88—a two-thirds vote being necessary for the purpose.

On a motion of Mr. Mason (of Ky.) a resolution was adopted fixing the number and compensation of the subordinates of the doorkeeper.

Mr. Morris of Pennsylvania, asked leave to offer a resolution, setting forth that the existing tariff has been found inadequate to supply the government with revenue, and is a source of embarrassment to the country, and instructing the Committee on Ways and Means to inquire into the expediency of reporting a bill revising the Tariff, substituting home for foreign valuation, and specific for advalorem duties, and so augmenting the duty on articles which come in competition with American manufacturers and products, as will afford increased protection to American industry and labor. The House refused to suspend the rules—86 against 101.

On motion of Mr. Barksdale of Mississippi, a resolution was adopted, calling on the President, if it is not incompatible with the public interest, to communicate all the information in his possession, relative to the firing into, boarding and searching vessels belonging to the United States by British ships-of-war on the coast of Cuba. Adjourned.

SUICIDE.—Henry William Herbert, the well known author, committed suicide in New York city on the 17th at the Stephens House, Broadway. He had been laboring for some time under great depression of spirits, consequent on domestic difficulties. He left a long letter addressed to the press of the United States, and also one to the Coroner, giving the reasons for self destruction. Mr. H. was married three months ago to a lady in Newark, but had recently been separated from her.

☞ In Newburyport, on Sunday morning, about quarter before 2 o'clock, the night police under lead of Capt. Young and Constable Flanders made a descent upon a house in Prospect street, and arrested nine persons while in the act of playing cards. They were all taken to the watch house.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove that at no other office do inventors find are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual, great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot secure a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

Commissioner of Patents.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 19, 1858.

TEMPERANCE DIALOGUE.

N. H. Gazette.—"Uncle Toby" of the Chronicle is decidedly a sensation editor. His paper daily gives us, with faithful particularity, a record of all the crimes and misdemeanors, from murder to a common drunk, which can be gleaned from an extensive exchange list, ranging from Passamaquoddy to the Rocky Mountains.

Uncle Toby.—Not true. We do not mention a quarter of them, nor give the particulars of one in ten.

Gaz.—And whether they were the guilty offsprings of avarice, lust, revenge, or superstition, "Rum did it" is his verdict.

Uncle Toby very rarely gives any verdict at all, but leaves it to the readers, all of whom know full well that total abstinents are hardly ever accused of police or criminal offences—but that nearly all criminals are drinkers of strong drink, and that almost all their crimes are committed under its stimulation.

Gaz.—It seems to afford "Uncle Toby" especial delight to represent the morals of this city as in an exceedingly deplorable condition.

U. T.—This seems to be false, and will continue to seem so until you quote a line from him to show such delight.

Gaz.—He continually descants upon the number of the places where liquor or beer is sold.

U. T.—To the best of our recollection, the number has not been mentioned for a month or more. We will now say it is about 60, by actual count, 25 of which are stores or houses where groceries or victuals are sold, and 35 are mere nuisances.

Gaz.—We confess the number for a city of this size, is considerable—[and]—that liquor is sold with a tolerable degree of "impunity and great boldness" in this city we do not deny.

U. T.—Exactly so—the number is quite too great, and the effects all evil. This traffic does so good, and it does much hurt. It is bold, but not quite so bold now as it was a year ago.

Gaz.—You argue that the toleration of such establishments, is indicative of great depravity on the part of the authorities, and sinful negligence on the part of the citizens.

U. T.—That is not exactly our argument, when we make any, which is not often. Six weeks ago, when we argued a case, we said, "Now we have the legitimate fruit of the rum traffic, and of the public opinion which supports it in Portsmouth.

* * * * We have seen some fruits each year. The 4th of July window-smashing in 1856; the killing of Flannigan in '57; and now of a woman in 58; are the proper fruits of that depraved and besotted public opinion, which has proved itself here to be stronger than a wholesome law."

Gaz.—We have now resided in this city about five months, and have enjoyed good opportunities to see what was going on in the public streets, but have seen only three men who gave any evidence by their walk or talk of being the worse for liquor.

U. T.—Well: what if you have not seen more than three men in this plight, in five months? We see more than that number almost every day; and within about twelve months there have been six deaths which must in common fairness be set down to the account of strong drink; with a large amount of pauperism. Ask the overseers of the poor how many sober men's families they relieved last winter, and how many sober men went to the the almshouse? and they will give you a small number.—Our pauper tax is mainly a rum tax, and they know it.

Yet we are happy to say that there has been a diminution of drinking, and consequently of drunkenness, this spring. Certain it is, that there are only 60 liquor places this year, instead of 70 a year before.

We set this diminution down as the effect of two or three causes. 1, direct effort by temperance lectures, sermons, pledges, and publications; 2, the alarm consequent on some of the deaths; and 3d, last but not least, the religious reformation.

All these causes have aided in producing the effect to diminish drinking, and when that diminishes, good order always gains. Under their operation, a large number of men and youth have become professed christians and total abstinents, and the police and good order of the town reap some of the benefit.

But we do not thank the groggeries nor their keepers, for one jot or tittle of these benefits. No, these good things are accomplished, in spite of their efforts, and of those who uphold them, to drag the people down and plunge them into misery.

Gaz.—Instead of being a Sodom or a miniature Chicago, Portsmouth is the best governed and most orderly city in this state, and the representations of the Chronicle to the contrary, are, we fear, more the efforts of a partizan to excite prejudice against a Democratic City Government, than the genuine convictions and honest efforts of a temperance reformer.

Such insinuations may have an effect upon the people of Poplin and Hawke, but not the slightest upon the citizens of Portsmouth, who fully appreciate the motive with which they are made.

U. T.—If you are green enough to believe all this, nobody will object—but aside from a word or two about the fire department, we have said nothing about the merits or demerits of the present City Government since it was formed. Such "insinuations" on the "genuine convictions and honest efforts of a temperance reformer," seem rather contemptible, as Uncle Toby looks at them. His efforts to promote temperance and liberty, by lawful and proper means, for the last 30 years, have not been made in a corner, and he has no anxiety whatever about any construction which may be put upon them. New comers and outsiders may be mystified or befooled about these matters—but the citizens of Portsmouth know exactly where to find him on all such questions. They never expect to see him apologize for the groggery or the slave pen,—but they do expect a calm but decisive condemnation of both, without stopping to enquire what party is disgraced by their keepers.

THE LAST SUPPER.—This is the title of one of the largest and finest steel Engravings ever issued in this country—representing the Saviour and the Twelve Apostles partaking of the Last Supper. The point of time chosen by the artist is that when the Saviour has just announced that "one of you shall betray me;" and they are beginning to ask, "Lord, is it I?" The plate is about three feet in length by twenty inches wide; and the picture is designed and finished to perfection. The price is $2,—but Messrs. Oakesmith & Co., New York, the publishers of Emerson's Magazine and Putnam's Monthly, send it free to all subscribers to that valuable periodical. A copy may be seen at Mr. Barton's Picture and Frame establishment.

☞ By the Congressional journal of Monday, it will be seen that Mr. Hackney, the Doorkeeper of the House, has been dismissed in disgrace, by a vote of four to one, for dishonesty and cheatery, and false documents. Dismissed by the same House which voted to pass the Lecompton swindle, saddled with English's lying preamble!

☞ It appears from the New York papers that a meeting of the opposition members of the American Tract Society has been called for Thursday evening, to determine their future policy, in connection with that Society.

☞ The Boston Atlas and Daily Bee comes to us this week in an enlarged form; and it is now conducted by three editors, Messrs. Schouler, Pangborn, and Marsh. A strong team and an able paper.

☞ "The Printer" is the title of a useful and beautiful monthly, to be issued by Henry & Huntington, New York,—for the especial benefit of the craft, but which contains matter tending to the edification of "the people." Only $1 a year. Success to "The Printer," say we.

NEW YORK EDUCATION.—Richard Barry, who keeps a liquor store, and is a member of the present board of education, has been arrested on a charge of committing a murderous assault upon Phillip Wolfe, proprietor of a house of prostitution in Howard street. Barry alleged that he had lost $20 in Wolfe's place, and, as Wolfe would not give the money back, he determined to indemnify himself by punishing him with a bludgeon, by the aid of some half dozen Sixth Ward "Dead Rabbits." Wolfe's head was beaten almost to a jelly, and it is believed he cannot recover.—N. Y. Times.

RAILROAD RASCALITY IN TEXAS.—The Galveston News of the 6th inst. furnishes the following:

We learn from parties, who have arrived from Houston, that the greatest excitement prevailed there, on account of certain disclosures, connected with the issuing of three hundred and fifty thousand dollars' worth of stock in the Central road, with a view to control the election of the President and Board of Directors for the ensuing year.

UTAH MATTERS.—St. Louis, May 17.—A despatch dated Leavenworth, 14th inst., states that the news from Utah is unofficial, but that a private letter received by Col. Rich, at the fort, corroborates the statement, and that it is universally credited at Leavenworth that Gov. Cumming entered Salt Lake City on the 1st of April, and the army was in readiness for immediate action in case of an emergency.

ESCAPE FROM JAIL.—Oswego, May 17.—This forenoon seven or eight prisoners, confined in the city jail, effected their escape by digging through the wall. Every exertion is being made for their re-arrest, but as yet, no traces has been found of them. Sullivan, who is to be hung on Friday next, was not of the number.

IMMORTELLES.

MAY.

Oh, the merry May hath pleasant hours,
And dreamily they glide,
As if they floated like the leaves
Upon a silver tide.
The trees are full of crimson buds,
And the woods are full of birds,
And the waters flow to music,
Like a tune to pleasant words.

The verdure of the meadow-land
Is creeping to the hills,
The sweet, blue-blossom'd violets
Are blowing by the rills;
The lilac has a load of balm
For every wind that stirs,
And the larch stands green and beautiful
Amid the sombre firs.

If 'tis not true philosophy
That the spirit when set free
Still lingers about its olden home,
In the flowers and the tree,
It is very strange that our pulses thrill
At the sight of a voiceless thing,
And our hearts yearn so with tenderness
To the beautiful time of Spring.—[Willis.

REFLECTIONS ON GOLD.

How quickly nature falls into revolt,
When gold becomes her object!
For this the foolish over careful fathers
Have broke their sleep with thoughts, their brains with care,
Their bones with industry;
For this they have engrossed and pile up
The cankered heaps of strange achieved gold;
For this they have been thoughtful to invest
Their sons with arts, and nautical exercises;
When, like the bee, toiling from every flower
The virtuous sweets,
Our thighs packed with wax, our mouths with honey,
We bring it to the hive; and like the bees,
Are murdered for our pains. —[Shakspeare.

TIME.

Time has laid his hand
Upon my heart gently, not smiting it,
But as a harper lays his open palm
Upon his harp, to deaden its vibrations.
—[Longfellow.

MORE FOREIGN NEWS.

NEW YORK, May 18th.—Steamer Austria from Antwerp and Southampton 4th inst., has arrived.

By the Austria we have London papers of the 4th instant. The shipping of the Atlantic Telegraph cable was progressing favorably. Up to May 1, all had been coiled on board the two ships, excepting about five hundred miles.

Much disappointment was manifested in Paris, in consequence of the refusal of the Directors of the Credit Mobilier to declare a dividend on the last year's operations.

The Paris Universe has another bitter article on England. It says: "Let us renounce this alliance with perfidious, insolent England—this alliance which has never been cordial, and which never can be relied upon."

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The War Department has received no confirmation of the latest intelligence from Utah. Lieut. Gen. Scott says there are two chances out of five if it is true.

The Senate has confirmed the nominations of Marshall Rynders and Postmaster Fowler of New York. The name of Mr. Schell, Collector at the port of New York, was not reported from the Committee on Commerce.

The volunteers enrolled in Florida have been disbanded, only 32 Indian warriors, and a comparatively small number of women and children being now left in that State.

FOUND GUILTY.—Cincinnati, May 17.—In the case of William Connelly, who has been on trial here for several days past, on the charge of harboring fugitive slaves, the jury to-day rendered a verdict of guilty. A motion for a new trial has been made on the ground of one of the jurors being a United States Deputy Marshal.

At the end of March the number of factories of beet root sugar in France was 341; the product of the previous season amounted to nearly 300,000,000 pounds; at the same time the importation of sugar from the French colonies materially increased.

Two slaves in Gloucester county, Va., had a quarrel over cards a few weeks ago, and one was killed. Augustine, the survivor, was valued at $900, and the property of a Mrs. Nancy Johnson, has been found guilty of murder in the second degree and sentenced to transportation—whither is not stated.

LOCAL.

☞ A man named Wm. Jones, belonging in Quincy, Mass., a stone cutter, was injured on Tuesday forenoon, by the falling of the large Derrick in the Stone Yard, near the Concord Rail Road Depot, where the Stones are fitted for the new Custom House. The fall was occasioned by the breaking of an iron staple, five-eighths in diameter, to which a guy was fastened. In the fall the must of the derrick was broken, part of the Stone Shed demolished, &c. The man hurt is apparently doing well, and will probably be out in a few days.

☞ His Excellency Mehemmed Pasha, the Turkish Admiral sent over to America by the Sultan, to procure the building of a war vessel for the Turkish Navy, visited this Naval Station on Tuesday. Jeremiah Prescott, Esq., Superintendent of the Eastern Railroad, brought His Excellency, with two of his suite, accompanied by S. P. Hanscom, Esq., in an extra train—which arrived here about half-past one o'clock.

The distinguished guests were received at the depot—by the Mayor and members of the City Council, and Wm. L. Hanscom, Esq., Naval Constructor, and proceeded direct to the Navy Yard in carriages.

After spending a few hours in examining the Yard and buildings, and especially the fine specimens of naval architecture there, the party returned to this city, and received the hospitalities of the City, at the Rockingham House.—They expressed themselves in the highest terms of approbation, respecting the Yard and the vessels there.

They returned to Boston in an 8 o'clock train, and it is said are to sail from Boston for Liverpool on Wednesday.

These Turks are fine-looking men—very dark, with black hair and beards, and two have slight mustaches. Their dress was black cloth, not particularly odd, save their scarlet and black caps. The time of their coming being generally unknown, many who wished to see them, had no opportunity. They positively declined all public display and ceremonious reception.

PATENT, NON-EXPLOSIVE,

Self-Generating Gas Lamp.

THIS Lamp possesses important advantages over any other Lamps now in use. It is perfectly safe, simple and convenient. It gives a steady light with no flicking, and can be carried in the wind and not extinguished; and under no circumstances can you get an accident. A conductor put into it to-day, and all you have to do for six months is to fill it when empty. It will light a large room for one cent per hour, and the quality of the flame is unequalled.

All kinds of Lamps can be altered into GAS LAMPS.

IMPORTANT TO

TOBACCO CHEWERS.

DR. GUSTAV LINNARD'S

TASTELESS TOBACCO TROCHES,

The Great Substitute for Tobacco.

IT is a well known and incontrovertable fact that the use of Tobacco is the promoting cause of many of the most severe to which the race of man is subject, as careful analysis and long and painful experience have clearly proven that it contains certain narcotic and poisonous properties most dangerous in their effects, which by entering into the blood derange the functions and operations of the Heart, causing many to suppose that organ to be seriously diseased.

MENTAL AND PHYSICAL DISORDERS

TOBACCO affects also the entire nervous system, manifesting itself—as all who have ever used the article well will testify—in Lassitude, Nervous Irritability, Water Brash, Dyspepsia, and many other disorders of a similar character.

THE TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES

are designed to counteract these baneful influences, and have proved entirely successful in a multitude of cases, and wherever used. Being harmless in themselves they exert a beneficial effect upon the system, restoring the taste which has become vitiated and destroyed by great indulgence, completely removing the irritation and accompanying tickling sensation of the Throat—which are always consequent upon abstaining from the use of Tobacco, and giving a healthy tone to the Stomach, invigorate the whole system.

Persons who are irrefrevably undermining their constitutions and shortening their lives, should use these Troches immediately and throw off the injurious and unpleasant habit of Tobacco Chewing.

These Troches or Lozenges are put up in a convenient and portable form at the low price of 50 Cents per Box. A liberal discount to the Trade.

Prepared solely by the undersigned, to whom all orders should be addressed.

TRIUMPHANT SUCCESS OF

Buchan's Hungarian Balsam of Life,

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR Colds, Coughs, Asthma, and Consumption.

RELIABLE EVIDENCE OF THE EFFECTS OF BUCHAN'S HUNGARIAN BALSAM.

From the Christian Freeman.

While we repudiate quackery, we are always pleased to give credit for those remedies that are useful, and to give information which may benefit others. A few days ago a brother of ours, from Norway, Me., came to Portland in the comfortable health, whom we did not expect to see again on earth. We received a letter a few weeks since, from another brother, resident in the same house with him, saying that he was confined to his bed, and could not probably continue long. Judge then of our surprise when we saw him enter our office. He has a slight cough remaining, as it would be natural that he should have, until he has had further time for acquiring strength of lungs. But he is in comfortable health. The following letter which he addresses to the general Boston Agent for the medicine which has restored him so wonderfully, will show what medicine has been the instrument of the good work.

BOSTON, Feb. 16, 1847.

DR. D. F. BRADLEE—Sir:—I cannot refrain from saying a word to you in commendation of "Buchan's Hungarian Balsam of Life." Here is a plain statement of facts in relation to my case, and if they are of any service in inducing the sick to seek relief at the source whence I obtained it, I shall be thankful.

My residence is Norway, Me. Three years ago last fall, I took a violent cold, which left a cough of the most aggravated kind, accompanied by a severe pain in the left side. Last June I had become so feeble that I was obliged to quit all work and was confined to the house until about four weeks since. During that time I received the best medical attendance, and tried nearly all the medicine which are recommended in such cases, but could find no relief, grew worse and for the last three weeks was confined to my bed. Two of my physicians gave me up as past recovery. But as fortune would have it, I tried the Hungarian Balsam, and immediately procured a bottle. This gave me instant relief, and six bottles have broken up my cough, and placed me in a situation to resume, with advancing health, my usual occupation. Yours, truly, CRUCHLEY COBB.

Wolfe's Celebrated Scheidam Aromatic

SCHNAPPS.

This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts., and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

MOSES & DOWNIE,

SOLE Agents for the above Goods, have on hand a large Stock of the same, suitable for shore and sea wear.

These fabrics, since their first introduction to the public, (almost three years since,) have been fully tested, and the result has proved them to possess all the qualities claimed for them, in a perfect article. They have on hand numerous testimonials from gentlemen in the navy and merchant service, which they would be pleased to show any one who would favor them with a call. They have been supplying some of the officers of the Falmouth, who have tested the Rubber goods, and found them unfit for sea service.

Nos. 33 & 37 Market Street.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their perfection is such, they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this comes such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove its efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor,—health courses again through the body, and the sick man is born again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint; see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his lone-lost appetite return; see his chammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with potions which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; give them, also, to the same; he has tried pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with liniments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can cure; but mark, he walks with comfort once and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation, and secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Note back again—the rosier blossom on her cheek, and where lately secreted by her corset, a more perfect feature. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and eyes, and restless skipping, tell the distress of the little sufferer as every mother knows. Give it the PILLS in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Then turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are we not the marvel of the age? And yet they are done around you every day.

Have you the less serious symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sickness, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Side, Flatulence, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints all arise from the derangements which these PILLS rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the disease, though of such diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old—they must hurrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and throughout every nation of civilized men, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption, that have baffled all else, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but him CONSUMPTION. He cries every thing; but the disease is growing in his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the CHERRY PECTORAL now; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength; the dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the CHERRY PECTORAL its imperishable renown. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by preventing than curing. The numberless colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an inestimable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in AYER'S American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

No. 511 Washington St., Boston,

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and when used in the case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by one set of keys. This combined with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and church use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and may be used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Building

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skilful workmen. In short, we will produce our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons, Hallett & Cumston,

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE
NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF Prof. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volumes after volume might be given from every part of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy resorted to, has been some one of those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these artifices are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize the latter, when they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once more, and if Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as bald. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered with a fine growth of hair, and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and pliable, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

CONCORDVILLE, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative for the season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackelson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of the article myself, I would recommend it to every for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States. I speak from experience, for I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretory organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

Prof. O. J. WOOD & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, and not well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was wont Nature, for another thing it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRENCH.

According to the scheme one ticket in every ten (and tickets are sold for one dollar) is halved, 50 quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of assigning number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70, (every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets. The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets 25c. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which pretend to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed Lottery Contractor, do not receive any but the Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co

No one has a right to send his individual certificates. If he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it. R. FRANCE & CO.,

VOLUNTARY DESTRUCTION OF LIQUORS BY THEIR OWNER.—On Monday afternoon officers Tw st and Laughrey, of Cambridge-port, went to a low groggery in Pine street, kept by Margeret McGrath, to treat it as a nuisance. They found the owner standing on a trap door leading to the cellar where she had secreted her liquors, but the officers discovering their whereabouts, to prevent their destruction being deemed inoffensive, the woman volunteered to destroy them herself, in case they would not prosecute her. This they promised, and she then brought a large quantity of rum, gin, and other liquors, with a variety of decanters, jugs and bottles, which she threw into a tub of dirty water standing by. This compound may still be dealt out to outrageously thirsty patrons, though such course seems improbable.—Traveller.

RAILROAD BRIDGES.—The New York Evening Post argues that it is high time a permanent reform should be made in these structures. It says:

The old rotten bridges should give way to something more durable. Iron is better than wood, but it is subject to certain changes in its composition which render it brittle and unsafe. But stone affords a material which is more abundant than wood, and which (especially when we consider the expense to the companies themselves of such accidents as that to which we have referred) will be found the most expensive in the end; and which, moreover, will last for centuries. Stone bridges are what railroad companies should be required to build in all cases when it is practicable.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE—NINE PERSONS BURNED TO DEATH. Chicago, May 18.—A fire occurred this morning in Wells street, between Van Buren and Jackson streets. The buildings burned were of little value, but there was a lamentable loss of human life. Nine persons are known to have been burned to death, and three others are missing. The names of the lost, as far as have been ascertained, are as follows: Harriman Bayar, wife, and three children; William Reilly, Mrs. Johnson, and son. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary, as the building has been fired twice within a short time.

Magondie was once called in to see a young boy, whose state presented alarming symptoms. "Let the child do whatever he pleases," said he; "that is all the prescription I will give." He felt unusual interest in this case, and although avaricious of his time and visits, he gave them both with prodigality in this case—but he prescribed nothing. In the evening of the next day, his face suddenly cleared up, and he pinched the sick boy by the ears. "Petit drole," said he, "you have not let me rest an hour in peace since you fell sick!" and he gaily slapped his cheek, crying "Get up and play now." The boy was well. His father, delighted, came up to Magendie and asked what was the matter with the child. "The matter! Ma foi, I have not the least idea; neither I nor the whole faculty from A to izzard, if it could be sincere, could tell you; this is certain, nature was deranged in the boy, and is now restored to its normal state."

A NAUGHTY MINISTER.—On Saturday evening, 24th ult, Rev. Mr. James, a graduate of Cambridge University, was committed by the Mayor of Oxford, Eng., for a month and a day, with hard labor, for disorderly conduct and assaulting the Inspector of the University police. Mr. James, who only left the workhouse that morning, (where he has recently been an inmate, of which he was at one time chaplain,) is well known in the counties of Oxford and Bucks.

MARRIED UNDER PROTEST.—Some of the respectable and order-loving citizens of Stirling, having learned that two of their young people had been living in such a relation as to render the ceremony of marriage in the highest degree decent and proper, surprised them about 10 o'clock on Friday evening of last week, took them by force and arms to a magistrate, and had them married according to law. In order to make the affair as little aggravating as possible to the interested parties, the magistrate gave the fee to the bride, and the crowd presented to the compulsory bridegroom a new hat.

☞ The Calcutta correspondent of the Nonconformist spoils the pretty story of Jessie Brown at Lucknow, by stating that no letter of the day mentioned could have reached Calcutta when the story is said to have arrived; that there was no Jessie Brown in Lucknow; that the Seventy-Eighth never played their pipes nor howled on the slogan as they came in: they had something else to do—and that they never marched round the dinner-table with their pipes the same evening at all.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1836.)
No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for obtaining patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below that prove that he is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES, he would respectfully add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. Regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1856.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

THURSDAY, MAY 20, 1858.

MR. EVERETT AND THE SLAVE POWER.—A letter from Mr. Everett is published in the Washington Intelligencer of May 14th, called up by the virulent attacks of the Richmond South upon Mr. E. for his course in regard to Mr. Sumner, in which he appeared to commiserate the stricken Senator; and by the more offensive letter of Mr. Yeadon in a South Carolina paper, stating that when Mr. Everett signed the Sumner testimonial subscription paper, he was under the influence of an anodyne, and reproducing Mr. Everett's speech made in the House some thirty years ago, in which he states that he would be willing to serve in putting down a servile insurrection, &c. We give a brief extract from this letter:

Others who subscribed the paper did it, as I am informed, either without reading it at all, or so hastily as not to be well aware of its character. When a meeting of the subscribers was called, it was agreed, partly, as I understood, for this reason, and in accordance with the expressed wishes of Mr. Sumner, to take no further steps in the premises; and to apply the sums subscribed to the relief of the sufferers in Kansas, which was accordingly done.

This meeting was held at a time when I was absent at Newport, but I fully approved of its doings. I ought to add that it is well known that I have condemned from the outset, and still most decidedly condemn, the policy of the late administration towards Kansas. I opposed the Kansas-Nebraska bill in the Territorial Committee, of which I was a member. I voted against the amendment to the bill by which the Missouri compromise was repealed. I opposed the bill to the best of my ability, in a speech delivered in the Senate on the 8th of February, 1858, of which I send you a copy; and I should have voted against it on its passage, (as I stated in my place at the next meeting of the Senate,) had not severe illness compelled me, at half past 3 o'clock in the morning, to leave the Senate chamber before the vote was taken. I informed my Southern political friends, when the bill was brought in, that it ought to be entitled a bill to "annihilate all conservative feeling in the non-slaveholding States."

With these views of the subject, though, as I trust, for reasons higher than any effect on party politics, I fully concurred in the main line of argument in Mr. Sumner's speech. Abstaining, however, habitually myself from all personalities in debate, and believing that they always irritate, and never persuade nor convince, I could not, of course, bestow my "unqualified approbation" on the manner in which he treated the subject, nor intentionally give my sanction to the violent and offensive language of the subscription paper alluded to, and inadvertently signed by me.

The rest of the letter is in this strain. Mr. Everett certainly did sympathize with Mr. Sumner, and did censure not only the scoundrels and bullies who made the assault, but those greater criminals who set them on and apologized for them. But he did not mean to offend the Slave power too much than, and he strives now to appease its wrath. But he strives in vain. The Southern people generally are as candid as other people. But that gang of scoundrels and swindlers who plotted the frauds and outrages in Washington and Kansas, will show Mr. Everett no favor for his concessions. They think better things of Giddings and Hale to-day, than of Everett and such as he.

In another quotation from Mr. Everett, which we copy below, the reader will perceive how he spoke when he had no motive to keep back the truth.

The remarks made, by Mr. Everett, the week following the indignation meeting at Faneuil Hall, to which he makes allusion, were delivered, we believe, says the Boston Transcript, in Taunton, Mass. He prefaced his oration "on the character of Washington," in that town, with the following appropriate and eloquent words:

A sadness which I strive in vain to repress, overwhelms me at the occurrences of the past week; and a serious apprehension forces itself upon my mind, that events are even now in train,—with an impulse too mighty to be resisted,—which will cause our beloved country to shed tears of blood through all her borders, for generations yet to come.

The civil war, with its horrid train of pillage, fire and slaughter, carried on without the slightest provocation against the infant settlement of our brethren on the frontier of the Union; the worse than civil war which, after raging for month, unrebuked at the Capital of the Union, has at length, with a fawless violence of which I know no example in the annals of constitutional government, stained the floor of the Senate chamber with the blood of an unarmed, defenceless man, and he a Senator of Massachusetts. Oh, my friends, these are events, which for the good name, the peace, the safety of the country, it were well worth all the gold of California to blot from the record of the past week. They sicken the heart of the patriot, of the good citizen, of the christian.

We cannot bear to be deceived by our enimies and betrayed by our friends; yet we are often content to be served so by ourselves.

EXETER.—A large number of new buildings are in course of erection. Among the new houses which have been built, is a fine one on Pine street, belonging to a gentleman from Chicago. Mr. Charles D. Towle is about to fill up the unseemly gap on the westerly side of the Squamscott House, with a dwelling-house, which will be a great ornament to that part of the town.

The revival progresses with no perceptible abatement, the daily prayer meetings being as well attended as ever. On Sunday evening last the Methodist meeting house, on Portsmouth Avenue, was crowded to hear Rev. Mr. Buckley, the pastor of the church. This gentleman, though a very young man, is said to preach some of the most eloquent and powerful sermons ever delivered here.

The ancient and honorable custom of "Calathumpianism" was revived with due ceremony last evening. One of our citizens, recently married a second time, was saluted with the usual melody of trumpet and drum, which he answered by a liberal donation of refreshments.

Schooner Danube, of Brewer, sailed from here on Wednesday last for Bangor. If she gets fired into by any British man-of-war, on her voyage, our merchants stand in readiness to hold an indignation meeting. F. O.

☞ We have already mentioned that the Rev. Bennet Tyler, D. D., died at East Windsor, Conn., on Saturday last, aged 74 years. Dr. Tyler was formerly president of Dartmouth College, in this State, and frequently preached here in the North Church. On the morning of the day Dr. Tyler died, he was at work in his garden in his usual health, when he was attacked by neuralgia in the breast.

Dr. Tyler graduated at Yale College in 1804, in the same class with the late John C. Calhoun, and Rev. John Pierpont.—He was President of Dartmouth College from 1822 to 1828, when he resigned and was settled as pastor of the Second Congregational Society in Portland, Me., succeeding the Rev. Dr. Edward Payson, and continued his pastoral charge until 1834, when he was elected President of the Theological Seminary in East Windsor, Conn., which office he held until his death. He was considered one of the ablest Theologians in New England.

☞ Dr. Robert Hare of Philadelphia died in that city last Saturday in his seventy-seventh year. Since the beginning of the present century, the deceased has been celebrated for the zealous and successful prosecution of chemistry, and especially of electro galvanism. His first discovery, the "compound, or oxy-hydrogen blowpipe," was made in 1801, before he had attained the age of manhood. For nearly thirty years he occupied the chair of Chemistry in the University of Pennsylvania. During his last years he was a warm advocate of spiritualism, the phenomena of which he deeply pondered.

THE LATE ACCIDENT UPON THE NEW YORK CENTRAL RAILROAD.—The coroner's jury in the case of the late frightful accident on the Central Railroad at Sauquoit Creek, New York, have agreed on their verdict. The feeling of the jurors is said to have been unanimous at once:

We find that the persons, whose bodies have been viewed by us, came to their deaths by the giving way of the bridge of the New York Central Railroad, crossing Sauquoit Creek, in the town of Whitestown, Oneida county, on the morning of the 11th of May, and that they were all passengers by the Cincinnati express train coming east.

The deaths were caused by the insecurity of the bridge, owing to the same being decayed and rotten. A portion of the bridge was constructed of inferior timber, the same being bastard elm. We find the deaths were caused by culpable neglect on the part of the Central Railroad Company, in not causing this bridge to be properly examined.

☞ Porter's New York Spirit of the Times says, "The complaint against Messrs. Dean & Salter, of the Golden Prize newspaper, as a gift enterprise, has been dismissed: the Court being of opinion that it is no offence to induce parties to subscribe for a newspaper by the offer of a gift."

☞ The late Governor of Canton, Governor Yeh, who is now a prisoner at Calcutta on board the Inflexible, protests that he never tasted cold water in the whole course of his life, and thinks that if he did it would be the death of him! His drink has always been weak tea.

☞ Jacob Willick, who has gone mad with religious excitement, at Millersburg, Ohio, conceives that the salvation of the world depends upon burning up meeting houses, and has been caught attempting to set fire to several.

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, May 18.

SENATE.—Mr. Seward's resolution of inquiry into outrages on American vessels by British cruisers, in the Gulf of Mexico, which was postponed yesterday, was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Douglas of Illinois, moved that the Oregon bill be taken up, upon which motion the yeas and nays were called for.

The vote being 28 against 28, the Chair (Mr. Brockingride) voted affirmatively, and consequently the bill was before the Senare.

The pending motion was Mr. Trumbull's, that the consideration be postponed till December next.

Mr. Fitzpatrick of Alabama, spoke in favor of the postponement, in order that an enabling act may be passed, and a census taken.

Mr. Gwin of California warmly urged her immediate admission, and referred to the poll-books to show that Oregon has ample population, and is able to maintain a State government.

Mr. Hale (of N. H.) said a few words respecting treaty obligations with the Chinese.

Mr. Trumbull (of Ill,) argued that Kansas being admitted to pacify the nation, which was on the verge of civil war, there was no reason why the rule should be relaxed in favor of Oregon.

Mr. Douglas replied—If admission on easy terms was held out as the reward of rebellion, Oregon could resort to that as well as another; but the Oregonese are a law-abiding people, and for that very reason, if for no other, should have the restrictions relaxed. The important interests of the Pacific slope required more representatives in Congress.

Mr. Seward, of N. Y., protested against making the admission of Oregon dependent upon the analogy between it and another State. He was determined on voting for its present admission apart from the question of its being a Free State, by the fact that, geographically and politically, Oregon is inaispensible to the completion of the Union as New York or Louisiana.

Mr Green of Missouri, knew that the feeling of emancipation did not exist in Missouri, except to a most limited extent among a few individuals. He knew the object of this movement of the Senator from New York, and desired to meet it on the threshold. It was intended to stir up and fan the flame of discord—to send not peace but a sword. The sentiment of Missouri was in favor of peace, but not emancipation. Slave labor is profitable there and the number of slaves has increased.

Some further remarks were made, after which the postponement till December was lost, by a vote of 38 to 16.

The bill was then reported without amendment, except unimportant verbal ones, and finally passed by a vote of 35 to 17.

The following were the dissentients:—Messrs. Bell, Clay, Crittenden, Davis, Durkee, Fessenden, Fitzpatrick, Hale, Hamlin, Hammond, Henderson, Hunter, Iverson, Kennedy, Mason, Trumbull, Wade.

Absent—Bates, Clark, Fitch, Mallory, Pearce, Rice, Sumner, Thompson of Kentucky, Thompson of N. J., and Wilson.

HOUSE.—The House proceeded to the election of a doorkeeper, and Joseph L. Wright of New Jersey, the Democratic nominee, was chosen. He received 117 votes. The Republicans voted for Arthur W. Fletcher, who received 77 votes; 22 votes, including those of the Americans, were cast for other persons.

The House went into committee on the Civil Appropriation Bill.

Mr. Jones explained that it provides for a Coast Survey, Light House establishment and other miscellaneous items. The Committee on Ways and Means had reduced the estimates, 2,239,000, to the lowest possible amount for the successful prosecution of the objects. The aggregate amount in this bill, was $3,819,900.

MCGEE, THE MURDERER.—The warrant for the execution of McGee, the murderer of Deputy Warden Walker, has been prepared for June 15th. Sheriff Clark read to McGee his death warrant in his cell at the Jail, Monday afternoon. McGee has selected the Rev. Mr. Stickney, rector of the Church of the Advent, for his spiritual adviser, and is now apparently making earnest and sincere preparations to meet the terrible death awaiting him. The scaffold which is to be used is the same one used at the execution of Dr. Webster. It will be erected in the jail rotunda, and in such a position that no persons, excepting such as are admitted by the Sheriff's orders, will be able to witness the execution.

THE TRIAL OF MRS. GARDNER.—The 2nd trial of Mrs. Abigail Gardner for the murder of her husband, Hosea J. Gardner, at Hingham, on the 28th of January, 1857, was commenced at Plymouth, Mass., on Monday before the Supreme Judicial Court. The case was tried in September last, and resulted in the disagreement of the jury. The trial will probably occupy the most of the week.

☞ Frank Leslie the enterprising New York publisher, deserves the approbation of all decent people, for his manly expose of the infernal swill-milk traffic of that city. And yet, is it any of his business what another man offers for sale? Mustn't he put down with the "fanatics?"

The pleasure of love, is loving; and we are much happier in the passion we feel, than in that we excite.

☞ The clergymen of Worcester, Mass., have agreed to preach on the subject of Temperance, alternately, on the third Sabbath evening of each month.

That was a very singular mistake made by Digg at the wedding, who when introduced to the bride, wished that she might enjoy many returns of the happy occasion!

PERUVIAN SYRUP.—We made reference to this medicinal preparation last week in a quotation from our contemporary the Puritan Recorder. That is not an ordinary compound or preparation, but embraces a discovery where by an important principle in medical science is most successfully applied. Use Philbrick's

Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of anything that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a Box containing 144 squares, 1 square being sufficient to kindle a fire, burning from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 6 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or climate. They are safe, being composed of a substance not liable to spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with use of shavings and paper, thus removing a great risk of fire from buildings, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.

DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or charcoal fire.

Garden Engines.

THESE engines can be moved and managed by one man for all the purposes of its intention, as easily as a wheel-barrow, and will be found highly useful in not only supplying Gardens and Nurseries with regularish were in times of drought but also for showering Trees and Plants, and for the destruction of Worms, which may be made effectual by an admixture of Sulphur with the water. For washing side-walks, also, and windows, and for the extinguishment of fires, it presents additional claims; and rightly considered, may be regarded as a most indispensable article of usefulness and security. The Box will contain about 50 gallons of water, and is placed on cast iron wheels, with handles. For sale by

THE TURKS.—A writer in the Boston Traveller, who appears to have been in company with the Ottoman Admiral and suite, on their visit to our Navy Yard, on Tuesday, says, "they seemed to manifest a thorough and critical knowledge of ship building, and noticed the fine points in the construction of the frigate Franklin, with much admiration, expressing the opinion that she was the finest ship they had yet seen; one which, in their judgment, could scarcely be improved."

The Admiral himself could speak English but little, if at all; but his two companions were tolerably fluent in the use of the language. As has been previously stated, the Sultan supposed Uncle Sam would build him a ship; and now that these agents find he declines to do that, but will afford him every facility for getting an equally-good vessel in private contract—Hassan Effendi (a Lieutenant in the Turkish navy) returned to Europe, on Wednesday, by the Europa, to report to the Sultan. He will remain in Paris a short time, and thence proceed to report at head-quarters and receive further instructions.

In the mean time, the Admiral and the remainder of his suite remain in Boston, and will probably improve time in visiting some of her institutions, though they will avoid all ceromony and public display.

"Whatever is done in secret, shall be proclaimed on the house top."—Bible.

About forty years since, in this city, an inconsiderate youth took from his companion's desk, at school, a piece of mechanism, (the article shall be nameless.) His associates charged him with the theft, which he stoutly denied. Forty years of course found the two boys men; one living in this city, the other sixty miles or more distant. The one who took the article put it away, probably rather as an incumbrance to him.

A short time since, one of his neighbors having use for just such an article, he made him a present of it, saying that he had owned it ever since he was a boy.—The new possessor, having occasion to bring it to Portsmouth for repairs, brought it to the original owner, it being in his line of business to do such work. After a short examination, he enquired "where did you obtain this article? I think that I have seen it before," The answer was, "Esq. ——, of the town of ———, gave it to me, saying that he had owned it ever since he was a boy, and wanted to give it to some one that could use it!"

This incident was penned, hoping that every youthful reader will see and feel that strict honesty is and always will be the best policy.

MR. TUCKERMAN AND THE EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY.—A ridiculous rumor was current in State street, yesterday, that Wm. S. Tuckerman, before going to State Prison, made restitution to the Eastern Railroad to the extent of two hundred thousand dollars. This would be good news to the stockholders of that road if it was true. All that was ever realized from Mr. Tuckerman was by the sale of his real estate, for which, by the judicious management of the President, Mr. Howe, good prices were obtained. The account is now considered as closed, but with a heavy balance on the wrong side of the ledger. The Eastern Railroad is now under good management, and is gradually advancing towards the position of a dividend paying road.—Traveller.

QUERY.—Messrs. Editors:—In the last "Ramble," in the Journal,—which I read with the deepest interest—the writer speaks of an old house with a "gable roof." Now does he not mean gambrel roof? Gable means the triangular end of a house—so any house with a roof not flat, must have at least two gables; but a gambrel roof is one with a double slope on each side the ridge-pole, or a curb roof—thus being shaped like the hind legs or gambrels of a horse.

WASHINGTON NEWS.—The Cabinet, on Tuesday, resolved to reinforce the Home Squadron by every available means. The Colorado, which sailed on Tuesday for San Domingo, goes out to make inquiries into the insult and injuries to our Consul and citizens on that Island. Dispatches referring to the more recent proceedings by the British cruisers in the Gulf have been sent to meet the Colorado at San Domingo.

The Cabinet have determined to ask Congress for a loan of $15,000,000. The Secretary will not name a specific rate of interest, but will name 6 per cent. as the maximum.

(Tribune correspondence.)—The message which the President intended to send yesterday to the Senate, in answer to the resolution of inquiry respecting the British outrages, was deferred for further consultation in the Cabinet. Official evidence is received from the Consul at Havana, containing the statements of several masters whose vessels had been searched. The testimony is clear and positive, and justifies the fullest action. A correspondence has already been opened with Lord Napier, and from informal conferences held here, there is every reason to believe that the outrages will be disavowed, and the offending officers dismissed.

The first wine fair opened in St. Louis on the 12th inst., at the rooms of the Missouri Wine Company. About seventy specimens were exhibited, contributed by the States of Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Ohio, Iowa, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri.

SOLE Agents for the above Goods, have on hand a large Stock of the same, suitable for shore and sea wear.

These fabrics, since their first introduction to the public, (almost three years since,) have been fully tested, and the results have proved them to possess all the qualities requisite to make a perfect article. They have on hand numerous testimonials from gentlemen in the navy and merchant service, which they have received to show any one who would favor them with a call. They have been supplying some of the officers of the Falmouth packet, who have tried the Rubber goods, and found them suit for sea service.

Nos. 33 & 37 Market Street.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. The Vegetable Lazzaretto Pills have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medicinal profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so sure, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountain of life and vigor, — health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to diseases, and diseases only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint: see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in misery. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these Pills, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the lateleper that is clean; give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with liniments and salves; give him these Pills to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which baffle every power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has damaged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion. They are their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these Pills to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again — the rose blooms on the pale cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched cheek, its restless moans and sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the Pills in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now look again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Why are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day.

Have you the less serious symptoms of these disempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sick Headache, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints all arise from the derangements which these Pills rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, according to the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old — the most barrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box — 5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by its use. Hundreds have been diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but him Consumption. He knows not the thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and will have its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the Cherry Pectoral now; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound; his appetite for food returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the Cherry Pectoral an imperishable renown. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The countless colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the Cherry Pectoral if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the purest sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

THE RESTORATIVE OF Prof. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Twelve after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect specific for the hair; but the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

The Hair.—People have for centuries been afflicted with premature baldness, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly recommend Wood's Restorative; they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who sent the writer a wig to match her own head is covered completely with the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which has produced the greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, giving it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will agree that a fine head of hair, whether in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

Concord, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last year, I thought I would give you a few lines, as I can do it with truth, that I have sold more of your Hair Restorative than any other one of your local agents (R. M. Hackstaff, Esq.) and having experimented to some extent, myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am now in the business and feel well to do it. I recommend your restorative to be a good article for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. Stockman.

Wayland, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., James Francis.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend the drawings, and to see that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the schemes one number in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon twenty-four of one number throughout the year, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes range from $40 to $7,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers

Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO.....MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be exceedingly cautious how they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to remit money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at one Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets at $1. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which pay port to be decided by the Maryland Drawings are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. Persons in ordering Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any liecsed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates, if he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it. R. FRANCE & CO.

A PROCLAMATION
TO THE LADIES.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are fast fading away, and WHEREAS, the unscrupulous and ignorant have long taken advantage of the profound and learned. BE IT KNOWN THEREFORE, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that Dr. CHEESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS are ALONE the certain pancacea for the female invalid. THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS of Dr. CHEESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, when IMPORTUNITY has been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread widely among their friends, to their mutual benefit—always promising that said Proclamation in one case must be considered NULL and VOID; that is to say that PILLS were NOT to be taken when any female is in an INTERESTING situation, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

LIFE.

Life's more than breath and the quick run of blood,
It is great spirit and a busy heart.
The coward and the small in soul scarce do live.
One generous feeling—one great thought—one deed
Of good, ere night, would make life longer seem
Than if each year might number a thousand days—
Spent as is this by nations of mankind.
We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts, not breaths;
In feelings, not in figures on a dial.
We should count time by heart-throbs. He most lives
Who thinks most—feels the noblest—acts the best. —[Festus.

THE HEART.

The soul of music slumbers in the shell,
Till waked and kindled by the master's spell;
And feeling hearts—touch them but rightly—
One
A thousand melodies unheard before!—[Rogers.

THE ISLES OF THE BLEST.

'Mid the sparkling waves of the distant West,
Where the sun sinks down to his evening rest,
And his parting beams on the waters play,
God's visible smile from the courts of day,
O! never beheld by mortal eyes,
A cloudless and beautiful country lies.
* * * * * *
'Tis sweet to know, when the world grows cold,
And the years of a wearisome life are told,
When the thin blood courseth chill and slow,
And the soul is o'ershadowed with heavy woe,
That the Pilgrim of earth may find a rest,
In the far-off seas of the golden West,
The beautiful Isles of the Ever blest.
—[Paul Hayne.

PLEASURES.

But pleasures are like poppies spread,
You seize the flower, its bloom is shed;
Or like the snow falls in the river,
A moment white, then melts forever.
—[Burns.

Pigmies are pigmies still, tho' perched on Alps,
And pyramids are pyramids in vales.—[Young.

☞ The Lockport (N. Y.) Courier says that a young lad, son of a widow Stevens, who lives on Chestnut street in that village, one day week before last got into a difficulty with a neighbor's boy, which resulted in his being threatened with arrest, which so frightened him that he ran himself to death.

THE NUISANCE LAW.—The Boston papers state it is the intention of the Association of the opponents of the liquor law, of Boston, in case a decision sustaining the law is made by the full bench of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, to carry the matter before the United States Courts.

☞ In the trial of a lottery case in Philadelphia, a victim testified that he had lost by the purchase of lottery tickets over $30,000; that he was broken up and robbed in business. His first start was from Richmond, Virginia; where he purchased from $80 to $100 worth of tickets.

☞ The South Baptist church in Hartford is a troublesome affair; its stone spire is continually giving way, and for several days workmen have been engaged in preventing its downfall. The difficulty just now is that the mortar has given way and the stones are bulging out, about fifty feet from the ground.

☞ The will of James Hurd of Malden, made in 1857, by which the four States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts were to receive five thousand dollars each to be expended in furthering the production of sugar, has been set aside on the ground of insanity.

A THIRTY-SIX YEAR OLD HORSE.—General Wm. P. Riddle of Manchester, N. H., has a horse which he bought twenty-eight years ago, when he was eight years old. He is white, weighs about 1000 lbs., and is in better condition than many of his juniors. His teeth are so good he fills himself plump with hay, was never sick and never was lame. He can take a gait of five miles an hour, and follow it, up hill and down, over the roughest road in New Hampshire. Although he is now thirty-six years old, he seems likely to live for many years to come.—Mirror.

A man named Hall, in Almont, Ill., after attending a prayer meeting on Sunday night, returned to his grocery store; filled a box with combustibles, lighted a candle in the centre, locked the door and went home. When the candle burnt down to the combustibles, they ignited; the building was burnt, and a fine block adjoining. Half the village had a narrow escape.—This was done to secure an insurance on his groceries for one thousand dollars.

The working days in Switzerland are from fourteen to nineteen hours. Wages, for children five cents per day; women from sixteen to thirty; men from forty to sixty.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st., cor. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Research made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, not possessed by, if not unascertainable by, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove that no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty-three years, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

FRIDAY, MAY 21, 1858.

ENGLAND AND AMERICA.—The President of the United States, Wednesday, sent a brief Message to Congress, in reply to the call for information in regard to the operation of the British cruisers in the Gulf. Gen. Cass, on the 4th of May, called Lord Napier's attention to the fact that the N. B. Borden had been fired into by the Styx. His Lordship replied that he had forwarded copies of the General's letter to Her Magisty's government and to the commander of the British West India Squadron. Gen. Cass's next letter was to Mr. Dallas. In the name of the President, he requests that the American Minister hasten to place the matter before Lord Malmesbury, and demand that the rights of American commerce shall be respected.

The Secretary of State then addressed the Secretary of the Navy. After reciting all the facts in his possession, and after suggesting that a vessel of war should be sent forthwith to the Gulf, "with instructions to render prompt protection to all American vessels that may need it," he significantly observes—"The forcible search of cruisers of the British power on the high seas, cannot be tolerated!"

Secretary Toucey wrote to the President Wednesday, that steamer Fulton had been dispatched to the succor of our commerce, with orders to cruise actively on the north coast of Cuba, and to take such measures as may be deemed necessary to protect all vessels of the United States, on the high seas, from search or detention from vessels of war from any other nation. The razee Savannah and brig Dolphin have also been ordered to join the home squadron; and the Wabash, now fitting out at New York for the Mediterranean, has been directed "to show her flag" in the troubled waters of the Gulf of Mexico, forthwith.

Secretary Cass, writing to Mr. Dallas, May 18, mentions the British visitation of American vessels lying at Sagua le Grande, and requests him to point out to the English government that this is meddling with our ships "within the territorial jurisdiction of Spain," and requests him to say to Her Majesty's government that the British officers must be censured, and American commerce indemnified.

The next document comes from the Consul General at Havana, in the form of a report to the Secretary of State. He mentions the case of the Cortes particularly, and gives numerous affidavits from passengers in that vessel, "one of whom says he was robbed by the crew of the British gun-boat, the captain of which was drunk." This is the substance of the papers accompanying the Message.

LAGER BEER.—In these days, when this "Dutch swill" is smuggled into many otherwise temperate families, by the prescription of some tippling doctor—in the face of all scientific testimony on the subject, that is never of benefit to anybody, but always does harm—the question whether a man can get drunk on beer or ale, is of general interest. In a New York court, a few days since, Prof. Doremus testified that lager beer, if taken in very large quantities, he considered capable of producing intoxication. From analysis, he found that good brandy contains, of alcohol, 53 to 55 per cent.; Madeira wine 20 to 23 per ct.; Port wine 26 to 25 per ct.; Rhine wine 10 to 12 per ct.; Claret 10 to 16 per ct.; Champagne 10 to 12 per ct.; cider 9 to 10 per ct; porter and ale 5 to 8 per ct.; lager beer 3 per ct.

On being asked to define intoxication, the learned Professor said that it was a partial loss of judgment and of muscular power, produced by imbibing alcoholic liquor. He did not regard excitement or exhilaration as tests of drunkenness.

Dr. D. Meredith testified that he thought if a man drank enough lager beer to intoxicate him, he would be intoxicated—that is, if he imbibed lager beer to such an amount that the alcohol contained therein would be sufficient to intoxicate, intoxication would follow. Being asked for a definition of drunkenness, he replied that he considered a man drunk when, in consequence of the liquor drank by him, he does or says anything that he would not do or say when sober.

LIQUOR DESTROYED.—On Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Baxter entered one of his houses on First street, South Boston, occupied by a woman named Kennedy, and availed himself of the late decision of Chief Justice Shaw, seized a quantity of liquors which his tenant kept for sale, and poured them into the street.

Ye Sons of Malta, Granite Lodge, No. 1, meets this evening. Portcullis rises at 8 o'clock. Thirteen will enter the "Vale of Mysteries."—Manchester Amer.

☞ Our readers doubtless remember the horrid developments that followed the discovery of the mangled remains of a female packed into a barrel, which were found at the depot of the Hudson River Railroad in New York a month or two since. Through the activity of the New York officers this barrel was tracked over various railroads through Canada to Chicago, where a German barber named Henry Jumperty or Gumberts was arrested, as the person who had despatched the barrel and its contents from Chicago.

This man confessed that the body in the barrel was that of Sophia alias Ellen Werner, a young German woman, who had been living with the prisoner as his mistress. This woman vehemently insisted upon a marriage, which Jumperty declined, and finally upon coming home one day he found her dead, she having hung herself. To dispose of the body he resorted to the expedient, after keeping it for a few days, of hacking it up and packing it in a barrel, but through the sagacity of the officers of the law, his "Sis soon found him out," and he was arrested. Whether or no he was guilty of murder, a legal investigation will determine.

Tuesday, the City Marshal of Chicago discovered the trunks containing the clothing of the deceased female, at the depot at Lowell. They were sent by Jumperty from Chicago, and were directed to Mrs. Ebert, Middlesex Village, (a place near Lowell,) who when questioned in regard to Jumperty, who once officiated as a barber in Lowell, produced a very loving letter, which she had received from him concerning her friend Caroline.

This letter would indicate a motive on the part of Jumperty for putting his mistress out of the way. The trunks have not yet been opened.

LEGISLATIVE.—In about a fortnight, the Great and General Court of New Hampshire will assemble at Concord. Among their business for their June session, is the election of United States Senator for six years,—John P. Hale's term expiring with the present Congress. Mr. Hale's chief competitors are Thomas M. Edwards of Keene, Anthony Colby of New London, Amos Tuck of Exeter. The Manchester Mirror goes in strong for Hale, and says that "if the question was left to the Republican voters of all the Free States, who should be returned Senator from New Hampshire, more than nine-tenths of the ballots would come in, written with a John Hancock boldness, with the name of JOHN P. HALE upon themselves."

THOMAS L. TULLOCK, of Portsmouth, will be appointed Secretary of State, in place of Pattee, resigned. Mr. T. is an able and good man, and one of the most efficient Republicans in our State. The appointment would be hailed by every Republican throughout the State, as one "fit to be made."—Milford Republican.

☞ The anniversary of the Christian Home and Foreign Missionary Society was held at Franklin N. H., May 19.

A letter was read from Newcastle, N. H., asking assistance in sustaining the ministry there.

Praf. Holmes, of Portsmouth, made a few pertinent remarks on pecuniary matters. He read extracts from a report of the Methodist Society's doings, showing that the amount raised in support of missions by the Methodist Society was much larger than that raised by the Christian churches, with the same number of members.

At 11 o'clock the Convention adjourned for the purpose of visiting the New England Christian Institute at Andover, N. H.

The afternoon was devoted to short addresses before the Sabbath Schools and delegates. The exercises were of a very interesting nature to those present. A large audience was addressed on Tuesday evening on the subject of Truth, by Prof. Holmes.

NEW BREAD.—The following is from Dr. John G. Bunting, who has been experimenting with Alexis St. Martin, the man with a hole in his stomach, made by a bullet, through which can be seen all the processes or stages through which the different articles must pass in the act of digestion.

"Hot bread never digests. Bear this in mind, reader, if you are accustomed to eat the light and tempting biscuit at tea, or the warm loaf which looks so appetizing upon your dinner table. Hot bread never digests at all; after a long season of tumbling and working about in the stomach, it will begin to ferment, and it will eventually be passed out of the stomach as an unwelcome tenant of that delicate organ, but never digests—never becomes assimilated to or absorbed by the organs that appropriate nutrition to the body. It is a first rate dyspepsia producer. The above is truth, as it has been repeatedly proved from actual observation through the side of Alexis St. Martin.

4 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

HALIFAX, May 19.—Royal Mail Steamship Niagara, from Liverpool, 8th inst., arrived at Halifax, on Wednesday.

GREAT BRITAIN,—On the 5th inst., the House of Commons passed to a second reading the bill legalizing marriage with a deceased wife's sister, by forty majority.

On the 6th, in reply to an inquiry, Mr. Disraeli said no revision of the commercial relations with Turkey had taken place since the war, but one would probably soon commence.

He also stated, in reply to an inquiry by Mr. Bright as to the proclamation of the Governor General of India confiscating the soil of Oude, that government had sent out a dispatch disapproving of the policy of the Governor General in this matter in every respect.

The bill abolishing the property qualification for members of parliament was debated, and passed to a second reading amid great cheering. The question is regarded as an important one in parliamentary reform, and meets with government support.

In the House of Lords, Lord Ebury moved for a commission to consider the propriety of modifying the liturgy of the Church of England, but was opposed by the Bishops and subsequently withdrew his motion.

The great Chester Cup Race was won by Sir C. Monk's Vanity, in a field of 28 horses.

The Times is authorised to state that Sir Colin Campbell is to be created a peer in consequence of his distinguished services.

The Court of the Queen's Bench refused the application of the British Bank Directors for a new trial. Lord Campbell said the jury were justified in their verdict; all the facts of the case were uncontroverted, and he sincerely hoped that the prosecution would have a salutary effect upon commercial transaction.

The London Times, in its city article, has some remarks on the extension of the United States southward, and says in effect that the absorbtion of the weaker republics of Central and So. America by the United States cannot apparently be long delayed. Should America now pursue the course that seems imminent,— the change as regards English interests, assuming that she will honestly provide for the existing debts of the various states in question, cannot but be a great improvement upon their present position. The writer thinks far more opposition will be shown to the extension at home than abroad.

The long projected European and American Sub-marine Telegraph Co. via the Azores, were about issuing proposals for laying their cable.

FRANCE.—The anniversary of the death of Napoleon had been celebrated in Paris with imposing religious ceremonies.

The commission to consider the claim of Professor Morse has recommended that Government give him 400,000 francs indemnity for the use of his system in France.

SPAIN.—A telegraphic dispatch received at Paris from Madrid, dated Friday 7th, P. M., announces that the cortes had been suddenly prorogued. Some of the ministers have tendered their resignation.

RUSSIA.—Details of the arrangement for the abolition of serfdom are publishe.—There successive periods are indicated for the completion of the measure, and serfs are to remain attached to the property until they have purchased their freedom.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET, May 8.—There has been an active demand during the week. The market is buoyant and all qualities have advanced 1-4 of a penny per pound on the w ek.

LIVERPOOL BREADSTUFFS MARKET.—Breadstuffs generally have a declining tendency, with the exception of Corn, which tends upwards.

THE INSULTED VESSELS.—The following is the record of British operations in the Gulf within the last three weeks:—

Ship Tropic Bird, fired into, boarded and searched.

Bark Clara Windsor, fired into, boarded and searched.

Bark Glenburn, overhauled at sea.

☞ In Charlestown, Mass., last week, a young Irish couple, just on the point of getting married, had a flare-up—the lady held the license to marry, and agreed to marry another Irishman with it, and their priest married them! When Pat No. 1 saw his marriage in the paper, he called on the priest, who forced the couple to get another certificate, and he married them over again.

MORE PHONOGRAPHY.—Choate in his Webster speech in 1851, having made a magnificent spread over the evils to the nation and the world that would result from the election of anybody else to the presidency, closed with tragically and startlingly quoting—

"But the pity of it, Iago—
O, Iago,—The pity of it, Iago!"

The speech was phonographically reported for the then Chronotype, and the "sounding generality" which had ended this part of it, was flattened out into "But the pity of it I argue—O, I argue,—the pity of it, I argue."—Lowell News.

IMMORTELLES.

CHEERFULNESS TAUGHT BY REASON.

I think we are too ready with complaint
In this fair world of God's. Had we no hope
Indeed beyond the zenith and the slope
Of you gray bank of sky, we might be faint
To muse upon eternity's constraint
Round our aspirant souls. But since the scope
Must widen early, is it well to droop
For a few days consumed in loss and taint?
O pusillanimous Heart, be comforted,—
And like a cheerful traveller, take the road,
Singing beside the hedge. What if the bread
Be bitter in thine inn, and thou unshod
To meet the flints?—at least it may be said,—
"Because the way is short, I thank thee, God!"
—[Mrs. Browning.

THE FREE MIND.

Slave to no sect, who takes no private road,
But looks through Nature up to Nature's God.
—[Pope.

THE HILLS.

Come, let us to the hills! where none but God
Can overlook us; for I hate to breathe
The breaths and think the tho'ts of other men,
In close and clouded cities, where the sky
Frowns, like an angry father, mournfully.
I love the hills and I love loneliness,
And oh! I love the woods, those natural fanes
Whose very air is holy; and we breathe
Of God; for He doth come in special place,
And, while we worship, He is there for us!
—[Bailey.

THE GRAVE OF BURNS.

Such graves as his are pilgrim shrines,
Shrines to no code or creed confined,—
The Delphian vale, the Palestines,
The Meccas of the mind. —[Halleck.

A MOTHER.

A mother is a mother still,
The holiest thing aliva.—[Coleridge.

COME EASY, GO EASY.—George Christy left New York very suddenly on Wednesday last, in the steamer Moses Taylor for California. He has run through with all property acquired by his negro minstrels, and become entirely penniless. Indeed he was reduced to such a strait that he was obliged to conceal his departure in order to elude the pursuit of several officials who were watching to arrest him.

PERUVIAN SYRUP.—We made reference to this medicinal preparation last week in a quotation from our contemporary, the Puritan Recorder. That is not an ordinary compound preparation, but embraces a discovery where by an important principle in medical science is most successfully applied. ☞ On our fourth page will be found a long advertisement of Messrs. S. D. & H. W. Smith's Melodeons. This enterprising firm manufactures instruments of many varieties and styles, — and of superior quality. Specimens may be seen at the Music Store of Mr. Cobb, who is their agent in this city.

MONEY AND BUSINESS.—In the Boston money market there is no change since last week. Good business paper is scarce and taken at 5 a 6 per cent., while on call there is an abundant supply of money at 4 a 5 per cent. Business of all kinds continues dull. No Speculative movements in any discription of merchandise, and the business doing in the leading articles continues quite limited. It is generally believed that we shall have a very quiet market for a month or two.

Advices from London, to the 5th inst., reports the money market firm up to Tuesday, when it improved under the satisfactory statements on the finances made by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and the announcement that nearly a million of pounds sterling in gold, had been shipped from Australia during the five or six weeks preceding the departure of the last mail.

There was rather an increased demand in the discount market, and the rates of paper ranged from 2 1-4 a 2 1-2 per cent. Mr. Disraeli announced that the Bank of England had accommodated the government with £2,000,000, at 3 1-4 per cent., for the redemption of exchequer bills, but that the government had availed itself, as yet, of only £1,000,000.—Boston Shipping List.

MONEY AND POLITICS.—From the correspondence of the Courier and Enquiror:

Although the Secretary of the Treasury cannot make up his mind to reveal the poverty of the Exchequer, and ask for a permanent supply, the necessity of a loan cannot be averted. Nor do I see how this session of Congress can be allowed to pass without providing for the deficiency that will certainly occur before its reassembling. We begin this year with a debt redeemable at call, of $20,000,000. This must be provided for, and ought to be funded at once. We have before us the probability of a deficit within the twelve months of $20,000,000. The actual deficiency of estimated means as compared with probable disbursements is then $40,000,000. Now why not candidly admit what is so palpably true, and make the requisite provision for inevitable difficulty? It is true, a loan for so large a sum will have a bad influence upon the elections. But that is the regular course of things. The Democrats make debts and the opposition pay them.

OUT OF A DILEMMA.—The other day, happening to be in the Nashua Police Office, when Judge Pearson was making out a complaint against a certain somewhat eminent loafer, he had got his name written, and was about to add, as is the custom, the word "yeoman," when, being himself a something of a "yeoman," remarked that it was an insult to the profession to call such a specimen of humanity a "yeoman," but added that it would be a libel to call him a "laborer." The question was finally disposed of by deciding that hereafter all such individuals are to be designated as "gentlemen." It is hard on the real gentlemen, but then it is the most equivocal title we know of.—Telegraph.

☞ The Catholic Mexicans of Marysville, California, hung Judas Iscariot in effigy, on Sunday, the last day of Lent;—and after music and other ceremonies, blew the image to pieces with gunpowder.

THE OXYGENATED BITTERS are doing wonders in the cure of Dyspepsia, Jaundice and Liver diseases. Of the thousand and one preparations offered for the cure of these diseases, this alone appears to perform all it promises.

Sr. LOUIS, May 17th.—Accounts from Kansas continue to speak of outrages and robberies by Montgomery's band of outlaws.

Several stores and the Postoffice at Willow Springs were robbed on the 11th.

Heavy robberies are also reported in different parts of Johnson county; and 300 families are said to have been driven out of Lynn county.

Montgomery holds a Captain's commission under Gen. Lane.

It is understood that the band have a written pledge under which they are sworn to drive all the pro-slavery men out of the Territory. They are also reported to have said that unless Gov. Denver withdraws the troops from Fort Scott, they will proceed to Lecompton.

There will be another version of this story in a few days.

THE WOMEN IN THE FRAY.—On the morning of April 11th, about thirty of the women of Ferdericksburg, Ohio, took possession of four doggeries in their town, and enforced the liquor law; they demolished everything that looked as though it might contain the cause of their sufferings; the barrels of whisky were rolled into the street by the women, the heads carefully taken off by picks and axes, and the contents went into the stream running through the town. One doggery keeper locked and barred his door; but like the jailor's door we read of, a gentle push from the hands of the thirty women caused the gate to open wide; they entered the premises, and the fell destroyer was set at liberty—bottles, kegs, barrels, johns, and everything containing the poisonous liquor gave way, and the old serpent was permitted to skulk into mother earth.—Prohibitionist.

CITY LIQUOR AGENTS.—By reference to the advertisement in another cofumn, it will be seen that the city authorities of Newburyport have just appointed some twenty seven agents, to sell liquor here. By the laws of '55 and '58, all agents so appointed are strictly required to obtain their liquors only of the State Liquor Agent, at Boston, and each sub-agent is required to furnish returns, also, to the Secretary of State, of all liquors bought by them and of whom bought, under a forfeiture of one hundred dollars.—Herald.

It is perfectly SAFE! It is impossible for an ACCIDENT to happen in the use of it!
There is NO WICK used with it at all!
It makes NO SMOKE at all!
Persons interested and the public generally are invited to call at the store of Messrs.

Light! Light!! Light!!!
CALL AT NO. 22½ DANIEL STREET,
Nearly opposite the Post Office, and see
DR. C. A. GREENE'S
PATENT, NON-EXPLOSIVE,
Self-Generating Gas Lamp.
THIS Lamp possesses important advantages over any other Lamps now in use. It is perfectly safe, simple and convenient. It gives a steady light with no flickering, and can be carried in the wind and not extinguished; and under no circumstances can you get an accident. A conductor put into it to-day, and all you have to do for six months is to fill it when empty. It will light a large room for one cent per hour, and the quality of the flame is unequalled.
All kinds of Lamps can be altered into GAS LAMPS.

Wolfe's Celebrated Scheidam Aromatic SCHNAPPS.
This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more virulent extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendent in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.
Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts., and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

MOSES & DOWNIE,

SOLE Agents for the above Goods, have on hand a large Stock of the same, suitable for shore and sea wear

These fabrics, since their first introduction to the public, (almost three years since,) have been fully tested, and the result has proved them to possess all the qualities requisite to make a perfect article. They have on hand numerous testimonials from gentlemen in the navy and merchant service, which they would be pleased to show any one who would favor them with a call. They have been supplying some of the officers of the Falmouth, who have tested the Rubber goods, and found them unfit for sea service.

Nos. 33 & 37 Market Street.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. DR. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have attained a degree of perfection in the art of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the abominable evils of the intestinal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor,—health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint; see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features blossom with health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has become so unendurable that the skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his face as the dew-drops from a skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he has been soaked through every muscle and fiber of his body with liniments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walks along; they have cured him. Give them to the man, sorely afflicted dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and for years withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature of the face, where disease wasted with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you what dyspepsia, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give to the PILLS in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the system. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day.

Have you the less serious symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sickness, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints all yield from the invigorating effects which these PILLS rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, and cast such like the devils of old—they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of medicine, and given up by their friends, have found health and vigor restored to them, and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the pain in the side, the night sweats, the fever of him who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but him CONSUMPTION. He tries every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He hears of the CHERRY PECTORAL. He tries it; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living proof like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the CHERRY PECTORAL an impeachable renown. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The countless colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a plentiful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and there will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the purest sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a house.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of 37 other complaints, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and burning sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower of which is an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by use of the right foot only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1600 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of keys, which when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skillful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an easier and perfect satisfaction.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS try our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

Piano Forte Manufacturers of Boston,

who have examined our Instruments, and will give their opinion when called upon:

Chickering & Sons, Hallett & Cumston,
J. Gilbert & Co., Wm. P. Emerson,
Brown & Allen, A. W. Ladd & Co.,
George Hewes, Woodward & Brown,

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE
NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has now been in use three years, and a sufficient time might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative of Hair. Give it a fair trial and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood those are now dispensed with, and, as a result, great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon with Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly request the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, yet has used the bottle, and a fine head of hair her head is covered, completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in a good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a good head of hair adorns a man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Buckhorn,) and having experienced the wonderful effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I think it would be a great benefit to the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various articles for the hair, but never have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRENCH.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected therewith is conducted in the most honest manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the Lottery Company of Samuel Swan is authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Herald. Write your orders to the subscriber, or direct to

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The Managers of Maryland State Lotteries and Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $50,000 are held out by these schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is as much thrown away as throwing the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison with the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legal. Tickets sent by the Maryland Managers, and other Lotteries which pretend to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Genuine Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates, if he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it. R. FRANCE & CO.,

Use Philbrick's

Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of anything that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a box containing 144 squares, 1 square being sufficient to kindle a fire, burning from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 6 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or climate. They are safe, being composed of a substance not liable to spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with use of the wick paper, thus removing a great risk of fire from buildings, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.

DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or charcoal fire.

BIDDYISM.

Under the head of "the last specimen of Biddyism", the Boston Journal tells the following good story, in which a prominent trait of the Biddies is exhibited, viz., that there is no dependence to be placed on the most of them. Those families are best served who serve themselves. But read the story:

The experiences of almost every housekeeper with her Irish servants would make a racy book. The head of the family actively employed during the day at his office or counting-house, little knows the trials and tribulations of his better half at home, condemned to the management of servants of an ignorant and unreasoning race, and who seldom form any real attachment for the families in which they serve. A friend of ours recently had a rich experience, which opened his eyes to this miseries of housekeeping. His wife left him, for a few days' absence in the country, in charge of the household and two children. Their maid of all work, a female of Celtic origin, and somewhat advanced in years, was regarded as trustworthy, though of a hasty temper.

On the afternoon after the departure of our friend's wife, Biddy asked permission of her employer to go out and visit a friend, which was accorded with a strict injunction to return early in the evening. But nine, ten and eleven o'clock flew by, and no Biddy appeared, and our friend went to bed. Shortly after daylight the next morning, the loud and continuous barking of the faithful house dog in the basement story announced that somebody was trying to gain admittance, and the ringing of the door bell confirmed our friend in the impression that his missing servant had returned.

Not being in the habit of early rising, however, he yawned, inwardly moralizing upon the inconvenience of being locked out and walking the streets at that early hour, turned over and was soon sound asleep again. It was nearly seven o'clock when he arose, dressed himself, and went down into the dining room. One of his children opened the outer door, when in marched Biddy, with fire in her eye and the flush of anger on her cheeks. Striding up to her employer, who was reading the morning paper, she hissed out in angry tones, "You locked me out last night!"

Our friend, who expected the usual profusion of apologies, was somewhat taken aback, but quietly replied, "Of course I locked you out—why did you not return early in the evening?" "My brother was going to California," replied Biddy, "and they wanted me to stay all night. But I was here at tin minutes before five this morning, by the clock, an' rung the bill, an' ye wouldn't lit me in." "I am not in the habit of getting up in the night to let anybody in," rejoined our friend, and he turned to his newspaper to end the colloquy.

But Biddy, who evidently thought that her employer, in his wife's absence, was completely dependent upon her, was not yet mollified. She returned to the attack —"Mr. R. (a gentleman with whom she had formerly resided, and who was her standard of reference when anything did not go to suit her,) used to git up at inny time of night an' lit me in. You've locked me out, an' I shan't sarve you inny more."

Our friend, who had been somewhat amused with the first salutation of his housekeeper pro tem., began to get angry, and curtly replied, "Go! start!" Biddy was somewhat taken aback by the decided manner of her employer, and proceeded with evident reluctance to pack up. Our friend paid the balance due to her, hastened her out of the house, committed his children to the care of their grandmother, locked the house, and is now anxiously awaiting the return of his better half. He has become fully convinced that superintending a household is not his vocation.

MARY MALONEY'S IDEA OF A LOVER.—"What are you singing for?" said I to Mary Maloney.

"Oh, I don't know, ma'am, without it's because my heart feels happy."

"Happy, are you, Mary Maloney? Let me see; you don't own a foot of land in the world."

"Foot of land is it?" she cried with a hearty Irish laugh. "Oh, what a hand ye be after joking; why I haven't a penny, let alone the land."

"Your mother is dead!"

"God rest yer soul, yes," replied Mary Maloney, with a touch of genuine pathos, "may the angels make her bed in heaven."

"Your brother is still a hard case, I suppose."

"Ah, you may well say that. It's nothing but drink, drink, drink, and beating his poor wife, that she is, poor creature."

"You have to pay your little sister's board."

"Sure the bit creature, and she's a good little girl, is Hinny, willing to do whatever I axes her. I don't grudge the money what goes for that."

"You haven't many fashionable dresses, either, Mary Maloney."

"Fashionable, is it? O, yes, I put a piece of whalebone in my skirt, and me calico gown looks as big as the great ladies. But then yo says true, I hasn't but two gowns to me back, two shoes to me feet, and one bonnet to me head, barring the old hood ye gave me."

"You haven't any lover, Mary Maloney."

"O, be off wid yo—ketch Mary Maloney getting a lover these days when the hard times is come. No, no, thank heaven I ain't got that to trouble me yet, nor I don't want it."

"What on earth, then, have you got to make you happy? A drunken brother, a poor helpless sister, no mother, no father, no lover; why where do you get all your happiness from?"

"The Lord be praised, Miss, it growed up in me. Give me a bit of sunshine, a clean flure, plenty of work, and a sup at the right time, and I'm made. That makes me laugh and sing; and then if deep trouble comes, why, God helpin' me, I'll try to keep my heart up. Sure it would be a sad thing if Patrick McGrue should take it into his head to come and ax me,—but, the Lord willin', I'd try to bear up under it."

The last speech upset my gravity. The idea of looking upon a lover as an affliction was so droll. But she was evidently sincere, having before her the example of her sister's husband and her drunken brother.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

APPLES!

SIGNS OF A GOOD APPLE CROP.—Some years since an old gentleman entered the orchard of his neighbor in the month of May, when the trees were in full bloom, and the trees generally filled with blossoms. After making a circuit of the orchard, he remarked—Well, I see you are to have but few apples this year. Pointing to one full of blossoms, "you will have none on that tree." Pointing to another equally full, "you will have a peck on that." Then to another, "you may have five bushels on that." Keeping a note of his remarks, it was found in the autumn that his predictions were correct. On enquiry for indications, he said that red apple blossoms indicated fruit, and white did not. The general redness of the blossoms this season is a good omen.

POTATOES.

A PREVENTATIVE TO POTATO ROT.—A few years ago, the English papers published a statement that some boys in Belgium, for amusement, inserted peas in seed potatoes which they were planting, and that in due time both peas and potatoes grew together, producing an unusual yield of peas. These were gathered, and the potatoes were allowed to ripen, and upon digging proved to be entirely sound, while the same sort in other parts of the field were badly rotten. This fact coming to the knowledge of Mr. J. Jackson, of Leeds, England, prompted him to submit a series of samples of diseased and sound potatoes to careful chemical analysis, and he invariably found that the diseased potatoes, as compared with the healthy ones, exhibited a marked deficiency of nitrogen and of nitrogenized matter in every instance, and also a great deficiency, as compared to the published analysis of the potato, by Leibig and others, made some years before. "From that result," says Mr. Jackson, in his published report, "I inferred that the potato being inherently deficient in nitrogen, if it were inoculated with a substance intrinsically rich in that element, as peas are, during the natural decomposition and chemical changes of the substances of both plants, in the process of their germination and growth, a sufficient evolution of nitrogen from the pea taking place, and being absorbed by combining with and supplying the deficiency of that element in the potato, and thus communicating, as it were, its equivalent in that way, and counteracting its tendency to disease."

Mr. Jackson then tried the experiment practically, by procuring several kinds of potatoes for seed whole, and inserting four or five peas (according to the size of the potato) deep into the fleshy part of the set, taking care to avoid the eye, and planting them in the usual way. The result was perfect success, with an extraordinary yield of both peas and potatoes, the latter being almost invariably large and healthy, and free from every trace of disease. These potatoes were laid on a wooden floor in a house, where they remained all winter, and in the following spring they were found to be all sound and healthy, and were employed as seed again in the same way, with the same result.—Scientific American.

CORN.

DEPTH FOR PLANTING CORN.—If corn is planted three inches deep, it will come up and grow thriftily for a while, until it is three or four inches high; then it will stand still ten days or a fortnight. If now, we examine the roots to ascertain the cause of this check upon the growth of the corn, we shall find that a joint has formed about an inch and a half above the kernel from which new roots have sprouted, and that the roots first formed below the kernel have rotted. While the process of changing roots is going on, the plants ceases to grow perceptibly above ground.—The stalk and ears flourish as well after this change, as corn that is planted shallower, but there is a loss of about a fortnight in the growth and maturity of the plant. The lesson to be derived from this fact is, obviously, that to have early corn, it must not be planted more than an inch and a half deep.

It may interest some who are now engaged in planting Indian corn, to read the following record of experiments, made by a careful observer:

No. 1.	planted 1	inch deep,	came up in	8½	days.
2.	do	1½	do do	9½	do
3.	do	2	do do	10½	do
4.	do	2½	do do	11½	do

6.	do	3½	do do	13	do
7.	do	4	do do	13	do
8.	do	5½	do do	17½	do

No. 8 came up very weak, and died in a few days.

CITY COUNCIL.

On Thursday evening, arrangements were made in both departments of the City Council, to participate according to invitation in the laying of the Corner Stone of the new Custom House, next Wednesday; and a special Police, and the use of Jefferson Hall on that day, were granted to the builders of the House.

A petition of W. H. Y. Hackett and five others, to Hon. Howell Cobb, Sec. of the Treasury of the United States, for Portland Cupola, and a Flagstaff to the new Custom House, was concurred in by both branches of the City Government.

In the BOARD OF ALDERMEN, the following appointments were made:

Supt's of Burying Grounds—Benj. Kenney, North; William Daley, Pleasant St.; Josiah F. Adams, Cotton's and Point Grove.

Supervisor of Highways—Benj. Odiorne, 2d, in place of Charles W. Tucker, declined.

The Truckmen petitioned to retain the old stand, and had leave to withdraw.

The committee on the petition of Lombard and others, to establish a Bowling Saloon in Hanover street, after enquiry into the premises, reported that the same would be an annoyance to the locality, and that it would be a great injury to both children and property in that vicinity, and to the welfare of the city. The petition was not granted.

Petition for a new division of School District No. 3, was taken from the table, recommitted for amendment—reported on and the several school committees were requested to ascertain what scholars, if any of other Districts, were attending their schools.

The bill respecting Fire Police was reported in a new draft, which was adopted.

The resolution respecting North Bell was sent up from the Common Council with an amendment appropriating $600 instead of $800. Referred a special committee—Aldermen Jones, Marden and Seymour—to confer with Wardens.

Permission to Mr. Holmes to make improvements of stall in Spring Market not concurred in by Common Council, and a committee of conference was appointed.

THE ROCKINGHAM COUNTY CONFERENCE of Congregational and Presbyterian Churches, will hold the next annual meeting with the church at Raymond, (Rev. D. B. Bradford's,) commencing on Tuesday the 8th day of June next, at 10 o'clock, A. M. and continuing two days.

The Opening Sermon by Rev. J. Colby of Hampton, the Pastoral Letter by Rev. J. Holmes of Auburn, and the organization of the Conference, the forenoon of the first day. Narratives of the state of religion in the churches within the county, the afternoon of the same day. Reports and Addresses in behalf of benevolent objects, the forenoon of the second day. Closing Sermon by Rev. D. W. Candit of Deerfield, and the administration of the Lord's Supper, the afternoon of the second day.

W. FIFIELD, Secretary.

The Marble Bust for which Mr. D. F. French, under Rechab Hall, has been employed for several weeks is approaching a completion, and is a beautiful piece of workmanship. He is pleased to see visitors.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, MAY 22, 1858.

Correspondence of the Chronicle.

FREMONT, May 20.

This is a romantic spot, rocky, rude and broken, abounding in woods, swamps, sharp hills and crooked paths, and watered by a very crooked and rapid river, the Swamscott, which, at the falls in Fremont village, sets in motion a goodly collection of machinery, cutting up the timber from the hills, into shingles, clapboards and boxes. Of shingles there were made here within the last year 700,000. Of clapboards and boxes a large number. Shoes are made here to some extent. A manufacturer of Melodeons has lately removed here, and will carry on his business. All these items create a hum of industry in this village. In the census of 1850, the town of Poplin, (now Fremont,) had a population of 509. It is now a little more populous. The remainder of the people are farmers.

The Rockingham Quarterly Conference of Universalists held their meeting here yesterday and to-day, in the course of which sermons were delivered and addresses made by Rev. Messrs. Greenwood, Colby, Shepard, Patterson and Miller. The sermon by the last named preacher, was on the Reasonableness of Eternal Life. The ministers of the Conference, on motion of Rev. Mr. Greenwood, passed a vote expressing their approval of this sermon, and requesting its publication in papers or otherwise, as a plain and easy answer to the argument of Rev. Dr. Adams, in which he pleads for the doctrine of endless misery.

At the Conference there was a fair attendance, considering the weather, which was not remarkably favorable. The meetings were held in a new hall.

There is an old fashioned meeting house near the centre of the town of Fremont, with its square pews, large gallery, high pulpit and sounding board. The town keep this in decent trim outside and use it for a town hall, while it is used on Sundays by the methodists, universalists, or others. It is to be hoped that the town will have the good taste to keep the building in good repair, as good as it now is, and leave the interior unchanged, that one old meeting house may remain to show how they all were.

The old meeting house in the adjoining town of Raymond, so long an eye sore on the green, is undergoing alterations and repairs, to fit it, we presume, for a town house.

In Fremont, among other things, is a good brass band which plays well. Vocal and Instrumental Church Music are also prized and cultivated.

☞ To-morrow is the day of Pentecost, a high day in the Jewish Church, as the Jews on that day commemorate the delivery of the Law on Mount Sinai. It has the name Pentecost, because it is fifty days from Easter, the word in the Greek language signifying the fiftieth.

It is also a high day in the Roman, Greek and English churches, and might well be in all Christian churches, as it is considered to be the anniversary of "the descent or coming down of the Holy Ghost on the Apostles, by whom they were enabled to preach and propagate the gospel, and to confirm it by working of great miracle."

Besides the name Pentecost, "it is called Whitsunday, or White-Sunday, from the white garments which those who were baptized on the eve of this feast wore, at this season, as a token of the purity and innocency they were obliged to preserve and maintain in the course of their lives."

OLD WINDHAM.—Bancroft, in his last volume of history, mentions the fact that Windham was the first town in Connecticut that aided the citizens of Boston after the passage of the Port Bill. She sent an offering of two hundred and fifty-eight sheep. This flock was soon followed by another of one hundred and thirty sheep from Brooklyn, driven to Boston by "Old Put" himself.

WORKING TOGETHER.—The Douglas men and Buchanan men, Lecompton and anti-Lecompton, appear to have acted as a unit in the election of Doorkeeper on Tuesday. The Douglas men doubtless thought they could gain nothing by voting for a candidate of their own, and to have voted for a Republican would have given the enemies at home an opportunity to injure them.

☞ The loss of Capt. Nathaniel Gilman of Exeter, by the burning of his barns, &c., on the night of the 13th inst., was about $5000—half covered by insurance. Cause of fire unknown—supposed to be incendiary.

BOSTON MUNICIPAL COURT.—On Wednesday, before Judge Huntington, John Coleman and James Cable, convicted under the liquor nuisance act, so called, were each sentenced to pay a fine of $30 without costs, and give bonds in $100 each, not to violate the law again for one year.

In the Boston Police Court, on Thursday, William Allen was before the Court on three complaints for selling liquor, and three complaints under the nuisance act, and was held in $2400 for trial.

☞ A horse and wagon were stolen from Dover on Sunday, while the owner had gone into Church, and had hitched his horse near the door. From the Boston Journal it appears the thief struck a bee-line for Canada, arriving in Canaan, Vt., on Thursday. The horse was recognized from a description given in a handbill brought from Portland. He was detained to await a telegram to the owner. After an examination he was passed over to the officers from New Hampshire and committed to jail. He was examined in the Police Court at Dover, and in default of $500 he was committed to await the action of the Grand Jury in October. He gave the name of Cook, but his real name is supposed to be Hale. He is about sixty-five years of age, and is supposed to have recently escaped from the State Prison in Maine, by the connivance of one of the officers.

☞ On Monday afternoon as the train for Boston on the Midland Railroad was approaching the bridge, down the Neponset River, in Dedham, Mass., a man was seen walking on the track. The whistle was sounded, the breaks put on, and the engine reversed, without avail. The engine overtook him on the bridge, and he was thrown into the water, instantly killing him. The body was recovered. It proved to be Tristram Holliday, a Nova Scotian, from 55 to 60 years old. His insensibility to the attempts to apprise him of his danger, is not accounted for.

☞ Senator Foster, of Conn., on Wednesday last was debating the fishing bounty bill, and in alluding to the deeds of our sailors on the ocean in the naval battles during the last war, spoke in high praise of the glorious defence made by the privateer "General Armstrong;" just as he was speaking, Captain Reid, who commanded the brig, and who is now on a visit to Washington, entered the Senate chamber.

☞ The Washington Union exclaimed when Lecompton passed, "The back bone of the Republican party is broken." Next week came the Election news from Philadelphia and Indianapolis. The Union now sensibly remarks:—

"A little further reflection and observation induces us to believe that we have made a slight mistake."

The Charlottesville Advocate states that a negro man who had been emancipated by his master's will, voluntarily re-entered servitude on Monday, May 10, preferring the condition of a slave to that of removal to a free State.

This black man, we presume, is one of that great number which we were told, years ago, would rush to the North and fill our cities, just as soon as they were let loose.

CALIFORNIA.—The present population of California is estimated at 597,000; of which 332,230 are Americans, 38,500 Chinese: 15,000 French, 15,000 Mexicans, 19,000 Irish, 2000 English, and about 4000 colored persons.

BLESSING SHIPS.—On Saturday, the first of May, Cardinal Wiseman performed the solemn blessing of four ships, at Deptford, England. These ships are to be employed against the slave trade. It is the first blessing of a ship in England since the "Reformation."

☞ Federhen & Co., Boston, and J. P. Morse, of Portsmouth, have received the Atlantic Monthly for June, published by Phillips, Sampson & Co. It is ably edited, and, like all the books of its publishers, well printed.

PASTORAL.—The church and society of Rev. J. B. Davis in Lowell, have voted not to accept the resignation of their pastor, but to give him three months' vacation to journey and recruit his health, the church to supply his desk and continue his salary during his absence.

AUBURN, N. Y., May 20.—The State Temperance Society has passed resolutions that the friends of temperance throughout the state be urged to vote for the Convention to revise the Constitution in November next, with the view to the insertion in the new Constitution of a clause prohibiting the use of inebriating liquors as a beverage.

IMMORTELLES.

DEATH OF CHILDREN.

Sure, to the mansions of the blest
When infant innocence ascends,
Some angel, brighter than the rest,
The spotless spirit's flight attends.

On wings of ecstacy they rise,
Beyond where worlds material roll,
Till some fair sister of the skies
Receives the unpolluted soul.

There at th' Almighty Father's hand,
Nearest the throne of living light,
The choirs of infant seraphs stand,
And dazzling shine, where all are bright.

For when the Lord of mortal breath
Decrees his bounty to resume,
And points the silent shaft of death,
Which speeds an infant to the tomb;

No passion fierce, no low desire,
Has quenched the radiance of the flame;
Back to its God the living fire
Returns, unsullied, as it came.

—[J. Q. Adams.

LOVE.

The rainbow dies in heaven, and not on earth;
But love can never die: from world to world,
Up the high wheel of heaven, it lives for aye.

Which hath been one and same in Heaven ere now,
And shall be yet again, renewed by Death.

THE MISERIES OF WAR.

Her vine, the merry cheerer of the heart,
Unpruned dies; her hedges even-pleached,—
Like prisoners wildly overgrown with hair,
Put forth disordered twigs; her fallow leas
The darnal hemlock, and rank fumitory,
Doth root upon; while that the coulter rusts,
That should uproot such savagery:
The even mead, that erst brought sweetly forth
The freckled cowslips, burnet, and green clover,
Wanting the scythe, all uncorrected, rank,
Conceives by idleness; and nothing teems,
But hateful docks, rough thistles, keckies, burrs,
Losing both beauty and utility.—[Shakspeare.

PERUVIAN SYRUP.—We made reference to this medicinal preparation last week in a quotation from our contemporary, the Puritan Recorder. That is not an ordinary compound or preparation, but embraces a discovery whose by an important principle in medical science is most successfully applied. This syrup is hence no common quack nostrum, and has properly nothing that allies it to the current empirics of the day.—[Christian Watchman & Reflector, Sept. 17, 1857. m20 1w

LOCAL.

☞ The Advent Chapel in this city has recently been enlarged, thoroughly repaired, and painted. It is now a neat and well proportioned house of worship, the interior presenting a remarkably pleasant aspect. Public worship is to be resumed there to-morrow.

E. Whitney will preach in the Advent Chapel Saturday evening, and through the Sabbath. Friends interested are invited.

THE UNCERTAINTY OF LIFE.—Mr. Reynolds, the President of the Lafayette and Indianapolis Railroad, left home about a week since; before leaving, he gave Mr. Irwin, the conductor, a present of $200 in money, in recognition of honesty and valuable services on the road. Mr. Reynolds remarked that he was going over the Eastern roads, and might meet with an accident. He little thought that poor Irwin would be the victim. The telegraph brought the intelligence of his death on Saturday night by the accident on the Lafayette and Indianapolis road. At the time of his death he was standing on the forward end of the baggage car, looking out for any danger that might occur.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Rev. J. R. Hoisington, pastor of the Congregational Church, in Centre Brook, Mass., was stricken down with apoplexy while preaching to his people on Sunday afternoon last, and died the same evening. Mr. H. was formerly a missionary of the American Board at Ceylon. His age was 57 years.

☞ Capt. J. Hawkins, U. S. Inspector of firearms, died very suddenly in Springfield, Monday morning. He was at work in his garden, where he dropped down dead. It is supposed he had the heart disease.

INDIAN TROUBLES.—New York, May 21. Great excitement is said to exist in the Mesilla Valley, because a party of volunteers who pursued a band of marauding Indians and killed several of them in sight of Fort Thorne, had been captured by Lieut. Wood and imprisoned. Lieut. Wood refused to obey a habeas corpus for their release.

NEW YORK, May 21.—A man supposed to be T. G. Gaylor, of the firm of Gaylor & Co., fell dead in Broadway, last night. $15,000 in checks and drafts were found on his person.

REPEAL OF THE FISHING BOUNTIES.—The bill to repeal the fishing bounties has passed the Senate by nearly a party vote.—The only Democrat in full standing with his party who voted against it, was Mr. Allen, from Rhode Island. True, Mr. Broderick of California, Mr. Houston of Texas, Mr. Shields of Minnesota and Mr. Stuart of Michigan voted against it, but neither of them are regarded now as reliable Democrats. It may be put down, therefore, as a fixed fact, that the repeal of the bounties to our fishermen is a Democratic measure. The near approach of the day fixed for an adjournment will prevent, most probably, the passage of the Senate bill in the House, although the administration men may, by the use of the Previous Question, force it through.—Atlas & Bee.

TORONTO MARKET REPORT.

FRONT Street, Corn Market Square,
TORONTO, C. W., May 17, 1853.

The weather for the past week has been cold and inclement, accompanied, however, by rains which our growing crops require. The season has lost the advance gained by April, but still we hear of good accounts generally of the wheat crop. Dullness and inactivity are the prevailing features of our market, at a season usually the most active and stirring. The apprehended large supplies from the West, tended much to destroy the New York market; but such as had already been received disappointed expectations formed of the quality of Illinois wheat, the greater part of which arrived unfit to grind. Wheat is everywhere relatively higher than Flour. The great contingency now on which prices depend, is the weather in England, and unless it should prove unfavorable, prices will rule low all the season.

FLOUR.—There is but little doing, and the prices are lower, holders being anxious to realize. The stock of flour, especially of choice brands, is light in the city of New York, as well as the interior of the state, and in Canada, and grades of double extra are becoming scarce, and are relatively firmly held.

WHEAT.—The tendency is downward, notwithstanding that supplies have fallen off in consequence of wet weather, and farmers accept 35c to 88c for good to prime samples of white winter.

Fine Flour, $6 00 to $6 00 per bl; No. 2 Superfine $3 to 3 45; No 1 do., $3 75 to 3 80; Fancy, $3 85 to 4 00; Extra, $4 10 to 4.15; Double Ex. 4 65 to 4.80. In quantities not less than 100 bbls. of any one grade.

Wheat—Prime white winter 80 to 95c; fair average do 85 to 90c; Spring 78 to 80c; per 60 lbs. Oats 34c per 34lbs. Barley 50 to 55c per 48 lbs. Rye 55c per 56 lbs. Peas 45 a 50c per 60 lbs.

Bank Drafts on New York par to ½ per cent. premium; Boston par; American bills at ½ per cent. advance of New York quotations.

Freights from Toronto by rail and steamer, to Boston 75c a 80, to Portland 85c. a bl., 28c. bush.; to New York 55c a bl.; to Ogdensburgh 20c. a bl.

Charges on Wheat are 5c per bus., which covers commission for purchasing, storing, bagging and putting on board. On Flour—1 per c. with funds in hand, or 2½ drawing with Bill Lading

CONGRESS.—On Thursday, May 20, the Senate passed a bill allowing the officers & seamen of the Kane expedition same pay as in the Haven expedition; also a general bill introduced by Mr. Foster, in lieu of numerous individual bills for the continuance of half pay to the widows and orphans under the act approved Feb. 3d, '53. Some discussion ensued on the amendment of Mr. Pugh, limiting the pension to the term of widowhood.

Messrs. Doolittle and Crittenden opposed such restrictions on marriage, but the bill finally passed with the amendment.

The special order was Mr. Johnson's (Tenn.) homestead bill, and he spoke in favor of it for three hours, previous to the adjournment. He discouraged the idea entertained by many that the bill distributes the public lands as a donation; on the contrary it was framed on the principle of compensation, inasmuch as the settler fulfilling the requirements of five years' residence and improvement, pays in labor more than the value of the land.—The homestead measure was not a trick for demagoguism—it received the approval of Washington and our forefathers. It was national in its character; the only use of our territory was to have it settled—industrious and poor settlers on their own homesteads would speedily change their condition; producing more, they would buy more, and consequently contribute more towards the support of the government.

Were but one million of families enabled to spend fifty-six dollars each additional, it would procure seven millions additional revenue. This measure was equally one of revenue and patriotism. Our policy should be to prevent the accumulation of a pauper population around large cities. Populate your country districts and they will produce self-dependent men. Have no pampered aristocracy nor vicious pauperhood, but raise a middle class who own homes in the country, and they will defend the country reliably.

Mr. Johnson had heard it urged by his Southern friends that the bill would act prejudicially to the South. He then went into an elaborate disquisition, the scope of which was that the extension of homesteads, even in the North, would extend the demand for the products of Southern labor and thus benefit both sections of the country.

In this connection he incidentally expressed the belief that were a few ultras of the North and South out of the way, the bulk of the people would fraternize, and the Northern States become advocates for the permanence of slavery in the South.

The House passed the Civil Appropriation Bill, after striking out a million of dollars for the Capitol extension, and by four majority retaining nearly an equal amount for the completion of the Washington aqueduct.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Morrow, Branscomb, and Winchell, Commissioners at the Settlers' Mass Convention in Kansas, to procure a loan fund for the Squatters, have had in company with Mr. Parrott, delegate from Kansas, an interview with the President, who intimated his willingness to pospone the sales till October, if they thought best, but desired them to call on the Secretary of the Interior. The latter stated that the policy of the government would be to sell all the public lands possible during the present year, for the purpose of revenue, but consented to defer the sales in Kansas until Nov. 1st and 15th, when they will take place. The Commissioners leave for New York on Friday, for the purpose of securing the loans needed.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The balance in the Treasury amounts to very near $7,000,000.

The Utah news, though not fully credited, has nevertheless had some effect. Jones will not press the Volunteer Appropriation bill for some days, as, should the news be confirmed, he intends to reduce the appropriation one-half.

Letters received by the Iowa Senators and Representatives confirm the stories of extensive gold discoveries in that State.

The Tariff Investigating Committee will report on Monday or Tuesday. Nothing in the report implicates any member of Congress.

The impression is very decided among administration men that the Utah news was manufactured to affect the appropriation for the three regiments of Volunteers.

Wolfe's Celebrated Scheidam Aromatic

SCHNAPPS.

This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.

Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts., and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

MOSES & DOWNIE,

SOLE Agents for the above Goods, have on hand a large Stock of the same, suitable for shore and sea wear

These fabrics, since their first introduction to the public, (almost three years since,) have been fully tested, and the result has proved them to possess all the qualities requisite to make a perfect article. They have on hand numerous testimonials from gentlemen in the navy and merchant service, which they would be pleased to show any one who would favor them with a call. They have been supplying some of the officers of the Falmouth, who have tested the Rubber goods, and found them unfit for sea service.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor, — health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint: see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features bloom with health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every nauseous of his body with liniments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and soon walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sorry, scrofulous dyspeptic whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS; at once she the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again — the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the cancer that has wasted with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless gleamings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the PILLS in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done every day.

Have you the less serious symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sideache, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Kings's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints all arise from the disarrangements which these PILLS rapidly cure. Take them sparingly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old — they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box — 5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have lived to gladden the hearts of their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but him CONSUMPTION. He tries every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the CHERRY PECTORAL now; it has stopped his cough and made the night easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which we claim for the CHERRY PECTORAL an imperishable renown. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The countless colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find in an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, were awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a new method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instruments, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals or keyboards of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two manuals may be joined, and played at the same time by one of the front set only. This connected with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 2000 to 3000 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of power as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skillful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an instrument equal, if not superior, to any Manufactory, and guarantee an entire satisfaction in every purchase.

Music Teachers, Leaders of Choirs, and others interested in musical matters, are respectfully invited to visit our Rooms at any time and examine or test the instruments on exhibition for sale at their pleasure.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our Manufactory, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

This matter is worthy of special note, and is fully explained in a small leaf of the instruments before purchasing, to obtain it at the expense of the manufacturers, to the extent least of a year's rent.

Orders from any part of the country or world, sent direct to the manufactory in Boston, with cash, or satisfactory reference, will be promptly attended to, and as faithfully executed as if the parties were present, or employed an agent to select, and on as reasonable terms.

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE
NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with false heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been the detestable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being just dispensed with, but a great impediment to their introduction has been they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is not such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which effectually stopped in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and pliable, and free from dandruff and by itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will gard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admire a beautiful head of hair either in man or woman, is a fact that cannot be controverted; there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hockinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain the agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that proved so effectual to cleanse or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it will sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, for which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. Accompany each order with the amount in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of the Vendors of Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets. The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Hundreds of them offer $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at one Dollar. $100,000 capital prize is offered, tickets, $1, and so on. In every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the slightest chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries offering large prizes for a trifling sally large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of anything ever used or offered for sale for charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a Box containing 144 squares, 1 square being sufficient to kindle a fire, burning from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling more fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or climate. They are safe, being composed of a substance not liable to spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with use of shavings and paper, thus removing a great risk of fire from buildings, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.

DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or charcoal fire

THRILLING SCENE.

Mr. Thomas Kingston, who for several years has followed the business of putting up lightning rods, which, of course, requires steady nerves and a firm brain, met with an accident recently by which, but for the most singular presence of mind, or rather supernatural instinct, he would have fallen from a dizzy height, and been dashed to pieces. He is compelled to climb spires, over chimneys, and up spires, and fix a rod with perfect coolness and precision, hundreds of feet above the level of the earth.

On the occasion to which we refer, Mr. K. had ascended St. Paul's Cathedral, the spire of which is about two hundred and thirty-five feet high, near head of Broadway, and gone to the very top, where, having left his ladder below, he clung by his arms and legs, fastened the last foot of the rod and attached its point—quite a heavy piece of metal—securely, as he supposed, to the cross surmounting the steeple. He had just completed this difficult and dangerous task, watched by a number of persons in the street below, and while looking at the work and experiencing that satisfaction which results from hazard passed and labor accomplished—of a sudden something heavy struck him and made his brain reel until he could hardly see. Instead of losing his hold at once, as would seem to have been the natural and inevitable result, he clung with a power beyond himself and a will superior to his own, closer and instinctively to the spire. He knew not what had occurred, and to his confused senses it appeared that the steeple was tumbling; or that some strange cause was about to bring the vast structure to the ground.

Some forty seconds—an age to him—must have elapsed before he sufficiently collected his scattered thoughts and subverted consciousness to know that the entire upper part of the rod had fallen upon his head, and blood trickled over his forehead, and nearly blinded him. He was in a doubtful perplexity and most dangerous position. He feared, if he moved, he would go cleaving the air to a terrible death upon the stony street below—and at the same time he knew he could not, in the disordered state of his nerves, and his increasing weakness, retain his grasp. If he dared he might fall; if he remained he certainly would; and so, determined to make at least an effort for his life, he put one foot down cautiously, then his arms; and then moved the other foot, and after half a minute of exertion, and the greatest danger, he touched the topmost round of the ladder, and in a few seconds more was safe on the steeple and safe.

Then it was Mr. K.'s great courage and strength forsook him; his nerves and muscles relaxed; he grew sickly asdeath; his knees gave way; his vision swam, and he sank upon the platform motionless and insensible. He must have lain there half an hour before he could rise and walk, and he did not recover from the shock for more than a fortnight afterward.

The people gazing up at him from the street describe the scene as painful and exciting in the extreme. When they observed the rod fall, a thrill of horror ran through their hearts, and two women screamed away, for they expected to behold him the next moment dashed to peices at their feet. Destiny had ordered otherwise, and Mr. K. still pursues his dangerous vocation; but he says if he were to live a thousand years, he would not forget the intense horror of those century-like moments, when he seemed to hang upon the air more than two hundred feet above the earth, and to be momentarily descending to a dreadful death.

OLD FOLKS' ELOPEMENT.—Justice Purdy married a couple yesterday who fully merit the felicity which they will doubtless enjoy in connubial union. The bridegroom was an old bachelor, whose years numbered three score and ten, and whose looks betokened him innocent of womankind. His bride was a wi ow, who asserted that she was but fifty-seven, but the wanders sat her down at eighty. It appeared that the widow, in the exercise of those winsome ways which widows do affect, inveigled the bachelor into an attachment which both parties proposed to consummate in matrimony. An objection arose, however, in the shape of several inter-meddling, twenty or thirty years old, belonging to the widow, who most decidedly objected to her marrying. In this dilemma they resorted to the usual dodge peculiar to young people, and eloped. As they fled in Canada, the only place to elope to in the United States, and they accordingly came to Detroit—the bridegroom coming first, and the widow joining him afterwards. Their delight at the successful termination of their romantic adventure is unbounded.—Detroit Free Press.

Morning Chronicle.

MONDAY, MAY 24, 1858.

KENSINGTON, May 20th.

Messrs. Editors:—

I suppose you have visited this place frequently, so that a description of it would be superfluous. It seems to me that few places can combine more perfectly the beautiful and majestic. But the curse and blight of intemperance has been felt here as well as in other beautiful towns in this county. We hope a brighter day has dawned upon us. It surely has if all the friends of temperance come up to their duty faithfully and fearlessly. The Saviour set us an example of compulsion when he made a scourge of small cords and drove the money changers from the temple.—God's world is a beautiful temple and should be filled with prayer and praise, but the rum-seller has made it worse than a den of thieves, for against them we have the defence of bolts and locks; but what can defend us from the touch of the midnight incendiary, or the moral malaria that has its origin in the dram-shop? How much longer shall we wait, vainly hoping that the evil will cure itself? What moral evil ever did cure itself?

I scarce ever find an article in the Chronicle that I wish left out, (always excepting stories finished in another paper) but I do not like that article of Mr. Parker's. He has a sort of irreverent manner in speaking of the Savior, which is unpleasant, I had almost said painful to me. Perhaps he is not aware of it, probably he is not, but it is manifest to others. It may be the bitterness of a wounded spirit, for I suppose with all his popularity he feels his isolated position, and being a self-made man, he has probably felt the want of sympathy and just appreciation. This is frequently the case with persons who are placed by circumstances in a position where one class feel above them because they are poor, and the other, with whom they are obliged to associate, do not appreciate them.

Ward Beecher among other good things, says that "a Christianity that will not help those who are struggling from the bottom to the top of society, needs another Christ to die for it." Pecuniary help is not wanting in this country to boys, but the sympathy, and probably that is his meaning.

When in Boston last I tried to find the secret of Parker's audiences, larger by one half than any other minister's in the city. I was struck with his intellectual power, and the vast amount of knowledge he displayed. He seems to act upon the fact that the mass of mind has been improving, intellectually; that high schools, academies and the press have done something for the people, a fact which other ministers seem to ignore. Perhaps if they were to preach in the morning and let the afternoon service be a prayer and conference meeting, they might understand the wants and capacities of their people, and have more time to do themselves justice in meeting them. Would it not be better for the people also? How few offer a prayer without "vain repetitions." Then the necessity of consistency would be more felt. An old divine says "powerful exhorters should be consistent livers." Probably another reason of his large audiences is the democratic spirit manifested! Each seemed to look upon the other as a fellow worshipper, and to give him a sort of silent welcome. As there are no pews, the rich and poor, white and black, meet together; and large as the audience was, numbering nearly or quite three thousand, there was perfect quiet and perfect decorum. I saw no sexton, and there did not a hear to be any need of any. I was told by a gentleman, not particularly frien ly to Mr. Parker, that his society were every where noted for their high-toned morality and business principle. They do not separate business morality from bible morality, and they must be bound by uniting to keep their word. He preaches of duties and obligations, not of things that relate to times past or future, and calls things by their right names, which does not suit in these times, particularly when people are more anxious to be thought well of than to strive after holiness.

An amusing illustration of this is current here as having occurred in Exeter. A keeper of a gambling saloon had agreed to have a prayer meeting held in his premises. The minister gave notice of it, calling it by its right name. He took offence, and signified that he recalled the offer and the meeting could not be held. Now if he had called it by some respectable name he might have held his meeting there, and perhaps again and again. So the rum-dealer christens his den a refreshment saloon, and himself a gentleman.

What do you think of the article about Daniel Webster's father? I have always understood and frequently have seen the fact published that he lived with Mr. Stephens, and never learned to read until his return from the French war. That he recovered of his master a sum of money with which he bought his farm, from neglecting to send him to school three months in the year according to agreement. That he was a great man and a good one no one doubts, I wish his descendants were more worthy of him, but what the writer's object is I can't divine. Twenty years ago or more, when "Webster's speeches" were published, the writer of the preface said he was "a poor boy, the son of one of Stark's rangers, with no other education than a common school afforded." Probably there are copies of the "Speeches" in Portsmouth. I think I have quoted verbatim. Then he was before the people as a candidate for the Presidency, and the sympathy of the masses, who did not know that he graduated at Hanover, or went through a course of preparation at Phillips' Academy, Exeter.—Truth is a great thing, is it not, Mr. Editor?

I wish some of the money which is accumulating so fast in Boston and elsewhere, could be appropriated to the sending out of persons who wish to go to Kansas. There are many families who have relations there who would be glad to go if they had the means. Will any one help them?—I think there are two sides to your picture on rearing boys. Perhaps some one will draw another. It is not generally want of self-sacrifice, but want of ability to govern, that women fail in. There are few who can say as Jacob's mother did, "obey my voice." Wishing you a dozen new subscribers daily, I remain yours, VERITAS.

☞ In the Boston Municipal Court, on Thursday and Friday, in the liquor nuisance cases of Joanna Tucker and Jas. A. Rogers, who were convicted and fined, exceptions were taken. In a dozen cases, the accused and their bail were defaulted.

John S. Smith alias John Smith, convicted under the liquor nuisance act, was fined $30 without costs, and gave bail in $100 to keep the peace one year.

In the Police Court, William Allen was examined and convicted on three counts for selling liquor illegally, and was sentenced on the first count to pay a fine of $10 and be imprisoned twenty days in House of Correction; $20 fine and thirty days imprisonment in the House of Correction on the second count; and on the third count fined $50 and to be imprisoned three months in the House of Correction. Allen appealed, and was held in $1000 to appear and prosecute his appeal at the June term of the Municipal Court.

LAGER BEER SWAMPED.—A flood of water swamped 3000 bbls lager beer, deposited by Felix Caste, a brewer, in a cave in Mobile. On the 11th, an immense body of water had accumulated in the vicinity from recent heavy rains, and the city authorities in attempting to obtain an outlet for it, suddenly found it all precipitated into Mr. Caste's cave; and after it was drained the cave was found not only empty of water, but of beer also, the contents of the barrels being all lost. The damage is estimated at $30,000, and a lawsuit will determine whether the city is liable.

COL. FORNEY.—It having been stated that Douglas, Col. Forney and others were about to make their peace with the Administration, Col. Forney in the Press, replies:

"The story is an utter fabrication. It has no probability, no possibility, to rest upon. We have nothing to surrender. It would afford us great pleasure to agree with the general Administration on this Kansas question; but this will never be, until the Administration is true to itself, and to the pledges upon which it was elevated into power."

☞ Mr. James Rowell, on the Manchester Stark Corporation, was caught by the belt and carried round the shaft twice with great velocity. All the bones of the right arm, above and below the elbow, were broken, and other parts of his body were badly bruised. It is remarkable that Mr. Rowell escaped with his life.

Bonner, the great advertiser, has got into trouble by advertising that his New York Ledger would be for sale "in the United States, New Jersey and the Sandwich Islands." The Trenton True American calls upon all Jerseymen to excuse the Ledger from all their families as a rebuke to this insult.

SETTLERS IN MAINE.—Maine, says the Manchester American, is about the only Eastern State whose uncultivated regions are filling up rapidly with actual settlers. The spring movement northward is quite large, her timber forests proving more attractive than the Western prairies.

What is the difference between a ship and a hen? The hen lays one egg, and the ship logs to.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, on Friday, a resolution was offered by Mr. Wilson, and agreed to, to print 60,000 extra copies of the agricultural report of the Patent office.

The private calendar was taken up, and a large number of bills passed. The calendar was nearly cleared.

In the House, the application for a loan of $15,000,000 was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

The resolution for the admission of the members from Minnesota, was taken up. A protracted contest ensued, and the House adjourned without taking the question.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The Secretary of the Navy transmitted to the Senate a letter, dated May 17th, from Lieut. Cravan, in referance to the Inter-oceanic Canal across the Isthmus of Darian. Lieut. Cravan is of the opinion, for reasons given, that the proposed canal is impracticable, involving expenditures not easily estimated, and a sacrifice of life from which the stoutest heart may shrink. At least two generations must pass away before the world could realize the completion of a much less extensive work than that contemplated.

James J. Farran has been appointed Postmaster at Cincinnati.

The majority of the House Committee on Elections take the ground that Messrs. Phelps and Cavanaugh are entitled, prima facie, to be sworn and admitted to seats, but do not propose that such an admission shall preclude any contest as to the rights of these gentlemen which may hereafter be properly instituted.

Mr. Clark of Connecticut, and Mr. Wilson and Mr. Gilmer maintain that each certificate is not prima facie a title, but a prima facie relutation of a title, and effectually precludes all the right provisional or final to a seat.

Mr. Wasburn of Maine believed under the laws of Congress and of the Constitution of Minnesota, there has been and there could be no legal eletion.

These views were embodied in three separate reports.

A REPORTER IN A FIX.—A reporter was politely received at the sessions of the Catholic Provincial Council in Cincinnati, spread his note-book and prepared to take notes of their proceedings. His report was very brief, for the proceedings were conducted in Latin.

☞ The Marseilles journals state that an actress of that place, named Juana, is about to enter a convent. They say that it was the impression produced on her when performing the part of a sister of charity, which has caused her to take this determination.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The Committee on Commerce have made a report in favor of removing the railroad bridge at Rock Island, as an obstruction to navigation on the Mississippi.

Among the confirmations recently made by the Senate, yesterday, were Fletcher Webster, Surveyor, Boston; H. F. Wendell, Navy Agent at Portsmouth, N. H.; and Mr. Wilson, District Attorney, and Mr. Gove, Marshal, for Minnesota.

Common Metre.—Hymn Book.
Uncommon Metre, (meet 'er by moonlight.)—Modern Novel.

The charge that the love and romance of "light literature" has no real counterpart in every day life, though generally a just one, is not always so. A concatenation of events which happened in Exeter, a few days since, shows that epistolary intrigues are sometimes carried on. Mr. B., a quondam admirer of Miss D., received what purported to be a note from that lady, seeking an interview on that evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock, on Front street. That same day, Mr. M., an adept at diplomacy, and, withal, slightly jealous of Mr. B., dispatches a letter to Miss D., in which she is informed that her presence at a certain locality, at 7 1-2 that evening, would have the salutary effect of removing a very heavy weight of despair from the breast of the aforesaid Mr. B. B. swallowed the bait and was there, while the angelic form of Miss D. was nowhere to be seen. Some friends of Mr. M. who were in the secret, now sent an epistle to that gentleman in the young lady's name, saying that she had discovered the trick Mr. M. had played and denouncing it as ungentlemanly. Mr. M. in a state of terrible alarm, immediately apologizes to Miss D. in his own name, at which she is, of course, greatly surprised. At the grand finale, Mr. M. receives his letters back from Miss D.; a practical illustration of digging a pit for a neighbor, etc. EXETER.

☞ A racy and readable letter that from "Veritas," in another column. We don't know who he is, but we always like to hear from him.

☞ Hon. Charles Sumner sailed from New York for Europe on Saturday, in the steamship Vanderbilt, to find that beneficent repose and freedom from care which he cannot enjoy here among his too kind friends.

PERUVIAN SYRUP.—We made reference to this medicinal preparation last week in a quotation from our contemporary, the Puritan Recorder. That is not an ordinary compound or preparation, but embraces a discovery whereby an important principle in medical science is most successfully applied. This syrup is beyond no common quack nostrum, and has properly nothing that allies it to the current empiricism of the day.—(Christian Watchman & Reflector, Sept. 17, 1857. m20 1w

A CARD TO THE LADIES.
DR. DUPONCO'S
French Periodical Golden Pills,
FOR FEMALES;
Infallible in Removing Stoppages or Irregularity of the Menses.
THESE Pills are nothing new, but have been used by the Doctor for many years, both in France and America, with unparalled success in every case; and he is urged by many thousand ladies who have used them to make the Pills public for the alleviation of those suffering from any irregularities whatever, as well as to prevent pregnancy in those ladies whose health will not permit an increase of family. Pregnant females, or those supposing themselves so, are cautioned against using these Pills while pregnant, as the proprietor assumes no responsibility after the above admonition, although their mildness would prevent any mischief to health; otherwise these Pills are recommended. Full and explicit directions accompany each box.
Price $1. Sold in Portsmouth by JOSEPH H. THACHER, in Dover by Chas. A. Tufts, in Exeter by C. A. Merrill, and in Newmarket by J. A. Prendergast. They will supply dealers at the Proprietor's prices, and also send the Pills to the Ladies (confidentially) by mail to any part of the city or country, on receipt of $1 through the Post Office.
N. B.—Ladies will be particular in asking for Dr. Duponco's Golden Pills. Observe the signature J. Duponco is upon each box. You will then obtain a Pill you can rely upon.

STREET VIEWS.

An outside glance at our city as a whole, and a ramble through its streets, reveal a tendency to displace the cheerful, and attractive appearance of bright and lively colors, by those that are dark and gloomy. The writer of this hopes that it will be received by all who have to do with alterations and repairs of buildings or the finishing of new ones, as only a friendly suggestion, that gloom begets gloom as well as cheerfulness begets cheerfulness.

Another point: we see posted in conspicuous places copies of certain "Ordinances" which, on a superficial view at least, argue well for the point of good order;—but they also argue with the most imperative significance the crying need of social breathing places, or what may more appropriately, though perhaps somewhat coarsely, be termed air or vent holes.

One or more open public squares to every given space of a compact town, are as necessary as highways: and the practice of selling street to street and building to building "until there be no place," should be deemed utterly intolerable.

With all that is heard or said concerning the infirmity and depravity of conduct and manners, I have this confidence still as regards the God within the human soul, that it may be successfully moulded to harmony and beauty, as regards any point of requirement, if, when with one hand we show the point of restriction, we show also in the other hand the proper ground of liberty.

It is not the intention to make this article present the extensive arguments on the subject, though they would afford a very profitable theme for discussion; but one or two suggestions "how the thing can be done."

1. A few acres of land at a moderate price would be a valuable item of city property, and if it should be so deemed by the mass of tax payers, an expenditure to this end would be higly judicious.

2. There is a new "fashion" getting into vogue which argues more for the coming of a "glorious age" than anything on which the writer can fix his eye—i. e. individual movement, in enlarged schemes for physical benefit, schemes promotive of the comfort and attractiveness of social religious worship and the efficiency of the means of grace and salvation; and all the other forms in which this "fashion" is embodying itself. Such acts create a sweet savour for a man's memory long after his body may be dead; and I am one who will land them even before.

It it be objected to this mode of individual operation, on the ground of a scene of painful obligation on the part of the recipients, I would meet that by asking if the millions of the human race do not owe their gratitude for the benevolence of one great Deliverer? Also, is the field for human action as yet wholly monopolized?

And I further as a citizen, will gladly acknowledge my sense of gratitude to any one individual or any set of individuals, who may be so moved thereto as to make a gift of one or more public squares; or set on foot any scheme promotive of the public welfare. LEDGER.

☞ The laying of the corner-stone of the new Custom House, on Wednesday, will be an occasion of much interest to our citizens. The Masonic ceremonies and display will no doubt be very imposing; and the procession probably extensive. Many strangers will of course be in attendance, and probably other bands besides our own. The order of march for the procession will be found below.

MASONIC NOTICE.—The several subordinate Lodges will assemble in Jefferson Hall, and the Grand Lodge in Masonic Hall, on Wednesday, the 26th inst., at 10 o'clock A. M., or on the arrival of the cars.

The procession will be formed at 1-2 past 11 o'clock, and proceed to the site of the Custom House, through Congress, Islington, Cabot, Middle and State streets.

After the ceremonies, the procession will again form and return through Pleasant, Washington, State, Chapel, Daniel and Congress streets to Masonic Hall, thence through Fleet, State and Pleasant streets, to Jefferson Hall, when it will be dismissed. Per order.

May 24, A. L., 5858.

☞ The telegraph announces that the appointments of G. H. Rundlett, as Postmaster of this city; and H. F. Wendell, Navy Agent, at this Naval Station; have been confirmed by the Senate. Glad of it—for both are prompt, efficient, reliable business men; and all our citizens not personally interested, would be as well satisfied for them to hold these offices, as for any of their party.

A PROCLAMATION.

By his Excellency, WILLIAM HAILE, Governor of the State of New Hampshire.

Proclamation for opening the House of Reformation for Juvenile and Female offenders against the Laws.

Whereas, by an act, entitled an act, establishing a House of Reformation for Juvenile and Female Offenders against the Laws in this State, approved July 14th, 1855, it is provided that as soon as the Governor shall have been notified by the Commissioners appointed under a resolve of the Legislature, approved July 13, 1855, for erecting the buildings for said House of Reformation, that said buildings are prepared for occupancy, he shall forthwith issue his proclamation, giving public notice of the fact:

Now, therefore, I, William Haile, having been notified by said Commissioners, that said House of Reformation is now prepared for occupancy, by virtue of authority to me given in the act aforesaid, do issue this my proclamation, and do hereby declare the said House of Reformation is now prepared for occupancy for the purposes intended and designated in said act. Given at the Council Chamber in Concord, this twelfth day of May, 1858, and of the Independence of the United States the eighty-second. WILLIAM HAILE.

TWO MISSING FISHERMEN RETURNED HOME SAFE!—Thirty-eight Hours at Sea in an open boat!!—The two young men Thurston and Bean reported in our last as having been lost from Schooner Surprise, of this port, arrived home yesterday morning in the Schooner Isabella. We give the particulars in their own words:—

"We left our vessel at about 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon for the purpose of hauling our trawls, but we could not find them. About half a mile from the vessel we lost sight of her in the fog, and then endeavored to return. We rowed, as we thought, in several directions to reach her, until night shut in. We were still in hope to find some vessel. The first night we would lie down in the bottom of the dory, but the cold would drive us to the oars to keep warm. We rowed the greater part of the next day, and the second night closed in. There was very little wind and the boat was tight, but we suffered some from hunger and thirst. About midnight we saw a light and commenced rowing towards it, though nearly exhausted, until five o'clock on Wednesday morning, when we landed at Monthegon Point, N. S., after having been in the dory thirty-eight hours.—Gloucester Telegraph 19th.

CHICAGO, May 21.—The New School General Assembly of the Presbyterian church met in this city yesterday. One hundred and sixty-six delegates were in attendence.

Rev. M. B. Thompson of Buffalo was elected Moderator.

A communication was received from the Presbytery of Harmony, Kentucky, announcing its withdrawal on account of the slavery question.

THE AUGUSTA, GA., LOTTERY CONCERN INDICTED—ARRESTS.—New York, May 21. The lotteries of Swan & Co., at Augusta, Georgia, have been indicted in that city as bogus concerns, and some of the parties interested in them are arrested, and held in $10,000 bail, each. Two of the firm of Swan & Co., Benj. B. Wood and George P. Eddy, reside in this city. The receipts of this bogus concern are said to have averaged about $150,000 per week.

Among the persons arrested at Augusta are Frederick P. Barber and Leon Dugas, who professed to be the State Commissioners, authorized to superintend the drawings.

Mr. Wood is the brother of ex-Mayor Fernando Wood. It is reported a requisition will be made for him by Gov. Brown, of Georgia.

ANNIVERSARY WEEK.—This day commences the Anniversary Meetings of nearly all the New England Religious and Charitable Societies, at Boston, which will occupy most of the week.

One of the most exciting meetings will be that of the Tract Society. The Congregational Journal says, "that if it should approve of the sectional policy of the New York Society, a majority of the churches which have heretofore contributed to its funds, will desert it forever. We cannot, in that case, recommend the contribution of another dollar for its support."

POSTMASTERS CONFIRMED.—The Senate have confirmed the following appointments of Postmasters in this State:—

P. H. Burns, at Dover;
Jacob Carter, at Concord;
Thomas P. Pierce, at Manchester;
George Bowers, at Nashua;
G. H. Rundlett, at Portsmouth;
T. W. Woodman, at Great Falls.

PLYMOUTH, May 22.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Gardner brought in a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree this morning.

She was the poisoner of her husband.—Nearly all the murders now will come under the second degree.

Wolfe's Celebrated Scheidam Aromatic SCHNAPPS.
This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.
Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts., and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

MOSES & DOWNIE,

SOLE Agents for the above Goods, have on hand a large Stock of the same, suitable for shore and sea wear

These fabrics, since their first introduction to the public, (almost three years since,) have been fully tested, and the result has proved them to possess all the qualities requisite to make a perfect article. They have on hand numerous testimonials from gentlemen in the navy and merchant service, which they would be pleased to show any one who would favor them with a call. They have been supplying some of the officers of the Falmouth, who have tested the Rubber goods, and found them suit for sea service.

Nos. 33 & 37 Market Street.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto used. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor, — health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint: see his bent form tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; see the wounds, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; the sores fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown where the hideous scale leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with liniments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has made life a misery; every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise, or some other strange lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS to stimulate the vital principle into renewed energy, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again — the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell its story without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and cars, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the PILLS in large doses to expel these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the child in perfect health. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day

Here are the most serious symptoms of these distempers, they are the twelve years' sufferings, Costiveness, Headache, Sickness, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints arise from the derangement which these PILLS rapidly remove. Health preserving, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous disease they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old — they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box — 5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford some relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to some extent at least, the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong, whispered for all but Consumption. He tries every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the CHERRY PECTORAL now; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues of the medicine from for the CHERRY PECTORAL an impenetrable remedy. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The countless colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the dangers of sudden cold, which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and for sale these remedies, prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

S. D. & H. W. Smith,

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

Melodeons, Organ Melodeons,

—and—

PEDAL BASS MELODEONS.

No. 511 Washington St., Boston.

The first premium over all competitors, at the Fair of the Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association, of the National Fair, Washington, D. C., also at the Ohio State Fair, held at Columbus, Ohio, was awarded to these Manufacturers.

By means of a method of Voicing, known only to themselves, they have succeeded in removing the harsh and buzzing sound which formerly characterized the instrument, and rendering the tones full, clear and organ like. The action is prompt and reliable, enabling the performer to execute the most rapid music without blurring the tones. The swell is arranged to give great expression.

THE PEDAL BASS MELODEONS,

Are designed particularly for Churches, Lodges, Halls, &c. It is arranged with two manuals, or banks of Keys, the lower set running an octave higher than the other, and may be used separately, and thus get in one case two distinct instruments; or by use of the coupler, the two banks of keys may be played at the same time by one person set only. This combined with the Pedal Bass, will produce the effect of a large organ, and is sufficiently heavy to fill a house that seats from 1000 to 1500 persons.

THE ORGAN MELODEON

Is designed for parlor and private use. The construction is similar to the Church Instrument, being arranged with two banks of Keys, and when used together, by means of the coupler, is capable of as great volume of sound as the Church Instrument when used without the pedals. Also, every variety of MELODEONS for Parlor use.

Purchasers may rely upon instruments from our Manufactory, being made in the most complete and thorough manner. Having removed to the spacious Buildings

511 Washington Street,

We have every facility for manufacturing purposes, and employ none but the most experienced and skillful workmen. In short, we will promise our customers an Instrument which is not superior, to any Manufacturer, and guarantee an entire and perfect satisfaction.

As a still further guarantee to the public as to the excellence of the MELODEONS from our establishment, we beg leave to refer, by permission, to the following

NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF Prof. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be sent in from every part of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is the Perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been the cumbrous absurdity, wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have not been offered any thing else. His Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try Professor Wood's Restorative; there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her hair grew completely with the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance, and there is no one who is regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is as much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left undone to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHECTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (Mr. M. Hutchinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some other state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States for the purpose. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs to healthy action so well as your preparation. I am convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, and be satisfied it must prove.

Yours truly, S. T. BROCKMAN.

WATLAND, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Scheme for the State. The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets 86. All such, in every instance are bogus and swindling. Persons buying for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lottery Schemes that offer Tickets at Dollarally large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings: all other L. tteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings are frauds.

VOL. 12. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., TUESDAY, MAY 25, 1858. NO. 95.

A ROMANCE.—A New York correspondent of the Independent Democrat, tells this story.

There is more romance in real religion, than in sin and misery, however embellished by art, or magnified by the "pen of a ready writer" of fiction. I have just listened to the recital of one of these romances, from the lips of a pious clergyman, which occurred in this city within a few weeks. Briefly the facts were as follows:

A young lady, boarding, and without the protection of wealthy friends, was beset by the licentious son of the lady with whom she boarded: and repulsing his addresses, she was driven from the house by the mother of the young libertine. Pursued by the son into the street, and followed by moonlight, half frantic with fright, she accosted the clergyman to whom I am indebted for this incident, and asked his protection. He gave her his arm and conducted her, trembling with affright, to the station of Mr. Pease at the Five Points.

Two weeks after her admission, a young man from Illinois, called at the mission, and presented Mr. Pease with $500 for the Institution, Mr. Pease at the same time introducing him to the young lady above referred to. He married and took tea with the Rev. Mr. Pease and family, the young lady referred to being present. He was well off in the world and well disposed. Learning the circumstances of the young lady, he opened his purse and presented her with twenty-five dollars to replenish her wardrobe. He then left the city for Boston and Lowell on business. He returned in a few days, asked the young lady to walk out with him, when he expended one hundred dollars more to replenish her meagre wardrobe. He then took her to visit his parents in Vermont, and returning to the city was married to the young lady and took her home with him to Illinois.

What a rescue! what a revelation! what romance and reality. The romance of Ruth's love, of Rachel's courtship of fourteen years, which seemed but a few days, or the great love which Jacob had for her; of Rebecca's inspiring Isaac with love at the first sight, so that he lifted up his eyes and wept; are only equalled by this five minute mission love and courtship. Verily matches are made in heaven, and handed down with hidden mysteries, characters, circumstances. This young man will return to his home in Illinois, justified, rather than the prodigal who comes to New York, and spends his substance in riotous living among harlots, ending his career of folly and sin as a swine feeder.

CONNELLY'S TRIAL.—The trial of Connelly in Cincinnati for giving shelter and food to two runaway slaves from Kentucky, has resulted in a verdict of guilty. He was convicted of violating the provisions of the Fugitive Slave law. It appears that there was upon the jury a Deputy United States Marshal. The fact was not known until after the verdict was rendered, whereupon the counsel for Connelly demanded a new trial, which demand was argued before the Court on Wednesday last. Judge Jarrett, before whom the case was tried, is a weak old man, and being of a strong pro-slavery bias, it is doubtful whether he will grant a new trial. Connelly was committed to jail, the judge refusing to accept bail, although it was freely offered by any amount he might name. This we believe is the first time that a person has been convicted for such an offence. It appears monstrous that a person living in a free state, having nothing to do with inducing the slaves from their masters, should be fined and imprisoned for doing a charitable and Christian act. Although poor Connelly has violated a law of Congress he has fulfilled a law of God, as laid down in the 34th & 5th verses of the 25th chapter of St. Matthew: "Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come ye blessed of my father, inh rit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world. For I was an hungered and ye gave me meat; I was thirsty and ye gave me drink, I was a stranger and ye took me in."

Mr. Boyce of South Carolina, from the joint committee on tariffs, has reported that Congress should entirely abandon the protective policy, and so modify the navigation laws that foreign built vessels may be purchased and sailed on an equality with American built, and that the coasting trade shall be open to all foreigners to compete with our own citizens. The firemen are not content with abolishing quarries for fishermen, but they now ask that American ship carpenters and other mechanics on vessels shall have no advantage from birth or citizenship over the Portuguese, and that not only may the Portuguese vessels go into the small coasting trade, but foreign ships enter into the California or coast-wise cotton carrying, as our own. We wonder if these movements will not open the eyes of northern mechanics and laborers to the fact that the slaveholders regard them as "mud sills" indeed.—How long, by word or action—by association or vote, will they uphold those who show no regard for the rights of the working masses, or the encouragement of industry?—Newburyport Herald.

No man can tell whether he is rich or poor by turning to his ledger. It is the heart that makes a man rich. He is rich or poor according to what he is, not according what he has.—Beecher.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, MAY 25, 1858.

BRITISH OUTRAGES ON AMERICAN VESSELS.—The New York Herald and some allies, have humbugged the public about this matter, for the benefit of slave-traders and fillibusters. The Herald gave a sad account of the search of the barque W. H. Chandler, Capt. Gage, of New York, and the brig Martha Gilchrist, Capt. Rawley, of St. Georges, Maine. Now Capt. Gage says—

"My vessel was not searched, and the language and bearing of the English officer were those of a gentleman; and I made no complaint, except that he asked a good many questions which I thought he had no right to, after seeing that my vessel was a regular trader, and loaded with the products of the country. I did not smell his breath, as stated; he asked me for a glass of water, and, as is usual, I invited him to take a glass of gin, which he did not refuse. He used no profane or other language unbecoming an officer."

Capt. Rawley, of the Martha Gilchrist, which was lying in the harbor, loaded with sugar and molasses, bound for New York, gives the particulars relating to the boarding of his vessel, in which he says the captain did not attempt to enter the cabin or to search the vessel, but merely asked the usual questions relative to the vessels name, &c. The language of the officer was civil, and his manner respectful. "Capt. Rawley," the authority before quoted says "also believes in the right of armed vessels of any nation to make all necessary inspection of vessels which they may suspect of being engaged in the slave trade or other unlawful traffic. It is the universal custom for vessels to display their national colors when a man-of-war of any nation makes her appearance."

The New York Evening Post says:

"In the meantime it may be well enough to bear in mind that the administration is anxious to procure the permission of Congress to build ten or a dozen vessels of war, and no better argument for this expence could be found than reports of illegal interference with our merchant ships by British cruisers."

LORD NAPIER AND THE BRITISH OUTRAGES. New York, May 24.—The Tribune's Washington correspondent says Lord Napier positively denies having had any knowledge whatever of the recent proceedings in the Gulf until they appeared in print. He then immediately communicated with the Admiral of the Squadron, inclosing the statements made, with an emphatic injunction against their repetition. He believed that the Home Ministry is equally ignorant and hence his conviction is decided that these acts will be promptly disavowed, and the fullest reparation made. The Senate Committee are instructed to report a repeal of the Navigation laws.

BAD LEAKS.—Not only do great rascals swindle the corporations, but little thieves pilfer by driblets. The Lowell News states the following instructive facts.

During the hearing before the Mayor and Aldermen last evening, in relation to the ordinance about junk shops, &c., John Wright, Esq., Agent of the Suffolk Corporation in this city, stated that within the past two or three years nearly seventy tons of cotton waste had found its way to the different junk shops and tin pedlars in this city, taken from the corporations, at a loss of nearly $38,000. He also stated that a few years ago the waste in manufacturing cotton cloth amounted to about six per cent.; and that now, with all their improved machinery, the loss was about twenty per cent., which he attributed in part to the waste taken in different ways from the mills. Mr. Clemence, City Marshal, stated that a woman was convicted in the Police Court lately for stealing from the Massachusetts Corporation. When arrested she had concealed in a bag under her clothes and pinned to her skirts, nearly five dozen spools of yarn, the weight of which broke the pin by which they were suspended, leaving one-half of the pin on the skirt, and the other half on the bag, which single fact convicted her, though she denied all knowledge of the theft. It also came out during the hearing, that boys are employed all the time on Merrimack river in picking up waste thrown from the mills, which is cleaned and sold to junk dealers and others for four cents per pound, and is worth eight for manufacturing into paper.

The help inside the mills, knowing their sons or brothers were outside, could make large waste on the river. Exactly as we have known a washerwoman to hang clothes where a boy could take them.

☞ The bark John Howe, from Cuba, reports that Captain Bartlett, of the New York ship Clarendon, had resisted the insolence of the commander of the British steamer Buzzard, who had visited his vessel and orderd him to to show his colors. He not only refused to show his colors, but threatened to shoot the commander of the British searchers.

☞ Gold discoveries are reported in Clark County, Iowa—probably a humbug to encourage immigration and speculation.

AUGUSTA, GA., May 21.—The Augusta Mills commenced grinding wheat to-day for the New York market.

REARING BOYS.

CHAPTER I.

John, I want you to go to the store and order two dozen bottles of Champaign and a box of cigars. The club meet here to-night, and I forgot it.

CHAPTER II.

John, you may go over to Spinney's and tell him I shan't want him to-morrow. I can get Howes for 75 cents. He is so hard pushed I guess he will come for that, and then I can tell Howes that he will work for that, and get the planting done up.

I've sold that square lot to Jones. He offered me ten dollars more than I told Morse he should have it for. I suppose he will be here to-night to have the writings made out.

CHAPTER III.

I am afraid to go down town for fear I shall see John coming out of some low place, drunk. I never visited such places.

CHAPTER IV.

Well, I can never show my face in the street again. I must sell out and go West. To think my only son should take money from his employer. I suppose I can save him from State prison by paying half I'm worth, but then I can never look anybody in the face.

"Whatsoever a man soeth that shall he also reap.—Bible."

TWO PICTURES.

Here is the first, from Lawrence, Massachusetts, drawn by a writer in the Traveller, May 21.

At Lawrence, says this writer, "on Saturday evening two boys stole a jug of rum from the wagon of a farmer who was about returning home; the jug was secreted, but two other boys watched the whole affair, and the next morning the latter, in company with two others, took the liquor, and retired to a small piece of woods, and drank the entire contents of the jug.

One of them, named Maurice Roach, a lad of about 12 years, said to be one of the best and most promising scholars in the Grammar school, became dead drunk, and his companions went away leaving him upon the ground.

His brother, who was one of the four, returned home, but was deterred, by shame, from telling the circumstances till about 4 o'clock, when his father started for the river, and found Maurice, stiff and speechless, under a tree. He was taken home, but did not arouse from the stupor, and died in a few hours. One other of the lads barely escaped the same fate. The truly lamentable affair has caused no small degree of excitement among the citizens."

Now it is hardly supposable, that these boys were really lovers of stuff so vile and unpalatable,—neither is it supposable that they belonged to a Band of Hope, or a Cold Water Army; but it is highly probable they had heard at home or in the streets, conversation intimating that it is a brave thing to drink rum; and it is quite possible they might have read in their family newspaper, that temperance men, or those who professed to be such, were a parcel of hypocrites, designing politicians, fanatics, &c.,—and that they believed this miserable trash, and acted accordingly. Hence the misery and death of the boy, the anguish of the parents, and the agony of the people.

Now for the second picture, from Boston, drawn in the Newburyport Herald.

The Boston liquor dealers held a meeting on Thursday evening to form an association for resisting and changing the laws of this Commonwealth relating to their business. They thought such a combination could be formed as would prove successful. The old association had been useful to them, and another upon a similar plan was needed. Mr. John A. Smith said they had nothing to expect from the laws or the courts of the State—they meant to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States; and if they failed there they would go to the ballot box. The meeting stands adjourned for further consultation.

And these rich men, powerful men, in this picture, mean to do—what? They mean to do all they can to make the stream of misery and death roll on, to kill boys by drunkenness, and bring down the gray hairs of parents with sorrow to the grave.

☞ The remains of William Henry Herbert were interred in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Newark, N. J., on Wednesday afternoon. Many people assembled at "the Cedars," his late residence, where it was expected the funeral ceremonies would take place; but the clergyman who had charge of them declared that the rules of the Episcopalian church forbade him to read the ritual over a suicide, and the body was buried without the usual ceremonies. Rev. John Shackleford made a short address to those in the room, saying he regretted the rule of the church, because he was a friend of the deceased, whose faults he was sure were all on the surface, and whose virtues were more numerous than was generally known.

"Don't rob yourself," as the farmer said to the lawyer, who called him hard names.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, on Saturday, Mr. Hunter, of Virginia, reported a bill authorizing the President to borrow fifteen millions of dollars. The President was requested to furnish information in regard to the seizure of the ship Tampico, on the coast of Africa; and the Secretary of the Treasury was requested to report to the Senate the efforts which have been made to reduce the expenses of the government since March 4, 1857. A bill authorizing the construction of six small war steamers was reported and read twice. Pending the consideration of the Homestead bill, the Senate adjourned. In the House, after some debate, Messrs. Phelps and Cavanagh were admitted as Senators from the State of Minnesota. The Ohio contested election case occupied the remainder of the session.

FOREIGN NEWS.—The Steamship City of Washington, with advices from England to the 12th of May, has arrived at New York. The news from England is important. The India policy of the Derby Government had met with stern opposition in both Houses of Parliament and it was thought the present administration would be forced to retire or seek the approval of the country. The Earl of Ellenborough, anticipating a crash, had already retired from the post of President of the Board of Control. The Lords' amendment to the Oaths bill had been rejected in the Commons—263 to 150—and a motion to admit Baron Rothschild as a member of the Committee appointed to draw up reasons for the disagreement with the Lords was carried by the commoners—251 to 196. The Atlantic cable fleet was expected to sail on the 25th instant. The African mail steamer Canada, had been in collision with a bark, was disabled, sunk, and the captain, two passengers and four seamen, were drowned. A railroad accident on the Trent Valley R. R., which caused three deaths and four persons wounded, is reported. We have later news from India; but it is not important. Lucknow was as subdued and peacable as an English village. The rebels, it is reported, had concentrated 100,000 men in Rohilcund. Later, but unimportant China news had been received in England.—From France we learn that Picard, an anti-Napoleon candidate, had been elected to the Legislature, from Paris, over the Government candidate.

The accounts from the agricultural districts of France are encouraging. The wheat crops promise an early and abundant harvest. The vineyards generally present a fine appearance, notwithstanding damage from frosts and oidium in some sections. Trade in Brandies continues dull.

The London Stock Market had been depressed by the apprehension that a "ministerial crisis" was at hand. At Liverpool the cotton market had undergone no certain change since the sailing of the previous steamer.

SOUNDING BOARDS.—The oldest of these ancient "institutions" in the country is probably that in the old Hingham meeting-house, Dr. Richardson's, which was built in 1681. The Boston Transcript notices the two that still "hang out" in that city, one at the "Old South" and the other at King's Chapel. The "Old South" was built in 1730, and King's Chapel in 1749; it says of the latter:

Its fine architectural proportions remain unchanged to this day—the sounding-board hangs over the pulpit the same as it did when the leading loyalists of Massachusetts prayed for the "Second George."—The Royal Governor's pew was prominent in the middle aisle, and the Tory pastor, the Rev. Henry Caner, fled to Halifax with the silver communion service belonging to the parish. From the substantial character of these venerable edifices, and the care taken of them, there are no reasons to doubt that it will be a long while before the last of the "sounding boards" will disappear from Boston.

Large sounding boards were valuable helps to the speaker,—and a silly fashion sent them away, to introduce bronchitis in their stead.

☞ Sidney Smith says:—It is not true that the world hates piety. The modest and unobtrusive piety which fills the heart with human charities, and makes a man gentle to others, and severe to himself, is an object of universal love and veneration. But mankind hate the lust of power when it is concealed under the garb of piety. They hate cant and hypocrisy; they hate advertisers and quacks in piety; they do not choose to be insulted; they love to tear folly and impudence from the place which should only be a sanctuary for the righteous and good.

Almost every one has an acquaintance, who thinks he is pious, when he is only bilious; afflicted with an uncomfortable feeling that he fancies religion, when it is is nothing but indigestion.

☞ It is stated that the Reverend Rabbi Raphael, Nestor of the Hebrew Rabbies of New York, in a recent lecture, handled Solomon rather familiarly. He said he had an elevated opinion of him, though he would have liked him better if he had been less of a Mormon in his practice.

It is an error to think that a long face is essential to good morals, or that laughing is an unpardonable crime.

FREMONT AT HOME.—The arrival of Fremont and his family at his estate in California was the occasion of great rejoicing among his tenants. Deputations from various townships met them at a distace from Mariposa, took the horses from his carriage, and with shouts of exultation drew them to his house. Bonfires were kindled on the mountains, and flasks of quicksilver filled with gunpowder were discharged, making the hills echo.

☞ Capt. John A. Holmes, recently examined in Portland on a charge of murdering one of his sailors, has been admitted to bail in $10,000, and taken back to the Insane Hospital at Augusta.

PERUVIAN SYRUP.—We made reference to this medicinal preparation last week in a quotation from our contemporary, the Puritan Recorder. That is not an ordinary compound or preparation, but embraces a discovery whereby an important principle in medical science is most successfully applied. This syrup is hence no common quack nostrum, and has properly nothing that allies it to the current implicium of the day.—[Christian Watchman & Reflector, Sept. 17, 1857. m20 1w

LOCAL.

For the Chronicle.

POETIC SPIRIT.—"A spirit that don't rap in these days," said a croaking friend.—perhaps it is busy at better business; indeed we find substantial traces of it out on the Lafayette Road the other day.

"Busy at what?" Inspiring Mr. Samuel Langdon to set out thirty-seven beautiful maples on the roadsides of his fine farm. We found him presiding over the labors of his men, and entering heartily into all the prospective benefits and beauties of the good work. And it is a work that pays in a right royal revenue of shade, shelter, song, beauty and blessing. Benedictions upon the man who plants a tree!

We rejoice to see how much of this work has been done in our city within a few years. Some young trees here died through unskilful rooting, and lack of care until quite at home in their new localities, but great numbers are beginning to reward us with thrifty looks and out-stretching arms. We have scarcely four months of leaves, let us have during that time all we can get.

Benedictions upon the man who plants a tree. INCHES.

For the Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—I have attended the Quarterly Meeting, held the past week at the new Free Will Baptist Church in this city; and I have been much interested in the lectures. I find in this sect, once deemed fanatical, a great improvement, an advancement toward the true and rational idea of religion.

There has been a very common misconception of the worship of God, as to its thoroughness. The world has not been taught that all the powers of our being must be engaged in Divine Worship to be acceptable, but we have been led to believe that the yielding of our affections alone to him would secure to us an entrance into Paradise. But the expounders of Christianity are becoming conscious that service is required also. God has endowed all with capability of action, with talents; and the true worship of God is the using of these talents to promote the welfare of mankind, to stimulate them to noble works, that will expand the intellect and improve the judgment as well as enlarge the heart.

Man's selfishness has been too much appealed to: he has been led to believe that an escape from punishment should be the motive of action, and a sensuous heaven should be the ultimate of their aspirations; but this falls short of the true worship and service of God which consists in our using every faculty with which we are endowed to carry on the glorious work of human progression, by endeavoring to elevate man to a higher plan of thought and action, because it is Godlike and Christian and Manly.

I was much struck by a remark made by one of the Ministers at the meeting,—that the present revival in the Churches, instead of adding to their strength would augment their weakness by adding to their numbers, if religion were not presented in a different form from what it has often been in the past, and made to consist in action as well as emotion. When that shall take place, (the Speaker intimated,) there would be fewer backsliding in the church, for, from the true knowledge thus obtained there would be no retrograding.

The Churches of all denominations appear to be awaking to the fact that the soul of man requires more than has commonly been given to it, by the expounders of the Bible. Appealing to the fears of man, or even to his selfishness, will not tend to elevate him, but to keep him in subjection, to what? Not to a glorious and noble principle, but to that which will degrade him and trammel his soul.

Man, in order to be happy must obey God's laws in Christian activity. How important it is then, that those who speak as messengers from the Eternal Father, should have a right understanding of the service of God. Yielding up of ourselves to that service, is not the mere exaction of a jealous being tenacious of his rights, but the requirement of a wise and loving Father whose demands are just; and by yielding to them, we shall develop our faculties for good, benefit the human race, and ultimately reach that happiness we are all in search of. God speed the right.

OBSERVER.

☞ The fifty-eighth Annual Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of New Hampshire will be held in this city, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.—There will be a Sermon delivered this (Tuesday) evening on the subject of Missions at the Chapel in State Street, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

On Wednesday there will be Divine Service at St. John's Church—a Sermon and administration of the Communion. Service to commence at 10 o'clock.

☞ As the indications now are, that to-morrow is to be the only "Fourth of July" we are to have this year, it would seem no more than reasonable that it be made a holiday as generally as is practicable.—We have not heard that the committees have "given the day" to the schools yet—but most of the scholars will "be there to see;" nor do we suppose all the stores will be closed—but many of the clerks and laborers will "lend their presence" to help out the show.

As the scene of operations is so near our office, and directly in our view, — the Chroniclers will have so much overseeing to do, that it will be of no use to think of working—so we shall print no paper on Thursday.

Messrs Editors:—As it does not seem to be the purpose of our city fathers to celebrate the coming Fourth of July, (contrary to the wishes of a large majority of the citizens) would it not be a good plan on the part of our traders and merchants generally, to close their stores for at least half of next Wednesday. CYMON.

MASONIC NOTICE.—The several subordinate Lodges will assemble in Jefferson Hall, and the Grand Lodge in Masonic Hall, on Wednesday, the 26th inst., at 10 o'clock A. M., or on the arrival of the cars.

The procession will be formed at 1-2 past 11 o'clock, and proceed to the site of the Custom House, through Congress, Islington, Cabot, Middle and State streets.

After the ceremonies, the procession will again form and return through Pleasant, Washington, State, Chapel, Daniel and Congress streets to Masonic Hall, thence through Fleet, State and Pleasant streets, to Jefferson Hall, when it will be dismissed. Pur order.

May 24, A. L., 5858.

OLD IRONSIDES.—The U. S. frigate Constitution, now upon the railway of the dock at the Navy Yard, having been thoroughly repaired and coppered will be put into the dry dock on Thursday, and floated out into the river on Saturday. In the way ships are repaired at this yard, they would last forever,—so thoroughly is the work done.

GOOD SPIRIT.—Porter's New York Spirit of the Times is indeed a spirited paper—and never hesitates

"To tell a tale or sing a song,
In praise of right—in blame of wrong.

The reporters and critics for this paper are not allowed to accept "free tickets," (called free, but expected to be paid for tenfold in editorial notices of praise, or by refraining from stating any injurious truth) to any concert or exhibition—so that they may be impartial and untrammelled in their notices. A musical critic of the Spirit commented rather severely on a performance directed by one Musard, at the Academy of Music—was forbidden admittance on a ticket he had bought and paid for; whereupon the publisher accompanied him, and demanded to be passed on his tickets. On this, Police Judge Russell had them arrested for riot and disturbance; but could not make out a case. Then the publisher of the Spirit sued the Judge, for assault, in having the reporters arrested; and, before this case comes into Court, Russell and his confederates bring a similar charge against the editors. Both complaints go before the Grand Jury. The freedom of the press demands that the reporters be unmolested, and that this unjust Judge be punished if not impeached. The whole system of free tickets is a nuisance, and all honest editors should labor for its abatement or abolishment.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor,—health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. Hundreds of certificates of their cures, of disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint: see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features bloom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; prove him, from the crown of his head, he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with liniments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and soon he walks alone; he throws away his staff. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was a skeleton in health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the PILLS in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day.

Have you the less serious symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sick Headache, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Rising in the Stomach, Neuralgic Pains, and kindred complaints all arise from the derangements which these PILLS rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and if the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old—they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were thought beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled in the lungs, and the cough, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but him CONSUMPTION. He tries every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the CHERRY PECTORAL now; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Look around the neighborhood, and be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the CHERRY PECTORAL an imperishable renown. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by preventing than curing. The wearisome colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a house.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may know before them what the afflicted achieve. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has been yet had a trial. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the testimony and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been affected with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast superseded with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair either in man or woman, is the most beautiful to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the state of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must do.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their management, and the interests of parties at a distance are well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of Gift Enterprises, which is legal, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $60 to $20,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount they are entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Mercury, Augusta Chronicle, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of sending their money for Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to remit money to them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets 50c. All such in the first instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—In every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Public Colleges, under new management, is the only Lottery in the United States now legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. FRANCE.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates, if he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it. R. FRANCE & CO.,

An investigating committee of the Wisconsin legislature have ascertained that the Lacrosse and Milwaukie railroad company, in order to obtain the passage of a land grant, bought up nearly the whole legislature of that State in 1856, and a great many other influential persons beside.—There were but thirteen votes against the grant in both branches of the legislature, and but 4 members of the Assembly and 6 senators who were not paid for their votes. The Governor received $50,000; the Lieut. Governor $10,000; one senator $25,000, three $20,000 each, and eight $10,000 each; one Assembly man $20,000, eight $10,000 each, and fifty-one $5,000 each. In all the bribes amounted to $872,000.—This is the most rascally piece of legislation that the world has ever known.

A SOUTHERN gentleman owned a slave, a very intelligent fellow, who was a Universalist. On one occasion he illustrated the intellectual character of his religion in the following manner: A certain slave had obtained a license of the Baptists to preach. He was holding forth in the presence of many of his colored brethren at one time, when he undertook to describe the process of Adam: "He stoop down, scrape up a little dirt, wet it a little, warm it a little in his hands and squeezed it in de right shape, and den lean it up against de fence to dry—" "Top dere," said our Universalist darkey, "you say dat are the fustest man ever made?" "Sartin!" said the preacher. "Den," said the other, "just tell a feller whar dat fence came from?"—"Hush," said the preacher, "two more questions like dat would spoil all de feology in dis world!"

☞ The New York letter written for the Boston Journal says:—

The collation of the Congregational Church at Brooklyn was intended to be a meeting to gather up the incidents of the late revival. But the key note of the meeting was given in a jocose strain, and the meeting was one of hilarity. Rev. Mr. Cuyler of the Dutch Church led off the meeting with great merriment, and did so at the expense of the church in which he is a minister.

HORSE TAMING.

Porter's Spirit says, Mr. Rarey, the great American horse tamer, has caused a profound sensation in equestrian circles in England and in France. Mr. Rarey has, in fact created a complete revolution in the art of breaking and thoroughly training horses.

The Horse, that noblest of animals, man's best friend, and most docile servant, has been for centuries misunderstood and subjected to the caprices and ill usage of his master; as a colt neither his intellect nor understanding are appealed to; but brutal force is applied, where milder treatment would conduce to far more beneficial results.

Mr. Rarey's method of horse-taming is at once humane and philosophical. Proceeding on the correct hypothesis that the Horse is an intellectual animal, he appeals to his intellect; and having proved to his satisfaction that he is controled by a master-mind, as well as a physical power, with which it is useless for him to contend, he proceeds to educate him with the same case that a reasonable schoolmaster trains a child in the paths of knowledge.—The power of memory in the Horse is largely developed; his lessons once conned are retained, and he is always thereafter amenable to reason. It is only when his master becomes unreasonable, that he will show symptoms of revolt, and a desire to argue the point with him.

Once thoroughly educated on such a system, whip and spur may be disponsed with, for the Horse soon learns to understand what is required of him, and will strain every nerve to accomplish the kindly conveyed behests of his master. This is the true philosophy and philanthropy of horse-taming and breaking, and this the system which Mr. Rarey teaches, and has exemplified with such unqualified success in England—the specimen of his prowess in the thorough taming of Cruiser (on which the English papers descant in glowing terms) is a convincing proof of his ability. Cruiser was described as the most savage brute in the shape of a horse that had been known in England for years—an equine demon in fact whose innately savage disposition rendered him a terror and and a pest to all who were compelled to approach him.

Cruiser was the property of Lord Dorchester, and was a favorite for a race, but not of the mildest kind. When started for Rawcliffe, the man who led him was told on no account to put him into a stable, as he would never get him out. The injunction was disregarded, for when the man wanted some refreshment, he put him into a country public-house stable, and left him, and to get him out the roof of the building had to be pulled off. At Rawcliffe he was always exhibited by a groom with a bludgeon in his hand, and few were bold enough to venture into his yard—the cordial wish of every visitor to the sale apparently being "that some friendly bullet would lay him low." This animal, whose temper had depreciated him perhaps a thousand pounds in value, was "the right horse in the right place' for Mr. Rarey.

Cruiser was bred in 1852, and was considered vicious from a foal; he was always hard to handle, and showed temper on every opportunity. On the road sometimes he went on his knees and tore the ground up with his teeth. He would lean against the wall of his box, and kick and scream for ten minutes together. At last his savage propensities rendered the care of him too dangerous an office for any man. For days he would allow no one to enter his box, and on one occasion tore an iron bar, one inch thick, in two with his teeth.

Well, Mr. Rarey was challenged to tame this fiend; and at once proceeded to the scene of action—did tame "Cruiser"—has since ridden him as a hack in the parks and streets of London, and exhibited the animal, whom none had dared approach, in a public riding-school, in as docile a condition as that of any circus horse who goes through the trick and manœuvres of the manège at the word of command.

Lord D. mounted the horse in three hours after Mr. R. took him in hand, although the horse had not been ridden for three years, being so vicious that it was impossible even to dress him, and always necessary to keep him constantly muzzled! The following day, Mr. Rarey started from Graywell, and led Cruiser behind a dog-cart all the way to London, where he has since been ridden even without a bridle by Mr. R."

REV. DR. SHELDON.—This eminent divine, recently President of the Waterville College, in Maine, a Baptist Institution, has changed his views and become a Unitarian. In a letter to a distinguished clergyman of recent date he says "this change is the slow and gradual result of the earnest laboring and studies of my life up to this time."

AS A SPRING MEDICINE

MYERS' EXTRACT ROCK ROSE is invaluable. It changes the viscid humors, opens the pores of the skin, promotes insensible perspiration, thereby purifying the blood and invigorating the system. A free use of this medicine, in the spring months, will not only cure all diseases caused by impurities of the blood, but will beget a healthy action and prepare the system to resist the attacks of fevers, derangement of the bowels, &c, so prevalent in the summer season.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st, opp. Kilby st, Boston,

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unknown to, and is not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has been successful in securing, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of law, mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AMHERST, 17, 1856.—During the time I have held the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

The expenses were $51,914.58; of which $30,131.47 was to pay for publications bought of the American Tract Society. The balance now on hand is $813.52.

The report was accepted, and a warm debate arose on questions of adjournment till Tuesday. The pro-slavery party were led by Mr. Caleb Stetson, of Braintree; and their policy was to choose officers at once, and then dissolve the meeting, with as little debate as possible, leaving the Society a mere bob on the tail of the slavery kite.—The anti-slavery or New England party, were led off by Rev. Mr. Dexter and Mr. G. G. Hubbard, both of Boston; and their policy was, to adjourn till Tuesday, have a fair debate of the question at issue, and, if the majority so ordain, separate the society from the New York body, and pursue an independent and improved course, of which there is great need.

Before any extended argument was made, there was a South-side majority, voting.—The first motion was to adjourn, to 4 o'clock on Tuesday; this was negatived 194 to 145. Next it was moved to adjourn to 9 A. M. on Tuesday—negatived 190 to 163.

The pro-slavery wing now clamored for the instant choice of officers,—but Mr. Dexter had previously called for the reading of the records of the last meeting,—and when this reading was through, Mr. A. W. Stetson moved that the meeting proceed to the choice of officers.

Gardner G. Hubbard, Esq., moved that this motion lie upon the table, as he desired to introduce a series of resolutions.

After a little more debate, the question being again taken, it appeared that a large majority were in favor of laying Mr. Stetson's motion on the table.

The real, active members of the Tract Society, had come in, in the mean time, and now Mr. Hubbard brought in his resolutions, dissenting from the New York trap proceedings and authorizing independent action by the American Tract Society at Boston.

In his speech, which followed, he gave the history of the New England Tract Society, at Andover and Boston,—and of the other American Tract Society at New York: and then said—

Gentlemen, your funds, your contributions, are annually decreasing; they are not increasing. Year after year are the contributions decreasing; is that the way greater energy is imparted to the tract cause? And they are not only decreasing, but decreasing in a geometrical proportion; for the last three years, from 1855 to 1858, they have decreased in the ratio of 15, 20 and 53 per cent. Is that an evidence of greater energy?

He maintained that the Boston Society can print and buy books cheaper than they get them in New York—that they can, in short, manage better alone. He said—

The expenses prior to 1854 were from thirteen to seventeen per cent. In 1854 they were nineteen, in 1855 twenty-three, and in 1856 twenty-nine per cent. And in 1857, for ten months, ending with March, forty-three per cent. Yes, gentlemen, for every dollar that we give to carry tracts to the poor man and to the rich man, nearly one-half of the amount is spent in conveying that tract to him. Truly an expensive luxury is this pleasure of giving. And the question will soon be asked, "Is there not some way less expensive, in which we can give these tracts, than through the medium of this time-honored society?"

Without finishing his speech, Mr Hubbard gave way to a motion for adjournment to 9 o'clock on Tuesday. The pro-slavery men wished to adjourn to 3 1-2 P. M. But a large majority voted for 9 A. M.

The debate was resumed on Tuesday, when Mr. Hubbard finished his speech—Rev. Seth Bliss explained—Hon. George Lunt made a South side speech and at 12 the meeting adjourned to 3 o'clock.

A Daily Mail, between Exeter and Newburyport.—We are informed that a daily mail has been established between Exeter and Newburyport, via Amesbury. It commenced May 24, 1858.

☞ Frank Leslie's New Family Magazine is on hand, filled with romance, descriptive travels, poetry, and embellishments. Frank Leslie, publisher, New York City.

Congress.—In the Senate Monday, May 24, bills were introduced for the improvement of Dismal Swamp, (Ala.) and for facilitating communication between the Atlantic and the Pacific by telegraph. Mr. Douglas introduced a bill to restrain and redress outrages on the flag and citizens of the United States, which provides that in case of flagrant violation of the law of nations by outrages upon the flag or citizens of this country, under circumstances requiring prompt redress, the President is authorized to employ such force as he may deem necessary to prevent the perpetration of such outrages, and to obtain a just redress and satisfaction. Mr. Hunter of Virginia, called up the $15,000,000 loan bill and advocated its passage. Messrs. Wilson of Massachusetts, and Collamer of Vermont, having spoken on the bill, it was amended on motion of Mr. Bigler of Pennsylvania, so as to make the loan a coupon loan; and on motion of Mr. Cameron of the same State, the rate of interest was fixed at five instead of six per cent.—Pending the question on an amendment offered by Mr. Simmons of Rhode Island, the Senate adjourned.

In the House of Representatives, the bill to regulate municipal elections in Washington gave rise to an animated debate. Mr. Winter Davis of Maryland characterised the Mayor and other principal officers of Washington, as vicious and corrupt. Mr. Burnett of Kentucky, said the Know Nothing organization must legitimately result in murder and bloodshed. Mr. H. Marshall of Kentucky questioned this statement, defended the American party, and said there were a class of Catholics who hold the doctrine that in the last resort, the head of the Church of Rome has a moral right to determine what is right or wrong. Mr. Kelley of New York, denied the existence of such doctrine, and added "that the gentleman from Kentucky was stating what was not true."—The discussion was continued in this spirit for some time, and the House, without disposing of the matter in hand, went into Committee of the Whole, "for general debate only."

Rum Did It.—The editor of the Newburyport Herald, who not long since visited Mount Vernon,—in commenting on the selling of the land of Washington for $3000, and his bones for $197,000,(which is a fair statement of the actual terms of the sale of Mount Vernon,) says that John A. Washington, who owned the estate, is "a low, miserable, bloated fellow." Of course he must be—no decent sober man would "sell the bones of his fathers."

☞ Henry Ward Beecher is a capital judge of horses, and last year gave the annual address at the Springfield National Show. Last Wednesday when delivering an address at Amherst College, he took occasion to say: "In regard to animals, I attach great importance to the quality of the stock—but believe more in good stock in the house, than in the barn."

The Witness.—We have received from New York the first number of an elegantly printed new paper, called "The Witness, a weekly journal, devoted to Religion, Temperance, Free Labor, and the elevation of the masses." It contains a great variety of matter interesting to almost all classes of readers,—and so far as we see is free from matter of doubtful tendency. Among other things there is a new story by Mrs. C. W. Denison.

Swill Milk.—A communication from J. T. Hildreth was presented to the Common Council of Brooklyn, N. Y., Monday night, in which he requests that body to pass an ordinance making it a penal offence to sell, or expose for sale, swill milk, and also making it a misdemeanor to adulterate pure milk with chalk or any other substance.

☞ Ellis Gray Loring, a christian gentleman, lawyer and belles lettres scholar, died in Boston on Monday, aged 55, after a very short illness. He was an early friend of the cause of human freedom, and has left behind him the savor of a good name. The memory of the just is blessed.

Canada and the United States.—At a banquet in Kingston, C. W., recently, Dr. Mackay said: "I consider you have more liberty here than on the other side; your government cannot go on ruling the country against the wishes of the mass of the people, as the United States can."

☞ Hon. Lucien O'Brien Branch, of North Carolina, is appointed Chairman of the House Committee of Foreign Affairs, over Mr. Burlingame's head. It is a place of too much importance to be left in the hands of a Northern man.

☞ Rev. Augustus Pope, of Somerville, Mass., died on Monday, aged 29, much lamented.

Breaking up of Lotteries.—Mayor Tiemann of New York is dealing vigorous blows at the lottery policy and other swindling schemes which have their head quarters in the great metropolis. A few weeks ago he dispatched Sergeant Birney to Georgia, for the purpose of gaining information as to the legality of certain lotteries advertised to be under the protection of the laws of that State. With the assistance of Gov. Brown, and the Attorney General of Georgia, it was ascertained that the "Sparta Academy Lottery," at Augusta, Ga., "S. Swan & Co." proprietors, was entirely illegal, the act authorizing the "Sparta Academy Lottery" being obsolete, and its authorized managers being all dead. A special grand jury was summoned, and upon the evidence of Mr. Birney and two of the clerks of "Swan & Co.," an indictment was found against Sam'l Swan, Benj. Wood and George P. Eddy, owners of the lottery; Frederick P. Barker and Leon P. Duguas, commissioners, professing authority to draw; and James A. Eddy and Charles A. Lothrop, clerks. All the parties, except Wood and Eddy were immediately arrested and put under $10,000 bonds.—All the parties reside in Augusta, with the exception of Wood, who lives in New York. A requisition will probably be made for him.

The schemes advertised by this company represented that $2,000,000 in prizes were drawn every week. The clerks testified that the weekly receipts were $150,000. A great part of the business was done in New York, where offices are fitted up, and an immense amount of advertising is carried on. When Mr. Tiemann first began his crusade against the policy dealers, a card was published by "Swan & Co.," thanking him for his interference to suppress "bogus" lotteries. In the newspapers all over the country cards were inserted, warning people not to be caught by "bogus" concerns, but to invest their money in the "authorized" lottery of "Swan & Co."—Wood, whose profits last year, according to the books, amounted to $90,000, publishes a card saying that the "Sparta Academy Lottery" is legal, and that Mayor Tiemann in trying to suppress it is moved by political animosity to him.

In this connection it is stated that Sergeant Birney on his way home stopped a day at Washington, and got a letter from the Postmaster General to Postmaster Fowler, to send to the dead letter office all letters known to be sent to assumed names, and for the purpose of swindling. On Friday morning about seven hundred letters were detained at the post office, addressed to Doctors Wallace, Morton, James (the "sands of life" man) Monet, LeBrun, Dutton, Tracy, De la Rome, and Professor James T. Horn—all said to be assumed names. Mr. Birney is on the track of other lottery swindlers, one in Albany now claiming his particular attention.

The Georgia Lottery Question.—Augusta, Ga. May 22.—It is understood here that the formal presentment against the Swan Lottery Company was merely to test the legality of their lottery charter. The bail given by the parties arrested was nominal, and the business continues as usual.

Is it possible that the lottery schemes so boldly advertized by "Samuel Swan & Co." as "authorized by the state of Georgia," are bogus? It appears so, and that Georgia allowed such an open abuse of its good name to be perpetrated without exposure of the fraud!—Boston Post.

Exeter, N. H., May 25, 1858.

Editors of the Chronicle:—We are authorized by Messrs. B. & M., whose names appeared in an article in yesterday's edition of the Morning Chronicle, over the signature of "Exeter," to deny the truth of that interesting fabrication, which evinced so great imaginative powers on the part of your veracious (?) correspondent. The only true point is that such letters were sent—and we think a person who will help originate such a plot, and even write the letter to Mr. B., and then, for fear of consequences, give the note to some one else to copy, and betray his fellow-plotters, should lay aside his pen as soon as possible, and bear in mind the old adage, "People who live in glass houses should not throw stones." We can inform "Exeter" that his veracity will hereafter be strongly questioned by Justice.

Searching by the English.—Sch. Marcia Tribou, (of Bucksport) Captain Bray, from Sagua la Grand 9th inst., has arrived at Boston. Captain Bray reports that while at anchor in Sagua, his vessel was boarded by a British naval officer, who requested to see the schooner's papers, and made several inquiries about her destination, equipment, &c. and then left. There was nothing offensive in his manner, and Captain Bray makes no complaint.

We learn by telegraph from New Orleans, that ship John and Albert, Capt. Crowell, from Genoa, arrived at New Orleans, reports having been fired into five times on the 17th inst., between Florida and Cuba, by a British war steamer, whose name was not given.

From Kansas.—St. Louis, May 24.—A despatch dated Leavenworth, 22d, says Doniphan County gives about 450 majority for the Leavenworth Constitution. In several precincts the polls were not opened, and not half the vote of the county was polled.

The Democrat, of this city, publishes a letter from Mr. Walden, of the Quindaro Chindowan, estimating the vote of the Territory at 6000 for, and 1500 against the Constitution. The vote on State officers and Constitution is quite small!

A daring robbery had been committed by a party of U. S. soldiers upon Antoine Lindarol, 5 miles below Albuquerque; $3000 in specie, $1000 worth of plate, and bonds and papers to the amount of $60,000 burned. One of the robbers has been arrested.

☞ HIS LAST AND BEST STORY. ☜

FOR SALE BY ALL NEWS DEALERS IN THE UNITED STATES AND BRITISH PROVINCES.

This is a story descriptive of Wild and Startling Adventure, and of the primitive modes of life, among the Indians and Trappers of the Great Northwestern Territory. This grand and extensive portion of the American Continent has been hitherto almost as sealed book to the civilized world. In those regions a territory nearly as large as Europe has long been locked up in the monopoly of the great Hudson's Bay Company, and its rival, the Northwestern Co. Private enterprise has not penetrated its solitudes, and of those whose duties have called them there, and who have participated in the treasures of this unknown land, none have hitherto been willing to expose its mysteries or have possessed the power of portraying the perilous and strange vicissitudes, through which they have passed. Here we find classes of men, distinct, indigenous to the soil, or moulded by its peculiarities: perfectly original in character, utterly unlike in manners and habits to any similar order in other lands.—The Indian, in all his natural wildness; the half-breed, a strange mixture daring, simplicity and cunning; the Trapper, who spurns the restraints of civilization, and recognizes no law but the fierce impulse of his own will; the European Exile or Outcast; the Outlaw of Canada and the United States, who seek in the trackless wilderness a refuge from the outraged laws of civilized life.

Nor is this rude society denied the genial influences and humanizing effects of woman's presence. Impelled by affection, hundreds of devoted women have accompanied these adventurous out casts to this wild retreat; while the population, the offspring of mixed races, contains thousands of half-breed females, in whom the passions, the graces, and the virtues of the softer sex, are blended with the artlessness of nature, and the wild freedom of a life that knows no conventionalities.

In these reckless men the great rival Companies find willing agents and unscrupulous tools; and engaged in their service, but few ever return, or care to return, to society. Among these people are enacted deeds of rude chivalry, as brilliant, and daring as any recorded of the chivalric ages. And among them also are committed tragedies and crimes of wild passions, that can find no parallel in history, or scarcely in fiction. Living, absolutely without law, and without protection, every man is, perforce, a law unto himself, and the rifle and the tomahawk are the only tribunals.

Here is a glorious field for a novelist whose experience and talent fit him for the task of depicting its events, such a man is the author of NICK WHIFFLES; and in this story we venture to say that he has surpassed every former effort. For fidelity to nature, for graphic and dramatic force of style, and for keen delineation of character, there are few stories in the language that can compare with 'NICK WHIFFLES.' The author brings before the reader, in life like fiction, the hardy Adventurers and the simple Native of this magnificent region. The crime, the wrongs, the misfortunes and the unsophisticated virtues of the illiterate, alternately arouse our indignation and awaken our sympathy. At one time we are rapt in admiration of the reckless courage and romantic daring so vividly painted by this skillful writer, at another we are melted to tears by the exquisite pathos with which some of the noblest traits of human nature are brought before us, and again we are convulsed with laughter by humorous descriptions of eccentric and original characters—the unique offspring of a free, lawless and untrammelled mode of existence: a phase of human nature hitherto unknown, for want of a historian.

Those who have read the previous productions from the pen of Dr. Robinson, do not require to be told that there is no man now living who can compete with him in a story of this character. He stands unrivalled in this class of literature. As one of the leading contributors for Flag of Our Union, and other leading publications of the day, for a number of years, he has acquired a popularity that places him in the front rank of American story writers.

☞ Those who desire to secure this great Story by Dr. ROBINSON, complete, should send in their orders at once, to enable us to make arrangements to supply them. Wherever there is a News-Agent order through him. We only desire to send the WEEKLY by mail to out-of-the way places, where there is no News-Dealer. TO THE PUBLIC.

THE extraordinary course pursued by the rival managers of different Lotteries to injure us because our liberal schemes and prompt manner of doing business has materially affected them, compels us to call special attention to the facts, which all who deal with us know already; that is, that our Lotteries are legal; the managers and trustees honest and honorable men; that we have sold more prizes in the last twelve months than all other Lotteries in the Union; and that they have been promptly cashed in all cases on presentation.

The effort to injure us is aimed not only at our business by our rivals, but is also intended to act politically on one of our partners; and we assure our friends and public that WITH OUR CONCERN ALL IS RIGHT, and this the legal investigation which we shall urge to a hearing will fully demonstrate. In the meantime, our business will be conducted as usual.

Peruvian Syrup.—We made reference to this medicinal preparation last week in a quotation from our contemporary, the Puritan Recorder. That is not an ordinary compound or preparation, but embraces a discovery whereby an important principle in medical science is most successfully applied. This syrup is he co no common quack nostrum, and has properly nothing that allies it to the current empiricism of the day.—[Christian Watchman & Reflector, Sept. 17, 1857. m20 1w

THE NEW CUSTOM HOUSE.

The Corner Stone of the Building now in course of erection in this city, for a Post Office, Custom House, and United States Court Rooms, is to be laid, with Masonic Ceremonies, by the Most Worthy Grand Lodge of New Hampshire, this day, at noon. The "corner stone" is always on the north-east corner of the building.

The Order of Exercises will be as follows:

1. Hymn. Music, Auld Lang Syne.
2. Great Architect of earth and heaven,
   By time nor space confined,
   Enlarge our love to comprehend
   Our Brethren—all mankind.
   Where'er we are, whate'er we do,
   Thy presence let us own;
   Thine Eye, all-seeing, marks our deeds,
   To Thee all thoughts are known.
3. While nature's works and science's laws
   We labor to reveal,
   O! be our duty done to Thee,
   With fervency and zeal.
4. With Faith our guide, and humble Hope,
   Warm Charity and Love,
   May all at last be raised to share
   Thy perfect Light above.
5. Prayer.
6. Laying the Stone.
7. Delivery of the Working Tools to the Architect.
8. Address.
9. Ode. Music, Greenville.

Placed in form, the corner-stone,
True and trusty, brothers, own,
Come and bring, in thought sincere,
Hands to help and hearts to cheer.
Marked with love the Master's will,
Kindly proved the work of skill,
Beauteous forms in grace shall rise
'Neath the arch of favoring skies.

Join we now an offering true,
While our homage we renew;
Bear to Him, whose praise we sing,
Thanks that from each bosom spring.
When on earth our work is o'er,
Be a dearer life in store;
Each in form, in heart upright,
Taught by Truth's unerring light.

8. Benediction.

The building is to be of hammered granite, brick and iron—and entirely fire-proof throughout, as all state and city structures should be. The location is admirable—being central, roomy, and having a street on all sides; and the building will be a great ornament to the city and State. The lot is 82 feet (on State and Church streets) by 152 feet (on Pleasant and Warren streets.) The building will be 85 feet by 60, and 60 feet in height—about 20 feet higher than the new Rockingham Bank, opposite. And it is proposed to surmount it with an observatory, which will carry it still higher. This will leave ample room in the lot all around the building which will probably be enclosed with an iron fence.

The building is to be of three stories—finishing up four stories on the ends. Under the whole is a fine cellar. The first or lower floor is to be occupied for the Post House, the second for the Custom House, and the third for the United States Courts, with jury rooms above.

The Superintendent of Construction designs to erect the outside of the building, and get the roof on, this season; but it will probably take till nearly 1860, to entirely finish the work, and fit the building for occupancy.

The sum of $88,000 was originally appropriated for the erection of this building, exclusive of land and the pay of the Superintendent, &c. It is estimated that the building itself will cost $120,000, and perhaps $10,000 more for an observatory, if one is added. The lot cost $19,000, and the Drain through or under State street, about $6,000. An appropriation of $50,000 is now before Congress, and will probably be made.

It was intended to have this building put up by contract; but after being much bothered by inefficient contractors and overseers, the Government wisely concluded to take the matter into their own hands,—and Albert Blaisdell, Esq., was employed as Superintendent of the work. At this announcement, our citizens generally experienced a feeling of relief, that the shiftless operations which had been carried on were ended and the work begun in earnest.

Mr. Blaisdell has, during the last ten years, executed contracts for our Government, to the amount of over two millions of dollars ($2,000,000); and the confidence reposed in his ability and integrity, is evinced by the fact that he was solicited by Government to take charge of this work. As a marked instance of what industry and perseverance has done and will do for a man who commenced life without wealth or influential friends, we take pleasure in publishing the following statement of Mr. Blaisdell's public works,—which information has been furnished us at our request. After building several stores and blocks in Boston, and elsewhere,—among which was that inscribed "Franklin's Birthplace"—he contracted for and finished the Medical College, Boston; East Cambridge Court House; Light House on Metinicus Rock, in Maine; Eastport Custom House; Portland Reform School; Bangor Custom House; Chelsea Marine Hospital; and Custom House at Plattsburgh, N. Y. Besides this, he has built several bridges, stores, houses, &c., and thinks he has done about his share of work.

Mr. Blaisdell has a very fine residence in the beautiful town of Greenland, a few miles from this city; and has the good taste to spend as much of his time as possible, in the open country and fresh air. He, with a former partner, have just built a couple of splendid houses in Boston, of Philadelphia brick and furnish—a novelty in Boston.

Mr. Oliver Trefethen, who has been with Mr. Blaisdell for fourteen years, is foreman of the work on which he is now employed.

Masonic Notice.—The several subordinate Lodges will assemble in Jefferson Hall, and the Grand Lodge in Masonic Hall, on Wednesday, the 26th inst., at 10 o'clock A. M., or on the arrival of the cars.

The procession will be formed at 1-2 past 11 o'clock, and proceed to the site of the Custom House, through Congress, Islington, Cabot, Middle and State streets.

After the ceremonies, the procession will again form and return through Pleasant, Washington, State, Chapel, Daniel and Congress streets to Masonic Hall, thence through Fleet, State and Pleasant streets, to Jefferson Hall, when it will be dismissed. Per order.

☞ As we editors and printers are going to help celebrate the Laying of the Corner Stone of the New Custom House, to-day,—there will be no Daily Chronicle issued on Thursday morning.

☞ It is probable that Reporters for Boston papers, and perhaps others, will be in the city to-day, to "see the sight" and make such report as the occasion may warrant. All gentlemen connected with the press, are invited to make their (literary) headquarters, at the Chronicle Counting Room, where they will find plenty of room, and ample accommodations for writing.

☞ Rev. Mr. Hall will deliver the Lecture before the Mutual Improvement Temperance Society, this (Wednesday) at 1-4 to 8, in Academy Hall.

Charles Powell, of Portsmouth, N. H., fell from the maintop on deck and broke one of the small bones of his arm, and otherwise injured himself; James Nickerson, of Portsmouth, a seaman, accidentally shot himself at Jacksonville. Both the above seamen belonged to the brig Birchard & Torrey, of Boston, which arrived at New York 21st inst. from Jacksonville.—Boston Post.

Washington, May 24.—The report of the Tariff Investigating Committee was adopted to-day, and will be submitted to the consideration of the House Wednesday or Thursday. The report, after showing that John W. Wolcott was sent to Washington, authorized to pledge any amount of money and use any means to secure a change in the tariff, proceeds to state in detail the sums paid for this purpose, and the persons to whom such sums were paid. These sums amount to about $17,000 only. The balance of the $87,000 is not traced beyond Mr. Wolcott's pocket. It appears from the testimony of Mr. Slade that an additional sum of $13,000 was received and disbursed by Lawrence, Stone & Co., but how was not ascertained. The Committee express the strongest censure of Mr. Wolcott, and also on Mr. Corbin, ex-clerk of the Committee on Claims, and seriously impeached their testimony.

Worcester, May 25.—The jury in the case of Henry D. Stone, arrested for forgery, this morning brought in a verdict of not guilty. He is still held on a civil process for debts amounting to $70,000, being unable to find bail double the amount.

Dr. J. H. Robinson, the great story writer, as will be seen by an advertisement in another column, is writing a story for the New York Weekly, under the title of "Nick Whiffles, or the Trapper's Guide," which cannot fail to create an extraordinary demand for that already popular paper. The field chosen by the author is one of the most interesting that could have been selected. The whole history of the North-west is one great Romance, which in the hands of a man like Dr. Robinson cannot fail to attract the universal attention of the reading world. In the particular line he has chosen, Dr. Robinson has no rival in the world of letters, and we should judge from the fact that the proprietor of the Weekly has secured his exclusive services, in addition to such writers as Francis S. Smith, Mrs. Mary C. Vaughan, Helen Forest Graves, James A. Maitland, Augustine J. H. A. Duganne, ect., that he means to make a bold push for the tallest kind of circulation. Com.

Wolfe's Celebrated Scheidam Aromatic
SCHNAPPS.
This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.
Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts., and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

MOSES & DOWNIE,

SOLE Agents for the above Goods, have on hand a large Stock of the same, suitable for shore and sea wear

These fabrics, since their first introduction to the public, (almost three years since,) have been fully tested, and the result has proved them to possess all the qualities requisite to make a perfect article. They have on hand numerous testimonials from gentlemen in the navy and merchant service, which they would be pleased to show any one who would favor them with a call. They have been supplying some of the officers of the Falmouth, who have tested the Rubber goods, and found them audit for sea service.

Nos. 33 & 37 Market Street.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, and most efficacious we can afford. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and river, — health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give to some patient who has been prostrated with billious complaint: see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown unscathed from them; see the eye that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with linitments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; waste of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again — the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its worn, pallid features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the PILLS in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day.

Have you the less serious symptoms of these diseases, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sickness, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints all arise from the derangements which these PILLS rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old — they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box — 5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness by its wonderful power. Life and enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was laden with it, whisper of it to all but him. Consumption. He tries every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the CHERRY PECTORAL now; it has stripped his cough of its power to harass him; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to show forth the virtues of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL as unprincipled renown. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The countless colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Bronchitis, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution, gratis, and for sale these remedies, prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

NEW ENGLAND STATES

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, horrendous as it is, has been a hideous unsightly wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being last dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for is Wood's Restorative the thing such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the finest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hinckinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, where we may make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, feeling convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard of the article prepared by you, to attempt its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

Use Philbrick's Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of anything that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a Box containing 144 squares, 1 square being sufficient to kindle a fire, varying from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 6 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or climate. They are safe, being composed of a saturated fabric to spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with use of shaving and paper, thus removing a great risk of fire from buildings, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.

DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle wood or charcoal fire.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are fast fading away, and WHEREAS, the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the credulity of the fair, BE IT KNOWN THEREFORE, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that DR. CHEESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS are ALONE the certain panacea for all the ills incident to female disorganization; they ALONE correcting all painful menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, disturbed sleep, pain in the side, and counteracting hysterics and dropsies to whole sex; more especially to the MARRIED PORTION, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral's, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and wholly unlike other medicines thrust upon the public, by reason of their obvious effects already detailed. THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS or DR. CHEESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, when DISAPPOINTMENT has been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread amongst them, to their own everlasting benefit—always promising that said Proclamation in one case must be considered NULL and VOID; that is to say the PILLS MUST NOT be taken when any female is in an INTERESTING SITUATION, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

For washing side-walks, also, and windows, and for the extinguishment of fires, it presents additional claims; and rightly understood, may be regarded as a most indispensable article of usefulness and security. —We must reverse
The plan of ages. Let the body sweet,
So that the soul be clothed, shall it work?
Say, had I spent the pith of half my life,
And made me master of our English law,
What gain had I on resurrection morn,
But such as hath the body of a clown.
That it could turn a summerset on earth?
A single soul is richer than a worlds;
Its acts are only shadows of itself,
And oft its wondrous wealth is all unknown.
'Tis like a mountain range, whose rugged sides
Feed starveling flocks of sheep; peirce the bare sides
And they ooze plenteous gold. We must go down
And work our souls like mines, make books our lamps,
Work in our heads, or heed the world.
—[Smith.

BENEFITS OF AFFLICTION.

The path of sorrow, and that path alone,
Leads to the land where sorrow is unknown;
No traveller ever reached that blessed abode,
Who found not thorns and briars on the road.
The World may dance along the flowery plain,
Cheered as they go by many a sprightly strain;
Where Nature has her mossy velvet spread,
With unshod feet they yet securely tread,
Admonished, scorn the caution and the friend,
Bent on all pleasure, heedless of its end.
But He, who knew what human hearts would prove,
How slow to learn the dictates of his love,
That, hard by nature and of stubborn will,
A life of ease would make them harder still,
In pity to the souls his grace designed
To raise from death in sin of mankind,
Called for a cloud to darken all their years,
And said, "Go spend them in the vale of tears."
—[Cowper.

GOD.

—God is love;
He yet shall wipe away Creation's tears,
And all the world shall summer in his smile.

Yesterday we received a brief visit in our sanctum from Hon. PARKER SHELDON, formerly Collector of this port, and now of Gardiner. Mr. S. has suffered much in his physical powers, his eyesight and speech being greatly impaired, and his whole frame being very feeble. But the same genial spirit, the same pleasant countenance and the same warm heart that we knew years gone by, remain with him to case him down the declivity of life, and to render his last days a benediction to all who come near him. May God, in whose ample mercy he has ever trusted, be to him more than a Father, and finally convey him to his final rest with more tenderness than a mother can exhibit over the couch of her sleeping infant.—Bath (Me.) Organ.

THE PRICE OF THE COMING WOOL CLIP.—The Ohio Cultivator for May 1st, thus speaks of the coming wool clip:

"The wool buyers approach their work very cautiously, and we presume prices will open eight or ten cents lower than the ruling rates of last year. Many of the manufacturers need to buy on time, on account of the difficulty of negotiating their paper in banks for cash, as formerly."

A MAN KILLED WHILE ENGAGED IN SUPPRESSING A NUISANCE.—The citizens of Auburn, Geauga County, Ohio, turned out on Saturday night last, for the purpose of tearing down a house which was occupied by women of ill-repute. While engaged in this work, a pistol was fired from the house, and Mr. Tyrus Caning was shot in the abdomen. He died almost instantly. Two women and three men who were in the house were arrested.

Judge Shaw's decision is accepted as good law by some of the Hoosier courts.—Mary Myers demolished the contents of a couple of "groceries" in Johnson county. A prosecution was entered and she was fined one cent and costs. Isaacs, who kept one of the nuisances, and resisted her summary execution, was fined twenty dollars!

THE ROMAN CHURCH ON DANCING.—It has been generally supposed that Puritans and Methodists were the only religionists who oppose dancing. It appears, however, that they have a powerful ally in this record, in the Roman Church. This appears from the following advertisement of a book against dancing, which we copy from the Boston Pilot of May 22. Mr. Donahoe will please send us the book.

A SEASONABLE BOOK.

BALLS AND DANCING PARTIES CONDEMNED BY THE SCRIPTURES, HOLY FATHERS, HOLY COUNCILS, AND MOST RENOWNED THEOLOGIANS OF THE CHURCH.—Advice to young persons regarding them. From the French of ABBE HULOT. Boston: Published by PATRICK DONAHOE.

What guards the purity of melting maids
Courtly balls and midnight masquerades,
Safe from the treacherous friend, the daring spark,
The glance by day, the whisper in the dark,
When kind occasion prompts their warm desires,
When music softens, and when dancing fires?
POPE.

Contents.—General Considerations on Dancing.—Dancing condemned by the Holy Scriptures.—Dancing condemned by the Holy Fathers and Doctors of the Church. Dancing condemned by the Holy Councils. Dancing condemned by the Bishops and Theologians of the Church.—St. Francis de Sales unfavorable to Dances.—Superiors forbid id Dances should be obeyed.—Dances of Public Dances.—Dangers of Private Dances: circumstances rendering them dangerous.—Custom cannot justify dances.—Dances forbidden at nuptials.—It is forbidden to be present at Dances.—Dances are more dangerous than Worldly Societies.—Delusion of those who think they do not sin at Dances.—Pastors ought to oppose Dancing.—Precautions with which a Pastor ought to speak against Dancing.—Parents ought to hinder their children from going to Dances.—Masters and Mistresses ought to hinder their Servants from going to Dances.—Dances do not give a Young Woman a chance to be sooner married.—Conclusion.

HOW IT WAS DONE.—The Congregationalist Journal says, in speaking of the Tract Society's vote in New York:

The Tract House has furnished a statement for publication in the papers, which gives the number of votes cast on the test question at the meeting, and the sections to which they belonged. The whole number cast was 1,337, of which 643 were from the cities of New York and Brooklyn, which 538 were laymen, 259 from New England, 184 from New York State, and 11 from all other States. The whole number of votes on Dr. Tyng's motion to confirm the resolutions of the Society last year, was 345 in favor and 982 against it. Subjecting the votes from New York and Brooklyn, there were four majority against it.

Had this statement informed us that there were very few from New England in the meeting, except from the State of Connecticut, which belongs to the New York Tract Society,—that there were many young men and minors there from the city, who were made Life Members for the occasion, and that there was a large representation of pastors from the pro-slavery element of the U. S. Presbyterian, Episcopalian and Dutch Reformed churches, it would have shown that the vote of the Society did not represent Northern sentiment, and that the victory achieved was like that of Bunker Hill.

THE BIBLE IN SCHOOLS.—Judge Whiting has addressed a letter to the Governor of New York, recommending that the punishment of O'Connell, convicted of murder, be commuted. In the letter he says:

"The convict is a youth, as near as I could judge, about sixteen; his life a forfeit of the law; a victim of bad habits and want of early moral training—if ever an inmate of one of our common schools, one from which the Bible, the best school book of all, is placed in the hands of children, was doubtfully ruthlessly ejected.

"The idea that simply to educate the head, and to neglect the heart, is the duty of the State, is to my mind the greatest error of the age. The Bible is the hand book which points out the path, the straight and narrow way, which leads to life, and is rejected to by all religionists following after the Saviour. Why should it be rejected if used without note or comment? Excuse me, Sir, this digression does not belong to the letter, and I trust your Excellency will excuse it. My heart bleeds for not only my poor lad, but for hundreds I see around me every day, following in his footsteps, and for the goodness of an unseen arm, rather than the moral training of the State or the home, restrains."

THE SOUTHERN CONVENTION.—The Southern Convention, pleasantly designated as "commercial," expired quietly a week ago at Montgomery—talked itself out. Disunion and the slave trade were the chief topics of the dreamy debates. Nothing, however, as usual, was definitely resolved upon. Even a resolution declaring it expedient for the South to have another convention to consider the peculiarities of her present situation, was voted down by 33 1-2 to 29 1-2—somebody or some delegation being divided, or equally indifferent to the two sides of the question.

AS A SPRING MEDICINE
MYERS' EXTRACT ROCK ROSE is invaluable. It changes the vicious humors, opens the pores of the skin, promotes insensible perspiration, thereby purifying the blood and invigorating the system. A free use of this medicine, in the spring months, will not only cure all diseases caused by impurities of the blood, but will beget a healthy action and prepare the system to resist the attacks of fevers, derangement of the bowels, &c., so prevalent in the summer season.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st. opps. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but throughout the Union, and advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, MAY 28, 1858.

☞The American Tract Society, at Boston, finished their debate and chose their officers on Tuesday afternoon. The Boston Courier sums up the result in these words:

The Tract Society have stolen Mr. Garrison's thunder, and the Abolitionists triumphed; electing their officers and directing their Executive Committee to "pay over no money to the American Tract Society at New York, except for publications."

We think Mr. Garrison will not own "the thunder," for the resolutions and the action were a mild compromise of the most practical character.

Messrs. Lunt and Reynolds made south-side speeches,—and finally, as per the Traveller's report,—

The resolutions offered by Mr. Hubbard were agreed to without much opposition, except the one which declared an immediate separation. This was so amended as to leave the subject to the Executive Committee, who are to report next year.

The resolutions adopted express a decided opinion as to the Slavery controversy, in opposition to the action at the New York meeting, and they declare the purpose of the Society to carry out the principles laid down by the Committee of Fifteen last year.

No important change was made in the officers of the Society, except that Rev. Mr. Bliss, the Secretary, was superseded by Rev. J. W. Alvord, who has held the office of District Secretary. Mr. Bliss has been Secretary of the Society ever since 1833. We presume that the cause of his removal is, mainly, if not entirely, his course in relation to Slavery controversy in the Society, he having taken the "Conservative" side, and having written a pamphlet advocating the view which prevailed at the New York meeting, but which proves to be unpopular with the New England branch.

We consider the result a virtual revival of the New England Tract Society.

Rev. Mr. Thurston of Maine moved the Executive Committee be instructed to pay no moneys to the New York Society during the coming year, except for books and publications. This motion was agreed to.

Rev. Mr. Cushing of North Brookfield offered a preamble setting forth the history of the Tract Society, and closing thus:

And,—whereas, while we entertain great regard for the American Tract Society of New York, and respect the wisdom and foresight that have generally characterized its doings, yet we are persuaded that greater energy and efficiency can be imparted to the Tract system by a return to the original status of the Society.

Resolved, That the expediency of dissolving the connection be referred to the Executive Committee, to be now chosen, to report next year.

Resolved, That this Society will receive collections, donations, and legacies from all sections of this county, and will take charge of the supervision and disbursement of such funds by their own officers and agents in this and other countries.

Resolved, That the Executive Committee be, and they are hereby instructed to take immediate measures to procure from such sources as it may seem to them expedient, the necessary variety of pious and useful books and tracts, calculated to promote the objects for which this Society was incorporated, in sufficient quantities to supply demands of individuals and societies in different parts of this and other countries, believing that they can be obtained and sold at as cheap or cheaper rates than under the past organization.

☞ By a private letter from Brunswick we learn that another of the panels which have been left, six on either side, in the fine chapel at Bowdoin College, is to be filled immediately. Two of them have already been filled with paintings, representing Scriptural scenes; and the same artist, Mr. Muller, by whom these were painted, is now engaged on this. The painting represents the visit of the Magi to the infant Savior, a copy of one by Cornelius, a German artist. The gentleman who furnishes the means is a graduate of Bowdoin, and, although now a resident of a distant State, is not forgetful of his old love for his Alma Mater, but marks his remembrance of her in an enduring manner. His name he prefers should not be made public.

☞ The Albany correspondent of the Boston Atlas says of the New York State election:—"Every indication favors the idea that we shall carry this State by 100,000 majority. The position of the Republicans upon the Crittenden amendment has conciliated the Americans, while the general support given by us to the Registry law, has united us on the only point of difference in State politics."

The last words of the Old Testament are a fearful threatening: "Lest I come and smite the earth with a curse."

The last words of the New Testament are a benediction: "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen."

A favorite mode of introducing a man in Brazil is said to be, "This is my friend; if he steals anything from you, I am responsible for it." We could wish that this usage might be incorporated among the Rules of Good Society at Washington.—N. Y. Post.

HEAR BOTH SIDES.

We often give the views which temperance men take of the liquor trade. Now we copy below, from the Boston Traveller, a report of the speeches and proceedings in a Liquor Dealer's Association, held on Monday evening.

Agreeable to adjournment from Thursday evening last, a meeting of the liquor dealers of Boston was held at Constitution Hall, Sudbury street, on Monday evening, to listen to a report from a committee of conference with the committee previously appointed to consider the matter of a new constitution and by-laws. The meeting was called at 7 1-2, but was not called to order till near an hour later, at which time there were several hundred in attendance.

Hazen J. Burton, Esq., Chairman of the last meeting, called the meeting to order and presided. In opening the exercises he said they did not come together with the spirit of a mob, but with the feelings of those who knew their rights had been trampled on. It was not necessary for him to speak of laws in Massachusetts inconsistent with laws of the United States.—They did not come with violent intentions of promoting drunkenness or any other crime. Some of them were temperance men of many years' standing.

They had a perfect right to organize for the defence of their business, so long as men could be hired to perambulate our streets in a besotted state, for the purpose of obtaining evidence against those engaged in their legal business—so long as jury lists could be tampered with, and 10,000 peaceable citizens outlawed and consigned to a felon's fate. The liquor dealers have hitherto been obliged to contend for their rights by individual effort, while the law has the strong arm of the Commonwealth to sustain it.

He referred to the history of nations, and said this nation had been entrusted with freedom to see how much a nation could acquire. Still there were laws here that would disgrace the darkest days of barbarism.

They sent men to the Legislature to make laws for them, and it seemed as though they would treat them as imbeciles. The Creator has implanted in the human breast a spark which may be fanned into a gentle blaze, or blown into a raging flame.

At the last meeting a committee had been appointed to secure from competent authorities a charter for an association similar to the old one. That charter had been granted, but its particulars could not be made known at the meeting, as the name it was to be acted under was not to be known to all the world. The secrets of the association were for the general good. The principles of the new constitution were similar to the old one, only very much abbreviated and condensed.

He then announced that a committee had been appointed, consisting of F. D. Burns, proprietor of the Mansion House; William Stone, proprietor of the Stackpole House; Henry Dooley, of Dooley's Hotel; A. E. Breed, 5 and 7 Eastern avenue; Charles Portlock, 2 Norfolk avenue; and John G. Chandler, Secretary of the meeting, to take the names of such as wished to become members of the new association.

Mr. Burns, of the committee, was then introduced. The old association, he said, he had nothing to do with. He was not then in the business, and would not say he was now. He would briefly express his opinion of Judge Shaw's decision.—Judge Shaw was a sound, just man, as he had always believed. He had always been a sound jurist, and they must not be deceived. He had not said the law was constitutional, but only told what the law meant. If a man should attempt to break into a man's house, to destroy his property, and the owner should knock him down, he believed Judge Shaw would rule that a man's house was his castle. He believed these men who had been destroying property would have to pay for it. He would not counsel resistance to an officer armed with a warrant, but if any mob attempted to destroy his property he would tell them they would only do it over his dead body. He believed the head of the police of Boston meant right to all. He had been an officer himself, and knew the trouble incident to the profession.

It was the country fanatics who made these disgusting laws. The city this week was full of these men, who come here and enjoy the privileges which are bought by the taxes of Boston citizens, and then they inflict outrageous laws upon us in return.

Loud calls were made for Mr. Perrin, but he did not speak; and as no speaker volunteered to address the meeting, the committee appointed for the purpose occupied the time in receiving the names of those who wished to become members.

Mr. Wm. H. Perrin subsequently came forward and addressed the meeting. He had been for some days troubled with the rheumatism—"rum-atism," suggested a person in the crowd, to which modification the speaker assented—and had got cold while attending to the business of the society. If he was agoing with the association, there had got to be some radical change. He wanted new men to manage the affairs, and the new men to have the credit of it; he wanted to have a class of men in the association with whom they could shake hands in the street, and not feel to blush. He did not want to have the ranks filled with keepers of houses of prostitution, and others whose acquaintance would cause the blush of shame to rise on the cheek of a respectable liquor dealer. He alluded to the general subject of nuisances, and claimed that there was a great inconsistency in its operation. He believed Judge Shaw the greatest lawyer in New England; he had great respect for him and his opinion; but he would not say that he was right or that he was wrong.

Soon after the close of his remarks the meeting adjourned sine die.

The Charlestown Advertiser gives the following account of the meeting.

The Retail Liquor Dealers of Boston, held a meeting in Boston, Thursday evening to take measures to protect themselves and the trade against the nuisance act. The hall of conference was provided with an amply stocked liquor bar, and during the progress of the meeting, those who were incapable of adding intellectual strength and spirit to its deliberations, were favored with an opportunity to aid and abet the trade direct. Those present, to the number of about three hundred, were admitted by ticket. At the opening of the meeting a vote was almost unanimously passed to eject two reporters who were present, but the vote was subsequently reconsidered. The meeting after various speeches, raised a committee to draft rules and regulations for a new liquor dealers' association, and then adjourned.—Lovejoy, the Reverend great gun of all their deliberations, was not present, and it is supposed that he is engaged in revising a political sermon at the Bite Tavern.

NEW COMMENTARY ON THE BIBLE. — In the General Assembly of the Old School Presbyterian church, at New Orleans, on the 13th inst., Rev. Dr. Breckenridge introduced a plan for a Presbyterian commentary on the Holy Scriptures, which, after discussion, was referred to the next Assembly. The plan contemplated the selection of five of its members by each General Synod of the church, and four by the Board of Publication, to perform the work. For a compensation, they and their heirs to receive for the term of twenty-eight years a per centum on the price of the work sold.

Those who wish to see the sun go backward, would do well to read the forthcoming commentary. Barnes, Scott, and Henry will be counted too modern and fanatical.

HAYTI AND THE GUANO ISLANDS.—The Evening Post has a letter from Port au Prince stating that the Haytien government had dispatched a man-of-war to the Island of Navaya, where several American vessels are loading guano. Hayti claims the Island as laying within her jurisdiction.

The New England Farmer for this week has an article by the editor, ex-Lt. Gov. Brown, proving that one quarter part of all that is sold for milk in Boston is water. It is admitted that the milk generally comes pure from the country.

SPIRIT AND LIFE.

The religion of the Savior of man is very simple and easy to be understood by all who are willing to consult his word and seek man's greatest happiness.

It would be singular if the being who made the world with all it contains, and man with all he contains, would not give the best instructions to man; and if those instructions were not such as would impart to man the greatest amount of happiness.

For God made nothing but what he pronounced good, and gave all into the hands of man during his probationary state, with the rational command that man should not forget the giver, and make an idol of the gift.

God made man with two parts—one part to be supplied with what God has furnished, with the injunction of man's being diligent in business; the other part of man can only be satisfied by spiritual life. God being a spirit, that part of man, being in the image of God, can only have its wants supplied with spiritual food. He who worships God must worship him in spirit and in truth.

Since the fall of man, he can only be restored by regeneration. Ye must be born again in order to enter the kingdom of heaven. M. K.

SUTHERLAND'S VIEWS OF EGYPT, ARABIA AND THE HOLY LAND.—These magnificent views, consisting of accurate delineations of the Holy Land, were exhibited in Manchester, May 6. The audience was large and appreciative. These beautiful paintings form an exhibition of importance and amusement to all. No one who witnesses this splendid exhibition can fail to receive as much instruction as could be obtained by years of study.—Manchester Amer.

It will be seen that this exhibition is advertised at the Temple in this city, for this and to-morrow (Friday and Saturday) evenings.

THE ERIE RAILROAD WAR.—The Railroad war in Erie county, Pennsylvania, has commenced again,—a large number of citizens of Harbor Creek having turned out one day last week and forcibly removed the rails of the Buffalo and Erie railroad from all the highways in that vicinity.—The railroad company had commenced relaying the track, and further disturbance was anticipated.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.—Troy, N. Y., May 23.—George Reed, a saloon keeper, murdered his wife on Green Island, opposite this city, on Saturday night, by stabbing her with a dirk, and then stabbed himself several times, dying immediately. Reed was 25, and his wife eighteen years of age.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A CARD

—FROM—

SAMUEL SWAN & CO.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE extraordinary course pursued by the rival managers of different Lotteries to injure us because our liberal schemes and prompt manner of doing business has materially affected them, compels us to call special attention to the facts, which all who deal with us know already; that is, that our Lotteries are legal; the managers and trustees honest and honorable men; that we have sold more prizes in the last twelve months than all other Lotteries in the Union; and that they have been promptly cashed in all cases on presentation.

The effort to injure us is aimed not only at our business by our rivals, but is also intended to act politically on one of our partners; and we assure our friends and public that WITH OUR CONCERN ALL IS RIGHT, and this the legal investigation which we shall urge to a hearing will fully demonstrate. In the meantime, our business will be conducted as usual.

PERUVIAN SYRUP.—We made reference to this medicinal preparation last week in a quotation from our contemporary, the Puritan Recorder. That is not an ordinary compound or preparation, but embraces a discovery whereby an important principle in medical science is most successfully applied. This syrup is hence no common quack nostrum, and has properly nothing that allies it to the current empiricism of the day.—[Christian Watchman & Reflector, Sept. 17, 1857. m20 1w

CORNER STONE LAID.

The corner stone of the Custom House and Post Office building, now being erected in this city, was laid with the usual Masonic ceremonies, at noon on Wednesday, by the M. W. Grand Lodge of New Hampshire. The day was one of recreation for our citizens generally, and the streets presented quite a holiday appearance. There was not quite so large a gathering of Brothers of the Order from abroad as was expected by many, but the procession was long and showy.

M. W. P. Grand Master John Christie acted as chief marshal. The M. W. Grand Lodge of New Hampshire, St. John's Lodge No. 1, and St. Andrew's Lodge No. 2, of Portsmouth; and Star in the East Lodge, of Exeter, were in attendance in a body; and a large number of brethren from other Lodges, Divisions, and Chapters in Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

The Mayor and City Council received the visitors and joined in the procession. The Portsmouth Cornet Band furnished excellent music—but some of the people thought they were rather chary of it. The ceremonies of Laying the Corner Stone were performed according to the programme we published on Wednesday.

M. W. Grand Master George H. Hubbard, of Manchester, made a brief Address, pertinent to the occasion; and Rev. Jona. Hall, of this city, acted as Grand Chaplain.

The box deposited under the Corner Stone contained the following documents:

Last Report of the Free Mason's Lodges in the United States; New Hampshire Register; Portsmouth Directory; Declaration of Independence; Portsmouth newspapers; Catalogue, &c. of the Mercantile Library Association; Names of Architect, Builder, Workmen, &c.

A BAR ROOM BITE.—We understand that on Wednesday afternoon, when the day was far spent, two men who had been drinking got fighting in the bar room of the Piscataqua House; that the landlord, L. B. Lewis, interfered between the combatants; and that one of them, Thomas Dutton, turned upon Lewis, bit off the end of his nose, and inflicted other injuries. We learn that D. offered to give himself up to the Police, and that they did not arrest him, but took his promise to appear at the police court on Thursday to answer! On Thursday morning, however, he was among the missing.

TEMPERANCE NOTICE.

The Rockingham County Conference of Congregational and Presbyterian Churches will hold the next annual meeting with the church at Raymond, (Rev. D. B. Bradford's,) commencing on Tuesday, the 8th day of June next, at 10 o'clock A. M., and continuing two days.

As this will be a favorable time and place, the Rockingham County Temperance Committee will hold a meeting there on Wednesday morning, June 9, at the close of the morning prayer meeting.

And the several District and Town Committees, and the ministers of the several towns, are requested to bring or send particular statements of temperance efforts, of intemperance, &c., in their respective places.

T. H. MILLER,
Sec. of Co. Committee.

Portsmouth, May 27.

☞ Prominent among the distinguished Masonic visitors in this city on Wednesday, was B. P. Shillaber, Esq., of the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette—who took place in the ranks with his Brothers of the Grand Lodge. He says he always feels as if he had "got home," when he lands in old Portsmouth; and he can rest assured that there is a place reserved for him in the hearts of hosts of his old fellow citizens.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Steamship Africa from Liverpool 14th inst., arrived this morning. Her advices are three days later than previous received. She brings seventy passengers, and upwards of $100,000 in specie.

Breadstuffs dull and drooping.—Cotton unchanged.

The British House of Lords had rejected the resolutions censuring the Ministry, by a large majority. The debate is still pending in the Commons.

The Bombay mail of April 24th has been telegraphed. News unimportant.—The Commander-in-Chief was about starting for Rohilcund. The bulk of the army would remain at Lucknow. Trade was inactive, and money tight at Bombay.

The British government had granted a steamer as a tender on the frigate Niagara, in place of the Susquehannah.

☞ On Friday, Mr. Samuel Gibson of Hillsboro', was digging away a bank, when the top caved in and a rock weighing five hundred pounds struck him upon the head, causing instant death. He was 60 years old. Ballot.

CONGRESS.—On Tuesday, in the Senate, during the discussion of the $15,000,000 bill, Mr. Toombs, of Ga., made a war speech. Mr. Crittendon, too, said if the reports of British insults were true, and were not amply disclaimed by England, we ought to be ready for war with Great Britain. In the House of Representatives, also, the debates were of a warlike character,—and Buncomb eloquence was largely displayed. But the South does not wish for war with England, and we shall have none. We may build some more vessels, and spend some more money.

On Wednesday, the Senate passed the bill for the improvement of the harbor of Chicago, by a vote of 26 to 17. This was regarded as a test vote on the subject of internal improvements. A similar bill, to improve the harbor of Milwaukie, was also passed. The $15,000,000 loan bill was then taken up and passed, 28 to 14. The Senate then adjourned.

The House of Representatives rejected the fortification bill; Mr. Jones reported a $15,000,000 loan bill; the report of the select committee on the sale of Fort Snelling was postponed to Tuesday next; and the House went into committee of whole on the Naval Appropriation bill—which grants $13,150,000 for naval expenditures. The bill was debated and amended and then laid aside. The bill making appropriations for the support of the volunteer regiments was next taken up; but the committee rose without acting upon it, to report to the House that Mr. Bowie of Maryland was disorderly. The offending member having by this time retired from the hall, the House again resolved itself into committee, but did nothing.

ROXBURY, MASS.—At the request of at Mrs. Gordon, the keeper of a groggery at Roxbury Point, the Police on Saturday evening seized and carried away one barrel of "Old Medford" rum, one barrel of beer, one half-barrel of gin, four fifteen gallon kegs of Brandy, besides three ten gallon kegs, two jugs, two decanters, and four bottles of various intoxicating compounds. The reason given by the woman for the seizure was that she could not resist the temptation of drinking the liquor.—When the officer entered her house he found her in bed, with a ten gallon keg of liquor mounted on a chair at the head of the bed, beside which stood a tumbler.—Traveller.

☞ "The course of true love never did run smooth," is the title of a new poem by T. B. Aldrich,—just published by Rudd & Carleton, New York. We are indebted to our friend the author for a copy. It is written in oriental style, in which Mr. Aldrich is so well versed; the work is beautifully executed on tinted paper, and "illustrated" with various unintelligible eastern devices not unlike the inscriptions on a tea-chest. The metre in this book does not generally "run so smooth" as much else Mr. Aldrich has written, though there are many fine passages; nor will it add to the fame he has justly acquired as a poet. We hope more from the "collections of Poems" announced on the first page of this book, "to be published immediately by the author of this volume."

HOW TO KILL CROWS.—The killing of the crows is universally regarded we believe as a perfectly legitimate and proper business. His color and his habits are both prejudicial to him, and having no music in his soul, find none to plead his cause to save him from destruction. To be sure we have been told by some sentimental philathropist (like the Brooklyn Heights correspondent of the Journal, who nurses crippled caterpillars and wouldn't take the life of a dragon fly for the wealth of the state) that he is useful as a public scavenger, removing from the fields the offensive carcasses of dead animals; but his services in this line are too insignificant to palliate his marauding propensities, and in years past the state has placed the ban upon him and set a price upon his head. But to give the farmer a hint how to save his corn fields from the depredations of the crows is the purpose of this paragraph, and not an essay on the character and habits of the race. Mr. Cotton Garland of Newington writes us that on Saturday night last he placed on his land a half pint of corn which had been soaked 48 hours in half a pint of water with which two grains of strychnine had been mixed. The next morning he went out and found ten dead crows on the spot.—Ballot.

SOLE Agents for the above Goods, have on hand a large Stock of the same, suitable for shore and sea wear.

These fabrics, since their first introduction to the public, (almost three years since,) have been fully tested, and the manufacturers have proved them to possess all the qualities requisite to make a perfect article. They have on hand numerous testimonials from gentlemen in the navy and merchant service, which we would be pleased to show any one who would favor them with a call. They have been supplying some of the officers of the Falmouth, who have tested the Rubber goods, and found them unfit for sea service.

Nos. 33 & 37 Market Street.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which medical science can afford. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with all which the medical skill of the profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other preparations do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to control disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they renovate the fountains of life and vigor,—health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint; see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every quack nostrum which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the late leper that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with liniments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with stamina now, and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gnawing stomach has long ago eaten every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till there do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again;—the rose blossoms on her cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its wan, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the PILLS in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now turn again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day

Have you the less serious symptoms of these distempers, they are the easier cured. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sidesche, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints all arise from the derangements which these PILLS rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old—they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and usefulness, to sound health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. When a cold has settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately lusty and strong, whisper to all but him CONSUMPTION. He tries every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the CHERRY PECTORAL now; it has stopped his cough and made his breathing easy; his sleep is sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the CHERRY PECTORAL an imperishable renown. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The countless colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are speedily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protection from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darling lamb from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

THE RESTORATIVE OF FACE, O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a sure fact. Restoration! read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons I earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the finiest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

COCHECTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1858.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement. As I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

FRIEND O. J. WOOD & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected most completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRENCH.

Use Philbrick's Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of anything that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a box containing 144 squares, 1 square being sufficient to kindle a fire, burning from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 6 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or damp weather. They are so being composed of a substance not liable to spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with use of shavings, paper, &c., thereby avoiding great risk of fire from buildings, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.

DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or charcoal fire.

A PROCLAMATION TO THE LADIES.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are fast fading away, and WHEREAS the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the unwary and learned. BE IT KNOWN THEREFORE, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that DR. CRESSMAN'S FEMALE PILLS are a wonderful assurance for the troubles incident to female disorganization; they ALONE correcting all painful menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, disturbed sleep, pain in the side, and restoring health and happiness to whole sex; more especially to the MARRIED PORTION, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral's, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and widely unlike other medicines thrust upon the public, purporting to effect the objects already detailed. THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS or DR. CRESSMAN will accomplish the desired object, when DISAPPOINTMENT has been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will see by this Proclamation to spread amongst them, to their own everlasting benefit—always promising that said Proclamation in one case must be considered null and void; that is to say the PILLS never can be taken when any female is in an INTERESTING SITUATION, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

Explicit directions, to be carefully read, accompany each box. Price $1. Sent by mail on enclosing $1 to DR. CORNELIUS L. CRESSMAN, Box No. 4,231, Post Office, New York City. Sold by Druggists in every town in the United States.

Given under my hand and seal.

THESE engines can be moved and managed by one man for all the purposes of its intention, as easily as a wheel barrow, and will be found highly useful in not only supplying Gardens and Nurseries with regularsh wers in times of drought but also for showering Trees and Plants, and for the destruction of Worms, which may be made effectual by an admixture of Sulphur with the water. For washing side-walks, also, and windows, and for the extinguishment of fires, it presents additional claims; and rightly considered, may be regarded as a most indispensable article of unwillingness and security. THE ILLINOIS TORNADO.—The Galesburg Democrat gives a graphic account of the tornado and the destruction caused by it in that place. The day, Thursday, 13th, opened bright and beautiful; about noon it became cloudy, between 3 and 4 P. M., it began to rain moderately, but soon changed to a powerful shower of hail stones as large as small hens' eggs, breaking windows, branches of trees, and covering the ground for ten minutes:

"Nearly two-thirds of the windows in the city exposed to the drift of the storm were broken in. The storm subsided, and it was thought no more danger was to be feared. But suddenly the wind rose, and in a few minutes a perfect Pandemonium reigned without. So dense were the clouds that not a single object could be seen, but amid the roar of the elements and crashing of buildings, could be heard the cries of those who were being driven about the streets, pelted by the storm.

People seemed to be afraid to remain in their stores and dwellings, as there was danger every moment of being crushed by their fall, and yet to venture out seemed almost certain death."

As soon as the fury of the tempest had abated so as to make it all safe, the editor went out to view the wrecked buildings, which he describes. The first object which met his eye—

"Was the beautiful brick church edifice (Dr. Beecher's) on Broad street, a perfect mass of ruins. The wind had blown the steeple in upon the roof, and the weight had so crushed the roof and the sides that the building, as it remains, is a perfect wreck. The church was erected one year ago, and although not finished, had already cost about $15,000.

The rain fell in torrents, and nearly every house in Lexington was unroofed, and a number of them were blown down.

The passenger train from St. Louis was blown from the track, the cars tipped over, but, with the exception of a few slight flesh wounds, the passengers were uninjured. Before the train capsized, all the car windows in the windward side were blown out, the engineer and fireman were blown from the engine, and a brakeman was also blown from one of the cars.

Great damage was done at the junction of the Peoria and Oquawaka Roads with the St. Louis, Alton and Chicago Railroads. Both station houses were unroofed, five or six empty freight cars were blown from the track, dwelling houses were unroofed, moved bodily twenty or thirty feet, or entirely demolished.

Peoria.—The hurricane struck the city about 5 o'clock in the evening. In the twinkling of an eye, fifteen or twenty houses were unroofed, every church spire in the city blown down, three canal boats loaded with lumber were sunk, and the steamer Olin, with twenty-one passengers on board, made a complete wreck, her cabin being blown entirely away. And what seems truly miraculous, is the fact that but one life was lost in all this furious disorganization of matter and utter demolition of structures. It is said that a little child was lost from off the wrecked steamer. The lumber in the yards was blown all over the city, the gas lamps were all blown down, and the signs were sent flying in every direction; windows and gable ends were smashed in, whole trains of cars were thrown off the track, and the beautiful college building upon the bluff utterly demolished.

PIG AND PORK.—When my lady sees master pig munching and wallowing in a ditch, she curls her nose and lifts her shoulders at his nastiness. And lo! when the same pig's leg, fragrant with sage and patriarchal onions, smokes upon the board, the same lady sendeth her plate three times.—Jerrold.

KENSINGTON, NEWINGTON, AND NOTTINGHAM.—The following is an extract from the Rev. William Clark's Correspondence with the Congregational Journal of the 20th instant.

The late meeting of the Piscataqua Association at Epping, it was my happiness to attend. Most of the members of that large clerical body were present. Exceedingly interesting was the meeting made by reports from nearly all the members, of special revivals in their respective congregations. Such exist in nearly, if not quite, all the towns included within the geographical limits of the Association.—Greatly increased interest was given the meeting by reports of successful efforts by the body to re-establish the institutions of the gospel in Kensington and Newington.

In Kensington, members of the Association had preached gratuitously, at least a Sabbath each, for many months and, thus prepared the way for a permanent preacher, a graduate of Andover Theological Seminary, now there. Encouraging are the prospects that the gospel in its purity, will be again established in that beautiful Kensington; and, if they do, it will once more be permanent preached in Newington, where Rev. Asa Mann has been laboring for months, under the auspices of the Piscataqua Missionary Society, a venerable institution, which has well invested funds to the amount of nearly $4,000—the annual avails of which are expended under the direction of the Society, whose members consist principally of those of Piscataqua Association, in sustaining the ministry among feeble churches and religious destitutions in the southeastern part of our State.

At its late meeting in Epping, the Association, in character with itself, with the known energy and public spirit of its members, made provisions for each to preach gratuitously, the present season, to the feeble and all but extinct church in Nottingham. Mr. Mann having been there and made enquires, assured the Association such services would be acceptable to many of the people, among them several of the leading minds and influential families in the town. Should God bless the efforts of the Association there, as he has done in Kensington and Newington, we may hope the institutions of the gospel will ere long again be established in that ancient town—most of whose inhabitants, for many years past have not frequented the sanctuary.

ANOTHER BOX.—A week or two since, somebody sent us an empty paper-box—thereby intimating that as we "nothing lacked," they would furnish us with some of it. Now we have a second box—made of tin this time, handsomely stamped with Bond & Son's card, and well filled with "Wine" Crackers from their celebrated bakery. We have tried the biscuit (without the wine), and find them excellent. Some of our friends were in our counting-room when the box was left—while we were not; and we can assure the donor, that while they proved themselves good judges of bread,—if there was any difference, as there is in figs, between the quality of the top and bottom layers, we had opportunity to test the lower half only. But as that was good enough, we won't complain that Fuller left the box no fuller, nor that Pearson did not pass-on any sooner, nor that Mrs. Partington couldn't see less than a baker's dozen over her specs, nor that Surveyor Payson found so great a difference between his gage and the "gross contents" of the box.

There are large quantities of Bond's bread sold in this vicinity, as well as everywhere else—and while we think it would tend more to our prosperity for our bakers and other mechanics and traders to supply this market, yet we suppose the correctness of the following remarks by a correspondent, will be generally admitted.

BOND'S CRACKER'S.—Everybody has heard of Bond's Crackers, and doubtless most of our readers "have rolled them as a sweet morsel under their tongue." They are to be found in every town, village and hamlet from Maine to Minnesota, and the manufactory which produces them is the most extensive one of the kind on the Western Continent. The variety of their productions is unequalled, and their excellence is fully attested. Recently the firm have adopted the plan of putting up all packages of bread in tin chests of various sizes, which affords a perfect protection from atmospheric influences.

Our readers would do well to remember these facts, and when purchasing any of the various Crackers, from Wine Biscuit to Pilot bread—to enquire for the productions of Bond, which may be procured at most of our Grocery Stores. Mr. Thomas C. Christie is travelling Agent for the Messrs. Bond.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st., opp. Kilby st, Boston,
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Also, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remmitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL. All THE PATENT OFFICE BUSINESS the subscriber, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the first, informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of obtaining their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

ABOGER H. 1855.—During the time I have held the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, MAY 29, 1858.

Nor So.—In a paper which opposes public prayer, we find these words:

"Neither by precept nor example did Jesus teach public praying."

Jesus did not command the public reading of the scriptures, nor public prayer: why? because they were both common.—Neither did he forbid or discourage either. The well known passage in the 6th of Matthew, on public and secret prayer, certainly does not discourage the former, except when used as a pretence.

As to example, he certainly did teach it in this way. In Matthew, 14th chapter, in the presence of 5000 men, besides women and children, "looking up to heaven, he blessed and brake." This surely was public prayer, very public.

His prayer on the Mount of Transfiguration, with three disciples, though not public, was social, and not secret.

His resurrection prayer, prayer at the grave of Lazarus, John chap. 11, was both public and memorable, offered before friends and foes. So also was another prayer of his, John chap. 12.

His prayer of thanksgiving, at the sacramental supper, was before the twelve; and the whole 17th chapter of John is a prayer in the presence of the twelve.

His prayers on the cross—Father, forgive them, they know not what they do—My God, why hast thou forsaken me—Father, into thy hands I commit my spirit—all these were public, before his murderers.

Jesus was accustomed to bless his disciples and their food, at meals; and his whole example teaches prayer, public and private.

☞ The American Unitarian Association held its anniversary in Boston, on Tuesday May 25. Its receipts for the year were $13,000.

The topic, "The indication of progress towards a more consistant theology," was discussed by Rev. Dr. Hedge. He thought one of the indications of progress was the general dissatisfaction manifested among men of intelligence with the old creeds, and a disposition to modify and rationalize those creeds among those who nominally profess them. He spoke of the belief of the ancients relating to nature and natural sciences, and thought that that belief had an effect upon their religion. He described in an amusing manner some of the more modern absurd beliefs which are received by some, pertaining to theology and geology. He cited them as illustrations of the principle that science must modify herself to modern discoveries, and that theology must accommodate itself to the new conquests of the human mind.

He indicated a few points in what he termed a reform theology, which he believed inevitable, viz: A more rational use of the Bible. It should be used with a liberal and independent judgment. The Bible has been used as show bread, to swear by, instead of the bread of life, to be nourished by. There was too much regard for the letter of the Bible. The reform theology would have none of the puritan spirit. It would have less of the ghostly and the ghastly, and would be more life-warm and humane. Notwithstanding the great revival, one of the great religious organizations of the country, as the first step, hesitated to act against the great sin of the land. The reform theology would aim to do justice to the present world. The old had too much to do with the next life—too much to say about death.

☞ At a meeting of retail liquor dealers, held at Boston, Thursday evening, one of the speakers said the object was to secure a combination of the liquor dealers, whereby they could pull together. If this could be effected, then good-by to the nuisance act; otherwise, good-bye to the liquor trade in Boston.

Inquiry having been made of the funds of the old association, the President said that Choate, Bartlett and Goodrich were each paid $1000 to lay out the liquor law a cold corpse.

MURDER IN A BARBER'S SHOP.—Mr. Hugh Downie went into a barber's shop in St. Louis on Sunday evening, May 16th, and sat down to be champooed. Three attendants conspired to rob him of his money, of which he had a large amount on his person, and they threw a rope about his neck and choked him to death. The body was found, their attempts to conceal it not being sufficiently cautious. The murderers have been arrested. The eldest is 17.

☞ The widow of the late Rev. Dr. Tyler, of East Windsor, died on Tuesday evening, having survived her husband only ten days.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, on Thursday, Mr. Slidell, of Louisiana, introduced a bill to grant a pension to the widow of Persifer F. Smith, which was laid over. Mr. Seward, of New York, gave notice of his intention to move to extend the session to June 21, so that time might be allowed for the consideration of the Homestead and Harbor bills. A call was made on the Secretary of the Navy for a true statement of the cost, efficiency and location of every vessel in the navy. Mr. Clingman moved to postpone the Homestead bill until January, which was carried, but a motion to reconsider was made. The Sheboygan Harbor bill was taken up, and Mr. Pugh, of Ohio, offered an amendment, embracing all the harbors for which appropriations were asked—contemplating an expenditure of $600,000—but the Senate adjourned pending an amendment.

In the House of Representatives, the Naval Appropriation bill was, after some amendments, passed—110 to 75. The bill appropriating $4,000,000 for expenses of collecting the revenue was passed. The Tariff Investigating Committee submitted a report, which was ordered to be printed. After disposing of other things, the House went into Committee of the Whole for the consideration of the Post Office Appropriation bill, which was laid aside to take up the Army Appropriation bill; this, too, was laid aside, and the bill making appropriations for ocean mail service was taken up, debated, and reported to the House.

The naval appropriation bill contains items of $2,850,000 for the wear and tear of vessels in commission, $1,350,000 for the five steamships heretofore authorized, $52,200 for the construction and completion of the work and current repairs of the Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard; $296,500 for the Boston navy yard; $269,500 for New York navy yard; $97,200 for Philadelphia navy yard; $99,000 for the Washington navy yard; $286,000 for the Norfolk navy yard; $247,000 for the Pensacola navy yard; and $318,000 for the navy yard at Mare Island, California.

ST. LOUIS, May, 27.—The Republican's Westport correspondent gives a totally different version of the affair reported from Leavenworth. It appears that Capt. Hamilton and some 20 others who had been driven from Lynn Co. by Montgomery's men, after placing their families in safety in Missoury, determined to return to the Territory to look after and protect their property. On approaching Chartean's trading post, on the 19th, the party noticed that the people of the place had mistaken them for Montgomery's men, and came out to meet them, when they were all taken prisoners. From one of the prisoners Capt. Hamilton learned that a number of the robbers were stationed at Snyder's, a fortified house a short distance from Chartean's post. Under the promise that they would return home, the prisoners were disarmed and released. Capt. Hamilton's party then proceeded to Snyder's house, which was situated in a ravine and flanked by rock walls.

Dividing into two parties they approached it from opposite directions, and hearing a gun fired on the side of the hill, they charged on the spot, where they found the men they had just released, who had partially armed themselves at neighboring houses, and taken a short cut for Snyder's. A fight ensued, resulting in the death of ten of the robbers, among whom was Capt. Reed, one of Montgomery's Board of Commissioners before whom all prisoners are tried. In a few moments the main force in Snyder's house rushed to the woods and escaped. This correspondent distinctly states that not a Missourian took part in the affairb, ut that all of Hamilton's party where men who had been driven out of the country a few days before.

LEAVENWORTH CITY, 25.—From Kansas. A stage just arrived from Lawrence brings the Rebublican Extra, containing a letter dated Moneka, Lynn Co., May 20th, stating that on the 19th a party of pro-slavery men from Missouri, came into the trading post, situated on the road from Fort Scott to Leavenworth where it crosses the Osage, taking two men, named Andrews and Cambell, prisoners.

Further on they captured Mr. Stilwell, recently from Iowa, and a man named Reed. They then continued on the road towards Kansas City, until they had captured twelve men, when they halted in a deep ravine, and their prisoners, with the exception of Andrews, who they dismissed from custody, were formed in line, fired upon, and five of them killed, viz: Stilwell, Ross, Colebester, Robinson and Campbell.

The remaining six were badly wounded. After the accomplishment of this bloody work the ruffians made off.

PROVIDENCE, May 28.—Hon. Henry B. Anthony, ex-Governor of this State, and editor of the Providence Journal, was elected by the General Assembly at Newport, this morning at 11 o'clock, U. S. Senator for six years from the 4th of March next, receiving 92 out of 100 votes cast.

BRIDE-AL.—We chronicle to-day the marriage of one, born A. Bride, and who strange to say, on becoming a bride lost all claim to be called by that title. But then though—

"A Rose would smell as sweet
By any other name;"—
Olive's no more A. Bride
Since she a bride became.

Amicus Socrates, amicus Plato est, sed major Veritas.

EXETERIANA.

EXETER, Friday, May 27.

Dear Chronicle:—In the interesting work of D'Israeli on the Curiosities of Literature, it is stated that Dr. Halde, who has written so voluminous an account of China, prepared it from the memoirs of the Missionaries and never travelled ten leagues from Paris in his life, though he appears from his writings to be very familiar with Chinese scenery. In modern times it is quite as probable that some literary production never saw the place from which it dates, as that all Champagne is not made in one province of France. We ourselves plead guilty to writing "Letters from Exeter" in places distant all the way from a dozen to fifty miles from Squamscot. Now because "Major Veritas" dates his letter 'Kensington,' we are not disposed to think that his powers are contracted by such a "pent-up Utica" as that country village. His articles have created quite a furor here among the readers of the Chronicle, (the number of whom, by the way, is rapidly increasing, especially among the fair sex) and we are inclined to think that Exeter will claim him as one of her own best writers. He comes in such a questionable shape that we will speak to him:—Does the "Great Unknown" live in this literary community?

Rev. Edwin Burnham, who has been preaching lately in your city, held forth to crowded audiences in the Town Hall, on Sunday, day and evening, and every other evening of the week, excepting Monday. The Elder, who was once settled over the Christian Baptist society in this town, is a general favorite among the people of Exeter and vicinity. He is opposed to long-winded prayers. He says the longest prayer in the Bible is the one made by Solomon on the brazen scaffold, which can be repeated with due moderation in nine minutes; the Lord's Prayer requires only two and a half, while the shortest prayer on record was soonest answered,—the "Lord help me" of the sinking Peter. The Elder handles Spiritualism without gloves.

The chief exports from this town to the State Capital have hitherto consisted of delegates to the two public buildings in that city, the State House and the Prison. The list has recently been extended by the importation at the Universalist Church, in Concord, of a large amount of our native musical talent, in the person of Miss M. E. Durgin of Exeter. If we had not promised to the contrary, we should say that some our Exeter choirs well merit praise for fine singing.

The Exeter Cornet Band still keep up their organization. They gave several public concerts on the Parade last year, a performance which is discontinued this season. The Epping Cornet Band have just procured a neat new uniform. They gave a Concert last evening at the Congregational church in Epping.

Schooner Olive Branch, of and from Pembroke, Maine, has been, within a few weeks, at South Newmarket, unloading a cargo of iron for the Foundry. She will sail, if she has not already, for Boston, with gas pipe, manufactured at So. Newmarket, part of which is for a house in Boston, the remainder to be forwarded by railroad to New York.

A sturgeon of remarkbly large size, which was caught a short distance down the river, is the cynosure of all the eyes that travel past the Fish Market, on Water street. He is quite a rara avis. F. G.

☞ Swan & Co., whose New York agencies for their Georgia lotteries have been indicted by Mayor Tiemann, claim that the "Sparta Academy Lottery" was chartered by the Georgia Legislature before lotteries were declared illegal in the State—and therefore cannot be broken up. They also state that the opposition to them is personal and political—"else why are not the Delaware and Maryland lotteries also attacked?" The Sunday Atlas, speaking of this matter, says:—"We are sometimes inclined to think that even lottery schemes are no worse than stock brokering, or any one of the thousand speculations into which men enter for the chances of making money." We think it would be hard to show much difference between them. F.

NEGRO KIDNAPPER SENTENCED.—Oscar M. Thomas, convicted of having kidnapped in New York, a negro named George Anderson, whom he attempted to sell as a slave in Washington, was on Saturday sentenced by the Recorder to ten years imprisonment in the State Prison.

☞ Hon. Wm. S. Damrell arrived home at Dedham, Mass., on Wednesday. We understand he is in failing health, and will not at present return to Washington. During the session of the present Congress he has missed only four days' attendance.

☞ Jogut Chunder Gangooli, a young Hindoo, of the Brahmin or high caste, who has embraced Unitarian Christianity in India, under the ministrations of Rev. Mr. Dall, is now in Boston, having come to America for the purpose of perfecting his education. He is a gentleman of rare intelligence and high culture.

THE CASE OF W. M. CONNOLLY.—Cincinnati, May 22.—W. M. Connolly, of New York, convicted for harboring fugitive slaves, has been refused a new trial, and sentenced to twenty days imprisonment in the county jail, and to pay a fine of ten dollars.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION.

The inutility of ordinary medicines, in a fatal disease, is an indeniable fact. Pulmonary Consumption being primarily and essentially due to improper assimilations and disordered nutrition can be rationally attacked only by a medicine which renovates the nutrive powers. Such a medicine is the PERUVIAN SYRUP, whose chief ingredient acts directly and immediately on the blood and arrests the disease safely and surely, wherever relief is possible.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, May 28.

Before Justice Odell. — John Watson was accused of conveying away the person of Thomas Dutton, who had committed a felony by assaulting Langley B. Lewis, and maiming and disfiguring him by biting off part of his nose.

L. B. Lewis testified that on Wednesday, about 5 P. M., as he stood in his door at the Piscataqua House, he saw Dutton come up near and accost a man named Rogers, asking R., with an oath, why he called him a blackleg. Rogers answered that he would take it back. Dutton said he should not, struck R. twice and knocked him down.

Lewis begged Dutton not to make a disturbance near his house, but to go elsewhere if he had a difficulty to settle. All three then went into the house, and after they entered Dutton was again picking a quarrel with Rogers, when Lewis again desired him not to make any difficulty there. Dutton then attacked Lewis, using violent words and striking. The bystanders pulled them apart—and at this time John Watson aided in keeping peace. Soon afterwards there were more abusive words from Dutton, and saying he would have his heart's blood, he rushed suddenly at Lewis, held him in his arms and bit off the end of his nose.

John Watson, the prisoner, was present at this time.

Cross-examined by Mr. Goodall, counsel for the prisoner.—Lewis said these things happened in the bar-room of the Piscataqua House; had a warrant issued just as soon as I could get my face bound up, perhaps it might be three-quarters of an hour after the assault.

He had sent out for the police, and three of them came in while Dutton remained there.

Question by "Gov. Dorr," the prisoner's brother—Why did not the police arrest Dutton? Answer by Lewis—Because they seemed afraid to.

Daniel Sherburne testified to the general facts stated by Lewis, and said John Watson came into the bar-room with Dutton, and was there when he bit off the nose. Dutton told the police officers, three in number, that he would give himself up, and Dutton and the three officers went out together.

Thomas Brackett testified that he was sitting in Mr. Hadley's bar-room on Wednesday, between 6 and 7 P. M., when Dutton came in and sat beside him, saying he had had a d——l of a row, and bit off Lang Lewis's nose. John Watson then came in, and handed Dutton two bank bills. Dutton said he supposed he should have to go off—and said he wanted to see Jim Keehew.

A witness for the State being absent, the case was continued to Saturday.

Wm. H. Y. Hackett for prosecution, Goodall for the defence.

☞ Some unfavorable appearances and reports in relation to the death of Mrs. Stewart, rendered it proper to have a post mortem examination, which took place on Friday afternoon.

We understand "Dr." Stewart, her husband, is in custody of the Marshal.

☞ Rev. Mr. Perkins on the next Sabbath, (to-morrow) will conclude his pastoral labors, for the present, with the Freewill Baptist Church in this city. He will visit the Churches in Bethlehem and vicinity.—The ministry of Mr. Perkins here, has been judicious and successful, and he has won many friends, not only in his own society, but among our citizens generally. His people have built a new house since he has been with them, and have a fair prospect of stability and usefulness.

☞ E. Whitney will preach in the Advent Chapel this evening and to-morrow.

☞ The U. S. frigate Constitution was taken down into the Dry Dock at the Navy Yard, on Thursday, just before midnight—and presented a novel and beautiful spectacle in the moonlight, with her numerous lanterns hung out, and her huge yet beautiful shape moving along so quietly, spectre-like. The Dock was sunk on Friday night—and the ship will be floated out today, about noon.

☞ We regret to learn that Timothy G. Senter, Esq., has accepted a situation as teacher in a school in Lynn, Mass., and has resigned the charge of the Boys' Grammar School in this city. Our city and especially our public schools cannot afford to lose such men—and a few hundred dollars is no object to weigh against their worth.

We learn that Mr. John Durgin has been transferred to Mr. Senter's place.

PORTSMOUTH CORNET BAND. — 'Our Band' wore their new uniform for the first time, at the celebration on Wednesday, and made a very fine appearance. Their dress is drab coats and bright blue pants, trimmed buff and scarlet; and French caps, with pompons—at once a neat and showy uniform. This is really the only musical organization in the city, and is a credit to us, and should be liberally encouraged. With their superior instruments, and the skilful and pleasing manner in which they use them; their brilliant uniform, and gentlemanly deportment; this Band cannot be equalled anywhere in this region—and we commend them to the notice and patronage of parties in the neighboring towns wishing to secure the services of an efficient Band of eighteen pieces.

And our citizens should take measures to enjoy their services this "coming" Summer—if ever it does come. Those evening out-door concerts, which were so popular and universally pronounced so profitable last year, should be continued, in different parts of the city, this year. It is hardly time to commence yet, but it is not too early to begin to make the arrangements. From the liberality with which our citizens responded to the first suggestion to form such a Band, made through the Chronicle, and have contributed in various ways to aid it since—it is only reasonable to expect that they will not be backward now.

Besides the improving enjoyment of the music—which pays, ten times over, the expense; it is due to the Band, that they be employed by the city or subscription, as they were last year. It has taken all the money they have thus far received, to pay for their instruments and current expenses; and their fine uniform is thus an outlay for them. This is not fair—it is enough for them to give their time to the cause—and the public who love music should take hold and do their share. As in all other small cities, the establishment and support of a good Band, like this, (and many other things,) is much more of an advantage to the community, than can be reasonably expected to accrue to the Band itself pecuniarily. And this should not be forgotten in this or any other connection.

We make these remarks and suggestions of our own accord—without request or allowance. We have no doubt there is $200 or $300 to be had for a series of those out-door concerts—but who is to take charge of raising it?

☞ We learn that there is a movement among some of our most trusty and public-spirited young men, to have a public celebration of the Fourth of July—Floral Procession, including the Fire Department, &c. Such a plan is entirely feasible, and would contribute much to the pleasure and satisfaction of the community generally,—and we hope it will be carried out.

MARRIED.

In this city, May 28th, by Rev Thomas Holmes, Mr George Williamson to Miss Olive A Bride, both of Portsmouth.

A gentleman from Milwaukie, who has spent some months in that region, assures us that business is depressed to the lowest degree, that money is very scarce, and that general stagnation is the order of the day. Last year any amount of eastern money was in circulation in the West, and was found exceedingly convenient for business purposes, but the panic and the general stoppage of specie redemption by the banks, caused our eastern money to be suspected, and the result has been that the West has become almost entirely drained of it, and there are not sufficient inducements offered to draw it back again.—Bath Organ.

Wolfe's Celebrated Scheidam Aromatic SCHNAPPS.
This medicinal beverage is manufactured by the proprietor, at Scheidam, Holland, expressly for medicinal use, by a process peculiar to his own Factory. It is the pure Tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry, whose more vinous extract is distilled and rectified with its spirituous solvent, which thus becomes a concentrated tincture of exquisite flavor and aroma, altogether, transcendant in its cordial and medicinal properties to any alcoholic stimulant now made in the world. It is now prescribed by more than 5,000 physicians in the United States, in cases of Gravel, Gout, Dropsy, and Bladder and Kidney Complaints.
Put up in Quart and Pint Bottles, in cases of one dozen qts., and cases of two dozen pts., and for sale by all Druggists and Country Merchants.

☞ HIS LAST AND BEST STORY. ☜
FOR SALE BY ALL NEWS DEALERS IN THE UNITED STATES AND BRITISH PROVINCES.

This is a story descriptive of Wild and Startling Adventure, and of the primitive modes of life among the Indians and Trappers of the Great Northwestern Territory. This grand and extensive portion of the American Continent has been hitherto almost as a "sealed book" to the civilized world. In those regions a territory nearly as large as Europe has long been locked up in the monopoly of the great Hudson's Bay Company, and its rival, the Northwestern Co. Private enterprise has not penetrated its solitudes, and of those who use duties have called them there, and who have participated in the treasures of this unknown land, none have hitherto been willing to expose its mysteries or have possessed the power of portraying the peculiar and strange vicissitudes, through which they have passed. Here we find classes of men, distinct, indigenous to the soil, or moulded by its peculiarities: perfectly original in character, utterly unlike in manners and habits to any similar order in other lands.—The Indian, in all his natural wildness; the half-breed, a strange mixture of daring, simplicity and cunning; the Trapper, who spurns the restraints of civilization, and recognizes no law but the fierce impulse of his own will; the European Exile or Outcast; the Outlaw of Canada and the United States, who seek in the trackless wilderness a refuge from the outraged laws of civilized life.

Nor do this rude society denied the genial influences and humanizing effects of woman's presence. Impelled by affection, hundreds of devoted women have accompanied these adventurous outcasts to this wild retreat; while the population, the offspring of mixed races, contains thousands of half-breed females, in whom the passions, the graces, and the virtues of the softer sex, are blended with the eccentricities of nature, and the wild freedom of a life that knows no conventionalities.

In these reckless men the great rival Companies find willing agents and unscrupulous tools; once engaged in their service, but few ever return, or care to return, to society. Among these people are enacted deeds of rude chivalry, as brilliant, and daring as any recorded of the chivalric ages. And among them also are committed tragedies and crimes of wild passions, that can find no parallel in history, or scarcely in fiction. Living absolutely without law, and without protection, every man is, perforce, a law unto himself, and the rifle and the tomahawk are the only arbiters.

Here is a glorious field for a novelist whose experience and talent fit him for the task of depicting its events. Such a man is the author of NICK WHIFFLES; and in this story we venture to say that he has surpassed every former effort. For fidelity to nature, for graphic and dramatic force of style, and for keen delineation of character, there are no words in the language that can compare with "NICK WHIFFLES." The author brings before the reader, in life-like action, the hardy Adventurers and the simple Natives of this magnificent region. The certain fate, the wrongs, the misfortunes and the unsophisticated virtues of the life he depicts, alternately arouse our indignation and awaken our sympathy. At one time we are rapt in admiration of the reckless courage and romantic daring so vividly painted by this skilful writer, at another we are melted to tears by the excitation of feelings with which some of the noblest traits of human nature are strongly drawn before us, and again we are convulsed with laughter by humorous descriptions of eccentric and original characters—the unique offspring of a free, lawless and untrammelled mode of existence: a phase of human nature hitherto unknown for want of a historian.

Those who have read the previous productions from the pen of Dr. Robinson, do not require to be told that there is no man now living who can compete with him as a story of the character. He stands unrivalled in this class of literature. As one of the leading contributors for the Flag of Our Union, and other leading publications of the day, for a number of years, he has gained a popularity that places him in the front rank of American story-writers.

☞ Those who desire to secure this great Story by Dr. ROBINSON, complete, should send in their orders at once, to enable us to make arrangements to supply them. Wherever there is a News-Agent order through him. We only desire to send the WEEKLY by mail to out-of-the-way places, where there is no News-Dealer. When sent by mail, the terms are $2 a year, or two copies for $3. Six months' subscriptions, $1. All orders by mail must be addressed to

MOSES & DOWNIE,

SOLE Agents for the above Goods, have on hand a large Stock of the same, suitable for shore and sea wear

These fabrics, since their first introduction to the public, (almost three years since,) have been fully tested, and the result has proved them to possess all the qualities requisite to make a perfect article. They have on hand numerous testimonials from gentlemen in the navy and merchant service, which they would be pleased to show any one who would favor them with a call. They have been supplying some of the officers of the Falmouth, who have tested the Rubber goods, and found them unfit for sea service.

Nos. 33 & 37 Market Street.

MOSES & DOWNIE.

The following remedies are offered to the public as the best, most perfect, which modern science can afford. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS have been prepared with the utmost skill which the medical profession of this age possesses, and their effects show they have virtues which surpass any combination of medicines hitherto known. Other cathartics do more or less good; but this cures such dangerous complaints, so quick and so surely, as to prove an efficacy and a power to uproot disease beyond any thing which men have known before. By removing the obstructions of the internal organs and stimulating them into healthy action, they remove the fountains of life and vigor,—health courses anew through the body, and the sick man is well again. They are adapted to disease, and disease only, for when taken by one in health they produce but little effect. This is the perfection of medicine. It is antagonistic to disease, and no more. Tender children may take them with impunity. If they are sick they will cure them, if they are well they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient who has been prostrated with bilious complaint: see his bent-up, tottering form straighten with strength again; see his long-lost appetite return; see his clammy features blossom into health. Give them to some sufferer whose foul blood has burst out in scrofula till his skin is covered with sores; who stands, or sits, or lies in anguish. He has been drenched inside and out with every potion which ingenuity could suggest. Give him these PILLS, and mark the effect; see the scabs fall from his body; see the new, fair skin that has grown under them; see the latent fire that is clean. Give them to him whose angry humors have planted rheumatism in his joints and bones; move him, and he screeches with pain; he too has been soaked through every muscle of his body with liniments and salves; give him these PILLS to purify his blood; they may not cure him, for, alas! there are cases which no mortal power can reach; but mark, he walks with crutches now, and now he walks alone; they have cured him. Give them to the lean, sour, haggard dyspeptic, whose gastric stomach has kept souls and every smile from his face and every muscle from his body. See his appetite return, and with it his health; see the new man. See her that was radiant with health and loveliness blasted and too early withering away; want of exercise or mental anguish, or some lurking disease, has deranged the internal organs of digestion, assimilation or secretion, till they do their office ill. Her blood is vitiated, her health is gone. Give her these PILLS to stimulate the vital principle into renewed vigor, to cast out the obstructions, and infuse a new vitality into the blood. Now look again—the roses blossom on her cheek, and where lately sorrow sat joy bursts from every feature. See the sweet infant wasted with worms. Its man, sickly features tell you without disguise, and painfully distinct, that they are eating its life away. Its pinched-up nose and ears, and restless sleepings, tell the dreadful truth in language which every mother knows. Give it the PILLS in large doses to sweep these vile parasites from the body. Now look again and see the ruddy bloom of childhood. Is it nothing to do these things? Nay, are they not the marvel of this age? And yet they are done around you every day

Have you the less serious symptoms of these distressings? these are the earlier cards. Jaundice, Costiveness, Headache, Sickness, Heartburn, Foul Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Bowels, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, King's Evil, Neuralgia, Gout, and kindred complaints all arise from the derangements which these PILLS rapidly cure. Take them perseveringly, and under the counsel of a good Physician if you can; if not, take them judiciously by such advice as we give you, and the distressing, dangerous diseases they cure, which afflict so many millions of the human race, are cast out like the devils of old—they must burrow in the brutes and in the sea. Price 25 cents per box—5 boxes for $1.

Through a trial of many years and through every nation of civilized men, AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has been found to afford more relief and to cure more cases of pulmonary disease than any other remedy known to mankind. Cases of apparently settled consumption have been cured by it, and thousands of sufferers who were deemed beyond the reach of human aid have been restored to their friends and enjoyments of health and the enjoyments of life, by this all-powerful antidote to diseases of the lungs and throat. Here a cold had settled on the lungs. The dry, hacking cough, the glassy eye, and the pale, thin features of him who was lately rosy and strong, whisper of the fatal CONSUMPTION. He sees every thing; but the disease is gnawing at his vitals, and shows its fatal symptoms more and more over all his frame. He is taking the CHERRY PECTORAL now; it has stopped his cough and eased his breathing; he can sleep in sound at night; his appetite returns, and with it his strength. The dart which pierced his side is broken. Scarcely any neighborhood can be found which has not some living trophy like this to shadow forth the virtues which have won for the CHERRY PECTORAL an imperishable name. But its usefulness does not end here. Nay, it accomplishes more by prevention than cure. The countless colds and coughs which it cures are the seed which would have ripened into a dreadful harvest of incurable diseases. Influenza, Croup, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, and all irritations of the throat and lungs are easily cured by the CHERRY PECTORAL if taken in season. Every family should have it by them, and they will find it an invaluable protector from the insidious prowler which carries off the parent sheep from many a flock, the darkling hand from many a home.

Authenticated evidence of these facts, with directions for the treatment of each complaint, may be found in Ayer's American Almanac, of which we publish three millions, and scatter them broadcast over the earth, in order that the sick every where may have before them the information it contains. Druggists and dealers in medicine generally have them for distribution gratis, and also for sale these remedies, prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER, Practical and Analytical Chemist, Lowell, Mass.

More than 500,000 Bottles

SOLD IN THE NEW ENGLAND STATES IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volumes might be written from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, which will be found to be a real Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered deeply with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though they may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are so many that would be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COSHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative, the last season for one of your local agents, Mr. H. Hackinson, and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the recretive organs or invigorates the scalp so well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, R. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having satisfied the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

Use Philbrick's Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of anything that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a Box containing 144 squares, 1 square being sufficient to kindle a fire burning from 8 to 15 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 6 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or climate. They are safe, being composed of asbestos and fire proof, so as to prevent spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with use of shavings and paper, thus removing a great risk of fire from kindlings, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.

DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or charcoal fire.

Garden Engines.

THESE engines can be moved and managed by one man for all the purposes of its intention, as easily as a wheel barrow, and will be found highly useful in not only supplying Gardens and Nurseries with regularly wers in times of drought but also for showering Trees and Plants, and for the destruction of Worms, which may be made effectual by an admixture of Sulphur with the water. For washing side-walks, also, and windows, and for the extinguishment of fires, it presents additional claims; and rightly considered, may be regarded as a most indispensable article of usefulness and security. JONES & MENDUM.

THE PRESENT CONDITION OF THE AMERICAN NAVY.—The Navy Register for 1858 states the number of vessels in the American Navy to be 78, with a burden of 124,812 tuns. This would seem to be a formidable fleet, but an analysization of the list shows that of the 10 line-of-battle ships, only 2 could be put in service, and of the 10 frigates, only 6; and of the 8 first class propeller frigates, 2 are on the stocks; of the 6 second class steam frigates, 5 are on the stocks; and the 5 permanent receiving ships are all unseaworthy The remainder of the fleet consists of 21 sloops-of-war, 2 brigs, 2 schooners, 4 propellers of the third class, 7 paddle-wheel steamers, and 3 store ships. So that of the 78 warvessels only 50 are at the present time in condition for active service, and of those 50 only 30 are now in commission.

SUICIDE IN NEW BOSTON.—Mr. John Lynch, a man of about sixty years, committed suicide in the western part of New Boston, on Saturday, under the following circumstances: He took his gun and told his family that he was going to the cornfield to shoot crows. At dinner time, not returning, his son was sent into the field to look after him. His dog taking the track led to the spot where he was found dead. The gun had been fired so that the charge entered his head under the chin, causing instant death. He had formerly been intemperate. New Boston for a few years past has been noted for suicides and casualities of various kinds.—Manchester American.

It is most probable that Mr. Lynch shot himself by accident.

THE SALT SEA.—In one of the Boston schools, not long ago, a member of the committee asked the members of a class which was under examination, "What is the cause of the saltness of the ocean?" Soon one little girl raised her hand, flushed with the discovery which had flashed upon her mind. "You may tell, said the committee-man, proud that the examinera should see the talent of their system. The little expounder, after one or two blushes, said, "Why, the salt fish, sir!" This natural cause hadn't struck the committee.

TRAGEDY AT MADISON, N. J.—Mr. Roll, a farmer in Madison, N. J., on Friday last, asked two of his workmen to drink some cider, which he said he had purchased at auction. Without examining the bottle, the men drank and both soon became sick and died in a few hours. The stuff which they drank was a poisoned mixture prepared as a liniment with which to cure rheumatism. Mrs. Townley, the wife of one of the men, became much excited when she heard of the affair, and fell dead from heart disease.

Henry M. Keith, principal of one of the public schools in Chicago, sent a dirty, mischievous boy home last week to have his face washed. The boy's father came back, and with the assistance of two hired Irishmen flogged the schoolmaster so savagely that he is not expected to recover.

The Philadelphia North American reports that Bishop H. U. Onderdonk has preached no less than one hundred and ten sermons since his restoration to the pulpit His mind was never more vigorous than at the present time, and his argumentative powers were never more convincing or persuasive.

Mr. Thomas Ayers, a house carpenter, about 50 years old, residing in Lowell, committed suicide by hanging himself in his workshop Wednesday forenoon. He was a respectable man and possessed a comfortable competence. The cause for the act is unknown.

KING AND SHILLABER.

At the Universalist Festival in Boston, on Thursday, the last speech was by Rev. T. Starr King, in answer to this toast:—

"The absent ones—Though gone from our sight, ever present to our recollection."

Mr. King said he had a great constituency to represent—all out-doors. But if he had to choose between representing the Church and those outside—the world, he thought he should choose the world. He alluded feelingly to the absence of several well known clergymen, who are away seeking health, but whose hearts are with us and cannot be disseverd. In alluding to the fact that he also spoke at the Unitarian Festival the other day, Mr. King said he had often been asked whether he was a Unitarian or a Universalist. He thought the two were like the Siamese twins,—he would like to be a fibre of the ligament that binds them together,—he did not care whether he was called Chang or Eng. Somebody had said that the difference between the two sects was, that one believed that God was too good to damn us, and the other believed that we were too good to be damned. He did not care under which head he was placed.

Lieut. Gov. Trask presided and Gov. Banks was present. Lieut. Gov. Trask called upon the audience to sing the following hymn, written for the occasion by B. P. Shillaber, which was done in spirited style, to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne:

Beneath our festal star to day
Our hearts expand their powers,
As death the sun's imparted ray
New glory on its flowers;
To joyous thus again to meet
In sympathetic bond,
And feel in present pleasures sweet
A type of those beyond.

A year on noiseless wing has flown,
Since side by side we stood,
To know again we have known,
A Pentecost of good;
Our hands we clasp in warm embrace,
And kindly feelings throng,
To give our social union grace,
And unction to our song.

We miss amid our gathered band,
Loved ones, our joy and pride,
Who've journeyed to the shadowy land,
Or o'er the ocean wide:—
Our faithful memories with them rest,
Their virtues give us cheer;
Though not to vision manifest,
There spirits greet us here.

No gloom our present joy shall mar,—
Shed on us from above,
Bright rays from the unfading star
Of Universal Love,
Whose influence has the power to clear
The darkness of our night,
Reflected from that glorious sphere
Where God alone is light.

Then crowd the hour with healthful glee;
To us the truth is given,
That cheerfulness, with conscience free,
Is well approved by Heaven;
That smiles, now beaming round our board,
Fraught with a holier mirth,
Are proofs of Paradise Restored,
Begun upon the earth.

THE CHIMES.

BY ALBERT LAIGHTON.

Ages since, men heard the ringing
Of the song-bells gently swinging
In the starry domes of thought;
Long they listened to the chimes
That the poet's golden rhymes
Out of sweetest fancies wrought.

Still the tuneful bells are pealing,
Waking every holy feeling;
Still they vibrate in the past;
And the poet of to-day,
Hears the music far away,
Clearer than a clarion's blast!

Justice, with bandaged eyes, we find
Will sometimes "go it rather blind."
—The Attorney.

We notice in your edition of Wednesday that Mr. B. as "Justice," authorizes himself to deny the truth of our communication of Monday morning. Nothing else than the estimation in which we, with the rest of the community, hold "Justice's" good opinion, could induce us to answer that which every one but "Justice" himself must readily see requires no reply. He says: "the only true point is that such letters were sent." Mirabile! we at an exception! It reminds us very much of the little boy who could thrash all his class but No.—his class consisting of three juveniles, all told. His admission covers just about all we said. Mr. B. will not deny that he was there at the appointed time. If he happened accidentally to be there, and the other party happened accidentally not to be there, let him say so, and we will call it a "serious accident," and acknowledge that circumstantial evidence is sometimes deceitful. As "Justice" is quite liberal in bestowing his advice upon us, we would reciprocate, and inform him that it is one thing to call a statement untrue, and quite another to prove it so. EXETER.

TEMPERANCE NOTICE.

The Rockingham County Conference of Congregational and Presbyterian Churches will hold the next annual meeting with the church at Raymond, (Rev. D. B. Bradford's,) commencing on Tuesday, the 8th day of June next, at 10 o'clock A. M., and continuing two days.

As this will be a favorable time and place, the Rockingham County Temperance Committee will hold a meeting there on Wednesday morning, June 9, at the close of the morning prayer meeting.

And the several District and Town Committees, and the ministers of the several towns, are requested to bring or send particular statements of temperance efforts, of intemperance, &c., in their respective places. T. H. MILLER, Sec. Co. Com.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1836.)

No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston, AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantage for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense patronage received by the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 11, 1856.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Morning Chronicle.

MONDAY, MAY 31, 1858.

BANKRUPT LAW.—The President's idea of Bankrupt laws, does not find favor in the House.

The House Judiciary Committee reported, that part of the President's Message recommending the passage of a bankrupt law, to include Banks in the same. They take the ground that Congress has no power to pass such a law, for that its exercise would be an infringement of the rights of the States; that even if it were within the undoubted competency of Congress, it would be productive of no advantage whatever, while it would beyond all question give rise to many very great and permanent evils, growing out of the present system of Banking.

The report concludes with a resolution that there be no further action on the present recommendation. The report is signed by Messrs. Ready, Tappan and Billinghurst.

Mr. Chapman concurs generally in the report, but considers banking institutions a source of much greater evil to the country than is attributed to them.

BOSTON STATISTICS.—At a meeting lately held, statistics show that, according to the report of the Chief of Police, there are 3500 places in the city where liquor is sold. The number of arrests during the year 1857 was 21,000. The number of persons relieved by the Overseers of the Poor from Nov. 1 to March 1 was 22,964, and there were many who received aid from benevolent societies and individuals. The public expense growing out of this state of things is estimated by different persons at from $300,000 to $500,000 annually. The private cost, reckoning $3 per day for each dram shop, would be $3,286,500—enough to buy fifteen barrels of flour or pay $100 rent for each family in the city. The Chief of Police and Grand Jury are quoted to show that the great bulk of crime and poverty is attributable to the use of intoxicating drinks.

A DREADFUL STATE OF THINGS.—The Boston Courier of the 29th says:

The Protestant churches in this portion of New England were never so feeble as now in moral force. They have lost vast influence, and are fast losing "the things which remain." It is owing to the cant and bigotry of anti-slavery fanaticism.—This is devouring Christianity, encouraging infidelity, discouraging men of truth and soberness, who cannot act with the churches in their present state. It is in vain to deceive ourselves about revivals of religion, in such a condition of the public mind."

All this is very important, if true—but it will be news to most of the churches, and a great disappointment to many sober people, who had been deceiving themselves with the notion that there was a revival, until the Courier undoceived them with its view of the churches. But in sober earnest, what call is there for such a doleful Jeremiad? None whatever—and the churches collectively were never stronger than they are to-day.

As a droll supplement to the above, read the following from the Newburyport Herald of the same day, May 29:

Politics and religion often mingle to the annoyance of parties, both in church and state. When the three thousand New England ministers sent their petition to Congress, the hard shells were alarmed for the safety of the church, and as it was a time of little spirituality, they declared that God had abandoned those who failed to "preach Christ and him crucified." The late revival has shown that those churches most alive to the moral movements of the day were most blessed in the number of converts that thronged their altars. Perhaps from observing this the hardshell politicians have changed their tactics, and without any horror for the connection of politics and religion, they have this year made a dead rush to the anniversary meetings, seeking to obtain control. It was surprising to see the men whose souls were moved to action in Boston this week. The Tract Society was a special object of their care and solicitude, and eyes unused to weeping gave at defeat in hunker caucuses rained down tears—pious tears—for the dear tract cause which they have had so much at heart. We are glad to see the early fruits of the revival, and are fully assured that if it has really turned these men so zealously to the cause of religion, it must be a thorough and genuine work.

HOW TO TAKE A BRITISH OUTRAGE.—Captain Nicholls, who reports the last British outrage that has come to hand, shows that he knows how such things ought to be taken. Thus runs the report:

"Captain Nicholls thought from the appearance of the officer and the bold manner in which he acted, that he was somewhat intoxicated. Capt. Nicholls offered him a segar, (he having no liquor on board,) which he refused, but requested a glass of water, which was given him, and he departed."

A SINGULAR COINCIDENCE.—The New York Evening Post copies the statement in regard to the falling of a bowie knife from the overcoat of a reporter in the Senate gallery upon the desk of Senator Hammond of South Carolina, and remarks:

"The story as given above, differs from the version transmitted to us at the time. In the first place, the time was at midnight, during the latter stage of the Lecompton discussion. The overcoat did not belong to the reporter, who was ignorant of the existence of the dagger in the pocket. The most noticeable part of the story is the fact that the reporter was Senator Sumner's private secretary. Had the knife, which fell and struck quivering in the vacant seat of the South Carolina Senator, fallen at a few moment's earlier, it would have proved fatal. But what construction would South Carolina place on the unfortunate coincidence? Would not the act have been considered as an intended return for the outrage committed by Brooks."

☞ Crosby, Nichols & Co. of Boston have published, and J. H. Foster of this city has for sale, the two discourses of Rev. Thos. Star King, which he recently preached in Hollis street Church, to show "The Doctrine of Endless Punishment for the Sins of this Life, unchristian and unreasonable."

These sermons do not appear as an answer to Rev. Dr. Adams's sermon on the Reasonableness of Future, Endless Punishment. But yet the two may be profitably read together.

Each presents its author's view of the same great question, ably and fully. Mr. King's discourses are written in his best style, and will be extensively read.

CONGRESS.—On Friday, in the Senate, a communication was received from the President, covering correspondence respecting the arrest of Wm. Walker. Mr. Mason, of Virginia, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, submitted a report, in which it is stated that the official statements show a succession of acts of aggression by the British cruisers in the Gulf of Mexico, so marked and extraordinary as to awaken the indignation of the country. After an exposition of the measures taken to stop these outrages, the Committee say they refrain from recommending any further legislation at present, but they submitted three resolutions: 1—that American ships at sea, under the American flag, are under American jurisdiction, and that any visitation is an infraction of the sovereignty of the United States; 2—that the aggressions demand such an unequivocal explanation from Great Britain as shall prevent their future recurrence: 3—that the Committee approve of the action of the Executive, and are prepared to recommend such future legislation as circumstances may require. These resolutions come up for consideration to-day. The miscellaneous appropriation bill was then taken up and debated till adjournment. In the House of Representatives seventy-two House and seventeen Senate bills—including the Post Office, army and ocean mail appropriations—were passed.

THE BOURBON QUESTION.—The Salem Register, referring to the revival of the Bourbon question by the recent letter from Mrs. Dudley of Albany, says:

"The Bourbon question has also been recently revived in Salem, by circumstances independent of the above. It seems that, some time ago, one of our silversmiths purchased some old jewelry of a female, and in overhauling it afterwards there was discovered a large locket ring with the arms of France enchased thereon, and in the locket a beautifully painted portrait of the French monarch Louis. The ring displays the double LL's, the cipher of the eldest branch of the Bourbons; and the Fleur de Lis, the escutcheon of the family; as also the motto of the order of St. Louis, 'Sans peur et sans reproche.'

There was a curious coincidence connected with this ring and portrait, viz:—that, in the same lot of jewelry, there was another ring, bearing the inscription, 'Alice Williams, Ob. 3 July 1813, Æt 56.'—Whether the Rev. Eleazer Williams derived his name from this Alice Williams, and whether either had any claim to the name or jewelry of the Bourbons, are questions not easily answered. The coincidence is certainly curious and perplexing."

☞ Dr. Kelley, of Newburyport, in his excellent agricultural address before the Essex Agricultural Society, is strenuous in advocating marriage as the first element of home. "What would home (he says) be without the first jewel in its establishment, and the mother of jewels? The man who does not value these as indispensable and priceless, is not worthy of a home. He may, indeed, catch a Tartar, a shrew, a vixen, or a virago, with her Janus face and chameleon character, from Zantippe to a Cunningham; but he might as well refuse to receive the currency of the country, lest one bill in ten thousand should be counterfeit, as shun the sex through the fear of a dissembler or a termagant."

OLD HOSSES.—We thought Gen. Riddle's horse, 36 years old, was by far the oldest in the State. It seems we were mistaken. The Peterborough Transcript tells of its Kate, 35 years old, a white Messenger, "as keen as a brick." Riddle's is also white. Now the Nashua Telegraph brings out another "aged individual." It quotes the notices of both the animals and says:

Dr. Graves' "Fanny" is more than a match for either of the above animals, we will bet a goose quill. She is about the same age, and still has the life and action of a six year old. She is just as sound as a nut, and nobody who sees her about the streets would imagine she was more than eight or ten. She is also white. Is there anything in color in this matter? White horses are always old. Speaking about white horses—where do they come from?

NAVAL INSTRUCTIONS.—The Boston Courier learns from Washington that the purport of the instructions given to the naval force in the Gulf of Mexico are to this extent:—The commanders are to warn the British cruisers against visitation of American vessels; but in cases of persistence, to employ force. The movement of the war ships indicate much determination on the part of the American government to resist the British interference with American ships passing through the Gulf.

☞ At Woodsville, Haverhill, N. H., a boy eight years old, playing on the banks of the Connecticut, fell in and sunk in the water twelve or fifteen feet deep; his little companions ran off to alarm the neighbors; Jas. Hadlock, an Irish boy, twelve years old, hearing their cries, plunged in where he saw the bubbles rise, and plucked up the drowned child by the locks; and he was resuscitated by Dr. McNab.

☞ The pastor and church of the Congregational Society of Westford, Conn., have had a difficulty for three years past. The church having been closed against him, he preached in his own house, and then sued the people for his salary. The consociation dismissed him, and allowed him six hundred dollars.

☞ A rich manufacturer named Oppelt, died about fifteen years since at Reichenberg, in Austria, and a vault was built by his widow and children in the cemetery for the reception of the body. The widow died about a month ago, and was taken to the same tomb; but when it was opened for that purpose, the coffin of her husband was found open and empty, and the skeleton of the deceased discovered in a corner of the vault in a sitting posture.

☞ The reporter of the New Orleans Delta, paid a visit to Billy Bowlegs the other day, and found the celebrated Florida chieftain dead drunk. He says that Bowlegs, though apparently totally unconscious of what is going on around, when inebriated, can never be surprised, or made to answer questions which he would not do when perfectly sober.

☞ Another Lottery swindle, located at Iowa City, was broken up last week by the Chicago police. Three men named D. P. Grubes, James W. Patten, and George Bain, under the name of "Bates & Sons," had been sending out circulars with a view of procuring agents, and one of them fell into honest hands. So the scheme was exposed, and the parties were arrested.—Several hundred dollars were found in the mails which they received.

☞ Mr. James Rowell, of Manchester, who was injured by the shaft at the Stark Mills a week ago, died on Tuesday evening of the wounds he received. He seems to have inadvertently laid his hand upon the belt when in full speed, by which he was instantly drawn over the shaft and received the injuries which proved fatal.

☞ In some editorial remarks by Mr. Bonner, in the N. Y. Ledger, upon an article written by Fanny Fern, in relation to the funeral of her brother's wife—Mrs. Jessie Willis—he says that Fanny and her brother, N. P. Willis, recognized each other for the first time in seven years. There has been some estrangement between them; but, verily, death is a great humanizer of the affections.

☞ Rev. A. L. Stone, of Park street Church, Boston, says that he has conversed with over 600 persons at his church, who have recently been converted; a large portion of the number, however, belonging to the various country churches.

Judge Nelson of Campbell county, Kentucky, who has gained notoriety from his connection with cases of habeas corpus, has been indicted in the United States District Court for the District of Kentucky, for assisting a soldier named Beck to desert from the garrison at Newport.

Did we not flatter ourselves, the flattery of others could never hurt us.

IMMORTELLES.

THE CLOUD.

That orbed maiden with white fire laden,
Whom mortals call the moon,
Glides glimmering o'er my fleece-like floor,
By the midnight breezes strewn;
And wherever the beat of her unseen feet,
Which only the angels hear,
May have broken the woof of my tent's thin roof,
The stars peep behind her and peer;
And I laugh to see them whirl and flee,
Like a swarm of golden bees,
When I widen the rent in my wind built tent,
Till the calm river, lakes and seas,
Like strips of the sky fallen through me on high,
Are each paved with the moon and these.
—[Shelly.

TIME.

O Time! than gold more sacred; more a load
Than lead to fools, and fools reputed wise.
What moment granted man without account?
What years are squandered, wisdom's debt unpaid!
Our wealth in days all due to that discharge.
—[Young.

SILENT GRIEF.

I sometimes hold it half a sin
To put in words the grief I feel;
For words, like nature, half reveal
And half conceal the soul within.

But, for the unquiet heart and brain,
A use in measured language lies;
The sad mechanic exercise,
Like dull narcotics, numbing pain.

In words, like weeds, I'll wrap me o'er,
Like coarsest clothes against the cold;
But that large grief which these unfold
Is given in outline and no more.—[Tennyson.

SOLITUDE.

Deep solitude I sought. There was a dell
Where woven shades shut out the eye of day,
While, towering near, the rugged mountains made
Dark back ground 'gainst the sky. Thither I went,
And bade my spirit drink that lonely draught,
For which it long had languished 'mid the strife
And fever of the world. —[Mrs. Sigourney.

☞ An intelligent writer in the New York Spirit of the Times, urges the chopping or grinding of hay and all feed for horses and cattle, on the ground that the labor of cutting food is too much for them to do and keep in good flesh. He says "an animal fed on ground or minced food may perform an amount of labor equal to grinding it fit for digestion, and fat as fast as another which does not labor, but grinds its own food. Prematurely grey whiskers and beard, while the hair is still black, show the relative amount of labor peformed by the jaws and the head."

☞ Recent advices from Kansas persuade Mr. Alexander H. Stephens and others that the English swindle will be rejected, but they feel assured that the State will be kept out of the Union for several years for want of sufficient emigration.

☞ Henry Murray, recently postmaster at Lewiston, N. Y., has been sentenced to sixty days' imprisonment, and to pay a fine of $150, for opening letters.

☞ There were 402 deaths in New York city last week.

MYERS' ROCK ROSE.

We have but very little faith in patent medicines generally, in consequence of the thousand and one quack nostrums which are retailed through the country, with no earthly use but to swindle the purchaser out of his money. Occasionally, however, a good medicine is advertised, and such we believe to be the article which heads this notice. We have had occasion to use several bottles of the "Rock Rose" for dyspepsia and indigestion, and its results have been highly beneficial. We advise others to try the Rock Rose, because we believe they will be benefited by it.—[Plymouth Rock.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION.

The inutility of ordinary medicines, in this fatal disease, is an undeniable fact. Pulmonary Consumption being primarily and essentially due to improper assimilations and disordered nutrition can be rationally attacked only by a medicine which renovates the nutrive powers.—Such a medicine is the PERUVIAN SYRUP, whose chief ingredient acts directly and immediately on the blood and arrests the disease safely and surely, wherever relief is possible.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, May 29.

Before Justice Odell.—The case State vs. John Watson, was taken up and finished. Testimony was introduced, showing that Dutton sent Watson out for the money—and other testimony showing that witnesses met the two together in a chaise, when Dutton escaped.

The counsel for the prisoner, Mr. Goodall took the ground that as the Statute against maiming provided "if any person, &c., shall cut off or slit the nose," &c., "he shall be punished;" that as Lewis's nose was bit off no felony had been committed and Watson was not liable as accessory.

Mr. Hackett, in reply to this objection, said it was a specimen of sharp practice. Goodall, "it was good law." Hackett, "it is not common sense."

The Judge overruled the exception, and ordered the prisoner to recognize in the sum of $300 for his appearance at the next October term of the S. J. Court.

☞ We have heard considerable fault found with the Police Officers who suffered Tom Dutton to escape after his assault on Mr. Lewis, the other night. Now, we don't think those who rejoiced at the decision whereby an efficient and energetic officer was fined in this city a year or two ago, because he knocked down a drunken and quarrelsome Irishman, "without a warrant," can consistently find fault at any dereliction of duty on the part of our officers.

☞ The result of the post mortem examination on Mrs. Stewart, was such as to indicate that she had died in consequence of operations to procure abortion. The stomach was sent to Boston for analysis: and the body buried on Saturday.—Her husband remains in custody of the officers of the law.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR.—To keep school long and well, to govern wisely, and to teach thoroughly, is evidence of high character. This character has been established by a teacher now leaving us, Timothy G. Sunter, Esq.,—who at the close of his labors in this city, received from his scholars a present of four valuable volumes, accompanied by the following note.

SATURDAY, May 29, 1858.

MR. SENTER, Dear Sir: Accept these small tokens of love and esteem from your sincerely attached Pupils—and ever believe that we who have been under your charge, in whose minds you have instilled Knowledge, the seeds of Virtue, Honesty, Industry and Sobriety, will always bear most pleasant recollections of your genial, loving face, and receive our heartfelt assurance that we all part from you in sorrow.

SAMUEL DODGE, for the Scholars.

☞ Mr. Senter bade his School farewell on Saturday last, and commences his labors in Lynn to-day. Mr. John Durgin succeeds him, here; and Mr. D. R. Ambrose resumes charge of Mr. Durgin's school in Cabot street.

☞ The musical portion, at least, of Friday and Saturday nights' entertainments, at the Temple, was excellent. Mrs. Newell of Great Falls, has a remarkably fine voice, which is thoroughly cultivated; and she is one of the most pleasing singers we ever listened to. Her treble was powerfully seconded by Miss Alice Laighton, of this city. Mr. Newell also sang a very good tenor, and Mr. G. J. Joy bass. Miss Clara A. Wentworth, pianist, and Mr. Geo. Bemis, flutist, from Great Falls, performed their parts with much credit.

It is not often our citizens have an opportunity to hear so good music as our Great Falls friends favored us with. This company appeared under unfavorable circumstances, too,—having had little or no rehearsal together; and Miss Wentworth failing to appear the first evening, on account of indisposition, her place at the piano was filled, impromptu and well, by Miss Ellen Hadley of this city. We hope to hear this club again, under more favorable circumstances, as they deserve.

GOOD MANNERS.—At the exhibition of paintings, at the Temple, last week, a score or two of boys, or rather boobies, kept the darkened house in an uproar much of the time—thus insulting the ladies and gentlemen connected with the exhibition, as well as the audience. If, on such occasions, each man who sits near the urchins who are helping make such an outrageous racket, would stop them, by word or blow, this game would soon end. As to the lubbers of a larger growth, who encourage and often start the boys, why, call an officer for them.

☞ The new and handsome Uniform of the Portsmouth Cornet Band, was made at the "City Clothing Store," in this city,—Wm. P. Walker's; and shows skill and good taste, in the selection and manufacture.

☞ The little "Fairy Sisters," to be seen at Rechab Hall, for a few days, commencing this (Monday) afternoon, are said to be a great wonder—pretty, intellectual, interesting. The Newburyport Herald and Salem Gazette recommend them to notice.

☞ All our readers know that there is a concert advertised, at the Temple to-night—and probably most of them know that Buckley's Troupe never give any but first-rate entertainments of their kind. A rich programme is offered.

TRIAL FOR MANSLAUGHTER.—The trial of Edward Boyle of Leicester on the charge of manslaughter, in causing the death of his wife, Isabella R. Boyle, on the night of January 15, commenced in the Court of Common Pleas at Worcester, on Thursday. The parties who were Irish, had been to a ball, and while returning home, Mrs. Boyle received injuries which rendered her insensible, and the next morning she was found dead on the floor beside her bed. No one was with Boyle and his wife when they started for home, but others assisted Boyle in getting his wife home and to bed after she received the injuries.—Boyle said she was injured by a fall, but told contradictory stories about the matter, and was arrested on suspicion of having taken the life of his wife. Both had been drinking at the time. Verdict guilty.

☞ We learn from our Epping correspondent, that the Epping Cornet Band gave a very successful concert in that town, last Thursday evening, it being the occasion of their first public appearance in a new uniform. It was handsomely attended by citizens of their own town, with a respectable number from Exeter, New Market, and adjoining places.—He also writes that several buildings are in process of erection in Epping, which promise, when completed, to be quite an ornament to the place.

KANSAS.—St. Louis, May 28.—The Jefferson City correspondent of the Republican, states that a petition had been received by Governor Stewart from a number of citizens of Bates and Cass Counties, Mo., asking that measures be taken for their protection against Montgomery's Kansas banditti, who had invaded Missouri, and committed various robberies and outrages in the above-mentioned counties; and were preparing for a more extensive foray into the State.

The Leavenworth correspondent of the same paper says that Montgomery's men burned the town of Butler, in Kansas, on the night of the 21st inst.

A SLAVER CAPTURED.—A letter published in the London Times, from an officer on board the gunboat Jasper, Lt. Com. Pym, says:

We have captured and brought in, I may safely say, the largest and richest prize ever captured in the slave trade. She is a full-rigged and fast-sailing ship of 750 tons burden, with a full slave equipment, and provisioned for their sustenance. She also had on board specie in gold to the amount of 2260 ounces, Spanish and Mexican, or about £8500 sterling. Her name and nation unknown. We captured her on the north side of Matanzas, on the 22d of March, between 9 and 10 A. M., she having sailed from Havana on the previous night to purchase and bring over slaves to the island of Cuba.

The pecuniary success of the Jasper may perhaps account for the excessive vigilance of the other British cruisers.

MAINE CONFERENCE.—The annual meeting of the Congregational Churches of Maine will be held at Augusta (in Rev. Mr. Webb's church), June 22d, at ten o'clock, A. M. and continue three days.

GENERAL COURT.

Our State Legislature convenes on Wednesday next, and will close, in common course, on the 3d of July. The Message of the Governor we shall probably present in our next. There will be the usual amount of matters brought up at this season and as usual some laws amended for the better, and others for the worse. The desire to do something is frequently the only apology for doing occasionally useless things.

Mr. Bryant, of Concord, by common consent, is to be Speaker of the House; and it is probable that the Hon. M. C. Burleigh, of Somersworth, will be President of the Senate. Such is the vote out the Court—whether the members will confirm it, we shall know better next week. If our townsman T. L. Tullock, Esq. is elected Secretary of State, all we have to say is, that while we shall regret his absence from Portsmouth, the State will have the services of the most efficient man in New Hampshire.

The most important business of the session is the election of A U. S. Senator, to fill the place occupied by Mr. Hale, whose term expires next March. From present appearances, in the great struggle which is going on, there will be more attention paid to the greatest efficiency in the incumbent, than to any personal or sectional compliment. The Manchester American closes an article on the subject, in which it recommends no one by name, by saying of the candidates—"New Hampshire has many arrows in her well stocked quiver, and let that one be selected whose aim and force shall be most unerring and effective in the great battle for free principles, now pending before the nation." If all the candidates for the office were required to cast votes for the two most efficient men, there is little doubt that each one would under his own name put that of John P. Hale.

THE SENATORSHIP.—The question, who is to be elected Senator to succeed Hon. John P. Hale? is exciting a good deal of interest, not only in our State, but elsewhere. Mayor Beard of the Nashua Telegraph remarks, "the outside pressure in favor of an another election of Mr. Hale is quite formidable. It is said that at Washington the feeling is very strong. We can understand how that may be. The men there know Mr. Hale. He is popular among them and they desire to have him sent back as a matter of personal gratification to them. Besides, he has been faithful, and is always reliable. It is not to be supposed that they would desire a change, when it might seem to them that the chances were that it might be a losing bargain. But it may be questionable how far the people of New Hampshire should be influenced by the people of Washington. They can doubtless judge of their own wants and needs as well as anybody.—All honor be to Mr. Hale—he has done a glorious work at Washington, and will do more if he has the opportunity, we do not doubt; and if the people choose to send him back a third term, we shall be content. It is not our habit to interfere much in the election of men to office, when we have no vote to give. We have confidence in those in whose hands the power is, that they will manage the matter according to their best judgment. We have our own preferences, however, and our own views of policy, expediency, and duty, which we do not hesitate to declare at fitting times.

The contest seems to us to have been narrowed down pretty nearly to Mr Hale and Thomas M. Edwards of Keene. There are other men who have their friends, and who would honor the state in any position in which they might be placed, but we think the matter lies between these two gentlemen. Of the ability of Mr. Hale, not one word need be said. He has served the State too long, too bravely, and too well, to need that his merits be discussed. Nor is Mr. Edwards wholly unknown to the people of the state. He has been in the Legislature a great deal, and has always been a leading member of his party. He possesses a quick, acute mind, and occupies a place in the very front rank of New Hampshire men, for talent and general ability."

CAUGHT AN OTTER.—The Manchester Mirror says:—"One of the printers employed in the office of the 'Peterboro' Transcript, Mr. J. G. Eastman, while walking out on Sunday morning, 25th ult., discovered an otter about ten rods from the river. He had a small dog with him, and gave chase.—The other first started for the river, then turned and "backed in" for a battle; the dog backed out, and the otter making for the river again, the typo saw no other way to secure him (there being no sticks or stones at hand) pounced upon him with both feet, and after a severe tussle, with the loss of a pair of boots—having them completely chewed up—he succeeded in capturing the fellow. He weighed twenty-two pounds. The skin measured just five feet from tip to tip when taken off."

CITY COUNCIL.

In the BOARD OF ALDERMEN, on Thursday evening, the committee to whom was referred the petition and remonstrance of citizens of Ward One, praying that the three Aldermen from that Ward be not allowed further to act as Aldermen, reported that after hearing the arguments, they are unanimous in their opinion that two of said Aldermen are entitled to their seats. One of the committee dissented from the opinion that S. P. Treadwell was legally elected. The report was accepted and adopted.

The resolution respecting North Bell, sent up last week from the Common Council, with an amendment appropriating $600 instead of $250, was adopted with the amendment, and passed. The new conditions are, that the City have the use of the bell as heretofore—but should the Parish at any time decide otherwise, by giving six months' notice and paying the City $600 without interest, the bell shall be for the exclusive use of the Parish. This condition the Parish will accept, and measures will be immediately taken to obtain a new bell of double the weight of the old one.—Journal.

THE RESTORATIVE OF Prof. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy heretofore known, has been the cast off wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so long in the habit of wearing false locks of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but we think we will admit that a beautiful head of hair either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHECTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hoskins,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such arrangements. I will add that it is selling equal to it is in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard to try the article prepared by you, to improve my growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRENCH.

Use Philbrick's Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of anything that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a Box containing 144 squares, 1 square being sufficient to kindle a fire, burning from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 6 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by age or climate. They are safe, being composed of a substance not liable to spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with the danger of using fluid, thus preventing a great risk of fire from buildings, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.

DIRECTIONS.—One of the small square lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or charcoal fire.

For washing side-walks, also, and wind-downs, and for the extinguishment of fires, it presents additional claims; and rightly considered, may be regarded as a most indispensable article of usefulness and security. LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well guarded as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none need fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $10,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m18ly

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Shares of Tickets, or Packages of Tickets. The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $500 to $50,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance are bogus; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—in every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which pretend to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Twelfth Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one who has a right to sell has individual certificates, if he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it. R. FRANCE & CO.,

VOL. 12. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., TUESDAY, JUNE 1, 1858. NO. 100.

The effect of asperity in a clergyman is illustrated in the following story, the scene of which was laid in the State of Ohio habits," and the events of which occurred there, several years since. Two religious sects were settled, in their youth, in contiguous parishes. The congregation of one had become very much broken and poor, while that of the other remained whole and strong. At a ministerial gathering (both of these pastors being D. D.s) it was said to Dr. B., "Brother, how has it happened that, while I have labored as diligently as you have, and preached better sermons, and more of them, my parish have been scattered to the winds, and yours remains strong and unbroken?"

Dr. B. facetiously replied, "O, I'll tell you, brother. When you go fishing, you first get a great rough pole for a handle, to which you attach a large cod line, and a large hook, and twice as much bait as the fish can swallow. With these accoutrements, you dash up to the brook, with, 'There, bite, you dogs!' Thus you scare away all the fish. When I go fishing, I take a little switching pole, a small line, just such a hook and bait as the fish can swallow. Then I creep up to the brook, and gently slip them in, and I catch 'em out, twitch 'em out, till my basket is full."

ANECDOTES OF SHELLEY.—An old shopkeeper, a grocer, living near to the poet's residence, remembered him, and "hoped his children did not take after him, for he was a very bad man;" but on being interrogated as to the poet's bad actions, he confessed that Shelley had not been guilty of any bad actions that he knew of—on the contrary he was uncommonly good to the poor—but then he did not believe in the Devil! The grocer's wife also bore testimony to Shelley's want of Orthodoxy in this respect. The post had christened his son at the Vatican, and she related with much apparent satisfaction, how a wag had on one occasion added the letters, "bond" to the name painted on the stern, remarking—"Mr. Shelley was not offended; he only laughed: for you see he did not believe in the Devil, and so he thought there could be nothing wrong."—Life of Shelley.

There are many persons who have heard much of family government, that they think they cannot be too much of it.—They imprison their children in still rooms, where a fly is a band of music in the empire of silence, and govern at morning, and noon at night; and the child goes off by long like a shuttle in a loom, back and forward, hit at both ends. Children subjected to such treatment are apt to grow up infidels through mere disgust.

The highest attainable knowledge is that which is rightly chosen, rightly compounded, acquired by right methods, employed to right purposes, and provided with the influence of the Spirit of God. The highest education is that which not only provides food for the pupil's memory, but training for his judgement, discipline for his affections, guidance for his conduct, and objects for his faith.

Lord Palmerston, in reply to some Scotch clergymen, who petitioned him to advise her Majesty to fix a day for a national fast, on account of the cholera, suggested that they "had better look after the town drains."

When the delegates of the Presbyterian Church to the General Assembly at New Orleans was going down the Mississippi, they hired the Captain to stop the boat on the Sunday, and religious services were held.

"I don't believe it's any use, this vaccination," said a Yankee. "I had a child vaccinated, and he fell out of the winder a week arter, and got killed."

Rev. Mr. Nickerson, whose settlement at Woburn, a short time ago made such a stir, has been called by the Unitarian society of Marblehead to become their pastor.

The police force of New York is to be increased to 1400 men.

The more a man accomplishes, the more he may. An active tool never grows rusty.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
No. 76 State st., opp. Kilby st., Boston.
AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Also, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurable to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL, AT THE PATENT OFFICE, than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in this capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the laws and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Morning Chronicle.

TUESDAY, JUNE 1, 1858.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, on Saturday, the "British aggression" in the Gulf of Mexco was the topic. Mr. Mason explained that the resolutions reported the other day by the Committee on Foreign Relations did not recognize the right of visitation in time of peace, and in time of war only accede it to the extent of preventing acts contraband of war. Mr. Mallory was willing to go further than "resolutions"—he would legislate to enable the Executive to adopt measures at one to prevent the continuance of such indignities as had been inflicted by the Styx and Buzzard. Mr. Hale wanted "action"—not arguments. Mr. Toombs was of Mr. Hale's mind. He wanted that the "British war ships in the Gulf should be seized and brought to our own ports or sunk, and that we should be satisfied with nothing short of this." Mr. Seward declared that "the principles of police at sea are identical with those of land," and added—"this nation will never permit its flag to be prostituted to the purposes of piracy, but must resist every aggression on its peaceful commerce." Mr. Douglas said England was informed forty years ago that the course she is now pursuing is "belligerent," yet she has violated our rights thirty-three times within the past four weeks. He recommended that the Wabash get on the track of the Styx or Buzzard and bring her into an American port. This done, let explanations follow. If England disavows the acts of her officers, it will be for this government to say what punishment shall be inflicted on the offenders. Mr. Hayne spoke of the gallantry of the Navy; and Mr. Wilson, after a brief speech, moved that the President be authorized to employ the naval forces of the United States and "send the same to the scenes of the recent outrages," with instructions to capture the offenders. At this point the hour for considering the Miscellaneous Appropriation bill arrived, and pending that subject the Senate adjourned. In the House of Representatives, twenty private bills were passed; and the "British outrages" were debated.

SINGULAR PROCEEDINGS AT GREYTOWN.—Advices received by the Moses Taylor, gives an account of another seizure of Greytown, the version of which is thus given by the Panama Herald:

"Col. Kinney, with six other persons, arrived at Greytown on the 17th of April. On the 25th he and his associates prepared a Nicaraguan flag, and on Sunday, about noon, proceeded to where the Mosquito flag was hoisted, pulled it down, and raised the Nicaraguan ensign in its place.—To this act the town authorities offered no opposition. The next step was to arrest the Mayor of the place. On being brought to the guard house, where a large crowd had collected, the Mayor asked Col. Kinney the reason why he was thus treated, to which the Colonel replied that he wished to inform him officially of what had taken place—that the flag had been changed, the old government deposed, and his (Kinney's) substituted. The Mayor then asked the people if they wished him to resign, to which there was a general cry of No! No! The Mayor then asked Kinney by what authority he dared to act as he had done, declaring his intention not to resign. (Loud cheers from the citizens.) Kinney replied that he acted by authority of Captain Kennedy, of the U. S. frigate Jamestown.

Next day a meeting of citizens was held at the Mayor's house, and whilst it was in conclave Kinney sent an order to deliver up to him the cannon belonging to the town. This was replied to by an order from the Mayor for Kenney's arrest, and just as the Marshall and a large body were about to put it force, five of the Jamestown's cutters filled with armed marines, were observed pulling toward the shore.—The citizens then proceeded to the Britith Consul's to await the course of events, and were engaged in making a protest, when Captain Kennedy joined them. On hearing of Kinney's acts, and how his name had been used, the Captain declared it had been done without his permission or approval. After this, Capt. Kennedy visited the U. S. Commercial Agent, and there had a long interview with Kinney. About 8 o'clock, he sent a letter to the Mayor, stating that he should not interfere to prevent Kinney's arrest. The next morning a crowd collected to aid the authorities in arresting Kinney. At first, he threatened to resist, but he agreed to surrender to the Americans. This he and his party, consisting of George R. Glidden, E. S. Pool, and A. P. Dresser, did, and were subsequently brought to Aspinwall in in the British steamer Trent.

NEW YORK, May 31.—(Washington cor.) The war fever here is on the increase, and has been very much accelerated by Senator Wilson's resolution and the debate in the Senate on Saturday.

This puts Uncle Toby in mind of the Madawaska War, which broke out and fizzled out while he was a citizen of Maine. The two parties then run a patriotic race, and they seem to be doing so now.

BRITISH VISITS.—Lord Napier contradicts the statement that he had intimated that "the British government might be disposed to insist upon the visitation of vessels for the purpose of verifying their nationality." The same dispatch reports his lordship as having said to a Senator that the "British government would undoubtedly apologize for the outrages, but at the same time it was determined to break up the slave trade in Cuba, and to that end will enforce a strict blockade of the coasts of that island. New York furnishes a rumor that a vessel has been despatched from that port instructing the British Admiral on the West India station to abstain entirely from interfering with American vessels until he receives further advices from the Government.

Edgar W. Davies, city editor of the New York Sun, died on Thursday evening at his residence in Williamsburg. He had been connected with the New York press for nearly thirty years, and previously had been in business in Boston. He was a native of Wales, and aged 58.

Mr. Davies must be a little older. We should say he was 60. He was a very rapid and correct compositor, and used to do all the composition of Degrand's Report, about 38 years ago. He must have been over 21 at that time.

NOVEL INVESTMENT FOR A CHURCH.—In a volume just published entitled "Lost Chapters Recovered from the early History of American Methodism," it is stated that the records of one of the earliest Methodist Churches in New York revealed that the trustees in the last century, invested two pounds in a lottery ticket and forty pounds in a negro named Peter. The last investment was the most satisfactory, as the man officiated as sexton to the church, and soon repaid his cost out of his earnings, and was emancipated. He did not get his free papers however, till more than ten years after he had paid for himself. These transactions took place in those "good old times," in praise of which we hear so much said in so many quarters.

☞ A young man on his way to Kansas writes on board a steamboat on the Missouri river, as follows: "Emigrants are pouring into Kansas by thousands. Steamboats cannot be made long and large enough to carry all that apply for passage. This boat refused more than two hundred yesterday, and still they come. Six boats per day leave St. Louis, with an average of two hundreed passengers each for Kansas and Nebraska."

☞ The Rev. Dr. Lyman Beecher was lately in attendance at the church of his son, in Brooklyn. Some one, in an address, said that the father must feel like Simeon of old, ready to "depart," in view of what he now saw. The Doctor started to his feet, and said that, so far from it, he never wanted to live so much in all his life as he did now.

☞ In Seabrook, N. H., the old meeting house, erected nearly a hundred years ago, is being converted into a town house. In addition to this, a second flooring is to be fitted up for the new Baptist church and society, recently organized at that place. One of the workmen on the building, found deposited in the ceiling an Indian's tomahawk, which the oldest inhabitant of the village says was placed there 96 years ago, and was captured from a party of Indians who had made several murderous assaults upon the settlers in that and neighboring towns a few years previous to the erection of this old church.

☞ Gen. Benj. King died at Abington, on Thursday, of the heart disease from which he has greatly suffered for a year or two. He was born on the 10th of August, 1794—and was a man of wealth and influence.

BLASTING STUMPS.—Select a solid place in a large root, near the ground, and with an inch and a quarter auger bore in, slanting downward, to as near the heart of the base of the tap root as you are able to judge; then put in a charge of one or two ounces of powder, with a safety fuse, and tamp in dry clay, or ordinary tamping material, to fill the hole, some six inches above the charge; then touch fire to the fuse, and get out of the way. The blast will usually split the stump into three pieces, and make it hop right out of the ground. If the charge is put in too high up, the blast will only split the top of the stump, without lifting it.—Ohio Cultivator.

A Kentucky slaveholder, assisted by a U. S. Marshal from Cincinnati, captured a fugitive slave at Sandusky City, Ohio, when a crowd of citizens collected and rescued the negro, who immediately left for parts unknown.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

TWO WEEKS LATER.

The United States mail steamship Moses Taylor, John McGowan commander, from Aspinwall May 21, 5 P. M., with the California mails, passengers and treasure, by steamer Sonora, from San Francisco, May 7th, arrived at New York on Sunday morning.

Thomas McDonald, a native of Scotland, was gored to death in the public streets of San Francisco, on the 23d of April, by one of a dozen of wild cattle which were being driven through the city. He was buried on the 25th.

Geo. Pen Johnson, the United States Commissioner, who liberated the negro Archy, claimed as a fugitive slave, was publicly insulted at a soiree by a man named S. H. Brooks, the attorney-in-fact for Stovall, who claimed the negro. Johnson resented the insult, when Brooks struck him, and drew a bowie knife to kill him. The sight of the weapon produced great horror among the ladies; but persons present restrained Brooks before he could use his knife. A duel was expected for several days to grow out of this affair—though the citizens generally felt outraged at the idea of a Judge being called to answer at the pistol's mouth by any ruffian who may feel aggrieved for a decision rendered on the bench. By latest accounts the affair had been amicably settled.

Mr. L. F. Huff, one of the party who started several weeks ago to cross the continent from San Diego, in opposition to the steamship monopoly, was sent back on the 25th of April, in the steamer Senator, in a state of insanity. He had gambled away all his money on the passage down from San Francisco, and being unable to meet the expenses of the contemplated trip overland, and seeing his companions starting, his reason was destroyed by the despair of the moment. He was sent to the Stockton Asylum.

Mr. John C. Cabanies, a coal dealer and prominent capitalist, committed suicide on the 24th of April, by taking strychnine.—The act was caused by pecuniary difficulties of the deceased. He was a native of Virginia, and aged about 50 years.

EVACUATION OF SALT LAKE CITY

BY THE MORMONS.

The following information confirmatory of that received by the way of Fort Bridger, is published in the San Francisco Alta California, as received from a correspondent at Los Angelos, under date of Apr. 23:

There is some very interesting news from Utah. It comes through a party arrived at San Bernardino in buckskin dresses, on the 20th inst. In the party were Messrs. D. Clark, D. Starks, Jo Matthews, and others, recent residents in San Bernardino, and several old residents of Salt Lake City.

Col. Kane, who appears to be acting as commissioner, with power to treat, after a conference with Brigham Young, had gone to Camp Scott, as Fort Bridger is now called. It was believed that the movements which followed were the results of his conferences with the conflicting parties. Brigham Young has issued a circular to all his followers, commanding them not to fight, nor even to oppose the army of General Johnston, and that as the army advances, they retire from the northern to the southern counties. He commands his people to avoid all contact with the soldiers, as it is not good for them to meet. With their wives, their little ones, and their herds, they are to vacate the country of Salt Lake, including the city, which is to be given up to the use of the soldiers, who are there ordered to erect a military post.—This circular was seen and read by these gentlemen, but they did not bring one of them on.

When they left, the movement had already begun, and they assert that by this time the city is vacated, and the army of General Cummings is in occupation.

All thoughts of war, or of fighting, are abandoned, and it is believed that peace will prevail from this time forth. There no longer exists among them any intention of destroying their property, or leaving it; believing that for all losses they sustain in consequence of the occupation by the troops, they will have a claim upon the Government.

The retiring population are to form colonies in the south, upon the Colorado, the Mohave, and in the valley of the Sierra Nevada.

Many of those who left San Bernardino were badly treated in Salt Lake because they "came from hell."

It is said that the people have ceased to use sugar, tea, coffee, and other articles which are considered indispensable in housekeeping, because they are not to be had. There is also said to be a scarcity of material for women's clothing, and many of them go dressed in pants and coats.

The people of the southern settlements are almost in open rebellion against the Church. They are taxed so enormously for the support of their army that their substance is nearly eaten up. The tax amounts to 38 per cent. of their whole property.

These facts are discredited as they came through Mormons. The next two weeks will verify or disprove them.

☞ Emerson's Magazine for June, 1858, closes the volume, and closes Jack Downing's Thirty Years out of the Senate. A new volume begins in July—the right time to subscribe. Oaksmith & Co., publishers, New York.

At Albion, N. Y., on the 25th, Mrs. Sichels lost her life by drinking what she supposed to be wine from a bottle in the closet, but which proved to be aconite, a powerful poison used in the homeopathic practice, and placed there by accident.

IMMORTELLES.

SONNET.

If in the field I meet a smiling flower,
Methinks it whispers, "God created me,
And I to Him devote my little hour,
In lowly sweetness and humility."
If, when the forest's darkest shadows lower,
A serpent quick and venomous I see,
It seems to say,—"I, too, extol the power
Of Him who caused me, at his will, to be.

The fountain purling, and the river strong,
The rocks, the trees, the mountains, raise one song;
"Glory to God!" re-echoes in mine ear;—
Faithless were I in wilful error blind,
Did I not place Him in all his creatures find,
His voice through heaven, and earth, and ocean hear. —[Montgomery.

HOPE.

Eternal Hope! when yonder spheres sublime
Pealed their first notes to sound the march of Time,
Thy joyous youth began—but not to fade,—
When all the sister planets have decayed;
When wrapt in fire the realms of ether glow,
And Heaven's last thunder shakes the world below,
Thou, undismayed, shalt o'er the ruins smile,
And light thy torch at Nature's funeral pile! —[Campbell.

CALM, PEACE AND LIGHT.

There is a calm the poor in spirit know,
That softens sorrow, and that sweetens woe;
There is a peace that dwells within the breast,
When all without is stormy and distressed;
There is a light that gilds the darkest hour,
When dangers thicken and when tempests lower!
That calm to faith, and hope and love is given,
That light shines down to man direct from Heaven. —[Anon.

THE COUNTRY CHILD.

Child of the country! free as air
Art thou, and as the sunshine fair;
Born like the lily, where the dew
Lies odorous when the day is new;
Fed 'mid the May-flowers like the bee,
Nursed to sweet music on the knee,
Lulled on the breast to that sweet tune
Which winds make 'mong the woods of June;
I sing of thee,—'tis sweet to sing
Of such a fair and gladsome thing. —[Cunningham.

SERIOUS FRACAS AT THE NEW YORK HOTEL.—As the guests at the New York Hotel were seated at the dinner table about 5 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, an altercation occurred between Mr. Hiram Cranston, the proprietor of the hotel, and Dr. Gaillardet, brother of Mr. Eugene Gaillardet, late editor of the Courrier des Etats Unis. Mr. Cranston was seriously injured by Dr. Gaillardet, who stuck him on the head with a bottle of Champagne, and then with the pieces of the broken bottle. One or two of the guests were also injured by pieces of broken glass, which flew about in all directions. The Doctor was taken to the Fifteenth Ward Station House, and Mr. Cranston was conveyed to his room.—Dr. Crane, who was present, promptly dressed his wounds, but his situation is considered to be very critical. According to our information relative to the cause of the assault, it appears that Dr. Gaillardet, who had been boarding at the hotel, had a patient at the house afflicted with some supposed infectious disease, and that he had concealed the fact from Mr. Cranston, who on learning the true state of affairs, gave orders for the removal of the invalid from the hotel and the departure of the Doctor himself, which so offended the latter, that instead of keeping away from the dinner table as requested, he entered the room and committed the assault in question.—New York Tribune.

A VETERAN PRINTER'S FAMILY GATHERING.—Ebenezer Merriam, of West Brookfield, one of the oldest printers in the State, having carried on the business in Brookfield fifty-one years, had a family gathering at his house on Monday last, to celebrate his eighticth birth-day. All his children and grandchildren were present, and all but one live in Brookfield. His only son is a printer, and he has an only son who is also a printer. The gathering was one of interest. The past was reviewed, old times talked over, while the old gentleman felt happy to witness his descendants gather about him to celebrate the occasion. In the early history of Brookfield, Mr. Merriam acted a conspicuous part, and the citizens of that town have honored him with many public trusts. He is now hale and hearty, bidding fair to live a score of years longer, an honor to society and the art preservative of all arts.—Palmer Journal.

NEW YORK, May 30.—There is a rumor that the British Minister has despatched a vessel from this port, instructing the British Admiral on the West India Station to abstain from interfering with American vessels, until he receives advices from his government. The rumor may be unfounded, but it is possible despatches may have gone out on Thursday in the Black Warrior.

TO THE MILLION.—Prof. Wood, of St. Louis, has, after years of deep study and untiring research, succeeded in presenting to the public an article superior to any now in use, and indeed it is truly a wonderful discovery—we advert to his Hair Restorative; the only article that has been completely successful in cheating age of his gray locks, removing dandruff, itching, scrofula, &c. It restores the gray-headed to more than original beauty; adds new lustre to locks already luxuriant; fastens hair that is loose or falling, and many other qualities which will become known on trial.

The pride of mankind is singularly developed in the keeping and arrangement of the hair; perhaps from the fact that it is the only portion of the human body that we can train in any way we choose; how important then, having this portion left to our care, that we should use all the means science has placed in our hands to render it beautiful and permanent. If you would have beautiful hair, glossy hair, hair with its natural color elegantly preserved to extreme old age, don't fail to purchase Wood's Hair Restorative.—Daily Iowa State Gazette.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

MYERS' ROCK ROSE.

We have but very little faith in patent medicines generally, in consequence of the thousand and one quack nostrums which are retailed through the country, with no earthly use but to swindle the purchaser out of his money. Occasionally, however, a good medicine is advertised, and such we believe to be the article which heads this notice. We have had occasion to use several bottles of the "Rock Rose" for dyspepsia and indigestion, and its results have been highly beneficial. We advise others to try the Rock Rose, because we believe they will be benefitted by it.—[Plymouth Rock.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION.

The inutility of ordinary medicines, in this fatal disease, is an undeniable fact. Pulmonary Consumption being primarily and essentially due to improper assimilations and disordered nutrition can be rationally attacked only by a medicine which renovates the nutrive powers.—Such a medicine is the PERUVIAN SYRUP, whose chief ingredient acts directly and immediately on the blood and arrests the disease safely and surely, wherever relief is possible.

LOCAL.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, May 31.

Before Justice Odell.—Stephen F. Stewart was accused of murder in an attempt at abortion upon the person of his wife, Sylvania D. Stewart, whereby death resulted.

Dr. Curtis made the post mortem examination with Dr. Oliver—in presence of Drs. Folsom, Perry, and others. He described the appearance of the body minutely—showing that in the doctor's opinion the internal injuries resulting in death were caused by an instrument.

Brackett Hutchings, apothecary, sold Stewart medicine, but nothing in the line of abortion. Stewart applied to him in behalf of a woman in trouble, whose husband had been gone two years, and who would find it out if he came home.

Wm. R. Preston, apothecary, said Stewart bought two ounces of gum camphor on Thursday evening; S. said his wife was very sick, had strained herself lifting heavy trunks, and he feared it would go hard with her. Stewart said he had been away, and while he was absent his wife undertook to clean house, and lifted one very heavy trunk of bed clother weighing over 200 pounds.

Ann E. Downing lived in the house with Stewart. Heard Stewart say to his wife, a few weeks since, he would take her heart out, for it was blacker than the heart of the harlot of Babylon.

Heard him a week ago tell her to give him her gold chain, that he might pawn it to Mr. ——— —— and get money, that she might go away and get rid of her child. Thursday evening first knew she was sick.

I talked with them a few days ago about their quarrels. Saw her on Thursday morning, bringing in a pail of water. Deemed her a strong woman. A week ago last Saturday I found fault with them for swearing and quarreling in the night.

Richard H. Downing, husband of the above, heard Stewart and his wife quarrel often; heard him say he would like to take out her heart and show it to her. Saw her on Wednesday, with a broom in her hand, sweeping. First heard her groaning on Thursday noon.

Elizabeth Downing,—Two months ago, heard Stewart and his wife quarrelling.—He said you always expose matters.—She replied, you always expose yourself. You cut your own throat. He said, I would make no more of cutting your throat than cutting a straw.

Mrs. Mary E. Jackson, was called in on Friday, when Mrs. S. was said to be dying. Those who came in advised Stewart to go for a doctor. Stewart thought it not necessary, but we urged the matter, and he called Dr. Perry.

Saw Mr. S. on Thursday morning, about seven, picking over a pile of wood.

Stewart was there at time of her death.

Dr. Oliver—was in the Post Mortem examination—the child's head appeared to have been injured by an instrument.

His opinion is that the inflammation was caused by an instrument used to procure abortion.

He pointed out very plainly, the distinction between accidental abortions, and this,—and was of opinion that there must have been several operations performed to procure abortion, within several days.

The case was continued till Tuesday, when the testimony for the defence will be heard.

Bell and Hoyt for the State,—Goodall and W. H. Y. Hackett for the defence.

It is reported that Virgil Delphine Parris, formerly a Member of Congress from Maine, has been appointed Naval Storekeeper at Portsmouth, N. H., in place of John R. Reding, removed. This is incorrect, inasmuch as Mr. Reding's commission had expired.—Boston Post.

'This is incorrect,' certainly, 'inasmuch as Mr. Reding' had no commission at all—Naval Storekeepers being appointed by the President, without going before the Senate at all, or being limited as to continuance in office. Mr. Reding held the office about five years, too—one year longer than any such commissions run, if he had held one. He was a very gent emanly, efficient and faithful officer, and has won a host of friends during his residence here, both on and off the Navy Yard. The Washington Union announced him as "removed," and the Post makes the first denial of it we have seen. It is thus regarded here,—and the removal of all New Hampshire men from office at the Navy Yard, (Mr. Reding being the last who remained of Mr. Pierce's appointees,) is not well relished, even by the faithful.

☞ The announcement of Mr. Ambrose's appointment to a city school, was premature. Mr. A. resigned his place in the school, previous to Mr. Durgin's appointment.

HATS.—We notice in Boston and other city papers, numerous advertisements of new styles of spring and summer hats. Wonder if our dealers have got any.—Ballot.

We learn from the advertising columns of our exchanges, that the traders at Exeter, Newmarket and Dover have for sale a large variety of desirable articles, which we presume are not to be found in this city, as no public notice of the existence of such goods has been made. Portsmouth, if one may judge by the sign boards, is over-stocked with dealers in every branch of trade, but if only those are counted who have activity and enterprise enough to avail themselves of means to deserve and secure patronage, Portsmouth is sadly destitute of mercantile houses. But there always were and will be "penny wise and pound foolish people" in this world, and they may as well quarter here as elsewhere. A great deal of clerk hire and truckage is saved by skinning the printers.—Gazette.

Let 's have a finger in that pie, neighbors. We believe in advertising, we do—so does everybody; yes, everybody. The difference is, in the form in which it shall be done. No man expects to sell goods, unless somebody knows he has got them to sell. Else why does he locate his store among other people's? Ah! says one, I believe in selling good articles, and selling them cheap, and that, in time, will build up a sure business. Yes, perhaps so—but "time" is money, and a poor man can't afford to wait. Oh, says another, but it is the showing of goods which sells them—so I will pay a high rent to get in the way of the passing crowd. Better pay less for rent, and something for advertising, thereby bringing your store into the notice of fifty times as many persons as would accidentally pass it. Others prefer handbills, cards,—some one thing, some another.—All right enough, in their way—but can you catch all birds with one kind of grain? After all, the newspaper is a great institution—second to no other, in this land—and newspaper advertising is decidedly the most efficient way of communicating with "the public."

All opinions to the contrary don't alter the matter, though everybody has a right to their own, and we shan't quarrel with any of them.

Now we have not a word to say, ourselves, about "skinning the printers." The Chronicle has always been well filled with advertisements, and we expect it will continue so—when it don't, then we'll leave it for something better. And if it were not, we should certainly wish all traders and others to act as they like—if they want to advertise with us, come on; if not, let 'em go. That's the way we serve them—if we think we want their goods, we buy them; if not, we don't.

As to the Hatters—the only public advertising any of those in this city have done for many years, we think, was in the Chronicle, which contained a card of Messrs Daniel Knight & Co., for the first two years of its publication. Since that time, we have 'heard nothing from any of them' in this way, though we have no doubt they continue to keep a well selected stock of goods in their line, and sell at fair prices, as heretofore. Perhaps they got such a rush of trade by using our columns, that they could not venture it longer. Well, when it slacks off, we shall be happy to accommodate them, as all other traders, with a chance to let the public know what they have for their benefit.

☞ "WHERE SHALL WE GO ?"—This question is often asked, by those who wish to take a pleasure-drive before the usual time for opening the summer hotels, and yet have no country cousins on whom they wish to impose. It will be seen that "our most worthy host" of the "Atlantic" is now ready to accommodate visitors,—though a little in advance of his regular "opening."

Mr. Diman has also made arrangements to accommodate more visitors than heretofore, and to accommodate them better than ever, at his popular Highland Cottage in Stratham—after June 7th.

☞ To-day, the first of Summer proper, is given to all our schools as a holiday.—Full early to go a Maying.

NAUTICAL.—Several vessels have visited the port of Exeter this season. The last arrival is the schooner Shangae of Ilsboro, Me., from Bangor, with a load of lumber for Mr. E. O. Lovering. The Shanghae is of the "butter-box" style of architecture; she made the voyage from Portsmouth in three days.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. It brings relief to all the complaints that afflict mankind, and extensive experience has proved that they are found in cure many validities of disease.

"We need say the statements from some eminent physicians of the efficacy in their practice:

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.
From Dr. R. E. Chaveau, of New Orleans.
"Your Pills are the pleasant of purgatives. Their excellent qualities recommend them to my patients. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which they set to rights in invaluable, so as in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND BILIOUS COMPLAINTS.
From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.
"Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose, as a cathartic, but they do a great deal more than any other pill I know of, in correcting the bilious secretion. They have in my practice proved very efficacious for the cure of bilious complaints, jaundice, and other diseases of the liver. I sincerely believe these pills have at length a purgative which is worthy the attention of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.
From Dr. Henry A. Ware, of St. Louis.
"The Pills you sent me some time ago, I have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So positively are they adapted to the cure of the diseases for which they are recommended, that even in the worst cases of dyspepsia, of long standing, they have produced a complete and permanent cure. Indeed, I have experimented with them so much, and so long, that almost all the complaints for which they are recommended, I have witnessed the salutary effects of them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.
From Dr. J. C. Dore, of Chicago.
"Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I find them the best cathartic for the bowels, in the market. Dysentery, diarrhœa, and other complaints of the bowels, which often yield to no other medicine, I have cured in small doses, by these admirable pills. I prefer them to any other cathartic, and have recommended them to my friends and patients, for their very superior qualities, and convenience for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.
From Mr. Schubert, who practises as a Physician and Midwife.
"I find such a very large share of your Pills, taken at the proper time, prevent premonitory of the natural sensations which indicate personal suffering, and also very effectual to the cure of the most of the diseases incident to the female sex, for which purpose we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.
From Dr. J. P. Dade, of Florida.
"Your pills are the best of all cathartics for the cure of costiveness, which I have found them to be proclaimed to be by the people. They should be so, to be proclaimed, for I do not know of any other pill so mild and yet so powerful, which, of itself, and without the aid of any other medicine, will cure costiveness. I believe, moreover, to eradicate it from them, for your Pills affect that organ and cure it effectually."

INSCRIPTIONS OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.
From Dr. Enslow Bell, Philadelphia.
"You ask me, Sir, if I believe your Pills purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice, and I find that of all the pills of the day, they stand the most unequivocal testimony of their efficacy. They eradicate the poisonous matter, and the impurities that accumulate in the blood, and cause disease. They eliminate the elements of vitality, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system."

"Your pills are a national benefit, and the greatest great good to them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—PILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS—FITS—&c.
From Dr. Wright, Baltimore.
"Your Pills I have used in many cases of complaints I have cured with your Pills, rather than to say off that we cure that with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on your Pills in my practice, and I have used them in my own and family practice. I consider your Pills afford us the best we have, I do not know what more highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in our list contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilled hands, is dangerous in a public pill. The Pills we now offer to the public are perfectly free from Mercury, or any other mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every one of its qualities is adapted to the cure of the diseases for which it is recommended, with invariable success, as the testimony of those who have used it from time to time, in all parts of the country, can testify. It is sold by all druggists everywhere, and by agents in every town. This medicine has gradually become the best relief of the afflicted, from the far west of the American peninsula to the palaces of Kingdom kings. Throughout this extensive country, its virtues are known, and its unequaled excellence, as a remedy for the diseases of the throat and lungs. In many large counties it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what many of our ablest men certify to has done for them; if the testimony of those who we see the daily support and esteem of the good, yield it to be of real value, on the strong ground of its intrinsic excellence, whose business is to know what is what, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then let everybody believe that this medicine does cure the class of complaints it is put forward for, and that all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unparalleled benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain its reputation. It is a fact, that many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has stood friends by every trial, confirmed benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures that cannot be disputed and cannot be forgotten.

THE RESTORATIVE OF Prof. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these evils are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been deceived by imposing upon Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

COCHECTON, OHIO, Nov. 17, 1856.
O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents, R. M. Huston, Esq., and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some share in the work, whereby you which to establish an arrangement. I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your preparation is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.
Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.
Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced (from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change the color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.
Yours &c., WILLIAM P. BROWN.

LOTTERIES.
THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There are no combinations of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers, viz: New Orleans Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to SAWYER & CO., Augusta, Georgia

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.
All communications strictly confidential. m18ly

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $500 to $50,000 head their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is as much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—In every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any lieu seed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates. If he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it. R. FRANCE & CO.,

THE OLDEN SONG.

The Editor of the Knickerbocker attributes the following to Ike Marvel, and it is certainly worthy of him:

Last evening, as we were walking along, the music of choirs in three churches came floating out in the darkness around us; and they were all new and strange tones but one. And that one—it was not sung as we have heard it, but it awakened a train of long buried memories, that rose to us before the cemetery of the soul had a tomb in it. It was sweet old "Corinth" they were singing—strains that we have seldom heard since the rose color of life was blanched—and we were in a moment back again to the old village church, and it was a summer afternoon, and the yellow sun-beams were streaming through the West windows, and the silver hair of the old deacon, who sat in the pulpit, was turned to gold in its light, and the minister, whom we used to think could never die, so good was he, had concluded "application" and "exhortation," and the village choir was singing 'Corinth.' It is years—we dare not think how many—since then, and the "prayers of David, the son of Jesse are ended," and the choir is scattered and gone. The girl with blue eyes that sang alto, and the girl with black hair and sunny air—the eyes of the one were stars at midnight, and of the other like our June heaven at noon. They both lived. Who shall say they are not singing Corinth' still, where Sabbaths never wane, and congregations never break up? They met Sabbath after Sabbath by the square pews at the right of the "leader," and our young ears their tones were the very soul of music. That column bears still a pencilled names, as they wrote them those days, June 183—, before the storm of change had overcome their spirits like a summer's cloud.

Alas! that with the old singers most of the sweetest tones have died upon the air; or they yet linger in memory, and they will yet be sung in the sweet re-union of song that shall take place by-and-by in a hall whose columns are beams of morning cloud, whose ceiling is pearl, whose floors are all gold, and where hair never turns gray, and hearts never grow old. Then shall the sang alto, and she that sang air, be in their places once more.

Among a herd of remounts that were brought to Kirkee, near Poonah, in Russia, lately, was one most obstreperous little colt. A tall six feet front-rank man of the 1st Dragoon Guards stepped up to the brute, and without much ado tucked the struggling creature under his brawny arm, and, amid the cheers and laughter of the whole corps, carried him around the parade ground, and set the astonished animal down again as tame as ever Mr. Rarey could have made him.

In France the Protestants are allowed to share the run of the public schools, colleges and hospitals of the Empire. The only place where they are occasionally excluded, strange to say—is the burial ground, where, one would suppose, they might all be allowed to sleep side by side.

THE TOMB OF PRESIDENT MONROE.—Notwithstanding James Monroe had one of the most imposing funeral pageants ever witnessed in New York, his body was deposited in a borrowed grave, and to-day the fifth President of the United States has no tomb his own, but is resting in a vault upon which there is an unpaid assessment of many years' standing.—N. Y. Post.

NORFOLK, May 30.—An indignation meeting was held here last night, and great excitement prevails generally about the taking off of slaves by Abolitionists. The crews of the schooners V. Mott and W. Lewis having been ordered to leave the city, or they will be tarred and feathered.

☞ Elder Burnham finished his course of lectures in Exeter, on Sunday last. In the evening, the capacious Town Hall was completely jammed, there being over twelve hundred persons in attendance. His discourse was on the coming of Christ, as based on the prophecies of Daniele

Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through its extensive advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove that at no other office of the kind are the charges for equally efficient services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents
All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them the widest and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."
From the present Commissioner.
AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

Commissioner of Patents.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 2, 1858.

REV. DUDLEY A. TYNG.—The Rev. Dr. Cummins, of Washington city, Rector of Trinity (Episcopal) Church there, lately preached a sermon to the young men of his congregation, on the Life and Character of the late Dudley A. Tyng, from the following text: "And devout men carried Stephen to his burial, and made great lamentation over him." The discourse, reported, consisted mainly of quotations from the newspapers of the day, giving an account of the last moments of the lamented youthful champion of civil and religious liberty, prefaced by a few personal reminiscences of his life.

Dr. Cummins was evidently a great admirer of Mr. Tyng;—yet, as we learn from a letter to the Boston Transcript, after a glowing allusion to the purity, fidelity and self-denying spirit of Mr. Tyng, he added with emphasis:—

But he was not perfect—I know you anticipate what I am about to say—he was not perfect. He committed one error, one deep, grave, awful error. He introduced a political question into his pulpit. He did it but once, and although nearly three years of his ministry have elapsed since that time, it was never repeated, and I firmly believe that he earnestly and deeply repented of his error.

Where or how Dr. Cummins obtained his information, it is hard to imagine. The statement is utterly destitute of truth, and must have been ignorantly or maliciously uttered. That he has done great injustice to the name of Mr. Tyng, appears from a correspondence between Hon. John P. Hale and Rev. Dr. Tyng, father of the deceased. Mr. Hale proposed some questions; and Dr. S. H. Tyng replied:

There is not the slightest foundation in truth for the statement that my son, in any way or shape, ever retracted, qualified, or designed to do so, his solemn and well considered protest against the oppression of slavery. His first sermon was preached in June, 1856. Another, on the same subject, and on the same ground of consideration, in July, 1857.

The following note, from the son himself, is decisive:

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8, 1856.

Dear Sir: I was so much interested in your proposition to deposit a copy of my sermon on "Our Country's Troubles" in the archives of the Vestry, that I have made several efforts to recover the original manuscript from the hands of the printer. Having to-day succeeded, I take great pleasure in sending it to you, just as it was delivered in the pulpit of the Epiphany, on the 29th of June last. I have just read it over, after nearly six months' interval, and find no word which I would retract, and feel more than ever thankful for having been enabled to discharge so solemn a duty. I doubt not that in future years it will be regarded with somewhat of the interest which now attaches to the first attempts at the suppression of the slave trade.

Very respectfully and truly,
DUDLEY A. TYNG.

Dr. Casper Morris.

☞ The Five Points house of industry held its 7th anniversary on Wednesday, 19th. Six rows of seats on the platform were filled with children of the institution—little creatures of from four to eight years—who appeared happy and healthful.

The receipts of the year were $17,463, and the expenditures $17,983. There have been 1159 children received the past year: of these 661 were sent to situations, 134 sent to their friends, 85 left voluntarily, and 27 eloped. There remain in the institution 136. The number of perishing outcasts is still fearfully great.

PORK AFLOAT.—A singular spectacle was witnessed at Greenbush, N. Y., a few days since. An immense drove of hogs, on their way from the West to New York, were driven to the river to drink. While they were taking their "rod," one of them commenced swimming towards the opposite shore; in an instant the whole drove followed; a number of boats immediately put out after them, and a desperate scene ensued in capturing them; but despite the utmost efforts of the drovers, very many reached the Albany shore, where they were picked up by a parcel of rowdies. The night was a most exciting one; the air was filled with the most unmelodious shrieks, which could be heard miles away.

CONVERT.—The Supreme Court, in New York (Judge Davies, Ingraham, and Sutherland on the bench), sustain the commitment of lawyer Mitchell, by the Judge of the Court of Common Please, for contempt, in refusing to answer further as a witness, after he had answered in part.

This power of commitment for contempt, should be experienced with great caution:—But if experienced at all, its application to a contumacious lawyer seems to be a beautiful use of it.

☞ In the U. S. House of Representatives, on Monday, the supplemental Indian Appropriation bill was passed. Next came a most disgraceful scene in which Messrs. Smith of Virginia and Morris of Illinois took part.

Mr. Smith of Va., made a speech in defense of his former position on the Kansas question, in connection with the course of the Democratic portion of the Illinois delegation, complaining that Mr. Marshall of Illinois had prevented his remarks.

Mr. Marshall of Illinois, disavowed any personal feeling on the occasion to which allusion was made, but reiterated his defense of Mr. Douglas, and the Illinois delegation, whom he said Mr. Smith had assailed. He alluded to the latter as having sought affiliation with the dark-lantern party, and reading garbled extracts from the black republican papers.

Mr. Smith denied that he ever departed from any principle of the Democratic party, as Mr. Marshall had done.

Mr. Marshall replied that what he did on the Kansas and other questions was dictated by his own conscience. He had never, like Mr. Smith, set up to read men out of the Democratic party.

Mr. Morris of Illinois, said that Mr. Smith's object to-day was to assail and asperse the reputation of Mr. Douglas, whose shoes Mr. Smith was unworthy to unloose.

Mr. Smith—I will not stand such offensive language.

Mr. Morris—Just as you please.

The Chairman, Mr. Bocock, reminded Mr. Morris that personal remarks could not be indulged in.

Mr. Morris resumed, producing an affidavit from a constituent who was present at a certain conversation in Mr. Morris's room, at the commencement of the session, to show that Mr. Smith had made an untrue statement concerning it. He charged Mr. Smith with having been elected on a know-nothing ticket, and offered to produce evidence of the fact. This was the man who undertook to read Gov. Wise, Judge Douglas and other Democrats out of the party.

The reader will see that it was a family quarrel. The Committee of the Whole reported the bill making appropriations for the support of the three proposed regiments of volunteers. The $15,000 loan bill underwent a long debate, but the House came to no question.

A NEW BOOK.—What home has not lost a little one! One, who down the stream of time, did

"But float a little way,
And putting to the shore,
While yet 'twas early day,
Went calmly on its way,
To dwell with us no more."

To such mourning households, both poetry and prose have offered their healing sweetness and tender sympathies. "Light on little graves," "Gathered Lilies," and now "Our little ones in Heaven," have one by one stolen into our homes and hearts with their blessed ministry, pointing us upward where the loved ones are "not lost, but gone before." "Our Little Ones in Heaven," edited by the author of the Aimwell stories, is a choice collection of prose and poetry upon infant salvation and all the human and heavenly consolations, which hover around the new-made graves of our departed children. French, Stoddard, Lowell, Moir, Doddridge, Watts, Longfellow, together with our own poets, Kimball and Aldrich, with many others, blend their tearful experiences and christian hopes in sweet accord.

How often we want to slip a little volume like this into the hands of bereaved parents, in the unspoken words of that affectionate condolence which often dies upon our lips in the presence of their great sorrow.

This little book is published by Gould & Lincoln, Boston, and is to be found at our book-stores. INCHES.

ILLINOIS.—The Chicago Tribune declares that "there is not now, has not been, and will not be, any union of any name, sort or kind, expressed or implied, between the Republicans of Illinois and the Lecompton-ites here or elsewhere, for beating Mr. Douglas, or for any other purpose whatever." We are glad to hear so much. It further says that it is the intention of the Republicans of Illinois to beat both wings of the Democracy. It could be done if the latter were a unit, but seeing that they are divided, it would be a gross mistake for the Republicans to enter into a disgraceful alliance for fear of a defeat. The Tribune says, also, that John Wentworth is not, and will not be, a candidate for the United States Senate.—Boston Journal.

☞ It is now stated that Mr. Hyde, of Norwich, who was charged with having opened his wife's grave to get her teeth, was erecting a family monument, and was induced to open his wife's coffin to see if the body had been disturbed; when, noticing the teeth, he took them out, "but without premeditation or attempt at concealment." The value of the articles recovered he did not think of. But after it was done he realized the true nature of the act, and has ever since labored under great mental anguish on account of it.

☞ The San Francisco Spirit of the Times says, In the annals of the American turf no parallel can be found to the feat performed on Sunday, May 24, over the Pioneer Course, California, by Mr. J. Powers, who rode one hundred and fifty consecutive miles in six hours, forty-three minutes and thirty-one seconds, using twenty-five horses. The performance is still more remarkable from two points—the stock used, and the person undertaking the feat. The stock were California horses, vulgarly called mustangs, grass fed, and unused to stable or the curry comb.

The match was, that Mr. Powers could not ride 150 miles in eight hours, and $2500 a side was bet thereon. Great interest was manifested in the affair, and over ten thousand persons were spectators.

Some few years since Powers rode from Los Angelos to Monterey and back, 224 miles, in 24 hours, over a mountainous country, and catching his own horses as he went. In this last great race, he averaged 22¼ miles per hour, giving 2:41¼ for each mile. He stated at the close that he would match himself to ride 200 miles in eight hours—25 miles an hour.

SUFFERING ON BOARD UNITED STATES STEAMSHIP DALE.—A correspondent of the N. Y. Times, writing on board the United States ship Dale, now at Cape de Verdes, gives a very discouraging account of the cruise of that vessel on the coast of Africa. Fever and starvation, it seems, were among the evils to which officers and crew were forced to submit. The First Lieutenant died, and, at one time, there were eighty cases of fever on board. At Benguela the Dale released two American citizens, who had been imprisoned on an unsubstantiated charge by the Portuguese authorities.

☞ The oldest woman in Michigan, Mrs. Vilette, of La Salle, Monroe county, was buried on Wednesday morning, in the Catholic burying ground. She was 112 years of age, and had lived in that region the better part of a century. Her husband—the third or fourth one—is still living, aged seventy years. She made her will in the latter part of the last century, and has outlived all the persons to whom she had bequeathed her property. She was a small woman, and very active for one of her age.

☞ Two Richmond men got into a dispute a day or two since about the best method of taming horses—one favoring kindness, and the other force. The result was, that the advocate of force received a practical illustration of his own method by a stunning blow from the other, who had probably become convinced by his opponent's arguments.

☞ A young man named George W. Taylor, formerly of Philadelphia, and who lately married a young woman in Franklin county, Mo., blew out his brains with a revolver at a boarding house in St. Louis. Among his papers was a slip written with a pencil, in these words:—"My Dear Wife: I have wronged you. Forgive and pray for me. I am a villain, and deserve to die. May God have mercy upon my soul."

☞ It has been resolved by the Mayor and Common Council of the city of Baltimore to expend $2000 in removing the remains of the late John McDonough from New Orleans to Baltimore, and in erecting a suitable memorial over his grave; the sum to be taken from the share of the city of Baltimore in his estate.

☞ The three barber boys who recently murdered Hugh Downie, at St. Louis, by choking, committed the deed for the purpose of obtaining spending money, as Gartner never gave them any, and was very harsh to them, keeping them on a short allowance of food. The boy who suggested the murder by choking said he had often seen it done in New Orleans.

NEW ENGLAND A UNIT IN THE U. S. SENATE.—The Albany Journal in announcing the election of Ex-Gov. Anthony of Rhode Island as Senator, says:

"New England is a unit in the U. S. Senate. Twelve Republican Senators, all 'good men and true,' now present six of the Old Thirteen States. With New York, we have a majority of the States that constituted the old Confederacy, and by which our liberties were achieved, represented by Senators who uphold the principles that brought us into existence as a nation."

☞ The Custom House at Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, was robbed of $9000 one moonlight night, in the last week of March. The money was mostly in gold twenty dollar pieces. The key of the safe was procured by some means.

IMMORTELLES.

THE SWEET BRIER.

Our sweet autumnal western scented wind
Robs of its odor none so sweet a flower,
In all the blooming waste it left behind,
As that the sweet brier yields it; and the shower
Wets not a rose that buds in beauty's bower
One half so lovely; yet it grows along
The poor girl's pathway, by the poor man's door;
Such are the simple folks it dwells among,
And humble as the bud, so humble be the song.

I love it, for it takes its untouched stand
Not in the vase that sculptors decorate;
Its sweetness all is of my native land;
And o'en its fragrance has not its mate
Among the perfumes which the richest and great
Buy from the odors of the spicy East.
You love your flowers and plants, and will you hate
The little four-leaved rose that I love best,
That freshest will awake, and sweetest go to rest?
—[Brainard.

A SUMMER EVENING.

How fine has the day been, how bright was the sun,
How lovely and joyful the course that he run,
Though he rose in a mist when his race he began,
And there followed some droppings of rain!
But now the fair traveller's come to the west,
His rays are all gold, and his beauties are best;
He paints the sky gay as he sinks to his rest,
And foretells a bright rising again.

Just such is the Christian; his course he begins,
Like the sun in a mist, when he mourns for his sins,
And melts into tears; then he breaks out and shines,
And trends his heavenly way!
But when he comes nearer to finish his race,
Like a fine setting sun, he looks richer in grace,
And gives a sure hope at the end of his days,
Of rising in brighter array. —[Watts.

If you want Pills, take Ayer's Pill.—Nothing has ever appeared in this market that can compare with this new invention for chasing out the distempers that fasten and grow upon us. They are the Philosopher's elixir of life, that bids defiance to disease, and will leave us no alternative but to die of old age.

THE FASHIONABLE DRINK IN WASHINGTON.—The States says:

Several ladies of fashion in Washington city are introducing lager bier into their houses, as a refreshing morning beverage to offer visitors.

If they would only add sour krout and rye bread, they would exhibit the genuine hospitality of the Pennsylvania Dutch, more remarkable, however, for its heartiness than its elegance.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

MYERS' ROCK ROSE.

We have but very little faith in patent medicines generally, in consequence of the thousand and one quack nostrums which are retailed through the country, with no earthly use but to swindle the purchaser out of his money. Occasionally, however, a good medicine is advertised and such we believe to be the article which heads this notice. We have had occasion to use several bottles of the "Rock Rose" for dyspepsia and indigestion, and its results have been highly beneficial. We advise others to try the Rock Rose, because we believe they will be benefitted by it.—[Plymouth Rock.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION.

The inutility of ordinary medicines, in this fatal disease, is an undeniable fact. Pulmonary Consumption being primarily and essentially due to improper assimilations and disordered nutrition can be rationally attacked only by a medicine which renovates the nutrive powers.—Such a medicine is the PERUVIAN SYRUP, whose chief ingredient acts directly and immediately on the blood and arrests the disease safely and surely, wherever relief is possible.

LOCAL.

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, June 2.

Before Justice Odell.—The case of Stephen F. Stewart, for the murder of his wife by an attempt to produce abortion, was brought up in continuation from Monday. The proposed witnesses for the defence were not called,—and the court deemed the evidence against him sufficient to hold him for the action of the Grand Jury. It was therefore ordered that he be committed to jail, for trial before the Supreme Judicial Court.

[Dr. Stewart was once employed in a factory,—but for some years past he has kept a groggery, where he has mended shoes, been a quack doctor, and carried on various other operations.—The community will suffer no detriment from his being in prison.]

☞ "One swallow does'nt make a Summer"—for although one flew down the sky-light of our composing-room, on the first of June, the weather was cold enough to demand a couple of good fires in our office at the time. The Doctor says it never will be Summer, until this East wind is spelt out.

TEMPERANCE NOTICE.

The Rockingham County Conference of Congregational and Presbyterian Churches will hold the next annual meeting with the church at Raymond, (Rev. D. B. Bradford's,) commencing on Tuesday, the 8th day of June next, at 10 o'clock A. M., and continuing two days.

As this will be a favorable time and place, the Rockingham County Temperance Committee will hold a meeting there on Wednesday morning, June 9, at the close of the morning prayer meeting.

And the several District and Town Committees, and the ministers of the several towns, are requested to bring or send particular statements of temperance efforts, of intemperance, &c., in their respective places. T. H. MILLER, Sec. Co. Com.

Portsmouth, May 27.

3 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

MONTREAL, June 1.—The steamship Indian, from Liverpool 19th ult., passed River de Loup early this morning.

The Liverpool cotton market was dull, but the quotations would seem to show an advance of 2 a 4d on lower grades of red Wheat, and 5d on better qualities of white, and also an advance of 1 a 2d on Flour.

The London Money Market was generally unchanged. American securities remained unaltered.

Ship Grand Duchess, from New York for Liverpool, has been burnt at sea. Her crew and passengers had arrived at Liverpool in the ship Phenix, from Mobile.

Telegraphic despatches from Bombay, received at Malta, state that Azinghur was relieved April 15 by Gen. Lugare, with but trifling loss.

Brigadier Seaton defeated the rebels near Futtinghur, killing and wounding three hundred, and capturing their guns and amunition.

A body of rebels in the Maltapoora Mountains had been defeated.

A large body of Bheels had also been defeated in the Sautpore Hills, and five hundred captured. The British loss was severe, including five officers.

A Vienna despatch says the Montenegrins had attacked the Turks near Grahovo, and nearly annihilated their whole force, killing their commander, Kiamil Pasha, and capturing all their guns. The Montenegrins lost two hundred killed and wounded. The Turks numbered seven thousand strong, and the Montenegrins five thousand.

There had been nothing of importance done in Parliament. The debate on the Indian bill was resumed in the House of Commons, but no action was had up to the 18th.

WASHINGTON NEWS.—Washington, May 31.—(New York Times Correspondence.) The mail from Arizonia which reached here to-day confirms the rumors of serious disturbances existing in that territory. Eight or ten murders had been committed, and no power existed to punish the offenders. A party of U. S. army deserters had murdered a Mexican and fled into California. The Mexican Legislature having adjourned without making any provision for the maintenance of order in Arizona, the Secretary of War has promised Lieut. Mowrey that he will dispatch four companies of the new Texas regiment for the protection of that territory, and more troops when practicable.

From Sonora the news is that Gaudara was expected there with a commissioner as Governor, in which case Peschiere would declare the State independent.

Well found apprehensions are entertained at Washington of serious trouble at the election next Monday. Both parties are secretly arming, and it is rumored that the Democrats of the fourth ward have got two Dahlgreen howitzers concealed for use on that occasion. A very bitter feeling exists between the Berrett and Wallack men.

MONMOUTH, Ill., 31st.—A terrible tornado passed over the village of Ellison, 12 miles south of here, last night. Every house in the place was blown down, and fifteen persons killed. The village contains 500 inhabitants and report says none of them escaped injury.

TUESDAY, June 1.

The House passed the Indian Appropriation and the three Regiment Volunteer Appropriation Bills, the latter 101 against 66.

KANSAS OUTRAGES.—St. Louis, May 31, The Kansas correspondent of the Democrat gives many rumors and conflicting accounts of the recent troubles in the Southern part of that territory. It was stated that some two hundred settlers were organized near Sugar Mound, and that a still larger party of Missourians were encamped a short distance from them, and it was thought a battle would ensue.

Gov. Denver has commissioned Sheriff Samuel Walker to proceed to the scene of the disturbances, and report to him, when it is thought active measures should be taken to restore order.

The latest news from Ossawatomie states that that place was threatened by 300 Missourians, and that messengers had been despatched to Lawrence for arms.

It appears from correspondence emanating from the head-quarters of the Kansas militia, and published in the Lawrence Republican, that Captains Montgomery and Payne were deprived of their commissions on the 18th.

The Ossawatomie Herald confirms the accounts of the murders in Lynn County, on the 19th. It was rumored that Crockett's party were besieged in Fort Scott, by the Free State men, who are waiting reinforcements to take place by storm.

FORT LEAVENWORTH, May 28, via Booneville, May 31.—More recent accounts from the South fully substantiate previous reports of the murders committed in Lynn County.

Col Monroe's corps was encamped at Walnut creek, 50 miles distant, and the column was progressing finely.

Col. May's column marched this morning.

ST. LOUIS, May 31.—The Republican learns that Gov. Stewart of Missouri has sent Gen. Parsons to Bates and Cass counties, to ascertain the extent of the troubles there, and whether it will be necessary to call out the militia to protect the border counties from Capt. Montgomery's band of robbers.

The Democrat has information from a gentleman just from Kansas, that the Deputy U. S. Marshal was sent in pursuit of Capt. Montgomery, and was taken prisoner by the latter on Thursday night last; that after some conference he was released. The Marshal states that Capt. Montgomery informed him that the recent outrages were all committed by Capt. Hamilton, who is at the head of the remnant of the party which was formerly commanded by Major Buford. It was reported that Hamilton had left the Territory, and was en route for Georgia.

PETERSBURG, VA., May, 31.—The sch. Keziah, of Wilmington, Del., Capt. Baylis, cleared from this port on Saturday night. Since then several slaves have been missing, and a steamer was sent to overhaul the Keziah, which she did below City Point. Five slaves were found on board. The captain, crew, and slaves were brought back here, and lodged in jail. The excitement here is intense.—2000 people were at the wharf when the steamer landed, and they were with great difficulty restrained from violence. The vessel was also towed back.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The Evening Post understands that Gen. Houston, immediately after the adjournment of Congress, contemplates an expedition into Mexico, with a company of 4000 or 5000 men, for the purpose of cutting off another slice of territory, and bringing it into the Union.

William A. Duer, President of Columbia College, died in New York on Sunday.

Officers to-day made a seizure of the Crystal Palace, in behalf of the city, for arrears of ground rent.

LOCOMOTIVE LOST.—The schooner Juniata, Capt. Kenney, which sailed from Portland on Sunday, for Halifax, had on board a splendid locomotive, built by the Portland Company for the Nova Scotia Railway. On Tuesday the locomotive was lost overboard, but the tender, valued at $1000 was saved. The locomotive was insured for $9000.—Argus.

THE BIBLE IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—New York, June 1.—The recent action of the Schools Trustees in some of our wards, in banishing the Bible from the schools is creating much excitement. The United Americans have taken the matter up, and a meeting was held last night of delegates from all the chapels to determine on measures for opposing this alleged attempt of Roman Catholics to get control of our public schools. It is understood that a general committee of the Protestant American Associations is organized for the same purpose.

A lawyer at Madison, Wis., objected to a juryman, because he declared that if the law of the State was opposed to God's law, he should feel obliged to obey the latter.—But Judge Collins overruled the objection, on the ground that it was not to be presumed that the laws of the State were in conflict with the law of God.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and accordingly there are few for which these Pills are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice:

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"YOUR PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but thorough in their operation, and do not gripe the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Dell, of New York City.

"Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their alterative effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more efficacious for the cure of bilious complaints than any other medicine I can prescribe. I decidedly believe that we have at length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Ewer, of St. Louis.

"The Pills you send me, I and others of my friends have been all used in my practice, and have satisfied me that they are truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the diseases of the Stomach system, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies I could command. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be beyond in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"YOUR PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best medicines I have found. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious diseases, and in larger doses they operate kindly and effectually as a cathartic."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS,

From Dr. J. P. Fenelon, Montreal, Canada.

"TOUR PILLS have proved to me a valuable acquisition to the profession. Their action on the bowels is regular and mild, and they are free from griping pain. Their alterative effect upon the liver makes them an excellent purgative, when a cathartic from this complaint, which, alas! is but too prevalent in this, is the prerogative of others that are useless. I believe, professionally speaking, that your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Benedict Prieto, of Galveston, Texas.

"YOU were right, Doctor, in saying that your Pills purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice and agree with your statements of their efficacy. They cleanse, stir up the torpid liver, and by their action effect changes in the blood, expelling disease. They stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system."

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—FILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS — FITS — ETC.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you other compliments I have conferred with your Pills better than to say all that we now live and use for a purgative, unless, I place great dependence on and effect upon them in my daily contact with disease, and believing as I do that your PILLS afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a relentless remedy in skillful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the frequent and disagreeable consequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every one can be made to know, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Consumptions, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER, and well known, this medicine has gradually become the best relief of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American pioneer to the palaces of the Russian Nobles. Throughout this continent, country, in every state and city, and indeed in most every hamlet it contains, CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is employed by those in their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what man, of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the testimony of intelligent physicians, whose business is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then it is irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the diseases for which it is offered to the public, and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and sustain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrust upon the community, have failed, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, confirmed benefits on the afflicted they put forth at first, and produced cures the most numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

NEW ENGLAND STATES
IN ONE YEAR.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the best intelligence, to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being last dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been led to believe it impossible to apply Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents, R. M. Hackney, and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement. I am convinced from the success I have in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, be it my duty to recommend it as the best article I know in your both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

WAYLAND, MASS., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state that finding my hair growing thin as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely.

Yours &c., S. T. STOCKMAN.

Garden Engines.

THESE engines can be moved and managed by one man for all the purposes of a fire engine, as easily as a wheel barrow, and will be found highly useful in not only supplying Gardens and Nurseries with liquids when they are brought but also for showering Trees and Plants, and for the destruction of Worms, which may be made effectual by an admixture of Sulphur with the water. For washing side walls, also, and windows, and for the extinguishment of fires, it presents additional claims; and rightly considered, may be regarded as a most indispensable article of usefulness and security. The Box will contain about 60 gallons of water, and is placed on cast iron wheels, with handles. For sale by

LOTTERIES.

THE lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. We therefore offer the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that any person has a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $20 to $30,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers.

A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the schemes of the lottery in which it is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. Maryland State Lotteries.

R. FRANCE & CO. ..... MANAGERS.

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of forwarding their Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets. The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. The inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from $20,000 to $40,000 head their schemes—with Prices of Tickets from Dollar. $100,000 capital prizes are offered, tickets at $1 each, in other instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is so much thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets—In every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under the management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other L. tickets which purport to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any Unlicensed vendor, he usually do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed, and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificate, if he does it, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it. Address R. FRANCE & CO.,

These fabrics, since their first introduction to the public, (about three years since,) have been fully tested, and the result has proved them to possess all the qualities requisite to make a perfect article. They have on hand numerous testimonials from gentlemen in the navy and merchant service, which they would be pleased to show any one who would favor them with a call. They have been supplying some of the officers of the Falmouth, who have tested the rubber goods, and found them unfit for sea service.

VOL. 12. PORTSMOUTH, N. H., THURSDAY, JUNE 3, 1858. NO. 102.

DANCING DISALLOWED.—Mr. Patrick Donahoe, of the Boston Pilot, has sent us his book on Dancing; which we find, on a careful perusal, to be the strongest argument and appeal against Balls and Dancing, which we have ever read. It is a neat volume of 216 pages, well printed. To give a little idea of the book, we make an extract from the preface.

"There are dances," writes A. Gillois, "which should be absolutely forbidden, and in which one cannot take a part, not even for a single occasion, without incurring the guilt of mortal sin; such are the waltz, the polka, and the schottische.—These dances are in their own nature bad, because the positions taken are improper; these should be forever banished from decent society, and it is difficult to understand how any female could submit to them, without abandoning the modesty which belongs to her sex. It may happen, too, in other dances, that the dress, gestures, and discourse may strongly tend and strongly excite to voluptuousness; from that moment they become an immediate occasion of sin, and consequently must be avoided. In public dances, such as, among the lowest classes of society, are held in liquor shops and saloons, or those of more respectable rank, termed dress and masquerade balls, and to which all who pay are admitted, there is a license so fearful allowed, that all persons unwilling to abandon them are to be regarded as unworthy of absolution.

THE OVERFLOW OF THE MISSISSIPPI.—The overflow of the Mississippi in the whole length of the valley up to Cairo City, is a disaster of great magnitude. Between these points a large portion of the country is submerged, and should not the water subside by the 15th inst., the damage to the crops will be irreparable. But should there be an opportunity to replant by that time, with a late autumn, there is hope that a fair crop will be realized. The overflow, by clearing the ponds and bayous of stagnant water and accumulations of vegetable matter, is regarded as promising a summer of unusual health.

Louisiana papers of the 21st to the 23d of May, published at various points along the Mississippi, report the river as having fallen from four to six inches, and slowly receding. Submerged levees begin to appear above the surface of the water, and all fears of further damage have subsided. The Hebert crevasse—one of the largest—has been closed. The Planters' Banner, speaking, of the Bell crevasse, remarks:

It has put over forty plantations under water, and destroyed cane enough to make twenty-three thousand hogsheads of sugar. A railroad that cost millions of dollars has nearly stopped operation, the Texas steamers will for a season leave our waters, and an immense sheet of plantations between the Lafourche and the Gulf of Mexico are under water.

A PLUCKY SENATOR.—The Hon. William Campbell, a member of the Wisconsin Senate, received $10,000 of the La Crosse and Milwaukie Railroad bribe two years ago, and was active in corrupting his legislative associates. The Senate at its recent session voted 21 to 5, that he was guilty, and 18 to 6 that he was unworthy of a seat in the body. He, however, retained his seat. A mass meeting at Watertown, where he resides, held without distinction of party, unanimously requested him to resign. He refused. The Common Council of that city, a majority being his political friends, made a similar request by a vote of 7 to 5, but Mr. C. would not comply.

The gold discoveries in the Desmoines valley, Iowa, do not as yet prove remunerative, though some of the local papers assert to the contrary. We saw a letter to-day from the seat of the diggings, written by a New Hampshire man, who says that "three days of exploration with a spade and enabled him to discover several very small grains of gold and several tons of exaggeration."—Manchester American.

A WORD TO THE WEAKER VESSEL.—A lady who obstinately persists in wearing hoops, ought not to complain of being ridiculed. If she will make a barrel of herself, she must expect to be treated as a butt.—Punch.

It was very thoughtful in the Chief of Police of Boston, to arrest, early this week, the strolling cyprians that infest the avenues of that city, evenings. A good deal of forethought is necessary for anniversary week.—Charlestown Adv.

"You are very handsome," said a gentleman to a lady. "Ah!" said the lady, "so you would say if you did not think so." "And so you would think," answered he, "though I did not say so."

WOMAN.—The morning star of infancy; the day star of manhood; the evening star of age. Bless our stars; may we bask in their influence until we are sky-high.

AS A SPRING MEDICINE

MYERS' EXTRACT ROCK ROSE is invaluable. It changes the viscid humors, opens the pores of the skin, promotes insensible perspiration, thereby purifying the blood and invigorating the system. A free use of this medicine, in the spring months, will not only cure all diseases caused by impurities of the blood, but will, beget a healthy action and prepare the system to resist the attacks of fevers, derangement of the bowels, &c., so prevalent in the summer season.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,
(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)

No. 76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston,

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britian, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that THE MOST SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES OFFERED, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense business he has done during the twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office, and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration of the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1857.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, JUNE 3, 1858.

THE SLAVE TRADE.

There is no fact better established than that a large part of the Atlantic slave trade is carried on under American colors. The New York Courier states that "Thirty thousand slaves were piratically imported into Cuba last year from Africa, mostly in American guilt vessels sailing under American colors. England undertakes to put a stop to this. We take offence and say to her, Hands off, and yet do not ourselves lift a finger to stop this atrocious traffic.—This is not creditable; it is wrong. It is virtually extending a shield over the slave trade; neither preventing it ourselves nor suffering others to prevent it. It is conduct, which, if persisted in, will disgrace us before Christendom. Though it is not compatible with the well-being and security of American commerce to permit any foreign nation to stop our merchantmen on the high seas for any cause or pretext whatever, yet the assertion of that principle does not relieve us one whit from the obligation of waging incessant war against these scourges of humanity.

It devolves upon us quite as much and a thousand times more than upon England to keep surveillance over the waters in the neighborhood of Cuba, for it is our flag, and not hers, that is stolen and polluted. We indulge a hope—not a very strong one, to be sure, in consideration of the servile disposition of the administration—but yet we indulge some little hope—that the large force which is soon to gather in the Gulf, will do service not only in protecting legitimate trade, but in checking that trade which of all others under heaven is the most illegitimate and abominable."

Upon this statement the Commercial Advertiser remarks:—"The Courier speaks the truth plainly, but it speaks only the truth. And until our government shows itself determined, at all costs, to make its flag respected at home, and by its own citizens, how can it reasonably expect that other nations will give to it that moral weight to which it ought to be entitled? And how must it be lowered in the estimation of the world when the government permits its own citizens, and even foreigners, to use it as a cover for illegitimate purposes, for the prosecution of a trade which the laws of the republic declare to be piracy, without any serious attempt to save it from such desecration? The fact itself is notorious and undeniable that the American flag is used largely to shield vessels engaged in a traffic which the United States has denounced as strongly as any other government.

This, then, is our position before the world. We say we know this to be the fact, but that we will correct the evil ourselves. But we do not correct it. Is it because we have not the will? If we have not a navy competent to make our flag respected by our own citizens—if we really cannot stop this desecration of our national flag—is it wise to refuse the cooperation of a friendly power? But no one will contend that the government of the United States is powerless to stop this abuse of our national ensign by its citizens or by individual foreign adventurers. What, then, is the conclusion? Why, that it consents to this prostitution of that emblem, which ought to be a password for honor and justice and legitimate commerce. While we say "hands off wherever you see the American flag," to the vessels of every nation and of all nations; while we say that to us alone belongs the prerogative of protecting our flag from being illegitimately used, as well from insult as from other powers, let us do that which is a legitimate corollary of such a declaration, and bring retribution by our navy upon every one who dares thus to desecrate the national ensign."

EMANCIPATED.—About half of the unfortunate stump-tailed cows which have been kept in a large swill milk establishment on Flushing avenue, Brooklyn, have disappeared, and are ruminating upon fresh clover in the vicinity of Jamaica, where a large tract of land has been temporarily leased for their use. The cows are to be kept in the country until fall, when it is presumed the swill-milk war will be ended, when the stump-tails may be expected to resume their old quarters.

So says the New York Day Book of May 29.—But the war against Swill-Milk should not cease. Perhaps however, the Day Book expects a Swill Milk victory in the next city election.

There is only one objection to people who "mean well," and that is, they never can spare time to carry out their meaning.

POLITICIANS.—New Hampshire is famous for raising politicians, both of large and and small growth. Our people take to politics as a duck takes to water. There is no doubt, however, (as the Manchester American remarks,) that the influence of Isaac Hill during the first fifteen or twenty years of his editorial career, did much to cultivate not merely a party spirit and party tactics, but inspired a love of political discussion and excitement which has outlived its originator. The Connecticut or Pennsylvania farmer never reads politics, and doesn't care a tinker's commission which party controls the State government, provided bank notes go without discount, crops are good and bring a fair price, and taxes are moderate. In national politics his ideas are scarcely more definite.

Not so in New Hampshire. The great mass of the people have their favorite political paper which they have usually read from childhood. While yet boys they go to the caucus and town-meeting, peddle votes, carry torch lights, and help do the hurrahing. It is this sort of training that has developed the host of politicians, good and bad, that New Hampshire has sent west.

Our State has been and is prolific beyond all others in this class of production.—Where the system developes true, independent, vigorous and patriotic men, and promotes general intelligence among the masses, it is a benefit. When it originates selfish politicians, men of traffic and expediency, and paupers upon the public bounty, it is an evil of no common magnitude.

☞ Charles Sumner sailed for England May 22d, which curiously happened to be the second anniversary of the atrocious assault on him. At the time of that outrage Caleb Cushing, unfeeling by regarding the the matter as a mere phenomenon of natural history, said that it would cause the death of three men—Butler in whose behalf the deed was committed, Brooks who did it, and Sumner the victim. Long since, partly through shame and remorse as we are assured, Butler and Brooks, the ruffian uncle and nephew, have gone to their own sphere,—(where that is, says the Lowell News, far be from us to judge;) the remainder of the prediction may be fulfilled ere long to the letter, but it already is in spirit, by the living death of the once robust, powerful and active scholar and statesman.

THE ALLEGED FREE STATE OUTRAGES.—It must be confessed (says the Boston Journal) that the Border Ruffians have at last found a supple chronicler in Kansas. Outrages by Free State men form the burden of the news from the vicinity of Fort Scott published in the pro-slavery papers of St. Louis, and industriously circulated over the North by the telegraph. It would be a pity to deprive our pro-slavery friends of this scanty evidence of their oft-repeated assertion that "there are outrages upon both sides," but truth compels us to expose the source from which these accounts emanate.

The author of these letters is the notorious Border Ruffian, Pate, who went over into the Territory in June, 1856, at the head of thirty Missourians, to cut the throats of the Free State men, and surrendered his men up to old Brown, who had only nine men with him.

MARRIAGE EXTRAORDINARY.—The English papers chronicle the marriage, at Cheltenham, of the Right Hon. Stephen R. Lushington, formerly Governor of Bombay, and one of her Majesty's Privy Councillors, and for twenty years chairman of committees in the House of Commons.—The bride was a young lady, plump, and rather good looking, a little out of her teens; and the bridegroom, who was remarkably brisk and frisky in manner, and juvenile in attire, has passed the allotted period of three-score and ten by fifteen years—he is in his 85th year.

This matrimonial escapade has given rise to a good deal of comment, as the gentleman is connected with several of the first families in Kent. The lady upon whom he has conferred the honors of mistress of Norton Court, formerly filled a domestic office in the household.

MOVEMENTS OF EX-PRESIDENT PIERCE.—The United States frigate Cumberland was at Madeira on the 5th ult., and was in a few days to sail for Teneriffe. A private letter, received in Washington, says that General Pierce and his lady intend leaving for Lisbon on the 1st of June for a tour on the continent of Europe. The health of Mrs. Pierce has improved, though she is still an invalid.

How is it proved that Adam was orthodox in his sentiments?

Ans.—Because his belief was undoubtedly Eve angelical.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, on Tuesday, Mr. Mason, in behalf of the Committee on Foreign Relations, reported back, with some slight amendments—Mr. Douglas's bill for the redress of grievances with Central and South America, which authorizes the President to demand "indemnity for the past and protection for the future."—Mr. Slidell moved an amendment, to empower the President, in certain cases, to suspend the neutrality laws. A motion to assign the bill for Wednesday was rejected by twenty-seven majority. The Miscellaneous Civil Appropriation bill underwent a long debate. Several attempts were made to engraft sections covering special and general river harbor improvements, but they were voted down; and the Senate adjourned without taking the question.—Persistent efforts were made, with the intent of either defeating the bill or prolonging the session, or both. Other amendments, it is understood, will be offered.

The House of Representatives passed the Indian Deficiency bill, the three regiment volunteer bill, and concurred in the report of the Conference Committee on the disagreements to the Executive, Judicial and Legislative bill. The Fort Snelling report was then taken up and debated to the close of the session.

☞ An important arrest of four New York rogues, two males and two females, was made in Boston on Tuesday. They were respectably dressed Germans, had the appearance of traders, and according to the testimony of various shopkeepers were, when seen, always together. Their plan was for the men to engage the attention of the shopkeeper by making some small purchase, while the women stowed away the plunder. And upon one of the women was found, underneath the front of her dress, a capacious cambric bag, to which a slit in the dress itself gave communication. Into this bag all the goods stolen were slipped, and thus they were enabled to operate with but a slight chance of detection. The goods found in their possession, are valued at over three hundred dollars.

IOWA FASHIONS.—At Muscatine, last week, Mr. John T. Brown who went there a year or two ago from Newburyport, where he was much respected, proceeded in the evening to his grocery store to put his dog in, two individuals near by sprung upon him, knocked him down, gagged him, bound him hand and foot, took him into the store, robbed him of all his money and valuables, took what they wanted from the store, left him bound, and set fire to the store. The alarm of fire called out the inhabitants, who saved him from being burned to death.

REPEAL OF USURY LAWS.—The Governor of Pennsylvania has approved the act of the Legislature, modifying the usury laws. Lenders and borrowers may now contract at any rate of interest they please, the law taking no cognizance of any higher rate, however, than 6 per cent., and will lend no aid to collect back any greater rate paid, unless the suit for the recovery of the same is brought within six months from the time of the transaction.

"The Magnificent 'home squadron,'" said the Portsmouth, Va., Transcript, "consists of two vessels, one of which is now at Tampico."

The above was written before the editor got the news. The steamer Arctic, a substantial old "light boat" of about 200 tons, has since been sent out where the British screw Styx, of 1400 tons, was last seen. True the Styx might plump a 68 pounder into the Arctic and send her to the bottom, but then the "light boat" didn't go out there for that—she has gone to the Gulf to "protect our commerce!"—Charlestown Advertiser.

A NEW GOLD FEVER.—The advices from California, state that a new gold fever was raging, and a great rush of adventurers had been made for the Frazer's river diggings in Oregon. The probability is that this is one of the humbugs, similar to the Gold Lake story in 1850, and to the Gold Bluff and other hoaxes since. Gold is the poorest crop you can dig from the ground, at any rate—even when it yields largely. Potatoes affected with the rot, pay better, in the long run.

INDICTMENT OF LIQUOR SELLERS.—The Grand Jury of Essex county made a return of their indictments to the Court of Common Pleas in session at Newburyport on Saturday. Among the arraignments were eleven persons as common sellers of spirituous liquors.

SUITABLE PUNISHMENT.—An entire Chinese regiment, for having abandoned an untenable fort, has been sentenced to wear for five years women's clothes.—Exchange.

All the John Chinamen we ever saw, wore "women's clothes" from choice.

THE FOREST FLOWER.

That delicate forest flower,

Seems, as it issues from the shapeless mould,
An emanation of the indwelling Life,
A visible token of the upholding Love,
That are the soul of this wide universe.

SUMMER MORNING.

With quickened step
Brown night retires; young day pours in apace
And opens all the lawny prospect wide.
The dipping rock, the mountain's misty top
Swell on the sight, and brighten with the dawn.
Blue, through the dark, the smoking currents shine;
And from the bladed field the fearful hare
Limps awkward; while along the forest glade
The wild deer trips, and often turning gazes
At early passenger. Music awakes
The native voice of undisembled joy;
And thee, around the woodland hymns arise.
Roused by the cock, the soon clad shepherd leaves
His mossy cottage, where with peace he dwells;
And from the crowded fold, in order, drives
His flock, to taste the verdure of the morn.
—[Thomson.

MORNING PRAYER.

To prayer, to prayer!—for the morning breaks,
And Earth in her Maker's smile awakes.
His light is on all below and above,
The light of gladness, and life, and love.
Often, on the breath of this early air,
Send upward the incense of grateful prayer.

BEAUTIFUL METAPHOR.—Henry Ward Beecher in one of the "star" papers in the New York Independent, says:—

We have known men, upon whose grounds wave magnificent trees of centuries growth, lifted up into the air with vast breadth, and full of twilight and midday; who cut down these mighty monarchs, and cleared the ground bare; and then when the fierce summer sun gazed full into their face with its fire, they bethought themselves of shade, and forthwith set out a golden generation of thin, shadowless sticks, pining and waiting until they should stretch out their boughs with protection and darken the ground with grateful shadows. Such fully is theirs who refuse the tree of life, the shadow of the Almighty, and sit, instead, under the feeble trees of their own planting, whose tops will never be broad enough to shield them, and whose boughs will never voice to them the music of the air.

SILAS WRIGHT, with his estate of $4,000, was really wealthier than many others are with $100 000. He owed no man anything: he met his obligations with the utmost promptness, and never indulged in any luxury that he could not pay for. He was a model of republican simplicity. It should also be understood that he was not mean in saving money. When he was elected Governor of the great state of New York, he was known to be too poor to furnish his house. His rich friends got together, and without his knowledge made up a subscription, which was tendered to him as a gift, in order to furnish his mansion. This he respectfully but kindly declined, saying with a true Roman grandeur, that he could not consent to receive such a favor from any one—even from his most esteemed friends; he was elected by the people to be Governor of the State of New York, and he considered it his imperative duty to live on whatever income the people had appended to that office; and he did live on that income while he was Governor, in good style, but with no ostentation.

FIVE CHILDREN AT ONE BIRTH.—A woman residing in Scotland gave birth to three male and two female children. The three boys were born alive, and lived till the following morning, but the two girls were stillborn. The births were premature, being in the six month; but what is very extraordinary all were full grown for the period of gestation; nor is this the most surprising circumstance in the case—one of the boys having actually two front teeth when he came into the world. The woman is doing wonderfully well.—Elgin Courant, Scotland.

An old gentleman says that he is the last man in the world to tyrannize over a daughter's affections. So long as she marries the man of his choice, he don't care who she loves.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

MYERS' ROCK ROSE.

We have but very little faith in patent medicines generally, in consequence of the thousand and one quack nostrums which are retailed through this country, with no earthly use but to swindle the purchaser out of his money. Occasionally, however, a good medicine is universal, and such we believe to be the article which heads this notice. We have had occasion to use several bottles of the "Rock Rose" for dyspepsia and indigestion, and the results have been highly beneficial. We advise others to try the Rock Rose, because we believe they will be benefited by it.—[Plymouth Rock.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION.

The inutility of ordinary medicines, in this fatal disease, is an undeniable fact. Pulmonary Consumption being primarily and essentially due to improper assimilations and disordered nutrition can be rationally attacked only by a medicine which renovates the nutrive powers.—Such a medicine is the PERUVIAN SYRUP, whose chief ingredient acts directly and immediately on the blood and arrests the disease safely and surely, wherever relief is possible.

THESE Pills are nothing new, but have been used by the Doctor for many years, but in France and America, with unparalled success in every case; and he is urged by many thousand ladies who have used them to make the Pills public for the alleviation of those suffering from any irregularities whatever, as well as to put end to pregnancy in those ladies whose health will not permit an increase of family. Pregnant females, or those supposing themselves so, are cautioned against using these Pills while pregnant, as the proprietor assumes no responsibility after the above admonition, although their mildness would prevent the slightest ill-effect to the body; otherwise these Pills are recommended. Full and explicit directions accompany each box.

LOCAL.

☞ About $150,000 of Uncle Sam's money is to be expended on the Custom House and Post Office Building, now in course of erection here. $52,000 is the sum named in the naval appropriation bill, to construct and complete the work of the year at our Navy Yard, and for current expenses and repairs. $50,000 has also been appropriated to enlarge and improve Fort Constitution, at the mouth of the Piscataqua river. Well, the old gent couldn't spend his $252,000 in a better place, nor where he would get a larger return for it. Our mechanics know how to build ships,—and don't "hog" them in launching, either.—Send along your orders.

☞ Our ship-builders are not doing a large business at present. There are four ships on the stocks, at three yards on the Piscataqua, of about 1000 tons each. Tobey & Littlefield have one, nearly ready for launching—on which they have suspended operations till a purchaser is found. Pettigrew & Marcy have another ship on their stocks, approaching completion; and at the Raynes yard, are two ships, well nigh finished,—one contracted for, and the other for sale.

☞ There seems to be a general interest in the repair and improvement of church edifices in this city, the present year. The Freewill Baptists have just built a new meeting-house; and the Adventists enlarged and beautified their chapel. The Unitarians last year built a new Sunday School Chapel—in which they are now worshipping, while the Stone Church is being repaired. Then the Christian Society now worshipping at the Temple, are talking of building a new church; and the Universalists are considering a plan for remodelling the inside of their church.

☞ Two cases of murder trial from this city, will probably come before the next term of the Supreme Judicial Court, that of Nelson N. Downing, for the shooting of Mrs. D. H. Spinney; and of "Dr." Stewart, for causing the death of his wife, by abortion. Downing meets with far more sympathy than Stewart, from the public. Downing was himself very badly bruised in his encounter with Spinney—and was sick for some time, but has now recovered his health in a good degree.

A Reform Proposed.—Messrs. Editors: You say, very truly, that those who rejoiced over the punishment of a faithful policeman for doing his duty, have no right now to find fault with policemen for letting a criminal go when they had no warrant.

But I was not one who rejoiced—on the contrary, I condemned the perjury and chicanery by which the rioters were set free and suffered to be witnesses against a man who did his duty.—And now I have a right to find fault, and I do find fault with the slackness of officers who let such a dangerous criminal go off, after he had offered to give himself up. He should have been put in the lock-up at once, and thence sent to jail,—and so should Stewart have been put out of sight at once, and not suffered to walk about streets two or three days, with an officer.

I have a reform to propose in our city government, viz. keep our excellent and accurate City Clerk, to make the taxes and look after the finances; dispense with the City Council; hire or buy two dozen good watch dogs to guard property and keep order, instead of the police; let out the collection of taxes at auction, taking good bonds; and dispense with other officers.

Law and Order.

Messrs. Editors:—Have you seen the Little Fairy Sisters? If you have not, go by all means; for they are the dearest little creatures;—so active and pretty, so strong and funny;—and only about as big as a clever cat. The gentlemen and ladies who have seen them are delighted with their symmetry and beauty, so different from most rare sights. Maria.

A Converted Man.—A few days since, City Marshal Rugg and George Tolliver were engaged in conversation, when Tolliver suddenly asked Mr. Rugg if the citizens generally thought that he was in any way concerned in Stone's disappearance. Upon Mr. R. replying that there was such a feeling, Tolliver exclaimed: "Well, I have made my peace with God and man, and don't care one d——n for any of them!"—Chelsea Herald.

Some time ago Dr. Stewart, in a store in this city, declared himself a full believer in the resurrection of the identical human body, which should enter heaven.—What? says one of the hearers, do you expect to go heaven in this same body? Yes, indeed, I do, says the Dr. "I would not give a d——n to go there without it." He and Tolliver seem to be of the same school, as to language, and in some other respects.

N. H. Episcopal Convention.—A Concord delegate to this Convention, held in this city last week, concludes an article in the Patriot thus:

All the sessions of the Convention were characterized by great unanimity and fraternal feeling; and the clergy of New Hampshire seem like a band of brothers, working together for one cause, while the laity are ready to co-operate with all their might in every good word and work. The good people of St. John's tendered their utmost hospitality to the Convention, or at least to the clerical members of it, while the Rev. Dr. Burroughs, for forty-eight years the Rector of the church, had all the clergy to dine with him on Wednesday, and on the evening of the same day opened wide his doors to all, both clergy and laity.

I liked Portsmouth very much, and enjoyed my visit there exceedingly. It is a quiet town, some of the streets grass-grown, but having many fine looking houses and beautiful gardens. Amid all the busy hours of the Convention, I found time to witness a portion of the services at the laying of the corner-stone of the new Custom House, and to make a visit to the Navy Yard. The return to Concord was not so pleasant, seeing we were obliged to come by the freight train, and I must confess I found the long stoppings and the incessant backings rather a trial to my patience.

☞ The City Council of Manchester have appropriated $100 for their Cornet Band, without demanding any return. What is the City Council of Portsmouth going to do for our Cornet Band this year?

Don't Take Well.—The Portland Advertiser says the Executive favors recently shown to Messrs. Parris and Wiggin of Maine, do not seem to please all wings of the Democracy. The Bath Organ, a good Democratic sheet, thus alludes to them:

"A few days since the telegraph announced the appointment of Virgil D. Parris to the office of Naval Storekeeper at Portsmouth. Now the same channel affords the flattering intelligence that Benj. R. Wiggin of Bangor, is appointed Commissioner under the fishery treaty with Great Britain. It is a satisfaction to know there is a "lower depth" below which it is impossible to go. Has not that depth been reached? What portion of the Maine democracy has ever asked for rewarding of either of these precious disturbers of the party's peace? What great sin is scored against the democracy of this State that they should be so severely punished?"

NEW HAMPSHIRE LEGISLATURE.

The Great and General Court of New Hampshire assembled at Concord, on Wednesday, June 2d. The usual preliminary caucuses were held on Tuesday evening.—The Democrats nominated Walter Harriman, of Warner, for Speaker of House of Representatives, and Thomas J. Smith of Wentworth for Clerk. The Republicans had a very exciting meeting, and selected Napoleon B. Bryant of Concord as their candidate for Speaker; with Henry O. Kent of Lancaster for Clerk, and Edward Sawyer for Assistant Clerk—and these Republican candidates were promptly elected on Wednesday; and Austin F. Pike, President of the Senate, with Calvin May Clerk, and Greenleaf Cummings Assistant Clerk.

The Governor's Address will be delivered to-day, and we shall probably present it to our readers to-morrow, in our Daily and Weekly issues.

Another American Vessel Fired into and one Man Killed.—New York, June 2.—The Herald's Washington correspondent says reliable information has been received that a British cruiser had fired into an American vessel off Pensacola, and that one man was killed; furthermore, that the U. S. steamer Fulton had gone in chase of the cruiser.

Brig Minaus, from Jamaica, reports being boarded May 20, by British steamer Styx, and after being detained for an hour, allowed to proceed.

Special Dispatches from Lord Napier to the British Admiral—The Search of American Vessels to be Stopped.—Washington, June 1.—Lord Napier has desired his dispatches to Admiral Stewart, sent from Washington yesterday, to be forwarded from Halifax, by special steamer to Bermuda. He has advised the Admiral to order a discontinuance of the visitation of American vessels, pending the instructions of Her Majesty's government.

☞ The royal mail steamship America, from Liverpool, May 22d, arrived at Halifax, June 2.

The sales of the week in the Liverpool cotton market were 37,000 bales. All qualities were 1-16 to 1-8d lower.

Breadstuffs market dull, and corn was slightly lower.

The provision market was generally steady.

☞ The store of Samuel Hidden of Tamworth village, N. H., was burned on Thursday night, together with the shoe manufactory of Freeman S. Tilton. Nearly all the stock of goods, with the buildings, were consumed.

Medical Society.—The New Hampshire Medical Society held their annual meeting on Tuesday, in Concord. Ex-Governor Noah Martin was chosen President.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these PILLS cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. E. W. Chubbuck, of New Orleans.

"YOUR PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Dell, of New York City.

"Not only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose in all ordinary cases, but I find their wonderful effect upon the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved more effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely believe that we have at length a purgative pill which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry J. Knox, of St. Louis.

"The PILLS you were kind enough to send me have been all used in practice, and have uniformly proved to be a most truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the diseases of the human system, that they seem to work upon them with the certainty of a law upon its effects. Dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimented upon them so much that I now rely almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"YOUR PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. Their alterative effect upon the liver renders them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mrs. E. Stuart, who practises as a Physician and Midwife in Cincinnati.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promotives of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to clear out the stomach and bowels of worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Peaslee, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your PILLS for the cure of costiveness. If others as our fraternity have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join us in proclaiming it to the world. A medicine to be safe from that complaint which afflicts nine-tenths of the human population of civilized life, is a desideratum. I believe costiveness originals in the liver, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure the disease."

IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Kendal Bell, Philadelphia.

"You were, then, frankly to inform you that your PILLS purify the blood. They do that. I have used them of late years in my practice, and agree with your statements of their efficacy. They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the impurities that engender the disease. They purge, they alterate, they stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE — SICK HEADACHE — FOUL STOMACH — PILES — DROPSY — PLETHORA — PARALYSIS — FITS — &c.

From Dr. Richard Bond, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer your market complaints I have cured with your PILLS better than to say all that we ever treat with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on all effectual laxatives in my daily contact with disease, and nothing as I do that your PILLS afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its inconsiderate use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every ounce of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and secured by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the surest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COUGHS, COLDS, CROUP, BRONCHITIS, HOARSENESS, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As this preparation is free from opiates and bitter herbs, it is the safest and most reliable medicine for the relief of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every town and city, and indeed almost every hamlet is certain CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what time of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the assurance of hundreds of physicians, whose business it is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other medicines known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have come up from time to time, have flourished, fallen, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, confirmed benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most respectable sources, to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery made by Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHOCTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co:—Gentlemen: I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackman), and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement. I am convinced it is the best article in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

WAYLAND, Mass., Feb. 5, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to say, I was failing my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours &c., JAMES FRANCIS.

Use Philbrick's Celebrated Fire-Kindlings.

THESE Kindlings are the best of all kindling that has ever been used for wood or charcoal fires. They are CHEAP, a BOX containing 144 squares, 1 square being sufficient to kindle a fire, burning from 8 to 10 minutes with a free blaze, therefore kindling nearly 6 fires for 1 cent, and are not affected by the weather, as other kindlings are, being composed of a substance not liable to spontaneous combustion; thereby dispensing with use of shavings and paper, thus removing a great risk of fire from building, and are HANDIER, CHEAPER and CLEANER.

DIRECTIONS.—One of the small squares lighted and placed on the bottom of the stove or grate is sufficient to kindle a wood or charcoal fire.

A PROCLAMATION
TO THE LADIES.

WHEREAS, it appears that the days of right, honor, and integrity are fast fading away, and WHEREAS, the unscrupulous and ignorant are daily taking advantage of the profound and learned. BE IT KNOWN THEREFORE, to all, whether MAIDS, WIVES, or WIDOWS, that DR. CHEESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS are ALONE the certain panacea for the troubles incident to female disorganization; they ALONE correcting all painful menstruation, assuaging palpitations of the heart, and deep pain in the side, and causing health and happiness to whole families; more emphatically to the MARRIED PORTION, as they are certain to bring on the monthly period with regularity.—AND WHEREAS, these PILLS are purely vegetable and entirely free from mineral's, therefore perfectly harmless in their operations and wholly unlike other nostrums thrust upon the public, purporting to effect the objects achieved by them. THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS of DR. CHEESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, when PRESCRIPTIONS have been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread amongst them, to their own everlasting benefit, always promising that said Proclamation in one case must be considered RULE AND NOT; that is to say the PILLS MUST NOT be taken when any female is in a state of pregnancy, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

Explicit directions, to be carefully read, accompany each box. Price $1. Sent by mail on enclosing $1 to DR. CORNELIUS L. CHEESEMAN, Box No. 4,581, Post Office, New York City. Sold by Druggists in every town in the United States.

Given under my hand and seal.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have twenty commissioners appointed to superintend their Drawings, and certify that everything connected with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the interests of parties at a distance being as well secured as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that all persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, as the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2.50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one number on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $20,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to ticket holders.

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m18 1y

CAUTION NOTICE.

PERSONS living at a distance should be extremely cautious of whom they order Lottery Tickets or Certificates of Packages of Tickets.—The country is flooded with bogus and swindling Lotteries. Every inducement is held out to get persons to invest money in them. Capital Prizes of from one to ten thousand dollars are in their schemes—with tickets at One Dollar. $100,000 in prizes are offered, tickets $5. All such, in every instance, are frauds; and if money is sent to them for tickets, it is mostly stolen, thrown away without the shadow of a chance of getting a prize. Beware of all Lotteries where the Capital Prize is unusually large in comparison to the price of tickets.—In every instance where large prizes are offered for a small cost of tickets, put it down as a certain fraud.

The Kentucky State Lottery for the benefit of the Shelby College, under our management, is the only Lottery in the United States which is legally decided by the Maryland Drawings; all other Lotteries which pur port to be decided by the Maryland Drawings, are frauds.

THE MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES.

Purchase in the Maryland State Lotteries, then you are sure of being right. And in ordering in the Maryland Lotteries, you are sure of fair and honest drawings.

One thing look to, and that is, if you order from any licensed vender in Baltimore, do not receive any but Managers' Tickets and Managers' Printed Certificates of Packages. The Managers' Certificates have the numbers printed and have the lithographic signature of R. France & Co.

No one has a right to send his individual certificates. If he doesth, be sure there is a fraud at the bottom of it. R. FRANCE & CO.,

THE WORD "CARRIAGES."

"We took up our carriages, and went up to Jerusalem."—Acts 21:15.

This is one of the passages, whose meaning is quite like likely to be misapprehended, unless the reader is well acquainted with the changes which have taken place in the English language since the Bible was translated. Probably nine-tenths of all who read the verse, suppose, and very naturally too, that Paul and his companions were provided with such conveniences as now are known by the name of carriages.—Even writers of books have fallen into the same error. Thus we read in Wilson's "Travels in Egypt and the Holy Land":

"This, I am inclined to believe, was not the track which was taken by the Apostle Paul, when he went up to Jerusalem from the coast, as he appears to have travelled a some conveyance moved on wheels; for it is so far from possible to draw one along, that, on the contrary, a great exertion is necessary to travellers to get forward their mules."

The error here is a comparatively harmless and amusing one, but the same mistake has been made the foundation of serious evil at the truth of the passage. "How is this possible," says a modern objector, "when there is nothing but a mountain track, impassable for wheels, between Cæsarea and Jerusalem?" The blunder in the former case, and the sneer in the latter could alike have been saved, had the writers known that when the Bible was translated, 'carriage' did not mean "that which carries," but "that which was carried." "We took up our carriages' means no more and no less than 'we took up our baggage' or, as one of the earlier translations familiarly expresses it, "we trussed up our larder."

Prof. Scholefield, in his "Hints for an improved translation of the New Testament," recommends that the passage be rendered, "we put up our baggage." There are other passages in the Bible where the word "carriage" is evidently used as synonymous with baggage. For example:

"So they turned and deserted, and put the little ones, and the cattle, and the carriage before them."—Judges 28:21.

"And David left his carriage in the hand of the keeper of the carriage."—1 Samuel 17:22.

David's "carriage" consisted, as we learn from the proceeding verses, of an ephah of parched corn, ten loaves of bread and ten cheese. Examples of a similar character may readily be cited from historians and essayists who were contemporaneous with the translations of the Bible.

North in his translations of Plutarch, says, "that Spartacus withdrew an opposing army, and took all their carriages;" and Bacon quoting 1 Sam. 30:24, speaks of those "who stood with the carriages," substituting the word "carriages" for "stuff," which appears in the ordinary version.

In fact, "carriages," "luggage," and "baggage" were not only formed in the same way, but were originally synonyms; baggage being that which is bagged, luggage, that which is lugged, and carriage that which is carried.—Ft. Chronicle.

BY-AND-BY.—"By-and-by" is the bridal bell of the world. It is rung by the hands of Hope, and proclaims the wedding of the heart to-day with the bliss of to-morrow.

When we were children we fancied the school bell rang out an articulate "come to school," or "go and play." More real and audible beats the universal heart, "by-and-by"—"by-and-by."

Like the arrow that the fairy bore on which the force of the bow was spent—like the cloud and the pillar that went before the host in the desert—is "by-and-by;" there is a promised land and a thousand summer isles beyond it. Whether it beats beneath Ishmael's dusky vestment, or the snowy billows of Circassian bosoms, it is never blest and forever "by-and-by."

A YANKEE SHIPMASTER. — Lord Byron told the following story:

In the same frigate, near the Dardanelles, we nearly ran down an American trader, with his cargo of notions. Our captain, old Bathurst, hailed, and with the dignity of a lord asked him where he came from and the name of the ship. The Yankee captain bellowed:

"Why, you copper-bottomed serpent, I guess you'll know when I've reported you to Congress!"

Efforts are being made by leading politicians and others in the Catholic interest, for the appointment of Joseph R. Chandler, of Philadelphia, as Minister to Rome; but powerful representations against it are being urged by the President's friends.

Senator Henderson of Texas is quite sick, and his recovery is looked upon as doubtful.

Some musical publisher or teacher, once wrote or said "that the art of playing on the violin required the nicest perception, and the most delicate sensibility of any art of the known world." Some country editor, in commenting on it, says, "The art of publishing a country newspaper and making it pay, beats the art of fiddling higher than a kite."

AN OLD GARDENER.—In Marblehead, Mass., it is said that an old lady, ninety-nine years of age, last week dug and planted her garden patch.

MYERS' EXTRACT ROCK ROSE is invaluable. It changes the vicid humors, opens the pores of the skin, promotes insensible perspiration, thereby purifying the blood and invigorating the system. A free use of this medicine, in the spring months, will not only cure all disease caused by impurities of the blood, but will beget a healthy action and prepare the system to resist the attacks of fevers, derangement of the bowels, &c., so prevalent in the summer season.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY, solicitor of Patents,

(Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)

No. 76 State st, opp. Kilby st, Boston, AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, specifications, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions,—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting a Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but, combining the following advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as a SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr Eddy as one of the best informed and most skillful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of obtaining their application in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

From the present Commissioner.

AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the Office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the office, as Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the Office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, JUNE 4, 1858.

CORRESPONDENCE.

HAMPTON, June 2.

The marriage of Dr. Antonio Knight, of I-don't-know-where, and Miss Somebody, of Ireland, which came off here last week, makes some talk and laugh. The loving couple came over Railroad; and the conductor, in whose train they came, brought a letter from some of the Doctor's friends, directed to the Town Clerk of any town where they might get out, warning him that the Doctor was a crazy man. This letter was delivered—nevertheless they got their certificate somehow, and carrying it to a minister, were married. Some said the bride had another husband living;—but the bride said "No, he had been dead four months."—She, however, was published and married, as she said, by her maiden name. The happy couple left the same day, by rail.

It is said no drunkard's drink is sold here,—the law, the gospel, and the temperance effort all conspiring to crush it out. Laus Deo.

Here is another old meeting-house, with its square pews, sounding board, &c. It is somewhat out of repair, but for 300 or 400 dollars, could be put in order and painted outside. It is a well proportioned building, with excellent frame, just the thing to keep for a town house, and for a free house for extra religious, political, or other meetings. The town of Hampton would save money and add to the good looks of their town, by giving it a good repair and painting. VISITER.

☞ The story put forth by the New York papers, that "reliable information had been received in Washington that a British cruiser had fired into an American vessel off Pensacola and that one man was killed,"—further, "that the steamer Fulton had gone in chase of the cruiser," is contradicted by the Boston Courier's Washington correspondent, who states that he believes it to be false. The rumor had been current in Washington three days ago. No such report had reached the Government.

☞ Brown is compiling a new grammar, and encounters many obstacles. His last trial nearly overcame him. He wishes to have his work complete, and to properly classify every word is no small task. The word which came so near exhausting his intellect, was the monosyllable—Egg,—the gender of which is supposed to be ambiguous until the period of hatching is passed—but Brown is an original, and immediately invents a new classification which he entitles the 'en-gender, under which he enters the egg.

SARGENT'S SCHOOL MONTHLY.—The June number of this attractive periodical has been published by Epes Sargent. It is crammed with short articles, which are both instructive and amusing: poetry, original and selected, and miscellany.

☞ Squoggs had a bow from the grand Turk when he was here, and on relating the circumstance to one of his friends, was asked what he had done with it.

"Oh," he replied, "I didn't want it, so I returned it."

☞ One day last week, Mr. Stephen Swett, residing in Upper Gilmanton, who was 88 years old on the 20th inst., with his wife, who is about the same age, planted a half acre of corn, he putting in ashes and covering the hill after his wife had dropped the seed.

☞ Jumperts the tonsorial murderer, is now in prison in Chicago, the coroner's jury having "found" that he is guilty of the murder of his paramour whose body was sent in a barrel to New York.

TEN DOLLARS A PLATE.—The Atlas & Bee says that the Democratic Club, who are to get up a "people's" celebration of the 4th of July, have ordered a dinner at the Revere House, the price of which is to be at the democratic figure of ten dollars per plate.

☞ On Monday next, June 7, the people in the State of Maine are to vote on the question, License? or Prohibition?—Rum, or No Rum.

☞ It is said that branches or leaves of the common Elder Bush, hung or strewn on trees, vines, &c., will keep off bugs and insects.

NATURAL PRAYER.—"Give me neither poverty nor riches—especially not poverty."

He is the wisest man, who can crowd the most good actions into now.

CONGRESS.

WEDNESDAY, June 2.

SENATE.—The business was of no public interest till 1 o'clock, when Mr. Mason procured the consent of the Senate to make the resolution concerning the British aggressions the special order for Saturday at noon.

Mr. Houston of Texas tried to bring up his resolution in reference to a Protectorate over Mexico. In speaking of the resolution he said if the government of this nation do not interpose in the name of outraged humanity in Mexico, men will be found who will not shrink from interposing to protect their rights and the rights of their fellow citizens. He could not hesitate if necessity demanded him to do so.—They who do will neither be liable to the name of fillibusters, nor amenable to the reproach of marauding. Therefore he demanded an expression, by yeas and nays, of opinion by the Senate, to show whether they will do anything or nothing in the matter.

Mr. Hunter of Virginia here suggested that he hoped the Senator would accept the Senate's expression of opinion as decisive.

A vote was taken with the following result:

Yeas—Messrs. Clingman, Fitch, Hale, Houston, Johnson of Tenn., Mallory, Polk, Pugh, Rice, Simmons, Slidell, Stuart, Tombs, Trumbull, Wade, Wright. 16.

Nays—Messrs. Benjamin, Bigler, Broderick, Brown, Cameron, Clark, Clay, Colamer, Davis, Dixon, Durkee, Fessenden, Foote, Foster, Green, Hamlin, Hammond, Harlan, Hunter, Iverson, Jones, Kennedy, King, Mason, Pearce, Reid, Seward, Thompson of Ky., Wilson and Yulee—30.

The Miscellaneous Appropriation bill was then taken up and amended; but the Senate adjourned without taking the final question.

The House of Representatives resumed the consideration of the Fort Snelling report. It was debated at great length and amended, by declaring that the management of the sale was injudicious and improper; and then, when disposed of, several private bills, including a three years' pension to Mrs. Capt. Herndon, were passed. The report of the Committee on Elections on the Minnesota and Dacotah cases was taken up; and while debated, the "honor bio" Mr. Hughes said to the "honorable" Mr. Harris "You are a liar." Pending the question the House adjourned.

The Judge Watrous impeachment case, which has been before the Judiciary Committee of Congress for some time past, has been brought to an end by a tie vote.

An attempt is to made to prolong the session of Congress two or three weeks.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—[N. Y. Tribune Corr.]—The Administration is desirous now that the session should be extended sufficiently to allow an answer from England to Gen. Cass's first letter of May 12th, concerning the acts of visitation, to be received, which is expected in a fortnight.

The President is unreserved in the opinion that England will disavow the outrages fully and promptly, and asserts that the relations between the two countries were never established on a more friendly footing, and cannot be disturbed.

The Vice-President has ordered the refectory attached to the Senate to be closed, on account of the obvious injury to the progress of legislation from it, beside the fact that it creates personal difficulties.

FOREIGN NEWS.—Steamer America, from Liverpool May 22d, has arrived at Halifax, and her news is three days later than that of the Indian. In the English House of Lords, it was stated a communication had been received from Sir James Outram, explaining Lord Canning's Oude confiscation proclamation. It was also stated that Naples had refused to promise indemnity for imprisoning the English engineers found on board the steamer Cagliari. In the House of Commons, Mr. Caldwell withdrew his resolution censuring the Derby Ministry for Lord Ellenborough's despatch to the Governor-General of India. The contract between the Atlantic Telegraph Company and the English Government had been signed and the cable fleet was ready to sail on an experimental trip. The clipper ship Red Jacket had arrived at Liverpool from Australia, bringing 46,000 ounces of gold and 23,000 sovereigns. The Derby race was won by Sir Joseph Hawley's horse, Beadsman—Lord Derby's Fazophobite coming in second. The northwest coast of Ireland had been visited by heavy gales. The government of Algeria is to be given to Prince Napoleon. The Turkish government has compromised the Montenegro difficulty. There is nothing from France. It is reported that Naples has asked Russia for assistance. Another Mazzini rising is anticipated in Italy. At Liverpool, sales of cotton closed with an upward tendency, but breadstuffs were dull, and there were no offers for corn over 31s.

David Parker, the chief sachem of the Canterbury Shakers, a very sensible, practical, shrewd and companionable man, has been appointed secret mail agent by Mr. Buchanan.—Manchester (N. H.) Mirror.

Billy Bowlegs says that give him "seven men to follow on the war track, and he can lick all the United States, and scalp big father at Washington! Whoop!"

LOCAL.

POLICE COURT.

JUNE 2.

Before Justice Odell.—Two minors, Joseph Fitzgerald and Daniel Hill, plead guilty to the charge of stealing a wherry. They were fined $3 each; costs $5.97 to be divided; and they were to pay the owner of the boat $12, as damages;—but having no money they went to jail. Another minor, Wm. Buckley, who was with them in the theft, disappeared before the arrest.

☞ Mr. Samuel M. DeMeritt was appointed Teacher of the Cabot Street School, by the Committee of District No. 2, in this city, at their meeting on Wednesday.

GOOD BREAD.—Mr. John Nutter, baker, of this city, has left with us a box well filled with the various samples of bread from his bakery—including wine, milk, soda and pilot biscuits, crackers and sponge cake—all of excellent quality, and fully equal to any that is brought into our city by pedlers from abroad. We have a number of good bakers in our city who furnish generally as good bread to their customers as those in other cities who by liberal advertising have acquired a more extended celebrity. Our citizens would do well to support and encourage their own worthy townsmen instead of putting thousands yearly into the pockets of those who pay taxes and invest their gains elsewhere.—Ballot.

SUMMER RESORT.—It will be seen by an advertisement in our paper today that Mr. James H. Diman will open his beautiful Highland Cottage in Stratham for the entertainment of summer visitors on Monday next. We called on Mr. Diman a few days since and found him engaged in thoroughly repainting and beautifying his house to increase its attractiveness to visitors. His grounds never looked better at this season of the year, and his strawberry vines and fruit trees give promise of a bountiful yield. The ride from Portsmouth, Exeter, Rye, Hampton or other towns in the vicinity to the Highland Cottage is a delightful one at this season, and the refreshment and entertainment there given visitors is the most agreeable that could be desired. We wish the proprietor all the success that his efforts to please the public deserve.—Ballot.

THE ENGLISH CLASSICS.

A wretch sends the following "Part of an L-e-g" to the Chicago Times, written upon an observation made in a muddy street on a rainy day:—

The rustled silk—the knell of parted gold,
With waving ease, floats by me like a sea,
When rising, lo!—from many a lovely fold—
Much grace appears to sunshine and to me.
From out the ample hoops' invulnerable shade,
Where heave 12 yards in many a graceful heap,
Each in its place, and as if half afraid,
Feet like to mice peep from out their lair do peep.
Full many an an ancle hid from eye terrene,
The deep recess of crinoline doth bear:
Full many a charm is born to blush unseen,
And waste its graces in the darkened air.
Let not grim prudery, with useless toil,
Hide all these charms in over anxious care;
Nor cynics hear with a disdainful smile
Of the dear entwining leg ends of the fair.
For them indeed doth busy commerce strive:
The blesting kid parts with his outward wear,
And Lynn on Massachusetts Bay doth thrive,
Where Yankee Crispin plies his thrifty care.
Who, not to dumb torpidity a prey,
At once a pleasing vision e'er resigned—
Passed a trim ancle on a muddy way,
Nor cast one longing, lingering look behind?

KNOWING WHAT ONE'S ABOUT.—"Half the evil in this world," says Ruskin, in his "Stones of Venice," "comes from people not knowing what they do like—not deliberately setting themselves to find out what they really enjoy. All people enjoy giving money, for instance; they don't know that—they rather think they like keeping it; and they do keep it, under this false impression, often to their great discomfort. Every body likes to do good; but not one in a hundred finds this out. Multitudes think they like to do evil; yet no man ever really enjoyed doing evil since God made the world."

I TOLD YOU SO!—"Ah! Mr. Smith, you've killed your pig, I see; how much did he weigh?"

"Well, he didn't weigh as much as I thought he would, and I didn't expect he would!"

SCHROON LAKE, ESSEX CO., N. Y., February 6, 1858

W. E. HAGAN, Troy, N. Y.—Dear Sir: Having used your Hair Coloring over Seven Months, and having been much pleased with it I take pleasure in making the following statement: From the effects of a very severe fit of sickness when about eighteen years of age my hair commenced turning grey, and so continued to grow until it became perfectly white, being very harsh and coarse. Last summer I purchased my fifty third year, when I was induced by a friend to purchase two bottles of Heimstreet's Hair Coloring, prepared by you. I commenced using it according to directions, and in a few days was surprised to find that my hair from the roots outward was turning back to its original color. It so continued to grow until it was as truly brown and glossy as it was in my youthful days, and is now fully restored to its original color. MYLA SEAMAN.

Essex Co. ss: Myla Seaman came before me and was duly sworn, and says that the above statement is true, this 6th day of Feb., 1858.

JOEL F. PATTEN, Justice of the Peace.

PITTSFORD, VT., Aug. 1, 1857

I hereby certify that my having become quite grey, I used Heimstreet's Hair Coloring, prepared by W. E. Hagan, of Troy, N. Y., to restore it, and my hair was in that time restored to its original color. I can fully recommend the article to be all it claims. WM. KINGSLEY,

Pastor of the Baptist Church, Pittsford, Vt

The above are but two of the many letters of recommendation which have been tendered to the proprietor of Heimstreet's Hair Coloring and Depilatory. It has been used by hundreds of people, and it never fails to restore the color and growth of hair. This singular effect is produced as when dyes are used, for it sets upon the natural secretions of coloring matter at the roots, and thus effects the change. Beside, the color produced is not a counterfeit, but the natural shade of youth. It does not color the skin. Prepared and sold by W. E. HAGAN & Co., Troy, N. Y.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

MYERS' ROCK ROSE.

We have but very little faith in patent medicines generally, in consequence of the thousand and one quack nostrums which are vented through the country, with no earthly use but to swindle the purchaser out of his money. Occasionally, however, a good medicine is advertised, and such we believe to be the article which heads this notice. We have had occasion to use several bottles of the "Rock Rose" for dyspepsia and indigestion, and its results have been highly beneficial. We advise others to try the Rock Rose, because we believe they will be benefitted by it.—[Plymouth Rock.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION.

The inutility of ordinary medicities, in this fatal disease, is an undeniable fact Pulmonary Consumption being primarily and essentially due to improper assimilations and disordered nutrition can be rationally attacked only by a medicine which renovates the nutrive powers.—Such a medicine is the PERUVIAN SYRUP, whose chief ingredient acts directly and immediately on the blood and arrests the disease safely and surely, wherever relief is possible.

INAUGURAL ADDRESSS

—OF—

GOVERNOR HAILE,

Delivered before the Senate and House of Representatives, June 3, 1858.

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives:

Assembled as the Representatives of the people of New Hampshire, to discharge the responsible duties of the legislative branch of the government, no selfish or partizan purposes should influence your deliberations, but the true interests of the State and the general welfare of the people should be the end and aim of your action.

In grateful acknowledgment to the people of the State for a renewed expression of confidence, I shall cheerfully co operate with you to promote these objects, during the continuance of my official relations.

We have great reason to be grateful to the kind Providence that has watched over and protected our interests for the past year. An abundant harvest has crowned the labors of the husbandman, followed, fortunately for the poor, by a winter of unusual mildness. The country has been at peace, and no great national calamity has visited our land. Never before was there a greater accumulation of the productions of the earth and of human labor and ingenuity, and more actual wealth in the country. And, with the exception of the financial storm which has swept over the land the past year, has been one of general prosperity. But the unprecedented financial crisis which we have just witnessed was not confined to our State or country. It resulted at home and abroad in the sudden loss of great fortunes. It exposed stupendous frauds. It extended to all branches of business, paralyzing the arm of industry, and prostrating great enterprises. It has left thousands of our fellow men dependent upon their labor for support, with out employment, and in a reasonable fear of destitution if not actual want.

The people of this State, in common with people of other States, were involved in the general financial embarrassment, but there is no reason to believe that our number of persons suffering for want of necessaries of life, has been unusually large. In the manufacturing districts, the losses of many of our citizens have been very severe; and many laborers thrown out of employment in the general depression of all branches of business, are supported by charity or upon the small savings of former years. At present there are indications that we are entering upon a more prosperous era in the business world.

The monied institutions of the State, with scarcely an exception, have sustained themselves throughout the crisis, and are supposed to be entitled to the public confidence; and, so far as was deemed consistent with a due regard for their safety, I presume they have contributed to the relief of the community. A diligent inquiry concerning the condition and management of our banks, and in regard to the laws of the State relating to them, may be important as showing the degree of public confidence to which these institutions are entitled, and as one means of preventing the recurrence of financial disaster.

The cause of the recent revulsion in financial affairs I shall not attempt to discuss.—For centuries, similar revulsions, originating in like causes, have occurred at irregular intervals, and have failed to impress upon the minds of different generations the lessons which might prevent a repetition of these disasters. They cannot be attributed to a disordered paper currency merely, to undue expansion, to speculation, to particular institutions or the government, but to a combination of causes, which legislation cannot wholly or chiefly control. There may be grave and personal errors in the system by which the financial affairs of the country are conducted, but this system cannot be destroyed without a complete and radical revolution for which men are not prepared, and the dangers arising from these errors may be avoided most certainly and effectually by a reformation in the character and habits of business men.—Confidence and credit are required in every department of business and enterprise. They are indispensable, but capable, as experience proves, of most serious abuses.

The punishment of debtors fraudulently concealing or squandering property purchased upon credit, should be certain and severe; and heavy legal penalties should be by law provided for the public protection against the fraudulent conduct of officers and servants employed either by corporations or individuals.

Whatever you can consistently do for the encouragement of the manufacturing interest of the State, will I am sure, meet with your cordial approval. The experience of the past year with the present depressed condition of all manufactures, demonstrates the expediency of encouraging domestic manufactures by extending a preference for them, and, so far as may be practicable by legislation. The imposition of duties by Congress upon imported goods, for the encouragement and protection of this department of industry against the ruinous competition of foreign labor, I believe to be demanded by the true interests of the whole country.

Whatever increases the productions of the earth or improves the condition of persons engaged in agriculture, is worthy of the attention of the legislature. The importance of agriculture is universally admitted. All other pyramids of business and the prosperity of the State are connected with the promotion of this branch of industry, upon which we must depend principally for the source of popular wealth.

The cultivators of the soil in this State are for the most part proprietors of the soil, unlike the same class in England and some other European States where they are devoted to the tillage of hereditary estates which they have no interest. Here, they are the owners of an important part of the property of the State. They constitute a large and powerful class in community, paying a large proportion of the public taxes, and although they derive their sustenance from sources independent of the fluctuation of business, they have much interest in the government and a strong attachment to the institutions under which we live. In no other country are they entitled to the respect, or in possession of the influence and advantages freely accredited to them in the United States. Increase their number tenfold, as the true interests of the State require it should be, and we should still have on our rough hill sides and in our valleys, agricultural resources sufficient under improved modes of development, to afford to them all a liberal support.

The great mistakes of persons devoted to agriculture throughout the country have been, in attempting too much land, and in neglecting to supply and perpetuate the elements of fertility in the soil. They gather a few abundant crops from new land, then abandon it for new settlements, or the land is left to their children whom they have taught that only the fields of the west are worth the labor of cultivation. In this way the spirit of emigration is encouraged and the best land in the country is subject to a process of exhaustion.

There clearly has not been that progress in the art of husbandry, that we have witnessed in other departments of industry. While the implements of agriculture have been recently been so much improved, that the cost and burden of agricultural labor have been materially relieved, the processes of growth, the best modes of cultivation and the adoption of scientific principles to agriculture are but little understood or rarely practised.

As one means of promoting the interests of agriculture, and increasing the knowledge of the people in the art of husbandry, thereby increasing the cultivation of the soil in the best modes and checking emigration by opening new fields for enterprise at home, I would suggest the expediency of establishing a department in Dartmouth College, or in connection with some other institution of learning for the instruction of young men in scientific and practical agriculture. A demand exists for some State institution, where our young men may be thoroughly educated in these important branches of learning, and from whence they may go forth to disseminate their knowledge among the farmers in the various towns in the State, and exhibit in practice the application of scientific principles to agriculture.

The benefits to be derived by the public from establishing an institution of the kind indicated, would, I respectfully submit, amply repay any reasonable appropriations made for this purpose by the legislature. The institution, once initiated, would, doubtless, become the recipient of private gifts and public grants, so that, if not self-supporting, it would soon have funds adequate to secure competent and permanent instructors, with suitable libraries and apparatus.

In my communication to the legislature of last year, I called attention to the subject of taxation for the support of government. I now submit the same to your consideration, believing that this public burden is not equitably distributed among all classes of citizens, and suggesting particularly the inquiry concerning the expediency of imposing taxes upon incomes from any trade or profession not exceeding a given sum, and not derived from taxable property or estate.

More than six hundreds miles of railroad have been constructed in New Hampshire, within the last few years. These roads have more than doubled the facilities of business, brought people into immediate communion with the best markets, have largely contributed to the public convenience, and have materially increased the value of the taxable property of the State. They were constructed at very great expense, but have failed, except in rare instances, to make any return whatever to the stockholders. A large number of the citizens of this and other States sacrificed considerable parts of their estates, and some contributed nearly all their property, to aid the people of this State in these great public enterprises. There is manifest injustice in adding to the embarrassment of railroad corporations, owing more than the value of their property and resulting in an entire loss to the stockholders, by subjecting them to a high rate of taxation. I submit to you the question, whether some modifications of the law of the State relating to the taxation of railroad corporations are not justly demanded.

Public attention has repeatedly been called to the expediency of some change in the law relating to prior liens created by attachment on mesne process, and of providing for the dissolutions of such liens in cases of insolvency, and for the distribution of the insolvent's estate in some equitable manner among the creditors. The Committee appointed by the Governor and Council under a resolve of the last legislature to prepare a bill for the more equitable distribution of the estates of insolvent debtors, have made their report. The bill provides for the involuntary assignment of an insolvent debtor's estate for the dissolution of prior attachments, and the equitable division of the debtor's estate among his creditors; but no provision is made for the discharge of the insolvent from his debts. The bill will be laid before you at an early day for your deliberate consideration and action.

The economy, approved by the people of this State in conducting public affairs, consists in the faithful and efficient application of the public means to the establishment and support of the highest order of institutions. No illiberal or inadequate support of such institutions will be sustained by the popular approval. In conducting the affairs of the State it has always been deemed to be a requirement of duty as well as policy, that respect should be had to the principles of that Christianity, which is displayed in acts of charity and benevolence. Regard to this plain duty, has been manifested, in this State, in the endowment and support of public charitable institutions, in aiding schools and churches, and in affording relief at the public expense to the indigent, blind and insane, to mutes and others who have fallen into misfortune and incipient crime. In affording such aid and relief the demands for economy required by the circumstances of the people, have rarely, if they have ever been, overlooked or disregarded.

Under the liberal provisions of a law of this State, twenty five pupils during the past year have received instructions at the Perkins Institution for the Blind and the Deaf and Dumb Asylum. The indigent and unfortunate children, aided at these institutions, are instructed in the branches usually taught in common schools and academies add in some manual labor by which they may become able to support themselves during life.

The affairs of the Insane Asylum under the management of Dr. Jesse P. Bancroft are in a prosperous condition. The institution is free from debt, and will require no appropriation from the present legislature. Its capacities for usefulness were never so extensive as at the present time. Since the addition of the new wing, the accommodations of the institution are sufficient for the constant treatment of two hundred and thirty patients. The amount appropriated last year by the legislature for the support of the indigent insane at this institution, was four thousand dollars, increasing the usual appropriations for this purpose, one thousand dollars. I refer you to the report of the Trustees, Superintendent and other officers of the institution, for a full account of its condition and operations during the past year.

The legislature of 1851, provided for a commission to select a site, and furnish plans and estimates of the cost of suitable buildings for a House of Reformation. The commitee appointed, reported to the legislature of 1852. The report was referred to a committee of the legislature, who reported in favor of a House of Reformation, but the subject was postponed from one session to another till the session of 1854, when an act establishing the institution was passed by the House of Representatives. In 1855, the bill establishing the House of Reformation for Juvenile and Female Offenders, passed both branches of the legislature with a resolve authorizing the appointment of a committee to select a tract of land and make contracts for the erection of suitable buildings for the institution, furnish the same when completed, and provide necessary stocks and implements for the management of the land. The importance of some institution of this kind, had long been apparent. It was designed for the confinement of female and juvenile offenders, before they had become insensible to moral impressions, and for their instruction in useful pursuits. The project was doubtless hastened by the favorable reports of the moral effects of like institutions in other States, and particularly by the bequest of the late Hon. James Morris Wilkins, who, by his will, after specific legacies, left the residue of his estate, amounting to more than fifteen thousand dollars, to be passed over at a State Board of Trustees of a House of Reform, in case such institution should be established and put in operation within five years after his decease.

Under the direction of judicious commissioners appointed under the resolve of the legislature of 1855, a substantial building for the House of Reformation has been completed within the past year, and is now ready for occupancy. The farm is an excellent tract of land of one hundred and ten acres in the city of Manchester. The main building is ample, conveniently arranged, and constructed with due regard to economy and permanency, and with no costly decorations. It is capable of accommodating one hundred and twenty five boys and twenty five girls, and provision has been made for its enlargement, if it should become expedient, without departing from the plan according to which it has been erected.

The entire cost of the land and buildings is considerably less than the sum asked for like purposes in other States. The whole sum will not exceed fifty thousand dollars; of which eleven thousand is for the farm, thirty four thousand for the building, and four thousand five hundred dollars for supplying the buildings with water and furniture. The Trustees will ask for a small appropriation to provide means for paying the expenses of water and furniture.

I would suggest the expediency of further legislation concerning the management of the institution, and the commitment of offenders, and also the inquiry in relation to the support of delinquents. The institution cannot be made a self-supporting one, and unless some other provision is made for the support of offenders, the legislature will be called upon annually to make appropriations for this object. I would only commend the inquiry whether the additional expense necessary for the support and instruction of those committed to the institution should not be made a charge upon the towns or counties where they resided at the time of their commitment.

The affairs of the State Prison have been most successfully conducted under the direction of the faithful and efficient Warden.—The healthy appearance of the convicts, the neatness and order of the apartments rarely surpassed in like instutions, and the perfect discipline of the prisoners, without frequent resort to punishment, are favorable indications of the fitness of the Warden for the position he now occupies.

The last legislature made an appropriation of $3500 for alterations and repairs of the prison; $3000 from the State treasury, and $2000 from the earnings of the prison. This appropriation has been faithfully expended in permanent improvements and repairs. The prison walls have been raised about four feet, with stone taken from the old prison, and the old prison building has been converted into a commodious and convenient dwelling for the Deputy Warden. The whole has been completed in a most satisfactory manner. The report of the Warden and other officers of the prison will soon be submitted for your examination, from which you will learn the favorable conditions of the finances of the institution.

The legislature of last year made the following extraordinary appropriations: $15,000 for the House of Reformation, $3000 for alterations and repairs at the State prison, and the usual appropriation for the indigent insane at the Asylum was increased $1000. Notwithstanding these extraordinary appropriations, the State debt will be reduced a few thousand dollars, during the past year, without any increased taxation of the people. By an economical management of public affairs, to which I doubt not your efforts will be directed, we may confidently hope to reduce the State debt the present year, at least $20,000, unless you should deem it expedient to make some appropriations for other purposes than the ordinary expenses of the government. The report of the efficient Treasurer will soon be submitted for your examination.

The Common Schools of our State demand the earnest attention and hearty co-operation of all who regard the future interests and welfare of the State. In these schools nearly all the children in the State are instructed in elementary principles and receive impressions influencing their characters, habits and position through life. Whether the branches taught in these schools ought not to be enlarged and more particularly defined, and greater qualifications ought not to be demanded of the teachers than are now required, are questions respectfully submitted for your consideration.

I would here call your attention to the imperfections relating to the registry of births, marriages and deaths, and the great inconvenience often arising from the absence of such public records. This subject was considered by a committee of the last legislature, and postponed until the present session. I trust you will make such amendments and alterations in the present law as the public good and convenience may require.

At the session of the last legislature, I took occasion to call attention to the subject of the sale of spirituous and intoxicating liquors. Experience has proved conclusively that in order to diminish and check the great evil of intemperance, some law must be in force, prohibiting the indiscriminate sale, and visiting with severe penalties the violators of the law. And for those purposes the present law was enacted; and it is believed that, wherever the law has been honestly and faithfully carried out according to its true interpretation, in those places the vice of intemperance has been perceptibly diminished, and temperance and morality have taken its place. It is for you to determine whether any amendments or alterations of the present law are necessary for the best good of the people and the State.

A law was enacted at the last session of the legislature remodeling the old militia system. The old law in regard to the old militia had fallen into disrepute, and the whole system had become a general subject of ridicule and derision, and the public sentiment demanded its abolishment. But I believe every unprejudiced man must admit that a small force of active, well disciplined men, is essential to the credit and to meet the wants of the State; for we know that should disturbances arise in our State, or should war be commenced with another country, our only safeguard and defence lies in the valor and courage of our citizen soldiery. The law passed at the last session of the legislature I believe is well adapted to meet the exigencies of the times, and has inaugurated a policy which will render the militia of this state popular, creditable and efficient.

We cannot too faithfully guard the rights and privileges justly due us as freemen and American citizens. The purity of our elections and our rights at the ballot box must be maintained at all hazard in accordance with the spirit of the Constitution, and with the policy manifestly and plainly marked out by the fathers of our Republic. We have seen with alarm the attempts to violate this safeguard of our institutions in the efforts that have been made by demagogues to allow aliens and others not legally entitled to the right of suffrage to exercise the elective franchise.—I would therefore suggest the inquiry concerning the expediency of providing by law that naturalized citizens shall not be admitted to the exercise of the rights of suffrage at the first State election after their naturalization.

It will be your duty during the present session to elect a Senator to the Congress of the United States in place of the Hon. John P. Hale, whose term of office will expire in March next.

The people of New Hampshire desire to cultivate a spirit of kindness and conciliation towards the citizens of all parts of the country. Yielding to none in their obedience to law and their attachment to the Union, they look with alarm upon the extravagant claims of the slave power.

In the early history of the country slavery was regarded in its true light. It was deemed a gigantic evil protected only by local laws, to be abandoned by all the States as early as practicable, and never to be encouraged, expanded or protected under the Federal constitution. It was barely recognized in the constitution as an existing institution, and it was left to the government of the States where it existed. The constitution contains no provisions assuming to establish or protect slavery.

The relation of master and slave is contrary to the natural rights of man. It exists by force. Under the earlier, and I cannot but believe, true theory of the Constitution, slavery cannot exist in the territories without an act of Congress establishing or authorizing it. The power of Congress over it has been exercised in repeated instances, and, until recently, slavery has been limited to low and warm latitudes; the northern States having abolished and acquiesced in its extension in those regions where it would least interfere with the rights of free labor.

The power of slavery, now denies the right of Congress to regulate it in the territories, and supported by the judicial and executive departments of the federal government, it is attempting to reverse the policy concerning slavery pursued by the early rulers of the country. It began by a repeal of the Missouri Restriction, upon the fraudulent pretenses, that no attempts would be made to carry slavery into the northern latitudes, from which it was alleged the laws of nature excluded it, that the restriction was in violation of the sovereign rights of States organized in Territories subject to the exercise of sovereignty and odious discrimination against southern institutions. But after the legal barrier was removed, without regard to the laws of climate or the pledges given, that triumph was followed by the efforts of the Slave States, to establish slavery in a part of the same territory from which, upon false pretences, they had removed the restriction.

The spirit of the slavery propagandists is illustrated in the recent history of Kansas. Contrary to the known wishes of the people of that territory, regardless of the rights once pledged to the claims of free labor, and the repeated assurances that the people should be permitted to regulate their domestic institutions, we have witnessed the most unwarrantable and evasive attempts, participated in by the national administration, to compel a recognition of slavery, in the formation of a constitution for a State to be erected in that territory. A convention representing a minority of the people, present a constitution making provision for the protection and perpetuity of slavery in a territory, where a large majority of the bona-fide citizens desire to erect a free State. Conscious of an overwhelming defeat, if the constitution is submitted to the people for approval, and for the purpose of establishing slavery against the popular will, the people were denied the right to determine themselves the character of any of their institutions. It is true there was a submission of one article of that constitution to the popular vote, but no one could vote for or against that article without voting for the constitution, and whether the article was adopted or rejected, the constitution, if it should become the organic law of the State to be erected would establish slavery in Kansas.

The constitution is again to be submitted to the people of Kansas under an act of Congress, and to prevent a fair expression of the popular will, and the success of the cause of justice and liberty, Congress, by offering extensive tracts of land on condition that the constitution is accepted by the popular vote, offers to corrupt the people of that territory to the approval and support of slavery.

The slave power now aims to obtain the sanction of slavery not as a local, but a national institution. It is endeavoring to obtain the control of the federal government to secure protection for it in the efforts and enterprises, contemplated for its expansion within and beyond the limits of our country. It claims the right to extension without regard to the law of climate and in defiance of the rights of free labor.

Confined to the States where it now exists, slavery may exist, expand, and if possible, perpetuate itself under local laws without interference from the North; but the Northern States will interfere, they will remonstrate, and use all legal means of resistance against its attempts to control the federal government.

Encouraged by repeated triumphs the slave power already assumes, and defiantly acts upon the assumption that there are within the national domain, no limits to its expansion; that it exists by its own inherent right, wherever the laws of our country extend; and it claims, that there is no place North or South, within the country, where protection to slave property is not secured under the Constitution and the laws of Congress.

It is such aggressive claims as these, that have produced the agitation which we deprecate. The agitation will continue and increase so long as such assumptions are insisted and acted upon; assumptions which, as a matter of plain duty, will be met by a stern and unyielding resistance from the people of this and other Northern States.

I have thus briefly alluded to some of the subjects which will be brought before you in the discharge of your responsible duties. Believing as I do, that the welfare of the people whom you represent will be the aim and end of your action, it is unnecessary for me to urge upon you the importance of diligent attention to the public business. The people of this State require but little legislation. The applications for corporate privileges or private legislation, will be few, at the present session. No great changes in the system of government and no radical reforms are demanded. By a diligent attention to your legislative duties, we may hope for a brief session without incurring censure for hasty legislation. I hope and believe that in the discharge of our respective duties we all shall remember that our powers are derived from the people, to whom we shall be held responsible, and that we all shall entertain a due sense of our obligations and accountability to Him upon whom alone we can depend for success.

WILLIAM HAILE.

Ayer's Pills

Are particularly adapted to derangements of the digestive apparatus, and diseases arising from impurity of the blood. A large part of all the complaints that afflict mankind originate in one of these, and consequently these PILLS are found to cure many varieties of disease.

Subjoined are the statements from some eminent physicians, of their effects in their practice.

AS A FAMILY PHYSIC.

From Dr. R. W. Cartwright, of New Orleans.

"YOUR PILLS are the prince of purges. Their excellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action on the bowels, which makes them invaluable to us in the daily treatment of disease."

FOR JAUNDICE AND ALL LIVER COMPLAINTS.

From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City.

"Not only are your PILLS admirably adapted to their purpose as an aperient, but I find their beneficial effects upon the Liver very marked indeed. The cure of bilious complaints than any one remedy I can mention. I sincerely rejoice that we have a cathartic so efficacious which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people."

DYSPEPSIA — INDIGESTION.

From Dr. Henry I. Ewer, of St. Louis.

"The PILLS you were kind enough to send me have been all used in my practice, and have uniformly proved to be truly an extraordinary medicine. So peculiarly are they adapted to the diseases of the human system, that they seem to work upon them alone. I have cured some cases of dyspepsia and indigestion with them, which had resisted the other remedies we commonly use. Indeed I have experimentally found them to be effectual in almost all the complaints for which you recommend them."

DYSENTERY — DIARRHŒA — RELAX.

From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago.

"Your PILLS have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aperients I have ever found. I now attribute effect upon the liver to them. They are an excellent remedy, when given in small doses, for bilious dysentery and diarrhœa. Their sugar-coating makes them very acceptable and convenient for the use of women and children."

INTERNAL OBSTRUCTION—WORMS—SUPPRESSION.

From Mrs. E. Sweet, who practises as a Physician and Midwife in Boston.

"I find one or two large doses of your PILLS, taken at the proper time, are excellent promoters of the natural secretion when wholly or partially suppressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and overall system. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients."

CONSTIPATION — COSTIVENESS.

From Dr. J. P. Fisher, Montreal, Canada.

"Too much cannot be said of your PILLS for one cure of costiveness. Of others of your medicines we generally have found them as efficacious as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint. Costiveness, although not a disease itself, is the generator of others that are worse. I believe costiveness to originate in the liver, but your PILLS affect that organ and cure this disease."

INFLUENCE OF THE BLOOD — SCROFULA — ERYSIPELAS — SALT RHEUM — TETTER — TUMORS — RHEUMATISM — GOUT — NEURALGIA.

From Dr. Enskill Bull, Philadelphia.

"You were right, Doctor, in saying that your PILLS purify the blood. I have used them in my family of late years, in my practice, and agree with your statements of their efficacy. They stimulate the excretories, and carry off the impurities that accumulate in the blood, when sluggish or diseased, stimulate the organs of digestion, and infuse vitality and vigor into the system.

"Such remedies as you prepare are a national benefit, and you deserve great credit for them."

FOR HEADACHE—SICK HEADACHE—FOUL STOMACH—PILES—DROPSY—PLETHORA—PARALYSIS—FITS—&c.

From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore.

"DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints I have made your pills do, because I have to say all that we ever treat with a purgative medicine. I place great dependence on an effectual cathartic in my daily contest with disease, and know of no pill I can so fearlessly afford us the best we have, I of course value them highly."

☞ Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

Has long been manufactured by a practical chemist, and every dose of it under his own eye, with invariable accuracy and care. It is sealed and protected by law from counterfeits, and consequently can be relied on as genuine, without adulteration. It supplies the purest remedy the world has ever known for the cure of all pulmonary complaints; for COLDS, COUGHS, CROUP, ASTHMA, CONSUMPTION, WHOOPING COUGH, BRONCHITIS, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease. As time makes these facts wider and better known, this medicine has proved its power to the surprise of the afflicted, from the log cabin of the American peasant to the palaces of European kings. Throughout this entire country, in every state and city, and indeed almost every hamlet it contains, CHERRY PECTORAL is known as the best of all remedies for diseases of the throat and lungs. In many foreign countries it is extensively used by their most intelligent physicians. If there is any dependence on what men of every station certify it has done for them; if we can trust our own senses when we see the dangerous affections of the lungs yield to it; if we can depend on the assurance of intelligent physicians, whose business it is to know; in short, if there is any reliance upon any thing, then is it irrefutably proven that this medicine does cure the class of diseases it is designed for, beyond any and all other remedies known to mankind. Nothing but its intrinsic virtues, and the unmistakable benefit conferred on thousands of sufferers, could originate and maintain the reputation it enjoys. While many inferior remedies have been thrown upon the community, have flattered, and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and remarkable to be forgotten.

THE RESTORATIVE OF PROF. O. J. WOOD for restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival. Volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most distinguished, to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

THE HAIR.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads, and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so deceived by quacks who by Hair Tonics, of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.

It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.

It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways and means. We know of no article that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Philadelphia.

COCHECTON, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1856.

O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackham,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some state in the west, should you wish to make such an arrangement. I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair. I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being convinced that your restorative is what you claim, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

Yours truly, S. T. STOCKMAN.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly 3 bottles.

THEREFORE, BE IT KNOWN, that NOTHING but the said PILLS of DR. CHESEMAN will accomplish the desired object, when DISAPPOINTMENT has been experienced under the regime of OTHER PILLS; and the Ladies will cause this Proclamation to spread among their friends, to their own everlasting benefit—always promising that said Proclamation in one case must be considered NULL AND VOID; that in every case, the PILLS must be taken when any female is in an INTERESTING SITUATION, otherwise a MISCARRIAGE will be the inevitable result.

LOTTERIES.

THE Lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are chartered by the State of Georgia, and have sworn commissioners appointed to superintend their drawings, and certify that everything transacted with the same is done in a strictly honorable manner. They offer to the public a fair opportunity for investment, the returns of prizes at a distance being as well protected as if they were present. The Manager would respectfully call attention to the fact that persons have a legal right to send orders for tickets to Georgia, and the lotteries of Samuel Swan & Co. are authorized by the Legislature of that State. A lottery will be drawn every Saturday throughout the year, all orders received being filled in the drawing next to take place after the same comes to hand. According to the scheme one ticket in every ten must draw a prize. Tickets are $10; halves, $5; quarters, $2 50. No tickets sent unless the money accompanies the order. The drawings are upon the principle of one prize on each ticket, and are so simple that none can fail to understand them. There is no combination of numbers to mystify the buyer. Prizes vary from $40 to $70,000; every prize being drawn, and result of drawing forwarded to all purchasers

☞ A list of the numbers that are drawn from the wheel, with the amount each prize is entitled to, will be published after every drawing, in the following papers:—New Orleans Delta, Mobile Register, Charleston Standard, Nashville Gazette, Atlanta Intelligencer, and New York Weekly Day Book. Write your address plainly, and direct to S. SWAN & Co., Augusta, Georgia.

Prizes paid in full—no percentage deducted from prizes as in other lotteries.

All communications strictly confidential. m18 1y

OFFICIAL SWILL MILK INVESTIGATION IN NEW YORK.—The Special Committee of the Board of Health, appointed to investigate the subject of swill milk, its manufacture and sale, took carriages and went forth yesterday morning on a tour to the distillery stables on the Island. The first stable visited was that of Wm. M. Johnson & Son, at the foot of 16th street, North River, where the Committee were received by the Superintendent of the establishment and escorted over the premises. The stables had evidently been brushed up of late, and did not look quite so bad as expected. Some weeks ago it held some eight hundred cows, but one half of which have been sent away. Several of the cows examined by the Committee had very bad sores, and the short-tailed specimens, with caudal appendages from three inches to two feet long, numbered over one hundred. The stalls in which the animals stand, are from three to four feet in width. The proprietors said that they fed the cows partly on hay, procured from Long Island; but on examination not more than a quarter of a ton of hay was found in the place. The cows were fed with swill in the presence of the Committee, the animals eating it greedily. The proprietors claim that the swill is composed of linseed, meal and oat meal, mixed. The Committee examined several cows set apart from the rest, which were more skin and bones, and scarcely able to stand up. Six or eight cows were milked at the request of the committee, and the fluid was bottled and reserved for a chemical analysis.

The committee next visited a slaughter-house where four cows had just been killed. The animals were examined and found to be in a healthy condition.

The committee then visited the stable of Mr. George Moore in 29th street, between 10th and 11th avenues. The stable, in nearly all respects, was similar to that already described. About 250 cows were kept there. One or two of these cows had sores, but the majority of them looked pretty well. Fifty or sixty of the animals had the prevailing stump tail. Samples of milk were taken from several of the cows for chemical analysis. The committee were very civilly received.

The committee will hold a meeting at the Mayor's office soon, at which employees of the above described establishments will be subpœnaed to attend.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

THE MURDERS IN KANSAS.

The New York Tribune has a letter from Wm. R. Tomlinson, in which he states that a band of 30 Missourians, led by Capt. Hamilton and a man by the name of Bracket, at 10 o'clock P. M. on the 19th ult. came to "Trading Post," situated on the military road leading from Fort Scott to Fort Leavenworth, where it crosses the Osage river, three miles from the State line, and completely sacked the village, and took over a dozen prisoners. As the surrounding country was perfectly quiet, and the villagers, unsuspecting an attack, were all employed at their various avocations, no defence could be offered, and none was attempted. After laying their ruffian hands upon whatever pleased their fancy, in and around the town, they began their retreat to the border, carrying their prisoners along with them.

Some distance from the town they passed a blacksmith's shop where a man and a boy were at work, and called upon him to surrender, instead of which he fired at Bracket and killed the horse he rode, after which both man and boy effected their escape.

The ruffians resolved to wreak their vengeance on the unarmed, inoffensive prisoners. Stopping in a ravine near "Fort Hamilton," they ordered them to step off ten paces and form in a line. They did so, and the demoniacal order to "Take aim! make ready!" according to an escaped prisoner, was the first intimation of the terrible fate that awaited them. "Fire!" was the next command of the demon Hamilton, and a score of guns (he himself first setting the example) dislodged their contents of buckshot and ball in that doomed line of men. Every one dropped to the earth, five of them dead and five more seriously wounded.

The band then proceeded to plunder their pockets, and in so doing discovered that one still breathed and was unhurt. The captain placed his revolver to the victim's ear, and put a ball through his head. The other uninjured man escaped observation, and after the murderers left the scene of slaughter, ran back to the Post and communicated the terrible tidings to the village. Runners were instantly despatched in all directions, to alarm the settlers, and before sunset over 200 men had collected in the little village of the Post, while from every part of the Territory armed men were coming in, on horseback and on foot, eager to avenge the terrible wrong just communicated to them. A large number of horse instantly set out under the command of some of the leading military officers to overtake, if possible, the murderers. Conspicuous among the chiefs was the noted Capt. Montgomery, whose name is as much a household word in Southern Kansas as was ever 'Mad Anthony's' or 'Marion's' in the days of '77. Not the rough freebooter is he that he has been represented, but a bold, determined man, acting upon certain principles of warfare, and molesting none but those who are or have been the aggressors. Armed to the teeth, he and his troops ever are, they are at once the champions of 'Kansas' and the terror of her enemies. I say thus much in behalf of one who is misunderstood, and whose whole course has been belied.

When the impartial historian writes the history of Capt. Montgomery, it will be very different from that of the lawless freebooter he is commonly represented. The troops returned to the post late in the day, bringing the intelligence that they left the trail when it bore suspiciously nearly to the West Point, a noted rendezvous on the Missouri border. In the interim the dead and wounded were brought in to the Post. Some of the wounded, it is thought, will recover, but two of the five are given up as hopeless, and all are shockingly mangled.

The ruffian band was led by Brackett, of Fort Scott, and accompanied by Dr. Hamilton and others of that place, who have made themselves notorious for two years past. There were twenty-five in all, and they were well acquainted with the men whom they killed. Eight of them lived in Kansas, and seventeen in Missouri.

CHRONOLOGY.—In the 1st Bibliotheca Sacra, published at Andover, there is a very condensed article on Sacred Chronology, by Prof. Packard, of Fairfax, Va. On this subject the public have been led with much that is superficial, having conclusions without the very uncertain premises on which they are founded. Professor Packard shows us at least the negative side; and one step to knowledge is—to know how little we know.

Perhaps some readers of the Bible may be a little startled at the cloud of uncertainty respecting dates and times, which Professor Packard's article seems to throw over the sacred history, especially when it is remembered that the Chevalier Bunsen has said that there is no chronology in the Bible prior to the reign of Solomon; and he proposes to construct the synoronism of sacred and profane history (the most difficult point of all) by connecting Solomon's reign with the new discoveries in Egypt. But it should be remembered that if there be no exact chronology in the Bible, there is a perpetual approximation to it. St. Paul has hit it exactly, Acts xiii., 20:—"And after that he gave them judges about the space of four hundred and fifty years." About this space! This is the divine manner to leave scientific niceties subordinate to the spiritual purposes of divine revelation. If we assume the Hebrew text as our guide, the chronology is exact before the flood. Afterwards it is proximatory and uncertain. Still, in the generations, we have an outline.—Traveller.
